LAST FLICKER OF THE FLAME OF EFFICIENCY AT PRESENT SESSION

Only Two of the Gordon Bills Likely to Pass Senate.

Budget Plan and Abolition of Game Commission Are Favored.

Bill Aimed at Bridge Contractors' Combine Passed By Senate.

TWO BILLS KILLED.

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate, 45 to 18, killed the bill putting the management of the state capitol building and grounds under the state board of control, and by a vote of 35 to 23 killed the bill placing the state oil inspection under the dairy and food department. The minority report was adopted in the senate on the Gordon bill putting the hotel inspection work under the dairy and food department.

The house, 79 to 41, passed the bill creating a state commission to pass on new bank charters.

Attempts were made in the senate to substitute the house boxing bill for the senate measure, but objection was raised and the bill was sent to committee. The committee immediately met and recommended that the house bill be passed as a substitute for the senate bill.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remnants of the attempt by the house to bring about "efficiency and economy" by piecemeal were before the senate this morning and they bade fair to exhibit the last flicker of the flame of efficiency and economy of the session.

Senator F. A. Duxbury's committee on civil administration reported two of the Gordon bills to pass—that providing for a budget and the one abolishing the game and fish commission and substituting a superintendent of game and fish to be appointed by the governor. It recommended for indefinite postponement the bill taking the care of the state capitols away from the governor and putting it under the board of control, and the bills putting the hotel inspector and the oil inspection work under the dairy and food department. It also recommended the defeat of the Christianson bill abolishing the advisory board and putting the tuberculosis sanitorium work under the board of health.

Expect Bills to Be Killed.

All these reports were expected to be adopted, except that relating to the care of the capitols and that relating to the oil inspection bureau, on both of which there were minority reports for passage; though the belief at noon was that the majority would be upheld and the bills killed.

Senator Ole G. Sageng of Dalton was leading the fight for the bill putting the capitols under the board of control, which was opposed by Senators J. D. Sullivan, Pauly, W. W. Dunn and others.

Senator F. A. Duxbury, chairman of the committee, said the chief objection to the whole bunch of bills was that "they are a pretense at doing something when we are really doing nothing. The people asked for bread and this is a stone."

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

Catholic University of America Established Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Cardinals, Archbishops and Other Dignitaries Are in Attendance.

Washington, April 15.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Catholic University of America was celebrated here today in the presence of one of the most distinguished assemblages of Catholic clergy and laymen ever gathered in this country. The three American cardinals, eight archbishops, thirty bishops, thirty monsignori, eight heads of religious orders, sixty representatives of colleges and universities, over 300 clergy and hundreds of distinguished laymen and women from all over the United States were present.

The ceremonies began this morning with solemn pontifical mass at St. Patrick's church, at which Cardinal Farley of New York was celebrant and Cardinal Gibbons delivered the sermon, followed by a luncheon, and later academic exercises at which a letter from Pope Benedict XV was read, and addresses were delivered by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, President G. Stanley Hall of the American Association of Universities, Dr. John Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame university, and Bishop Shahan, rector of the Catholic University of America. The letter from Pope Benedict speaks in high terms of the work of the uni-

SECOND CHOICE IS ABOLISHED

Repeal Bill Passes Legislature and Goes to the Governor.

State Grants to Poultry Societies in Danger of Vanishing.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second choice feature of the primary law, flippantly named, for some reason or another, the "Mary Ann" law, had a short and uneventful life in Minnesota.

Passed at the special session of 1912 in the hope that it would enable the anti-Eberhart vote to escape the tangle of a multiplicity of anti-Eberhart candidates, it is now repealed—or will be as soon as the governor signs the repeal bill which the house passed yesterday afternoon with only one dissenting vote, and which the senate passed the other day with only five votes against it.

The theory of the second choice plan—it seems to work well enough in Duluth and badly in the state, which may mean that the intelligence of the voters of Duluth is above the average for the state—is that it enables the public-spirited voters to overcome the sordid gangsters who plump their votes for their one candidate. It recognizes the fact that the public-spirited vote is divided, while the interest-driven vote is united, and seeks by intricate means to offset this advantage of unity.

In practice, it hasn't amounted to much.

What Happened Under It.

In the 1912 campaign, when it was expected to enable the anti-Eberhart votes to divide their first votes among the horde of anti-Eberhart candidates and still pull one of them through by second choice votes, Mr. Eberhart won out very handily, and the antis were useful only to show by their combined votes that there were quite a number of citizens who preferred somebody other than Mr. Eberhart.

In the 1914 campaign, when the Mary

DIVERS AT WORK ON SUBMARINE F-4

Washington, April 15.—Rear Admiral Moore at Honolulu, summarizing yesterday's operations to raise the wrecked submarine, sent this cablegram to the navy department:

"Diver Neilson reports line under stern of F-4, but that the forward line is foul of the conning tower. This line will be shifted tomorrow (Thursday). The superstructure appears to be caved in, but he saw no holes. Examination incomplete."

World's Diving Record.

Honolulu, April 15.—Chief Gunner's Mate Frank Crilley went 288 feet under water here yesterday and walked along the top of the submarine F-4, which disappeared March 25. The depth is said by naval officers to be the world's diving record.

He found the F-4 lying in smooth sandy bottom with no coral growths to impede raising operations. She was tilted on her starboard side, her bow pointing shoreward. Two parted lines were found attached to the craft.

After Crilley reported, it was said, further observations probably would be made before an attempt is made to raise the F-4.

Crilley went down in an ordinary diving suit, and the recompression chamber designed to reduce pressure on the diver was not used.

REPORT OF NAVAL BASE IN MEXICO IS DECLARED PREPOSTEROUS BY JAPS

Japanese Warships Simply There to Salvage Wrecked Cruiser Asama.

Embassy Says There Never Was Intention to Occupy Territory.

Rumors Have Never Been Taken Seriously By Washington.

Washington, April 15.—An official statement authorized by the Japanese embassy today characterized as "preposterous" reports that a naval base had been established at Turtle Bay, Lower California, and declared "there never has been any intention on the part of the Japanese government to locate a naval base or occupy any territory on the west coast of Mexico."

Operations of Japanese warships in Turtle Bay, embassy officials said, were solely for the purpose of salvaging the stranded cruiser Asama. It was stated that landing on the shore of the bay probably had been found necessary in connection with the salvage work.

Of reports that a naval base had been established, the embassy statement said:

"It is more than absurd; it is preposterous. There never has been any intention on the part of the Japanese government to locate a naval base or to occupy any territory on the west cost of Mexico. A few Japanese fishermen, about a score in number perhaps, frequent the waters of this bay, but their action no connection whatever with the Japanese naval establishment."

Created No Sensation.

Dispatches from Los Angeles telling of the gathering of foreign warships in the secluded Mexican haven, of a large camp ashore and of mines laid in the harbor, created no sensation among Washington officials. Assistant Secretary Roosevelt said the navy department was without advice as to just what happened, but that if anything

PANIC ON ELEVATED TRAIN IN NEW YORK

Two Men and Woman Seriously Hurt When Car Leaves Rails.

New York, April 15.—Two men and a woman were seriously injured and about fifty persons hurt in a panic of passengers aboard a Third avenue elevated railroad train at Chatham square today. The panic resulted from the derailment of one car of a seven-car train, which failed to take a switch. A short circuit caused a small fire, which added to the fears of the passengers.

Men and women, wedged tightly in the cars, fought to reach the elevated structure, where they walked along the ties to the station, turned into a temporary hospital to care for the injured. With the exception of the three taken to the hospitals none was seriously hurt. Traffic was tied up on both the Second and Third avenue lines, which join at Chatham square.

BANDITS GET RICH BOOTY

Ten Robbers Take $50,000 Worth of Silk From Train.

Hold Up Freight and Take Away Spoils in Autos.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 15.—A dozen bandits held up a New York Central fast freight train at Sanborn, nine miles east of North Tonawanda, early today, stripped several cars of bolted silk valued at $50,000 and sped away in automobile trucks, upon which they had loaded their plunder. The bandits were armed with repeating rifles and automatic pistols and fired several shots at the crew. No one was injured.

No Arrests Made.

A posse of detectives, mounted police and patrolmen from this city, Niagara Falls and North Tonawanda were at the scene shortly after the holdup, but up to a late hour this forenoon no arrests had been made.

When last seen the robbers were headed toward this city.

After forcing the engine crew to uncouple the locomotive and run it a short distance down the tracks, the enginemen and the three other members of the train crew were lined up against a boxcar and placed under guard of a single bandit, while the others looted the merchandise cars.

Engineer Escapes.

Four five-ton automobile trucks were in waiting and were quickly loaded with the booty. Engineer Goss of Syracuse escaped the guard and, running a fusillade of shots, reached his engine in safety. He made a record run into Suspension Bridge, eight miles away and gave the alarm. Police and armed citizens were hurried to the scene but the robbers had made good their escape. The robbery was the most daring of its kind that has ever occurred in this section of the country and the amount of plunder far exceeds the proceeds of any other freight train robbery in the history of Eastern railroading.

LIKELY TO ALLOW REMOVAL OF BELL

Strong Sentiment in Favor of Sending Historic Bronze to Frisco.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Sentiment in favor of sending the liberty bell to the Panama-Pacific exposition has become so widespread that city officials today expressed the opinion that the council would undoubtedly pass the ordinance necessary to permit the removal of the historic relic from its shrine in Independence hall to San Francisco. Hundreds of letters and telegrams have been received by Mayor Blankenburg from cities throughout the Middle and Far West from prominent men in all parts of the country asking that the bell be sent to the exposition.

FIFTEEN DEAD FROM WRECK

Student Motorman Runs Detroit Street Car in Front of Train.

Moves Ahead When He Is Given Signal to Wait for Train.

Detroit, Mich., April 15.—The death list due to the collision of a Detroit, Toledo & Ironton freight train and a crowded street car here last night, was increased to fifteen, eleven women and four men, today, when one of the injured women died in the hospital where more than a score of the wreck victims were taken. The recovery of at least three others of the injured was considered improbable.

Charles S. Cunningham, state railroad commissioner, has already begun an investigation in behalf of the state, to determine who shall be officially declared responsible for the accident and at the same time the police department and the county coroner are conducting separate inquiries.

Motorman a Student.

J. C. Westover, student motorman, who was operating the street car, and Richard Vallade, the regular motorman, both of whom were taken into custody last night on manslaughter charges, were closely questioned again today by members of the prosecuting attorney's staff.

OPERATION ON MRS. ROOSEVELT

Wife of Former President in Hands of New York Surgeons.

New York, April 15.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, who was taken to Roosevelt hospital last night by Col. Roosevelt, was operated on early today. Dr. Alexander Lambert of the Cornell medical school was the surgeon in charge.

While the nature of Mrs. Roosevelt's ailment was not disclosed, it was stated that the operation was successful and that the condition of the patient was satisfactory.

Col. Roosevelt appeared at the hospital with Mrs. Roosevelt at 10 o'clock last night. He remained with her until she was taken to the operating room early today. During the operation he was anxiously paced the private room in which Mrs. Roosevelt had spent the night. After the operation he was immediately notified of Mrs. Roosevelt's condition and left the hospital with his son, Theodore.

The colonel declined to discuss his wife's illness and referred inquirers to Dr. Lambert, but judging from the look on his face, the operation and condition of Mrs. Roosevelt apparently were satisfactory.

AIRSHIP RAID INEFFECTIVE

Second Attempt to Damage English Villages Proves Futile.

Prompt Darkening of Towns Prevents Damage By Zeppelin Bombs.

London, April 15.—England experienced a second Zeppelin raid last night when a German airship made an extensive flight over the northeastern coast in an abortive attempt to damage shipbuilding works along the River Tyne. With the exception of negligible damage to property and slight injury to two civilians, the attack was fruitless.

The promptness with which the cities and towns in this part of England were plunged into darkness when the coming of the Zeppelin was announced undoubtedly prevented the infliction of greater damage.

As it was some narrow escapes were recorded, with bombs falling near a passenger train in one instance and close to a ship yard in another.

Came Across North Sea.

Newcastle, Eng., April 15.—A Zeppelin raid was made in the Tyne district of Northumberland county last night. It appears that the Zeppelin reached Blyth from across the North sea at about 8:10 o'clock, passed over Blyth and Cramlington and proceeded to the neighborhood of Seatonburn.

Bombs were dropped on several of the villages passed by the airship—five at Choppington, three at Wallsend, two at Seatonburn and one at Bedlington.

The airship passed near North Shields and Newcastle. While neither

ANNIVERSARY OF LINCOLN OBSERVED

Government Business in Washington Virtually Suspended During Day.

Washington, April 15.—Business of the United States government virtually was suspended today in recognition of the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln. In the national capital, as elsewhere throughout the country and in foreign lands wherever the American government is represented, the event was being observed in accordance with President Wilson's executive order. The president himself laid aside the cares of office, as did other officials of the government, to pay silent tribute to the memory of the martyred president.

By direction of the president all the governmental departments were closed for the day.

Observed in Paris.

Paris, April 15.—The offices of the American embassy and the American consulate were closed today and the flags over the buildings were at half mast, in observance of the death of Abraham Lincoln. Instructions so to observe the day were sent out from Washington.

CALMLY AWAITED HIS DEATH FOR TWO WEEKS.

Chicago, April 15.—After awaiting death for two weeks, Dr. Clarence H. Wall, tuberculosis expert of the Chicago police department, died today a victim of poisoning contracted while treating a charity patient.

Dr. Wall was infected while giving an injection of serum to a patient suffering from tuberculosis. In reaching for an instrument, his hand struck a needle containing the serum and it was injected into his veins. Blood poisoning immediately developed and he knew there was no hope for him. He is survived by a widow and son.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM LOCAL SUCCESSES

Berlin Announces Failure of Russ Army to Invade Hungary.

Petrograd Dispatches Indicate Russ Advances Have Been Halted.

War Office Says Slight Progress Is Made at the Uzsok Pass.

Failure of the Russian attempt to invade Hungary was announced today by the German war office. The statement is made that the effort of the Russian army from Przemysl to force the Lupkow and East Dukla passes was not successful, and that its attacks at several points along this front resulted in defeat with heavy losses. In consequence, it is said, the attacking power of the Russians has lessened visibly.

Although official reports from Petrograd concede no such reverses, they indicate the Russian advance has been brought virtually to a halt. The Russian war office says "slight progress" was made near Uzsok pass, and a counter-attack at Kozlowa by the Austro-German forces failed. The German report, speaking of the Kozlowa fight, asserts the Russian report makes no claim to further progress in the Carpathians, except at Uzsok pass.

Advices have been received in Rome from Saloniki that the intervention in the war of Roumania appears to be imminent. It is said the Roumanian army is well equipped and ready for instant action.

Operations along the western front once more are nearly at a standstill. The vigorous counter offensive of the Germans in the Meuse-Moselle district apparently has checked the French initiative. Signs of increasing activity in Belgium and Northern France, which, in conjunction with the Meuse-Moselle battle, were regarded as a possible prelude to the long-announced general offensive, are no longer apparent.

Four attacks by the French are mentioned in the Berlin war office statement today and all are said to have resulted in failure. The Paris statement, however, asserts that in the Ailly wood, a section of ground 400 yards long and 100 yards deep was won

GERMANS TORPEDO BRITISH STEAMER

Ptarmigan Sunk in North Sea and Eleven of Crew Drowned.

London, April 15.—The British steamer Ptarmigan has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine near the North Hinder lightship in the North sea. Eleven sailors of the Ptarmigan's crew of twenty-two men were saved.

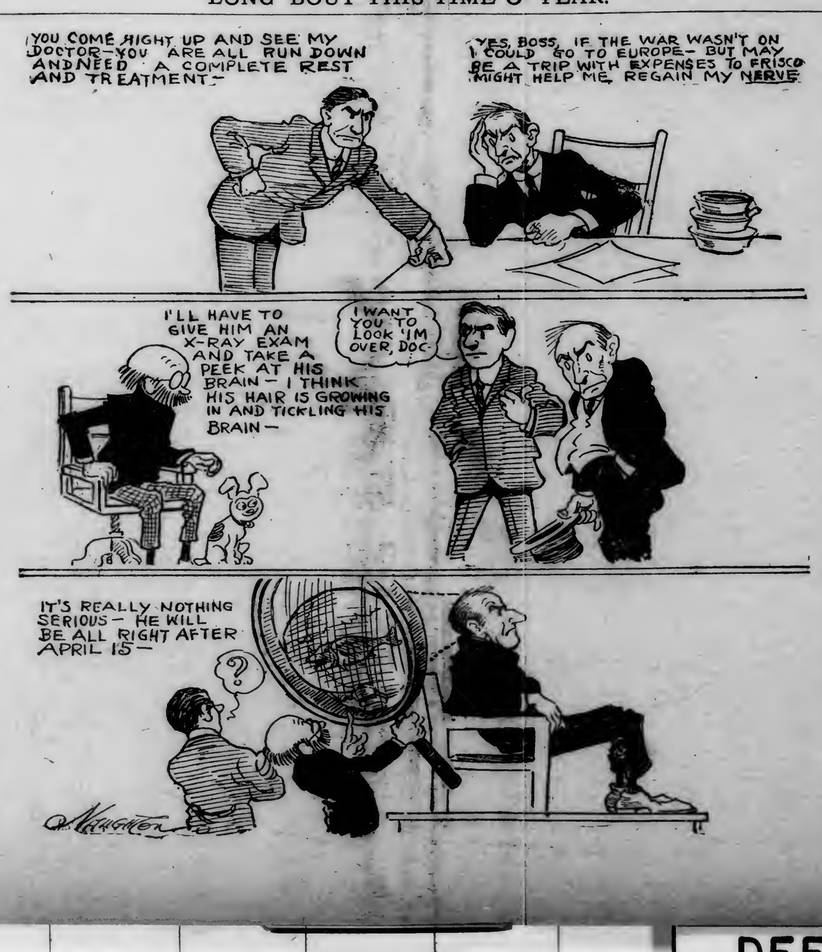
The Ptarmigan has a tonnage of 475 net and was built at Dundee in 1891. The vessel was 218 feet long, thirty beam and sixteen feet deep. She was owned by the General Steam Navigation company.

SURROUNDING OBREGON MEN

Villa-Zapata Troops Hemming in Carranza Army at Celaya.

Villa's Army Severely Defeated in Battles of Last Week.

El Paso, Tex., April 15.—Official reports that the Obregon army at Celaya was being surrounded by Villa-Zapata troops were confirmed today by private advices from the south.



It was stated that while Villa again was attacking Celaya from the north, Gen. Angeles had arrived from Monterey with 1,500 men and a large amount of artillery to assault the Carranza position from the east while Gen. Banderas with from 8,000 to 10,000 Zapata troops three days ago had reached San Juan Del Rio, just south of Queretaro.

Reports of First Battle.

Together with this information came details of the first battle of Celaya, in which the Villa army was defeated severely last week. The Carranza commander allowed the enemy to enter the outlying districts of the town and then showered the crowded streets with ma-

The Biltmore

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)

HERE is that attractive and popular Kuppenheimer model—the BILTMORE.

It shows an understanding of the tastes and needs of a very large group of men. Men who wish to dress in unquestioned style — without forcing the fashion.

The BILTMORE depicts the much sought after quiet business suit, giving a man the self-assurance that comes from being well dressed, together with a sense of comfort in his clothes.

A notable fact about the House of Kuppenheimer is the large following it has among the substantial classes in business and the professions, men of affairs, office men, managers and the traveling public.

These alert men know what they want, they know values and it is largely due to their patronage and their influence that this is the fastest growing clothing business in America.

DULUTH MAN APPOINTED

F. W. Lowe Made Secretary of State Board of Boiler Inspectors.

Also Chairman of District Committee; More Rigid Rules Adopted.

F. W. Lowe of Duluth was elected secretary of the state board of inspectors and chairman of the board of appeals of the Eighth congressional district at the convention of the state board of boiler inspectors held at St. Paul yesterday. Mr. Lowe returned to Duluth last night.

Each chairman, said Mr. Lowe today, appoints two other members of his district to form a board of appeals. Inspectors are required to notify the chairman of their congressional district of all licenses refused or revoked. The findings of the different boards of appeals are considered final unless set aside by the governor. Other members of the board of appeals follow:

Members of Board.

H. C. Volkmann, Brownsdale; James J. Gustaf, Slayton; L. R. Bowe, Northfield; W. C. Feeney, Minneapolis; C. J. Kordes, Aitkin; W. J. McDermott, Kandiyohi; Frank W. Lowe, Duluth; J. J. Richter, Thief River Falls; John Becker, Buffalo.

Committee on Rules.

August Jesse, chairman; W. J. McDermott, O. A. Fetvedt.

Many Changes Suggested.

Many changes in the laws governing boiler inspection were proposed, principally among which was one requiring all insurance companies to send lists of insured boilers to the inspector of each respective district.

It was the sense of the meeting that owners of boilers, and engineers have been entirely too lax in notifying inspectors of boilers upon which inspection is due, and that hereafter owners will be held to a strict account if they fail to comply with the law, which says: "That every owner or person in charge who shall raise steam or operate such boilers and machinery without proper inspection, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." It is also part of the duty of owners to see that those whom they engage to operate their boilers or machinery, are licensed men.

KAVANAUGH WILL MANAGE G. F. TEAM

Threatened Disruption of Northern League Club Is Averted.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Threatened disruption of the Grand Forks Northern League baseball club, as a result of the suit filed by A. H. Pulford against the Northern league, was averted today when the club directors met, prevailing upon A. J. Kavanaugh to reassume the burden of managing director. When the meeting adjourned, a call was issued for the players who have been signed up, twenty-seven in number, the men being ordered to report in Grand Forks on April 20, five days earlier than previously intended.

The first opportunity Grand Forks fans will have of seeing the men in action in a regular game will be Sunday, April 25, when two teams, made up of prospective players, will line up.

Six members of last year's team, who have refused to sign up with the club this year, were today ordered suspended. They are: Paul Morse, Frank McGraw, Ray Anderson, Mark Freer, Thomas Kernaghan and William Snow.

JOHNSON, COMISKEY AND FEDERAL CONFER.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—Baseball writers today were watching for developments from the long conference held here last night between President Johnson of the American league, President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans and Phil Ball, part owner of the St. Louis Federals.

Nothing definite could be obtained from the men who took part, further than that they talked baseball. President Johnson is still in St. Louis today.

Columbus, Ohio, April 15.—Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight boxer, has been matched to meet Johnny Harvey of New York in a twelve-round bout here April 23.

N. D. University Schedule.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eleven games are scheduled for this season by the North Dakota University baseball team, the revised schedule being issued today. In addition, the University of Illinois may play here May 11, that date having been offered. Illinois is in Minneapolis during that week. Coach Gill has seventy-four men pledged for baseball work this spring, and between forty and fifty of these are appearing on the field each afternoon. He is hopeful of being able to bring out a real nine.

CROW WING COUNTY TEACHERS TO MEET

Gathering Will Be Held at Brainerd Friday and Saturday.

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crow Wing County Teachers' association will meet here Friday and Saturday. On Friday, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, a round table discussion on "Vital Issues of the Rural School of 1915" will be led by the president. "How to Keep Pupils in School Until the Eighth Grades Are Completed" will be led by Miss Nora Barron. "The Responsibility of a Teacher for the Moral Development of His Pupil," discussion, will be led by Miss Olive Johnson. "The Playground and Recreation" will be an open discussion. "How to Manage a School Board" will be led by Prof. J. A. Wilson. "The Relation of the Home to the School" will be led by Miss Marie Archibald; "Music and Its Influence," by Miss Dorothy Mahlum. "The School As a Social Center" by Miss Eunice Batdorf. "General Academic Work" by Miss Ethel Quinn.

Friday Evening.

At the Friday evening meeting J. Gussie Small will sing a solo, Miss Mildred Wood will play a violin selection, there will be an address by Roland Barron, law student of St. Paul, and a duet by Miss Anna Michaelson and J. Gussie Small.

On Saturday morning at the high school auditorium there will be a spelling contest conducted by R. R. Denison, principal of the high school, followed by the election of officers and the business meeting.

DEFINITE PLANS FOR CLEAN-UP WORK

Committees Will Meet and Work Out Best Methods.

Definite plans for the clean-up contest in the West end will be worked out this evening at a meeting of committees from the five schools of the West end and members of the West End Commercial club tonight at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The clean-up campaign will commence at once.

Each of the schools has already appointed its committee. Following the conference with the club members, this committee of school children will make plans for the work in each school district.

Streets, alleys, back yards and vacant lots will all be systematically gone over. The district receiving the most thorough clean-up will be awarded a prize by the club, and individual prizes that have been subscribed will be awarded to the best workers in each district.

The principals of the schools announced the following names as those of delegates to the meeting tonight:

Adams—William Sullivan, Herbert Beckman and Harold Eck.

Ensign—Roy Carlson, Harold Haug, Charles Gibson and George Carlson.

Bryant—Victor Johnson and Edward Bakinowski.

Lincoln—Mylon Morris, Claude Walh and Harold Hanson.

WILL OFFER PLANS FOR AMUSEMENT

West End Men Will Meet at Luncheon and Hear Suggestions.

The monthly noon luncheon of the West end business men, which has twice been postponed, will be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock. Arrangements have been made by a committee consisting of A. O. Anderson and John Moir.

From indications the luncheon tomorrow will draw practically every merchant of this end of the city. It is expected that plans for several varied programs of entertainment for the West end people will be offered. Among these are band concerts, carnivals, parades and other features.

Band concerts are the most popular with the merchants. A band they say will draw out larger crowds than any other attraction. Hundreds of people will come long distances to hear band music when other features fail to attract, they say.

It is probable that some form of amusement to be given at least once a month and probably oftener will be presented. The merchants have all signified their willingness to contribute liberally. The financial question will be the easiest one to solve they say.

Want "Dry" Petition.

At the meeting of North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T., this evening preliminary steps for the circulation of a county option petition in St. Louis county will be taken. A committee will be appointed to meet with similar committees from other Good Templar lodges at which the question will be thoroughly discussed before the official step is taken. This latter meeting is planned to be held early next month.

West End Briefs.

Dr. M. S. Rice of Detroit, Mich., formerly of the First Methodist church of this city, will lecture tonight at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue and Second street. His lecture will be on "The Devil Take the Hindmost."

Mrs. W. E. Harmann, 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west, entertained this afternoon for the Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

M. T. Anderson of Minneapolis, who has been visiting relatives in this end of the city for the last week, left last evening for his home.

Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, will speak this evening on "The Missionary Journeys of Paul."

Ed Akerstrom, 2316 West Second street, will entertain this evening for the Men's Club of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church.

Basket Social.

Fridhem lodge, No. 43, Independent Order of Svithoid, will entertain for its members at a basket social at Sloan's hall on Thursday evening, April 29. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Victor Thor, Claus Erling and Valford Olson. Each member will be allowed to bring their friends to the affair.

SUPPOSED MURDER VICTIM IS ALIVE

Body Identified as Claudia Hansbury Is That of Someone Else.

Troy, N. Y., April 15.—Claudia Hansbury, described by the New York police as the girl whose body was found in a vacant lot in the Bronx last Saturday, is at her home here.

Thomas Hansbury, brother of the girl, gave the police his sister's address and she was soon located. She said her name now is Mrs. William W. Burns and that she is the wife of a resident of New York city. The girl declared she had not been in New York since Jan. 4, when she ended a visit with her aunt. She recalled the man questioned by the New York police and said she knew him.

The family here believes that the girl's aunt was led to her mistaken identification by the clothing found on the body of the slain woman.

Second Arrest.

New York, April 15.—A second arrest was made today by detectives investigating the murder of Miss Claudia Hansbury of Lansingburg, a suburb of Troy, N. Y., whose body was found last Saturday on a lot buried under a pile of rocks. Mrs. Bertha Wilson was held as a material witness at the request of District Attorney Martin.

According to the police, Mrs. Wilson has admitted that she introduced Miss Hansbury to Rafael Viullo, the contractor arrested here last night on a charge of homicide in connection with Miss Hansbury's death. Viullo was cross-examined at police headquarters during the night. The police assert that he said he had known Miss Hansbury, and that she had written a letter to him about Christmas time, but that he denied knowledge of how she met her death.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered neroxin from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of powdered neroxin and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered neroxin and about two ounces will be all you will ever need. —Advertisement.

MORE PROVISIONS ALLOWED CRUISER

Four-Days' Supply Put Aboard Ship and 300 Tons of Coal.

Newport News, Va., April 15.—Provisions for four days were taken aboard today by the German commerce raider Kronprinz Wilhelm, the three days' supply allowed her when she came into port having been exhausted.

Loading of 300 tons of coal for port purposes and to trim the ship, will be completed by night and tomorrow the cruiser will go into drydock for survey by the naval board, which is to recommend the time to be granted by the United States government for repairs.

The ship's surgeons said today that members of the crew suffering from beriberi were much improved. Thirty-one new cases of the disease have developed, but with plenty of fresh vegetables available, the surgeons expect to suppress the epidemic soon.

ALBERT AT BRAINERD.

Chairman of Executive Committee of State Civic Federation Speaks.

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Allan D. Albert of Minneapolis spoke at the Chamber of Commerce, on "Changes Within the Last Thirty Years in American Life."

He is chairman of the executive committee of the Commercial and Civic Federation of Minnesota.

"Last November," said Mr. Albert, "but forty-three out of every 100 voters in Minnesota went to the polls and those who stayed away are now kicking because of the legislature put in."

"The greatest renaissance in history is not the war, but the fact that this country is at the threshold of a great intellectual, artistic and religious revival. God has made progress the reward of work. Today we are the only solvent nation of the eight powers, the warring nations can never hope to pay their indebtedness, our indebtedness is just about $1,000,000,000."

STATE PROPERTY SCANDAL.

Certain State Articles Disappear During Sale at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another state capitol building scandal is brewing, having to do with the sale of considerable state property recently.

This property consisted of desks, office furnishings, etc., sold under the hammer at the capitol building.

It is charged that a considerable quantity of building furniture disappeared at the time of the sale, and that a part of the same was never put on the block, nor was it sold to the parties obtaining it.

Lock Gates Placed.

Birmingham, Ala., April 15.—The gates of lock 17 on the Warrior river near here were placed today, completing a $12,000,000 government project that provides a six-foot channel from Sanders Ferry to Mobile, a distance of 500 miles, and opens up to barge traffic vast lumber resources in Northern Alabama.

"STAR—A Good Thing To Pass Along"

Men Who Chew Are Men Who DO

AMERICANS are large users of explosives, but instead of employing them to destroy, we use them to improve.

The men engaged in the manufacture of explosives are clear-minded and steel-nerved. Of course, they can't smoke—but they want the solace of tobacco while at work. Most of them chew STAR. They chew STAR all day long and find the last chew as good as the first.

You'll find that the thick STAR plug allows you more of the mellow, long-lasting chewing leaf; that STAR can't dry out like a thin plug and that every STAR plug weighs a full 16 ounce pound.

The demand is so great that STAR never stays long on the dealers' shelves.

FIFTEEN DEAD FROM WEEK

service, was loaded with passengers homeward bound from their day's work.

As the car approached the railroad crossing, it stopped and the conductor ran ahead to see if the track was clear. He signaled the motorman to wait, but apparently the latter, who is said to have been inexperienced, misunderstood his meaning. He applied the power and the car ran rapidly down an incline and onto the railroad tracks.

A string of freight cars being pushed by a switch engine, struck the street car fairly in the middle, smashing it almost to bits. The wreckage was pushed along 100 feet, several of the dead and injured dropping along the street before the train was brought to a standstill.

Many Crushed.

Others were crushed in the splintered mass of steel and wood, and it was several hours before they could be extricated and their exact number known.

Many private automobiles rushed to the scene of the accident and these, together with the ambulances which responded to the call for help, carried the injured to the hospitals. Several of those so removed were so badly hurt, it is said, they may die.

At the place where the accident occurred, the railroad tracks occupy a narrow street. On one corner of the intersection stood a grocery store, and on the opposite side, the Delray station of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton road. Both these buildings were struck by the street car as it was carried along in front of the freight and partially demolished. No occupant of either structure was injured.

Motorman Inactive.

According to the police, the unexplained inactivity of the student's instructor, Richard Vallade, the regular motorman, also contributed to the disaster.

Twenty-eight other persons were injured, four of them so seriously that their death is believed to be certain. Early today only seven of the dead had been identified and it was said at the morgue some of the bodies are so terribly mutilated that their identification will be impossible.

The crews of the car and of the freight train were taken to police headquarters and after an investigation, Westover and Vallade were detained on a charge of manslaughter.

WHEN YOU WASH YOUR HAIR DON'T USE SOAP

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

SEILE PACKAGES FOR GERMANS IN THE U. S.

Chiasso, via Paris, April 15.—Several thousand parcel post packages mailed from Germany to the United States, after being delayed here for some time, have been returned to the senders by the postal authorities because the British and French governments have given notification that parcels addressed to German citizens in the United States will be seized whenever they are found on shipboard.

RESERVOIR BREAKS; EIGHT ARE DROWNED.

Holbrook, Ariz., April 15.—Lyman reservoir, which impounds waters of the Little Colorado river twelve miles south of St. Johns, Apache county, broke shortly before midnight last night drowning eight persons. A reservoir at Hunt, northwest of St. Johns, is in the path of the flood, and if the dam there, which is threatened, gives way, Woodruff, twelve miles southeast of Holbrook, will be in danger.

Don't let the idea that you may feel better in a day or two prevent you from getting a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla today from any drug store and starting at once on the road to health and strength.

When your blood is impure and impoverished it lacks vitality, your digestion is imperfect, your appetite is poor, and all the functions of your body are impaired.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful blood tonic. It will build you up quicker than any other medicine. It gives strength to do and power to endure. It is the old standard tried and true all-the-year-round blood purifier and enricher, tonic and appetizer. Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else has the same formula or ingredients. Be sure to ask for Hood's; insist on having it.

WORST FOE TO CHRISTIANITY

Rev. M. S. Rice So Denounces Christian Science From the Pulpit.

Says Much of Mrs. Eddy's Work Is "Most Stupid Piffle."

Christian Science was denounced as the most insidious and destructive foe to Christianity by Dr. M. S. Rice, former pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, in an address on "Christianity and Christian Science," given from his former pulpit last night before a large audience.

Christianity and Christian Science, he declared, collide at every essential point and Christian Science is undermining the very essentials of the teachings of Christ. He denounced Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the religion, and said her books were monumental in their stupidity.

Dr. Rice was greeted by his old congregation with prolonged applause, showing that his popularity in Duluth has not waned since he left here two years ago for Detroit. His remarks were interrupted many times by applause and his address of two hours was given the closest attention.

Worst Foe to Christianity.

"The reason Christian Science is the worst foe to Christianity, is because it is masked under the name 'Christian' and at the same time teaches doctrine that undermines the very principles of Christ's teaching," he said. "It is an enemy in the Christian camp, parading as a part of the Christian forces."

Dr. Rice denounced the teaching of Mrs. Eddy, which, he declared, discredited the belief of the Christian world regarding the existence of pain and death. "No person can believe there is no pain and death without repudiating the most vital teaching of Christ because the Christian faith is founded upon the death and resurrection of Christ."

The speaker took up at some length the claims of the Christian Science teaching regarding healing, and said many of the persons said to be "cured" through this faith, had later died of the same disease of which they had been said to be cured. Several concrete examples were given; one of a man who lived in Duluth when the speaker was pastor here.

Censored Sermons.

He took up also the rules and regulations of the Christian Science doctrine. No sermon on Christian Science, he said, could be delivered unless it had been censored by the board of censorship. He said he had been waiting in vain for some Christian Scientist to rise and answer his arguments during his speaking tour, but he declared that this would never happen. He then read from Mrs. Eddy's works a statement that no member of the Christian Science church was permitted to engage in public debate or discussion without the consent of the board. That's one reason nobody has attempted to answer him, he said.

The system of circulating and selling Christian Science literature was denounced as "graft." Edition after edition of Mrs. Eddy's books had been published, he said, and the church members commanded to buy them when there was practically nothing knew or changed in the later editions. One new edition that members had been ordered to buy, the book costing more than $3, contained just two lines and one word that was new, and this was not of vital importance.

"Stupid Piffle."

Dr. Rice made most of his arguments on passages read from Mrs. Eddy's books, and had with him a small library of such literature. Some of it he said was the most stupid and monumental "piffle" that he believed existed in the English language.

The speaker said that his addresses on Christian Science had stirred up great opposition from Christian Scientists. He said his address was chiefly for persons of the Christian faith as he wanted them to be fully aware of the destructiveness of the Scientist doctrine. He said their literature declared that that church never did any proselyting, but he declared he had never known it to do anything else. Churches, he said, are becoming very tolerant of every religious doctrine, but he urged his audience to study carefully the Christian Science creed and methods and see where it was directly opposed to the most vital principles of the Christian faith.

versity and of the gift of $500,000 from the Knights of Columbus for the endowment of scholarships.

Cardinal Gibbon's Sermon.

"For the growth of the university we are indebted above all to the God of Wisdom for whose glory the work was begun. To the great pontiffs, Leo XIII and Pius X, and to their successor, Pope Benedict XV, we make public acknowledgment of our gratitude. To the Catholics of the United States, we return our thanks for their generous support. The experience of these twenty-five years emphasizes the needs which the university aims to supply; the need of divine truth to complete our human knowledge, of divine justice as the highest sanction of law, of the spirit of Christ in our ministrations of mercy and love. There is no real liberty without law, and there is no meaning or validity to law unless it be observed.

"The growth of democracy does not imply that each man shall become a law unto himself, but that he shall feel in himself the obligation to obey. If the enacting power has been transferred from the will of the ruler to the will of the people, the binding, coercive power has been laid with greater stress of responsibility than ever before upon the individual conscience. Unless men be taught that obedience is right and honorable and necessary alike for private interest and public weal, legislation will avail but little, the law making power will become a mockery and the people themselves will complain that legislation has been carried to excess.

"But conscience has need of a higher sanction than any merely human sense of justice. To meet the requirements of our religious, social and political situation is a duty that we owe to the church and to our country. To fulfil it we must combine our efforts, and I rejoice that in the Catholic university a center of thought and action has been provided."

Cardinal O'Connell's Address.

Cardinal O'Connell's address at the academic exercises on "The Office and Responsibilities of the University in American Life," was in part as follows:

"We stand today at the beginning of a new era in the history of higher Catholic education in America. We rejoice in the goodly heritage of these twenty-five years; but we also look with much solemn thought to the future. The university is, first of all, a home of culture. It trains men of learning, of noble ideals and high standards; and through them it determines the culture of the nation. But it also trains the leaders, explaining the functions of the state, the rights and duties of citizenship; the vital problems of society, its ills and their remedies.

"The growth of every university is measured by the closeness of its contact with the body politic and by the success with which it meets the nation's needs. It must be conservative, revering and transmitting the heritage of the past; but it must also be progressive, dealing prudently with new needs and problems. We Catholics are deeply interested in university education because, as loyal American citizens, we have at heart whatever is of vital concern to the church and the nation.

"The existence of this Catholic university is an evidence quite as much of our interest in our country as of our interest in our church. Both Catholic and American, the university will gain force through its service to the country, while its Catholicity will keep it in constant and unerring touch with that tremendous spiritual world-power which has maintained the whole truth among all nations, in all ages—the chair of Blessed Peter."

President Hall Speaks.

President Hall, of the American Association of Universities, in his address at the academic eexrcises, said in part:

"The medieval universities were not fiat institutions, created by church, state or millionaires, but they grew inevitably out of the inmost needs of the time, and bulls and edicts usually confirmed a status already attained. Their close relations to the church gave to learning a consecration that it never had in antiquity, and which it may never have again. The subject matter has, of course, changed much with the times, but nearly every feature of student life, method of teaching and learning, items of organization, academic custom and even costume, was already developed in the fifty-five universities established in Europe a century before the discovery of America. They and their work and its results constitute perhaps the greatest achievement of the middle ages, and their effects upon the progress of Europe and the world has been without precedent or parallel."

No Loss of Life.

Full inquiry shows that no loss of life or serious personal injury resulted from the Zeppelin raid, and that although several small houses were damaged, the material loss was not heavy.

In addition to Choppington, Seaton-burn and Bedlington, bombs were dropped on other villages. The Zeppelin followed the track of the railroad. When last seen, it passed seaward from the mouth of the Tyne. By 11 o'clock the district over which the Zeppelin flew had returned its normal aspect.

The failure of the air raid to cause any serious damage is attributed to the prompt measures taken to plunge all the towns in the district into darkness when the alarm was given.

After Shipbuilding Yards.

The general belief is that it was the intention of the air craft to drop bombs in the Tyne shipbuilding yard. This did no damage. It is estimated that twenty bombs, a majority of them of the incendiary variety, were dropped, but all the fires started by them were quickly quenched. The fact that the town of Newcastle was completely missed by the raider undoubtedly was due to the fact that all lights were put out when the Zeppelin was reported.

extraordinary was going on, it certainly would have been reported by the American warships in the vicinity. He added that it would not be unusual if the Japanese had landed in connection with their efforts to save the Asama.

When the Asama first went ashore and news of her plight came to Washington, every effort was made to prevent the information from reaching Germany before assistance could be sent. Responding to the call for immediate succor for the personnel of the Asama, Admiral Howard hastened to Turtle bay from San Diego on his flagship, the cruiser San Diego, and the cruiser Raleigh also went to the scene. But before the aid of these ships could be extended, a Japanese collier and two Japanese warships appeared and Admiral Howard steamed away.

Guard Maintained.

A Japanese guard has been maintained in the bay and vicinity since, while the Japanese government has endeavored to make arrangements with American wrecking companies to float the Asama. Inquiries from some of these companies as to whether relief work could be undertaken without violation of neutrality developed no opposition on the part of the state department here, though it was pointed out that the question was one for the Mexican government to decide.

The country along the lower California coast is barren and without railroad or telegraphic communication with the rest of the world and passing vessels keep well out to sea because of the dangerous coast, so that it is a rare thing for news to reach the outer world.

AMPHIMOBILE SOLVES PROBLEM

Lake and Rail Transportation Has No Terrors for Inventor.

Lake and rail transportation no longer is a problem.

Dennis Rice, late of Texas and now living at Monticello, Wis., has written Mayor Powers of St. Paul that he has invented an "amphimobile, which is primarily a motor truck, motor boat, ice boat, sleigh-mobile, irrigator and fire engine."

The description indicates the invention has a carrying capacity of a carload and can do about everything except fly. The operator can take on his coal cargo at the mines, turn the motor loose and the machine will run to Buffalo, dip into the lake, come to Duluth by water, clamber out on shore and head for the Twin Cities.

The inventor would make St. Paul the head of amphimobile navigation to the Northwest.

WIFE CHARGES CRUELTY.

Louisa Frye Seeks Separation and Monthly Alimony.

John H. Frye, veterinary surgeon at Carlton, was made defendant today in a divorce suit filed in district court by Louisa Freye, his wife, who is seeking a legal separation on the grounds of cruelty. He is 60 years old and she is 43. They were married at Center City, Minn., June 4, 1908.

Mrs. Frye alleges that her husband has not only been an habitual drunkard during the last few years but has also been addicted to the use of cocaine and other drugs. She charges that on many occasions he has struck and mistreated her. On May 8, 1913, she claims, he beat her with a club.

The plaintiff also asks for $75 monthly alimony. The case will be disposed of at the May term of the district court.

MARINE

SUPERSTITION HOLDS BOATS

Insurance on at Midnight, But Few Will Sail Friday.

Marine Insurance Brokers Announce Their Terms for Season.

While vessel insurance goes in force at midnight tonight on the Great Lakes, it is not believed that a great many vessels will take advantage of it, at least until after midnight tomorrow. Absurd as it may seem, there is a well defined prejudice among sailor men to start their initial trips on Friday, the so-called unlucky day of the week. Even during the season, where it can be avoided without loss or inconvenience, vessels will not leave port, but these occasions are rare when they can jump the day. However, for the initial trip almost all vessel owners and lake captains honor the prejudice of their men.

The steamers Lakeport and Lakewood, which wintered at the Sault, are expected to start for Duluth some time today, and may leave the Sault some time before midnight, taking the short end of a chance on the insurance matter, to avoid sailing on Friday.

Insurance Rates.

All steel ships in the bulk freight trade on the Great Lakes will be insured at the same rate and rates for December sailing will be specified in the policies. This was the announcement just made by marine insurance brokers.

The rate to steel vessels will be 3¾ per cent net for one year and is approximately one-quarter of 1 per cent less than the preferred rate of 1914 and 1 per cent less than the 1914 non-preferred rate. The abolition of the preferred rate allowed to fleets of three or more vessels only at the option of the underwriters is one of the things the Great Lakes Protective association has been contending for.

The letters that were mailed to clients said further::

"We have arranged to hold covered sailings after Nov. 20 midnight, and not later than Dec. 12, midnight, at 1 per cent additional; but if one voyage only between terminal ports is used, at ½ per cent additional if sailing prior to Dec. 5, midnight; ¾ per cent if sailings prior to Dec. 8, midnight. Sailings after Nov. 30, midnight, and prior to Dec. 12, midnight, to port or ports on the same lake are held covered at ¼ per cent additional." This is an advantage to the insured vessel, as it makes it possible for managers to charter ships for December trips the same as managers of uninsured ships are able to do.

The policies also will contain a new clause which states that in collision cases the vessel liable for the accident shall be subject to only one deductible average. This is of the departure from former policies and is distinctly to the advantage of the insured.

WHITEFISH BAY BEING OPENED UP

Steamers Lakeport and Lakewood Leave Sault for Duluth.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 15.—Steamers reported to have left Georgian bay ports for the Canadian Sault, to load rail cargoes had not reached Detour last night. They are the J. Frater Taylor and Thomas J. Drummond of the Algoma Central line.

Conditions continue favorable. A telegram from Whitefish point says that with the present south wind, the steamboat channel will be clear of ice today.

Some large ice fields above the point have moved out from the shore. The steamers Lakeport and Lakewood will leave today for Duluth.

ICE IS HEAVY IN RIVER AT SAULT

Steamer Trying to Get Through From Defour; Lakeport Leaves.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Steamer McKee arrived at Detour this morning, after coaling she tried the ice at Sweet's point and at noon was still trying to force her way through. The steamers Franz and Frater Taylor were due at Detour at noon.

Calumet, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mutual line steamers are expected to open navigation into Portage lake the last week of this month or about April 27, the Houghton agents expect. Following this a half dozen cargoes of coal for the Calumet & Hecla, Copper Range, Franklin, Mohawk, Wolverine and other mining companies will come into Hancock, Houghton, Gay and Lake Linden during the early part of May. The coal situation on the lake is much easier this spring than it has been any spring in several years. This is due, for the most part, to the curtailment of operations at all the mines and suspension at some last August, after the coal supplies had been received, because of the European war which caused a big drop in the prices offered for copper metal. For hard coal there is less than usual demand by dealers on the Keweenaw peninsula this spring, large stocks being carried over. Very little coke will be ordered this spring.

Ice in Portage lake, Torch lake, Keweenaw bay and contiguous waterways is well broken up and there are few floes to be seen in Lake Superior from any point on Keweenaw excepting one large floe in Keweenaw bay. The southerly winds of this week have been breaking up and driving out this ice. Ice was seen on Thursday near the Huron islands, forty miles from Portage entry, east, running in large fields. This was drifting free, however, running along the south side of the course, north to Keweenaw point

ICE CONDITIONS ON GREAT LAKES

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that the field of ice at the extreme western portion of Superior has moved out of sight and that the harbors at Duluth and Two Harbors are open. The ice in Chequamegon bay is softening rapidly and will, probably, soon move out. There are but few fields reported over the central and none over the eastern portion except near Whitefish point. The ice in Whitefish bay is softening. In St. Mary's river the channel is open from Iroquois point to Big Mud lake, and from there to Detour the ice ranges about twelve inches in thickness and is honeycombing, indicating that a passage may be forced inside of ten days. In Green bay the ice continues over the northern and central portions, while open water appears over the southern portion. There have been no fields reported in Michigan, and the ice is softening over Traverse bay and will soon move out. The straits opened on April 12, with a few broken fields over the western portion, and these were moving into Michigan. There were no fields reported over Northern or Central Huron; the field in Saginaw bay is broken and moving with the winds; the fields over the southern portion have broken up and much ice has moved into St. Clair river; the field extends northward to about Lexington, but is broken and soft. The fields over Erie are confined to the extreme eastern portion. No fields of importance are reported in Ontario.

In comparison with same period last season there is less ice in all of the lakes, except over Northern Green bay, where it is heavier than last season.

The display of storm warnings will be resumed on all lakes on April 16.

Steamer Niagara—Patrick L. Williamson, master; Fred Brubach, chief engineer.

Some Ice Comes Back.

A few of the ice cakes, remnants of the big field that was blown out of this end of the lake Friday night, drifted back in last night, but the wind from the west today is again shifting them out. Not enough ice came in, however, to make a respectable showing, and it is taken as indicating that the field is completely broken up and scattered. There is nothing at this end of the lake to hamper navigation at any time vessels desire to start out.

"GETS-IT" a Sure-Shot for All Corns

Use Two Drops—and They Vanish

When corns make you almost die with your boots on, when you try to walk on the edge of your shoes to try to get away from your corns, you're way behind time if you have not used "GETS-IT." It's the corn cure of the century, the new way, the sure, painless, simple way. It makes a fellow really feel foolish after he's used toe-eating salves, corn-biting ointments, toe-bundling bandages, blood-bringing razors, knives, files, scissors, jabbers and what-nots, when he uses just 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and sees his corn vanish. The difference is divine. Just try it. You won't wince when you put on your shoes in the morning. "GETS-IT" is sure, "gets" any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywrere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"Murder! Everybody Tries to Step on My Corn!" Use "GETS-IT" and You'll Have No Corns to Be Stepped On.

NEW SPRING SHOES.

But Edward Doe, Knight of Road, Forgot to Pay for Them.

With the coming of spring and Duluth's celebrated summer weather, Edward Doe, erstwhile knight of the road or gentleman of fortune, decided that he needed a new pair of shoes, as his brogans had been quite badly scuffed in a long struggle with hostile railroad ties.

Aaron Kinney, a roomer at a West Superior street hotel, woke up in time to see Doe "pussey footing" it out the door and down the hall, with his brand new $5 shoes. He raised the alarm and Officer O. Olson took Doe and the shoes to police headquarters.

In municipal court this morning Doe pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny and was sentenced to sixty days at the workfarm.

HAD ROBE BUT NO AUTO.

Occupant of Billboard Boudoir Found in Embarrassing Situation.

Auto robes are the finest things in the world to sleep on, especially when you have to sleep behind a sign board or in a box car, but John Krok, age 21, couldn't explain where he got his robe.

Officer Krawczyk, patroling a beat along West Michigan street, is accustomed to seeing men crawl in behind sign boards, or go down into the railroad yards, as night comes on, and then he knows that the police lodgers' room is full.

He saw Krok arranging a very elaborate couch behind a sign board last night, using a large auto robe. Krok was arrested, and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

GUEST WAS LEAVING.

Was Taking Pocketbook With Him, Says Good Samaritan.

Good Samaritanism and the golden rule have been abolished long since, in the belief of A. Vannier, 624 East Fourth street, who says he gave George Butterfield a night's lodging and was robbed of $9 for his pains.

Mr. Vannier, in his complaint to police yesterday, declared that he felt sorry for Butterfield and gave him a bed at his house, only to wake up in the middle of the night and find his guest absconding with his pocketbook.

Butterfield was arrested and pleaded not guilty before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting. He will be given a hearing April 20.

WANTED TO SOW OATS.

Tame Oats, When Stolen, Just as Costly as Wild Variety.

Mike Levener, age 32, wanted some oats to sow on a very fertile patch of ground near Duluth in which he is interested, but he must have secured wild oats, because his attempt to get them landed him at police headquarters last night.

Officers Montgomery and Lading caught Levener as he was leaving the rear of the Tessman Brothers company commission house, 32 West Michigan street, with two bags of oats. He was brought before Police Capt. A. G. Fiskett, and later allowed to return to his home, after replacing the stolen property.

Levener formerly was employed by the Tessman company.

FINDS WATCH BUT LOSES THE OWNER.

Since Aug. 20, 1914, Police Lieutenant Terry has been looking for Howard Laughlin's watch, and now he is looking for Howard.

He found the watch yesterday in a West Superior street pawnshop but all efforts to locate the owner have been in vain so far. The timepiece was stolen or lost last summer, while Laughlin was working in the city.

GOT BENEFIT OF NAME.

"Pinkerton & Co." Are Denied Use of United States Mails.

"Pinkerton & Co." and the "Pinkerton Detective agency" are two concerns, and in no way connected, as Duluth police were informed this morning in a letter from New York.

The postmaster general has issued an order denying the use of the mails to Pinkerton & Co., which is a private concern operated by N. W. Pinkerton of Chicago, and which is alleged to have been doing business on the reputation of the other company.

Allen and William A. Pinkerton, heads of the original company, recently succeeded in an attempt to have their Chicago namesake distinguish in soliciting business.

TO SPEED SUPPLY OF MUNITIONS OF WAR

Important Committee Is Organized By David Lloyd George.

London, April 15.—An important committee under the chairmanship of David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, to organize and speed up the supply of muntions of war, was completed today.

Mr. Lloyd George will have the cooperation of ex-Premier A. J. Balfour, Edwin S. Montague, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster; Harold T. Baker, member of parliament for the Accrington division of Lancashire; Arthur Henderson, member for the Barnard Castle division of Durham; Maj. Gen. Sir Stanley B. Von Donop, master general of the ordnance; Sir Hubert Llewellyn Smith, permanent secretary to the board of trade, and a representative of the admiralty.

Premier Asquith announced the composition of the committee to the house of commons. He explained that its functions were "to insure the promptest and most efficient application of all the available productive resources of the country for the manufacture and supply of war munitions for the army and navy, and with authority to take all necessary steps for that purpose."

The British war office simultaneously has appointed a departmental committee to assist in the same object under the chairmanship of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener.

12,000 MEN WILL GET WAGE BOOST

Calumet & Hecla Mining Company to Increase Wages 10 Per Cent.

Calumet, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Calumet & Hecla Mining company today announced a wage increase of 10 per cent at all its properties, mills and smelters, and three of its eleven subsidiary companies, including Ahmeek, Allouez, Centennial, Osceola Consolidated, Isle Royale, White Pine, La Salle, St. Louis, Laurium and others.

Approximately 12,000 men are affected, the increase to go into effect May 1. The increase is due to better prices being received for copper which is selling at 18 cents a pound. This brings the wages to the scale in force before the strike of 1913.

DRIVING AGITATORS FROM COPPER COUNTRY

Trouble Makers Given to Understand They Cannot Get Employment.

Calumet, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Copper country Finnish, Austrian, Italian and Croatian mine workers are pushing their campaign to rid the district of so-called red Socialist agitators, who have been causing the men a lot of trouble by getting them "in bad" with the mining companies that employ labor. Contrary to reports circulated through Socialist organizations, no violence has ever been used in driving out the agitators but several have been forced to leave the district.

The agitators are ostracized, cannot get work and are forced to leave to gain a livelihood. The Calumet and Hancock Socialist locals, as a result of the campaign, are ready to give up the ghost unless funds can be obtained from outside. The head local at Duluth has announced it can give locals in this district no further assistance.

Cloquet Honor Pupils.

DULUTHIAN FIRE CHIEF.

George Magran Is Appointed By Cloquet Council.

Cloquet, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council Tuesday night appointed J. T. Sheean alderman of the Second ward to take the place of W. S. Olson, who recently went to Minneapolis to reside. Mr. Sheean is an old resident of Cloquet. The council also appointed George Maghan of Duluth to fill the unexpired term of fire chief left open by Willard Selmser, who has been confined in a hospital at Duluth for some time. Mr. Maghan was fire chief here for a short time about a year ago, coming from Duluth, where he was assistant fire chief.

WIFE CHARGES CRUELTY.

Louisa Frye Seeks Separation and Monthly Alimony.

John H. Frye, veterinary surgeon at Carlton, was made defendant today in a divorce suit filed in district court by Louisa Freye, his wife, who is seeking a legal separation on the grounds of cruelty. He is 60 years old and she is 43. They were married at Center City, Minn., June 4, 1908.

Mrs. Frye alleges that her husband has not only been an habitual drunkard during the last few years but has also been addicted to the use of cocaine and other drugs. She charges that on many occasions he has struck and mistreated her. On May 8, 1913, she claims, he beat her with a club.

The plaintiff also asks for $75 monthly alimony. The case will be disposed of at the May term of the district court.

MARINE

SUPERSTITION HOLDS BOATS

Insurance on at Midnight, But Few Will Sail Friday.

Marine Insurance Brokers Announce Their Terms for Season.

While vessel insurance goes in force at midnight tonight on the Great Lakes, it is not believed that a great many vessels will take advantage of it, at least until after midnight tomorrow. Absurd as it may seem, there is a well defined prejudice among sailor men to start their initial trips on Friday, the so-called unlucky day of the week. Even during the season, where it can be avoided without loss or inconvenience, vessels will not leave port, but these occasions are rare when they can jump the day. However, for the initial trip almost all vessel owners and lake captains honor the prejudice of their men.

The steamers Lakeport and Lakewood, which wintered at the Sault, are expected to start for Duluth some time today, and may leave the Sault some time before midnight, taking the short end of a chance on the insurance matter, to avoid sailing on Friday.

Insurance Rates.

All steel ships in the bulk freight trade on the Great Lakes will be insured at the same rate and rates for December sailing will be specified in the policies. This was the announcement just made by marine insurance brokers.

The rate to steel vessels will be 3¾ per cent net for one year and is approximately one-quarter of 1 per cent less than the preferred rate of 1914 and 1 per cent less than the 1914 non-preferred rate. The abolition of the preferred rate allowed to fleets of three or more vessels only at the option of the underwriters is one of the things the Great Lakes Protective association has been contending for.

The letters that were mailed to clients said further::

"We have arranged to hold covered sailings after Nov. 30 midnight, and not later than Dec. 12, midnight, at 1 per cent additional; but if one voyage only between terminal ports is used, at ½ per cent additional if sailing prior to Dec. 5, midnight; ¾ per cent if sailings prior to Dec. 8, midnight. Sailings after Nov. 30, midnight, and prior to Dec. 12, midnight, to port or ports on the same lake are held covered at ¼ per cent additional."

This is an advantage to the insured vessel, as it makes it possible for managers to charter ships for December trips the same as managers of uninsured ships are able to do.

The policies also will contain a new clause which states that in collision cases the vessel liable for the accident shall be subject to only one deductible average. This is a departure from former policies and is distinctly to the advantage of the insured.

WHITEFISH BAY BEING OPENED UP

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 15.—Steamers reported to have left Georgian bay ports for the Canadian Sault, to load rail cargoes had not reached Detour last night. They are the J. Frater Taylor and Thomas J. Drummond of the Algoma Central line.

Conditions continue favorable. A telegram from Whitefish point says that with the present south wind, the steamboat channel will be clear of ice today.

Some large ice fields above the point have moved out from the shore. The steamers Lakeport and Lakewood will leave today for Duluth.

ICE IS HEAVY IN RIVER AT SAULT

Steamer Trying to Get Through From Detour; Lakeport Leaves.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Steamer McKee arrived at Detour this morning, after coaling she tried the ice at Sweet's point and at noon was still trying to force her way through. The steamers Franz and Frater Taylor were due at Detour at noon.

Calumet, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mutual line steamers are expected to open navigation into Portage lake the last week of this month or about April 27, the Houghton agents expect. Following this a half dozen cargoes of coal for the Calumet & Hecla, Copper Range, Franklin, Mohawk, Wolverine and other mining companies will come into Hancock, Houghton, Gay and Lake Linden during the early part of May. The coal situation on the lake is much easier this spring than it has been any spring in several years. This is due, for the most part, to the curtailment of operations at all the mines and suspension at some last August, after the coal supplies had been received, because of the European war which caused a big drop in the prices offered for copper metal. Mr. Lloyd George will have the cooperation of ex-Premier A. J. Balfour, Edwin S. Montague, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster; Harold T. Baker, member of parliament for the Accrington division of Lancashire; Arthur Henderson, member for the Barnard Castle division of Durham; Maj. Gen. Sir Stanley B. Von Donop, master general of the ordnance; Sir Hubert Llewellyn Smith, permanent secretary to the board of trade, and a representative of the admiralty.

Premier Asquith announced the composition of the committee to the house of commons. He explained that its functions were "to insure the promptest and most efficient application of all the available productive resources of the country for the manufacture and supply of war munitions for the army and navy, and with authority to take all necessary steps for that purpose."

The British war office simultaneously has appointed a departmental committee to assist in the same object under the chairmanship of Field Marshal Earl Kitchener.

12,000 MEN WILL GET WAGE BOOST

Calumet & Hecla Mining Company to Increase Wages 10 Per Cent.

Calumet, Mich., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Calumet & Hecla Mining company today announced a wage increase of 10 per cent at all its properties, mills and smelters, and three of its eleven subsidiary companies, including Ahmeek, Allouez, Centennial, Osceola Consolidated, Isle Royale, White Pine, La Salle, St. Louis, Laurium and others.

Approximately 12,000 men are affected, the increase to go into effect May 1. The increase is due to better prices being received for copper which is selling at 18 cents a pound. This brings the wages to the scale in force before the strike of 1913.

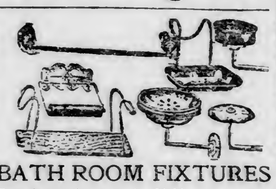
DRIVING AGITATORS FROM COPPER COUNTRY

Trouble Makers Given to Understand They Cannot Get Employment.

Calumet, Mich. April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Copper country Finnish, Austrian, Italian and Croatian mine workers are pushing their campaign to rid the district of so-called red Socialist agitators, who have been causing the men a lot of trouble by getting them "in bad" with the mining companies that employ labor. Contrary to reports circulated through Socialist organizations, no violence has ever been used in driving out the agitators but several have been forced to leave the district.

The agitators are ostracized, cannot get work and are forced to leave to gain a livelihood. The Calumet and Hancock Socialist locals, as a result of the campaign, are ready to give up the ghost unless funds can be obtained from outside. The head local at Duluth has announced it can give locals in this district no further assistance.

Cloquet Honor Pupils.



Cloquet, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The honor pupils of Lincoln high school have been announced as follows: Miss Beatrice Parks, senior; Miss Clara Ornell, senior; Miss Hannah Johnson, sophomore; Matthew Laaksonen, sophomore; Miss Alta Atkins, freshman; Miss Hildur Holmberg, freshman; Miss Julia Josjor, freshman; Miss Gerda Nelson, freshman; Miss Mary Sirlon, freshman. The honor pupils are those having a grade of 90 or above in all their subjects for the month.

JUST FIFTY YEARS AGO ABRAHAM LINCOLN, WITH ASSASSIN'S BULLET IN HIS HEAD, PASSED TO HIS REWARD

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Fifty years ago last night, April 14, 1865, Abraham Lincoln attended a performance at Ford's theater, Washington, and while there was shot through the head by John Wilkes Booth. He died at twenty-two minutes past seven on the morning of April 15, in the bed of Willie Clark, a soldier living near the theater.

At noon on April 14 the flag at Fort Sumter, which had been hauled down at the beginning of the war, was hoisted again by the very man who had been compelled to strike it four years before. The war was over, and the North was rejoicing in the knowledge that the bloody yesterdays were ended.

It was the happiest day of Lincoln's life, and of the entire country, but before midnight the nation was plunged into mourning and the flags of victory and peace were drawn down to half mast, and covered with crepe.

The murder was the outcome of a plot designed by Booth to dispose of President Lincoln, Vice President Andrew Johnson and Secretary of State Seward. Lewis Payne, a young ex-Confederate soldier, made his way to Seward's bedside and stabbed him threes times, without killing him. George Atzerodt, a carriage maker, was to dispatch the vice president, but he made no serious attempt to carry out his part of the plan.

Today 100,000,000 persons are paying tribute to the memory of the first American citizen of all time. After fifty years his memory is even dearer to the hearts of true Americans than at the time of his death.

The man who murdered President Lincoln was an actor, son of Junius Brutus Booth, a distinguished tragedian, and brother of Edwin Booth, one of America's most famous actors. John Wilkes was 26 years of age, possessed of remarkable physical beauty, strength and personal magnetism, and idolized by audiences and friends.

How News Was Received.

Recalling memories of that black April 15, Civil war veterans of Duluth today are telling how they first heard of the assassination, and of the rioting by grief and rage-maddened crowds in all of the larger cities.

Capt. Asa Dailey, custodian at Memorial hall, courthouse, was a steward in the general hospital at Louisville with the brigade surgeon at the time. "I will never forget that day," he said.

"We were celebrating the fall of Richmond, and Lee's surrender at the Appomattox courthouse had occurred but four days befre. Every building was decorated with flags and bunting, huge bonfires were built at all the street corners and every pane of glass in the city was lighted up by a tallow candle.

"Early the next morning we received a telegram telling of the shooting, and within two hours the bunting all had been replaced by crepe, the flags were at halfmast, and the city was in the deepest mourning.

"I saw merchants fling open their doors, take huge bolts of black cloth and fling them into the street, crying: 'Take this and decorate your homes, drape your flags.'

"A man eating breakfast in a Louisville hotel said: 'This is the best breakfast I've eaten in a long time,' and a bystander shot him dead without a word.

"That day thirteen persons were shot down as you would shoot a dog, for similar remarks, and the city fairly went mad. It was worse than any other day of the war, and the blackest day I ever expect to see."

Booth, with "Davy" Herold, a young clerk, made their way South on horseback, and were captured in a barn on the shores of the Potomac river twelve days later. A squad of soldiers surrounded the place and set fire to it, one of them, a soldier called Boston Corbett, shooting Booth through the head when the flames blazed up and revealed him.

Herold surrendered and later was hanged, with Atzerodt, Payne and a Mrs. John Surratt, mother of a Confederate spy, at whose boarding house in Washington the conspirators had met.

HOPE FOR JEWISH REPUBLIC IN PALESTINE AFTER WAR

Palestine, a Jewish republic after the war.

This is the dream of all Jewish subjects of England, according to a letter just received by Wilfred E. Halter of this city from his sister, Hannah, of Liverpool, Eng. Mr. Halter, who is an expert auditor, recently arrived here from Fort William and is now making his home in Duluth, with offices in the Manhattan building.

According to the communication, the Jews of England are of the belief that immediately after the cessation of hostilities between the powers of Europe and Asia, Palestine will be given to the Jews of the world as their future home. The belief is also general, the letter states, that England will assume the protectorate over this country and will aid the Jews in forming their own republic.

Miss Halter, who is a university student in Liverpool, gives the United States considerable praise for its neutrality and efforts in behalf of peace.

Flour and food prices are all soaring, so that some articles are now almost prohibitive, the letter states.

Five Babies Are Born Every Minute

How many live!

Only four! The other little one is lost—lost to his mother after nine months of weary waiting, because he does not get the right food. His mother, with all her love, does not know perhaps that so many babies cannot digest cow's milk easily—does not know how many kinds of sickness, diarrhoea, even consumption, scarlet fever and the foot and mouth disease of last year, are carried in milk from unclean dairies and sick cows. Babies cannot fight all this sickness

Your own breast milk is what your baby should have, and when it is not enough give him something so nearly like it, that he won't know the difference. Give him

Nestlé's Food

In Nestlé's the curd of the milk is soft and fleecy as in mother's milk. Made of the milk from clean, healthy cows in sanitary, inspected dairies. All the harmful parts are modified and your baby's special needs are added. Nestlé's comes to you a clean, safe powder, packed in an air-tight can. You add only water.

Send the coupon for the big sample can and you will soon find out why the mothers of three generations have used Nestlé's; why Nestlé's is used in every land in the world and why its use grows with the growth of the "Better Babies" movement.

TRADE GROWS MORE ACTIVE

Better Orders in All Lines Being Placed With Duluth Jobbers.

Good Progress in Seeding Operations Over West Promotes Optimism.

That trade over the West is improving is the consensus of opinion among Duluth jobbers and manufacturers. With seeding proceeding under the most favorable conditions over North and South Dakota and Southern and Western Minnesota, sentiment among country merchants is becoming more optimistic.

While business is still being placed on a conservative bsis, the aggregate is said to be mounting up into a substantial volume, largely by reason of the average small stocks being carried by retailers, and the consequent necessity of filling in upon a more extended scale. Though comparisons are being made with an active period in 1914, this spring's bookings are said to be showing increases in some lines.

Grocery Trade Good.

Substantial increases in the volume of buying by retailers over the Northwest was reported by Duluth grocery jobbing establishments, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior.

There have been few radical price changes through the list of staples, but the price tendency is generally upward. Canned fruits and vegetables are, however, a weak feature as a result of stocks carried over by packers from last fall being unusually large, and general efforts to clean up remaining stocks on the part of the trade.

Sugars are being quoted on exactly the same basis as in several weeks back, with refiners asking 5.90 cents at New York for standard granulated. Demand for the product is seasonably quiet. Coffees are also unchanged, but the market is slightly easier in Santos.

Flour and all cereals are again advancing with the higher markets in wheat and oats during the last few days.

Improvement in Dry Goods.

F. A. Patrick & Co.'s sales department reported a decided improvement in future orders for fall delivery. Country merchants are generally under the impression that the wool market will rule higher through the coming season, and they are consequently showing a disposition to order more freely in staple lines.

Mail orders are also better than they have been in some time back.

Heavy Hardware Shipments.

Business in hardware is showing expansion as compared with a year ago, according to the Kelley-How-Thomson company, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

This is the period of heavy shipments in the hardware trade, and forwardings from this point over the territory are said to be mounting up into a heavier aggregate than a year ago. Such lines as garden and farming tools, building trade supplies, etc., are going out freely.

Advances in prices in everything in which copper enters are excepted, that list including electrical supplies, kettles, boilers, etc. Cordage quotations are likely to be advanced, as the closing of Mexican ports and the scarcity of vessels in the shipping trade from the Phillipines has affected sizal supplies, and has brought about a strong market in it.

Footwear Orders Satisfactory.

Future orders in footwear were advised to be better than at this time last year by the Northern Shoe company. The house's salesmen are picking up especially good trade in the agricultural districts, and a marked betterment is noted through the Michgan Copper country, and in the mining sections of Montana consequent upon the growing activity in mines operations and the larger number of men being employed.

Bright Furniture Outlook.

"Trade is looking better with us all the time, and it seems as if we may count upon activity during the next few months. Reports we are getting from salesmen are leading us to feel more optimistic," said H. E. Seitz of the De Witt-Seitz company. The booking of good business in mixed furniture from over Northern Michigan and North Dakota, was advised.

Call for Building Papers.

Increasing trade in building papers, with every promise of a busy season in that line especially, was advised by the Duluth Paper & Stationery company. The outlook in general stationery is improving, and satisfactory business is being taken by the house in printers' supplies.

The first steamship crossed the Atlantic in 1833.

INTEMPERANCE THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Proper Eating and Drinking Would Lengthen Life, Says Dr. Webster.

Personal hygiene is the only means for the extension of human life, according to an article by Health Director Webster on "The Extension of Human Life" in the April bulletin of the health department, issued today.

The article follows, in part:

"This is not in the exceptional class. From all parts of the country we get records which disclose lives snuffed out by disease which might have been checked or cured under early intelligent supervision.

"Undoubtedly the great prosperity, which for years has swept over this country, carrying in its wake more luxurious style of living, freedom from exercise due to exertion-saving devices, intemperance in eating and drinking combined with the greater amount of business cares has imposed a load upon the human mechanism beyond its capacity.

"What is the remedy for this condition which is menacing the people of America today? Personal hygiene without a doubt. This may be accomplished by periodic examinations to detect disease in its incipiency when it may be checked or cured. Concisely, this is the cause and the remedy."

Congressman Miller Airs Views on Militarism Before Spanish War Veterans.

Declares Country Should Be Prepared to Fight, If Occasion Arises.

Nearly 300 persons attended the banquet and "country store" program which was given at Memorial hall, courthouse, last evening under the auspices of Camp John G. McEwen No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans.

The program consisted of a speech by Congressman Clarence B. Miller and a few musical selections after which the bazar was held. Articles, donated by local firms, were sold and the proceeds turned into a fund from which uniforms for the members of the camp on Memorial day will be purchased.

Congressman Miller, who is an honorary member of Camp McEwen addressed the gathering on "Militarism." He declared that while the United States should not take an aggressive stand, it should always be prepared to defend itself. He spoke in favor of a good-sized standing army and a well-equipped navy and encouraged the idea of the state militia.

"America cannot yet afford to let the military spirit pass away," he said. "We should be thankful that we are free from the misery and woe of war that is being borne in other parts of the world in order that the nation may live." The salvation of the republic, he declared, is its citizen-soldiers.

During the evening, piano solos were given by Miss Regina Ray Homicke and Miss Jessica French. Miss Hazel Fisher sang "The Little Gray Home in the West." Recitations were given by Miss Irene Long and Miss Maude Leonard.

Thomas W. Gunn, commander of Camp McEwen, was in charge of the program for the evening.

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE AS REVIEWED IN REPORTS FROM SUB-COMMITTEES

KNOX READS YEAR'S REPORT

All Committees of Public Affairs Have Done Good Work.

Great Progress Made for Good Roads, Agriculture and in Other Lines.

The annual report of the chairman of the public affairs committee, Renwick B. Knox, was read by himself, and reviewed in brief, the work of the various sub-committees of the public affairs committee. It follows:

"The public affairs committee comprises twenty-three sub-committees, which, in turn, are made up of 159 members of the club, together with seventeen honorary members, who are the members of the city council, and presidents of various neighborhood clubs. That the sub-committees have been punctual, faithful and diligent in the performance of the duties assigned to them, or initiated by them, needs no greater evidence than that contained in the reports which they will present to me and I to you tonight. It matters not what the problem is that may be presented for solution, some one of the sub-committees takes it in hand and in an earnest, unselfish and fearless investigation the facts are determined, a conclusion is reached and a report is made to the public affairs committee, which then takes affirmative or negative action thereon. That the judgment of the public affairs committee is valued and its decisions respected, has been shown time and again by city officials, business and professional men of Duluth, and members of the state legislature, all of whom have, at sundry times, asked for an expression of the opinion of this committee upon matters of local, state, and even national importance. It is the conscientious devotion to duty of the members of the public affairs committee that, so long as the present system of fair-minded, unselfish investigation and expression of unbiased opinion exists, will make this club and its public affairs committee a power for good in the commercial life of this great city.

"Naturally some of the sub-committees have been more active than others, not because of any lack of interest by members of one set of committees, and more zeal on the part of the members of others, but because certain committees have had the opportunity to consider more active problems than others.

Work of Committees.

"The agricultural committee continues its splendid propaganda for the development of this wonderful country around us, and that it has been successful beyond the fondest hopes of the supporters of this work of only a few years ago is easily demonstrated by a tour over one or all of the roads leading into Duluth.

"The city planning committee, in addition to its work along the line of improving the aesthetic appearance of the city, has had also under consideration matters of city planning of a most important character relating to the utilization and commercial development of the city's facilities. It has done yeoman service in assisting in the collection of data and the proper presentation to the committees of the legislature of the so-called Jay Cooke Park matter. In connection with this proposed Jay Cooke park it is fitting that I draw your attention to the splendid, unremitting, and untiring work of one of the judges of our district court, who has been at the head and front of this movement to get for the state this magnificent park; also to those other citizens of Duluth, not members of the public affairs committee, who have assisted him in this work; and to the owners of what we know as the Jay Cooke lands along the St. Louis river, who have agreed to donate for this park the perpetual use of these lands; and to the officers of the corporation owning other lands on the river now used for the development of hydro-electric power, who have indicated their willingness to join in this enterprise; and to the officers of the local subsidiary companies of the greatest manufacturing corporation in the United States, who, without hesitation and without charge, placed at the disposal of this committee all of the facilities of their drafting department so that a proper map could be made and was made to aid in the intelligent presentation of the matter to the legislative committees. If this great park becomes an accomplished fact, it will be due to the efforts of these various men.

Roads and Gardens.

"The good roads committee has been indefatigable in its efforts to get roads leading to and from Duluth improved so that farmers may do their hauling at a low price per ton mile, and that tourists may enjoy the beauties of the surrounding country. It has done much work and accomplished excellent results in the improvement of the road between Duluth and St. Paul and Minneapolis.

"The homecroft committee has inaugurated and carried out a system of home garden development, the results of which are readily discernible in all parts of the city, and the good accomplished cannot be measured. Its good work has spread from one locality to another carrying the gospel of self-support by garden development.

"The legislative committee has had a number of important matters before it. It has considered them all carefully, and in every case its reports have been adopted by the public affairs committee, even although in some cases its recommendations have been opposed to the popular clamor.

"The principal work of the municipal committee has been its painstaking consideration of the housing ordinance. For over six months this committee worked incessantly delving into the question of proper housing, and carried its investigations into all parts of the United States, working with committees of other organizations in the city, and when its report was presented to the public affairs committee a long and earnest debate resulted, and the committee was upheld on every point.

"The neighborhood committee has done splendid service in cementing the bonds of friendship and co-operation between this club and the other commercial organizations and local neighborhood clubs of the city.

"The name of the publicity and statistics committee would seem, on its face, to indicate that its work is self-evident, and needs no comment. This very important committee, however, goes about its work quietly, systematically and intelligently, and accomplishes marvelous results in spreading information about Duluth. It has prepared and distributed booklets that are sought after from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Arctic to the equator, and we rarely hear of it until we see another booklet that at once strikes us with its forcible presentation of important facts.

Public Health.

"The public health committee has had a strenuous year. One or two matters of great importance have come before it, and it has co-operated with other organizations of the city in an endeavor to better conditions for the proper hospitalization of the sick in this city and county. That its efforts in this direction have not yet been fruitful of practical results indicates only that the time for the desired change is not yet here. Its efforts cannot be too highly commended.

"The rivers and harbors committee has had under consideration a number of projects, and has been busily engaged in separating the wise from the otherwise, reporting in favor of and getting favorable action upon the one, and reporting against the other. This work has required close and prompt attention to many details.

"The street improvement committee met every week during the period that work upon the streets of Duluth was under way, and at most of its sessions had with it, for consultation and advice, the commissioner of public works, who gave unstintingly of his time to help the committee with its work, and who gladly accepted and acted upon its advice and recommendations. The meetings of this committee were, in a majority of cases, hours in length. No matter of importance was overlooked or omitted. At least once a week inspections were made of the various pieces of street work being done by the city either with its own forces or under contract, and, as a result, much good was accomplished.

Duluth Boosters.

"The work of the trade extension committee needs no introduction or comment. This band of faithful workers carried the banner of Duluth's commercial activities to the farthest corner of the territory possible to be served by our merchants. It sang the praises of our city wherever it went, and no matter where it happened to be, every one in the community visited knew that it was there. It arrived with the hand of good fellowship outstretched, and left with the blessing of the visited community upon its head. Its messages of good cheer have done much in what is known as Duluth's jobbing territory to benefit our business men.

"To atempt even a brief description of the work of the traffic committee would require a volume. It has studied and solved some of the most intricate problems of rate making and transportation that have ever been presented for consideration. It has prepared and submitted to the courts and to the interstate commerce commission briefs that are marvels of traffic facts and law. It has argued cases before the commission and before the courts, and, thus far, has been successful in the causes advocated by it. It has the confidence of the members of the interstate commerce commission, because it has never resorted to subterfuge or sharp practice, but has always presented the facts honestly, fearlessly and skilfully, and the judgments of the commission have shown that it has faith in its statements. I think that I am safe in saying that no other influence in the city of Duluth has had so great an effect upon the development of trade in Duluth as has the work of this traffic committee. The whole city owes a debt of gratitude for the work that it has accomplished under the leadership of that man who, notwithstanding the enormous pressure of vast business engagements, has found time to direct its labors.

"I would indeed be ungrateful did I not take this opportunity to express, as I do now, my gratitude to the officers, directors and members of the club and the public affairs committee for their prompt, efficient and unselfish devotion to duty at all times. In no single instance has a member of this club shirked the duty that has been allotted to him, or neglected the task assigned to him. It is the knowledge that this spirit pervades the membership of this club, that makes the chairmanship of the public affairs committee a simple task. So long as that spirit is the dominant one, so long will the influences of this club be a powerful factor in the advancement and well being of the city."

EACH DAY BRINGS BRIGHTER PROSPECTS IN BUSINESS WORLD

David Williams, president of the Duluth Commercial club, is absent from the city, but sent a message which caused much enthusiastic applause, for it embodied a note of encouragement that, coming from a leading banker and man of affairs, is significant. The letter follows:

"I regret that absence from the city prevents my delivering, in person, my brief message at this annual meeting. I should like to be with you to breathe the atmosphere of civic pride and to be inspired by the spirit of confidence that I know must obtain in the reports of the various committees at the termination of this year of work.

"The year just closing has been one of hesitancy in business, with consequent lack of expansion. Commercial and industrial activity has been somewhat below normal. We, in Duluth, should not complain, however. Our situation has been most satisfactory when compared to that of other centers of population.

"The upward climb has begun. Each day the sun that rises over the business world is brighter, and in the coming year, we may expect to see Duluth regain the rate of progress that has been ours in the last few years.

"The work of the Commercial club in this last year will be reviewed in the reports to be submitted tonight. If analyzed, these reports will show that the club continues to merit the support of the people of Duluth We are working steadily, consisently and effectively for commercial, industrial and civic progress of a lasting nature. This club stands for service of the highest kind in the community, and it is effective only because it represents the combined energy and enthusiasm of the public spirited men of the city. I am sure it will continue to grow from year to year in numbers, in efficiency and in public regard.

I thank the officers and members of the club who have so loyally worked for its success. I commend the work of the club to you in future and trust that you will be no less energetic and no less enthusiastic in its support."

PATRONIZING LOCAL FIRMS

Efforts to Secure Better Patronage for Duluth Establishments.

Tailors Lack Organization; Other Trades Work Efficiently.

One of the most interesting reports was that of W. C. Allen, chairman of the retail committee. Mr. Allen reported on the committee's investigation of how much business goes out of Duluth that could be kept at home, and makes some suggestions. The report follows:

"Your retail committee has co-operated with the retail merchants and other organizations of similar activities throughout the year. We planned to investigate three lines of trade in the city, namely, cigarmakers, printing and tailoring, and to prepare charts showing the number of men employed in the different lines, the amount of trade which goes out of the city annually as compared with that which remains in the city annually and, from this, show how many more men could be employed in these lines if the citizens of Duluth would patronize local establishments.

"We were materially delayed in this plan by the lack of organization found among the tailors. We proceeded to organize this body of workers so that they might work for the better interest of their trade in Duluth. This we accomplished to a certain extent. The general results obtained are as follows:

"In the printing trade the yearly output of the local shops amounts to $1,000,000. We find from very careful investigation that approximately $500,000 is done outside of the city. Two hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars are paid by the printing trade in yearly wages; $220,000 is paid for rent, taxes, insurance, etc.; $850,000 is invested in allied interests of Duluth exclusive of the daily press; 400 employes are engaged in this industry, so that you can readily see what supporting the Duluth printers in every way possible will mean for the city of Duluth.

Cigar Trade.

"In the cigar trade there are seventeen shops and about eighty-four employed with an annual payroll of $68,000. The yearly output of these shops is 3,120,000 cigars, the yearly value being $171,600. It is estimated that $850,000 worth of cigars is consumed in this city. This opens another chance for the people of Duluth to back up local industry.

"In regard to the tailoring industry it is estimated that 50 per cent, at least, of the tailor-made clothes worn by Duluth citizens are made outside of the city. We have not as yet been able to ascertain just what the investment and wages paid in this trade are in the city, but this fact alone that over 50 per cent of the tailor-made clothes worn in Duluth are purchased outside of the city is enough to make us stop and think whether we are really boosting Duluth or knocking it. Through a severe investigation we have found that the workmanship and product of these industries as produced in Duluth are as good and in many cases better than is obtainable in cities outside of Duluth, either large or small.

"The feeling of co-operation is growing stronger and stronger among the retail houses of this city. Everything indicates that the citizens are showing more appreciation of what can be obtained in our own city. I would recommend that the retail committee for the next year continue the investigation of retail trades, looking toward better co-operation in the several lines and thus the products and goods carried in stock will fulfill more nearly the demands of our citizens. It is a pathetic and wrong principle to think that just because an article is printed or marketed or bought out of town that it is better than what our merchants sell. This point, I believe, cannot be emphasized too strongly and every indication has been given by our retailers that they can and do meet the demands of the public."

PLANNING FOR FUTURE

Committee's Work on Jay Cooke Park Will Probably Be Successful.

Lake Shore Park and Terminal Projects Also Considered.

Francis W. Sullivan, chairman of the city planning committee, made the following report, supplementing it with a statement and a motion dealt with elsewhere in this issue:

"The city planning committee begs to report that during the past year it has had many meetings and informal conferences with city officials and interested citizens, working towards the accomplishment of certain definite plans, upon which it has seemed best to concentrate its efforts. In view of the full report made at the last meeting of this committee upon some of these matters, it does not seem advisable to refer to them again at length now.

"Since the last report, much further effort has been devoted to the establishment of the proposed 'Jay Cooke state park,' along the Dalles of the St. Louis river from Fond du Lac to Carlton. As a result of the earnest and unselfish work of many interested citizens, it now seems probable that legislation will be secured which will result in the establishment of this park, and the acceptance of the generous offer made by the Jay Cooke estate, with sufficient appropriation of state funds to start the work of improvement.

Work on Armory.

"Much effort has been devoted since the last report, in the hope of securing changes in the exterior of the armory which is being built on London road. While public sentiment seems to be practically unanimous in support of this committee's suggestion that changes should be made in the exterior of this building, it is probable that our efforts will not meet with success unless immediate active and earnest effort is made by the members of the public affairs committee to induce the city commissioners to appropriate the sum of $2,500 toward the fund necessary to make the proposed changes in the exterior of this building. There is no legal objection to this appropriation, and apparently no disinclination to vote for the appropriation on the part of individual commissioners. No doubt they desire to do what the people of the community wish them to do, and it is yet possible to secure these desired changes, if the members of this club really desire it, and will take sufficient interest in it, collectively and individually, to express their desire to the city commissioners, so that they may feel that the indorsement of the public will be upon their action. Without such an initial appropriation from the city commission, your committee feels that it is impossible to go further with its plans for securing the balance of the fund necessary for the proposed changes.

Lake Shore Park.

"On the proposed Lake Shore park much time has been spent. There is an active and vigorous opposition to this park on the part of interested property owners. Your committee has felt always that there has been no other project undertaken by it which has greater merit, or which is likely to be of more profit ultimately to the whole community, than the securing, as soon as possible, of the lake shore frontage for ultimate use for park and playground purposes. Every year that passes will make this work more difficult of accomplishment and more expensive, and the opposition of private interests will be more vigorous. If this club desires to have the Lake Shore park, there must be more active interest in it, and expression of the people's desire to have it, in order that the voice of the people may be heard above the incessant whisperings of selfish, mercenary opposition. It is up to this club to determine whether it wants the park or not. If the people want it, it can be obtained. If the people do not want it, your committee does not wish to waste its time or yours in fruitless agitation.

"Aside from these definite plans, much work has been done on industrial and terminal questions, which are not yet in sufficient definite form to be presented, but on which much valuable data has been secured, which will be turned over to our successors."

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Committee Devotes Efforts to Support Existing Endeavors.

High School and "U" Extension Work Declared to Be Efficient.

The annual report of the vocational training committee to the Public Affairs committee was made by Chairman B. C. Wade, and is as follows:

"Your committee on vocational training has done little of a formal character. Conditions have not seemed favorable to the promotion of new lines of work and your committee has therefore confined its efforts to the support of existing agencies and endeavors.

"We again helped to advertise and promote attendance upon the annual exposition of the high school manual training department. This exposition occurs early in June. It is most interesting to visit and furnishes abundant evidence that Duluth is supplying the best of instruction in manual training lines. Your committee respectfully urges the members of this club to attend the exposition this year.

"We have also tried to boost the commercial department of the high school, which department is now cramped for room, but is increasing in popularity with pupils and in favor with business men. We have spoken with a goodly number of employers who have gladly borne witness to the splendid service given them by stenographers and other office help graduated from the high school commercial department.

"Another piece of service your committee has been the extension department of the state university. We solicited from employers lists of such of their employes as they felt might be interested in any of the courses furnished by the extension department. Several hundred selected names were thus secured and furnished to the university headquarters. Nearly all of the courses opened the previous year have been continued by the university, but without definite figures at hand, our impression is that the enrollment in some cases has been smaller. We believe the university management has not gone quite far enough to get the best returns from their investment. They have furnished high grade expensive teachers, they have circularized for pupils and to some extent have had personal canvassers at work for a short time securing enrollments, but they have lacked, it appears to us, a representative with headquarters in Duluth and responsibilities for the northern part of the state. Such a man would head up their work and bring unity, cohesion, efficiency to their program.

"Meanwhile we learn that owing to legislative cuts in university appropriations the extension propaganda, at least so far as Northern Minnesota is concerned, is likely to be cut off. This would seem unfortunate and we respectfully recommend the situation to the early attention of our successors."

CLUB'S WORK FOR FARMERS

Eight Specific Projects Occupied Committee's Time During Year.

Exhibits, Public Market, Farm Bulletins and Farmers' Credit System.

C. P. Craig, chairman of the agricultural committee, reported on the work of that body as follows:

"In the early stages of the work of this committee, when it had a paid secretary, it was the policy to do some executive and administrative work. That is not now the purpose of the committee, but rather to study the entire field of agricultural development; to determine policies, inaugurate movements and direct organizations.

"In our report of one year ago there were presented eight specific recommendations for the careful consideration of the incoming committee. It might be interesting, as an evidence of how closely we worked to a program, to repeat those recommendations and briefly states how far they have been carried out.

"First—'We recommended the carrying out of the usual exhibit at the state fair on a non-competitive basis, giving study to present in a very impressive way the fact that St. Louis county is the best agricultural, live stock, and dairy county in this or any other state.'

"This was done on an equally, if not a more, instructive basis than heretofore, and it is the recommendation of your committee that the same program be followed at the state fair of 1915.

Livestock Exhibit.

"Second—'We recommended that there be put on an agricultural and livestock exhibit in co-operation with the industrial exposition.'

"This your committee carried out, and I think none of you who visited that exposition will doubt that it was not only bigger and better than the year before, but that it was a credit to any community.

"We recommend that this be made an annual event and that the exhibit of dairy cattle be extended to include Northern Michigan, Northern Wisconsin and Northeastern Minnesota. Owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth diseases we would not advise the dairy cattle exhibit this year.

"Third—'Co-operate in a live, active, encouraging and thoughtfully conservative way with our agricultural school, its advisory board, our district supervisor of agriculture and the agricultural agents of this and adjoining counties.'

"We have fulfilled this recommendation in every particular. At the short course recently held the advisory committee and your agricultural committee co-operated in the organizing among the farmers of St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties, the Tri-County Potato Growers' association, the Crop Improvement association, affiliated with the Minnesota State Crop Improvement association, the Grade Guernsey Registry of Merit, and in the procuring of more and better roads.'

"Fourth—'Wage a relentless campaign until up-to-date, adequate, public market facilities are a part of our municipal equipment.'

"If there is any place where we have made little progress it is along this line, although we are perhaps entitled to say that we have not stood entirely still. We recommend a continuation of this campaign to our successors with added energy and emphasis.

"Fifth—'Publish an important up-to-date bulletin on facts proven with respect to the "incomparable adaptation of St. Louis county and adjoining counties for dairying."

"We now only refer you to the new book, 'The Land of Cows and Clover' just off the press, a sequel to 'Cows in Clover.' The two days' joint session of the Minnesota State Livestock Breeders' association and the North Wisconsin and Northeastern Minnesota Guernsey Breeders' association last June is an achievement of which the members of your committee are proud, and the good which it will accomplish in spreading a knowledge of the value of this section agriculturally can not be estimated. Every important farm journal in the Central West gave it from a half page to a page and a half, and generally their front page. We secured publicity that would have cost thousands of dollars to buy and then would not have been so effective.

"We recommend making the meeting here of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders' association and our North Wisconsin and Northeastern Minnesota Guernsey Breeders' association an annual event which will repeat the success of last year perpetually. There can be no better means of advertising what we are, than to bring the people from our own state, who are at the head of the agricultural thought of the state, into the city and acquaint them with the facts. Progress is being made upon plans for such a joint meeting in June this year.

Credit to Farmers.

"Sixth—'Complete the work undertaken by this committee for the establishment of a credit enabling farmers to buy dairy cattle.'

"Your committee has carried that recommendation forward, and although desired results in volume have been interfered with through the foot and mouth disease, yet progress has been made and we strongly recommend a continuing and a broadening of this work by our successors. It is an excellent activity and one which this club cannot afford to drop. It is helpful in a practical way.

"Seventh—'There should be close relationship between this committee and the homecroft committee.' This recommendation has been carried out in every way particular. This should continue.

"Eighth—'Urge the establishment in Duluth in 1915 of a two months' permanent summer school for teachers, and to be in the nature of a continuation school for everybody, carried on in co-operation with the university, the normal school, the Duluth public schools, with the publicity work conducted by this club.'

"We regret to say that nothing definite has been done along this line, and all that we can say is that we renew this recommendation and urge that it be started in 1915, so that it may be carried to full fruition in the year 1916.

"A very useful and creditable exhibit was made at Brainerd in December last at the joint meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association and the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

Farmers' Clubs.

"Your committee has assisted in the organization of a large number of associations to work independently, such as farmers' clubs, potato growers' associations, pure seed associations, and numerous others, and while we would not counsel increasing the number of societies unduly, yet we recognize there is necessity for a large number of institutions for various reasons:

"First the magnitude of the rural problem is such that no one institution could do everything; second, there must be a division of work, responsibility and glory, if you please, for the developing of the individual; third, there is need for division of labor among institutions; fourth, there is need for the development of local institutional programs for various reasons: Because of natural centers; to create farmer leadership. All the people must hold a community ideal and after establishing the community ideal, definite, concrete tasks must be selected and attacked by individuals in working towards a realization.

"Upon the other hand it follows from the very necessity of the case that there should be federation, or correlation of these forces and institutions of the county bringing them into a close working harmony. To avoid overlapping of work; to get a rounded out view of the whole problem; to enable each local organization to get knowledge of the best that has been worked out in any community; to study and investigate country life conditions, so as to get truthful facts with which to work and to foster the upbuilding of local country communities.

"These latter are what your committee conceives to be its function in the great work of the settlement and right development of the section or country for which this club, representing the foremost thought of the city, is responsible. And we venture the suggestion that the greatest usefulness in future of this organization will be found in activity along the lines just mentioned.

Rural Progress.

"Having passed the stage of exploitation and carried well along the period of experimentation, having also made rapid strides in the development of institutions and agencies for the permanently carrying on of the work so well started and fostered by this club, it becomes now its duty, as well as privilege, to study the broader problem of rural progress; to hold annual country life conferences, such as may be developed from these annual meetings of the Minnesota livestock breeders and the Guernsey breeders; to inaugurate a broad campaign for rural progress; to get all rural organizations and institutions working together harmoniously; to stimulate farmer leadership and foster the upbuilding of local country communities.

"These are magnificent ideals and will count much in a peculiar way to the city of Duluth, but count much more in her splendid reputation abroad and the esteem in which she is held by her tributary territory.

"'Good will' is the best possible business asset.

"The committee wishes to recognize the support given to its recommendations by the executive committee and the continuous interest and helpfulness on the part of the chairman and the secretary, both of whom have been quite regular attendants at our meetings."

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS

—CHAPTER I.—

The Street Railway Company has been criticized for not more rapidly extending its service.

While the validity of the Duluth franchise was being tested in the courts it was understood that extensions in Duluth were out of the question and it has also been understood in Superior that the six-for-a-quarter case, which is now in the courts, stands in the way of the company making extensions in that city. The depression from which all business has been suffering has also caused all reasonable persons to refrain from demanding that the Street Railway Company alone extend when in all other lines of business conservatism was regarded necessary.

But the Duluth franchise has been upheld and when the hoped-for revival in business materializes demands for extensions will probably again be heard in Duluth. They may also be expected in Superior when the fare controversy is ended. Anticipating such demands, the company desires at this time to acquaint the public with its policy with regard to extensions.

While in 1912 a written statement was given to the Duluth City Council in response to a resolution calling upon the company to inform that body as to "its policy regarding extensions" little or no publicity was given to that statement and this is the first statement of the company to the public upon the subject.

It is generally conceded that the street railway service in Duluth and Superior is equal to, if not better than, that given in other cities of corresponding size in America. The only criticism of the company that is now heard seems to be based on a quite generally prevalent idea that the company has been slow in making extensions. We now desire to give facts that will show that this idea regarding extensions is entirely erroneous. It is our earnest desire that the public should be as well pleased with our "extension policy" as with the service given and it is our purpose to herein present a few facts, the consideration of which must cause a modification of the idea that now seems to prevail regarding this matter.

DAWN OF BETTER DAY FOR DULUTH HERE SAYS BARNES

Julius H. Barnes, former chairman of the public affairs committee, and still chairman of the traffic committee of the club, who is in New York directing all exports of grain to Europe, did not forget the occasion, and sent greetings and an expression of cheer to the club members in a letter to Secretary Eva. The letter, read last night, follows:

"I notice that the annual meeting of the club and the committee is set for Wednesday, the 14th, and I am exceedingly sorry that I cannot leave to be present at that time. I hope sometime this summer to come back to Duluth and to show that Duluth's interest is very close to me, by taking up the work I have been obliged more or less to drop since the war started.

"I want to assure you and all the members of the club that I never felt as sure that the dawn was here of a better day for Duluth and its development, and that this coming twelve months will demonstrate it regardless of the disruption of normal progress by the European war.

"I hope every man who lives in Duluth will feel that same confidence I have in its future, and that the efforts of the past few years to make Duluth more prosperous and a better place to live in will continue the same splendid community spirit; a spirit which I have certainly missed since leaving home."

SOCIETY ◘ WOMEN'S CLUBS ◘ MUSIC ◘ THE DRAMA

The wedding of Miss Loretta Carroll Tims and John Roy Higgins will take place Wednesday morning, April 28.

Shakespeare Class Closes Season With Social Meeting.

The last meeting of the Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club was held last evening at the home of Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, 516 East Fourth street.

The principal part of the program was the excellent presentation by Mrs. Mary Adeline Nelson as Macbeth and Miss Mary Shesgreen as Lady Macbeth of three scenes from "Macbeth," the letter scene, the scene in which the murder is planned and the murder scene. Mrs. Nelson was especially strong in the soliloquy.

Mrs. Nelson read the potion scene from "Romeo and Juliet" with Edmund Vance Cooke's "The Other One Was Booth" as an encore. Miss Shesgreen read Queen Catherine's appeal to Henry VIII, giving Dunbar's "Cornstalk Fiddle" for an encore.

Mrs. H. L. Gage, the retiring chairman of the class made a short talk on Shakespeare.

Mrs. Florence Jolicoeur Schilling sang a group of Shakespearian lyrics, "Who Is Sylvia?" and "Hark! Hark! the Lark" by Franz Shubert and "I Know a Bank" by Parker, with Mrs. Vernon J. Price as accompanist. Mrs. Daugherty explained the musical compositions for the Shakespearian lyrics.

The rooms were decorated with yellow tulips. In the absence of Mrs. J. H. Crowley, tea was poured by Mrs. C. J. Hector. Others who assisted the hostess were Miss Leslie Gage, Miss Bertha Randall and Miss Clara Fider.

Reception for Sunday School Superintendent.

In honor of Joseph H. Jeffrey, who has succeeded H. M. Gravatt as superintendent of Endion M. E. Sunday school, a reception was given last evening by the teachers and officers of the Sunday school at the home of Mrs. F. L. Cowan, 17 North Fifteenth avenue east. There were forty-five guests.

A. M. Locker of St. Paul, general secretary of the state Sunday school association, spoke on "The Modern Sunday School." Miss Frieda Beier gave a piano number and Robert Drummond gave several vocal selections.

Mr. Jeffrey, who has been in Duluth a year and a half, was superintendent for nine years of one of the largest Sunday schools in Lansing, Mich., where he was a member of the faculty of the agricultural school of the state university.

Dancing Party.

Miss Mary Quinn, Miss Katharine Kenney and Miss Mary Monahan will give a dancing party for twenty-five couples this evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. The chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Monahan, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKenna and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carr.

Clan Stewart Dance.

The dancing party given last evening by Clan Stewart at U. O. F. hall was attended by seventy-five persons. The members of the committee in charge were: Simon Clark, Jr., George Clark and Alger Anderson. Di Marco's orchestra played.

Unemployed Girls Are Warned to Avoid Coast.

Miss Bertha Rowles, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., has received a letter from the national board of the association warning girls against going to the Pacific coast this summer unless they are sure of employment.

Many girls have gone to the coast to see the expositions, trusting to luck to find employment, and as there are not enough positions to go around there are so many girls without resources that the Y. W. C. A. branches will be unable to care for them, especially if the number be increased.

ACTRESS IS ALSO WRITER OF ONE-ACT PLAYS

MISS FRANCES NORDSTROM.

Miss Frances Nordstrom, who is at the Orpheum this week, is even better known as a writer of one-act plays than as an actress. This season she has three headline feature sketches to her credit. Besides her own act, "All Wrong," her sister, Marie Nordstrom, who in private life is Mrs. Henry E. Dixey, is appearing in a one-act play "Bits of Acting," which is from her prolific pen. This sketch will be seen in Duluth next week. The following week Mme. Beeson, the English actress, will present another of Miss Nordstrom's creations entitled "Found Out."

Briggs-Richards.

Miss Sadie Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Briggs of 21 Twenty-ninth avenue west, and Harry H. Richards were married last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church. The ceremony took place before a bank of palms and pink roses in the parlor. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Blanche Mark was the matron of honor and William Boyd Yergan was the best man.

The bride wore a white crepe de meteor gown made with a train and a head dress of maline and a bird of paradise. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Mark was gowned in lavender chiffon with silver trimming and carried bride's roses and baby breath.

The bride's mother wore black satin and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. V. Richards, wore black crepe de meteor.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper for forty guests. Sweet peas and baby breath formed the centerpiece in the dining room, which was presided over by Miss Ursula Briggs, assisted by Miss Vivian Falden, Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs. J. F. Anderson and Mrs. W. P. Boobar.

The bride wore a going-away gown of black with hat to match trimmed in shadow lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards left for an Eastern trip. They will be at home after May 15 at 315½ West Third street.

Kitchi Gammi Dinner Dance.

The monthly table d'hote dinner and dance will be held this evening at the Kitchi Gammi club.

CENTRAL PUPILS EXPECT ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY TO SET NEW STANDARD FOR HIGH SCHOOL DRAMATIC WORK

Tomorrow evening in the auditorium of the Central high school, the members of the 1915 senior class play cast will present the first of two performances of "She Stoops to Conquer," a comedy written about 150 years ago by Oliver Goldsmith. The final appearance will be made on Saturday evening.

For more than a month the school Thespians have been drilling for the event. Prof. L. C. Rasey of the school English department has been coaching the youthful hopefuls, and has met with unexpected success. The cast has been rehearsing diligently every afternoon and many evenings in preparation for the event. Although the play is a most difficult production, even for the best of the professional companies, those who have witnessed the rehearsals unanimously declare that there is little amateurism in the work of the school players, and that they will surprise their friends when they appear on Friday and Saturday evenings.

The proceeds derived from the sale of tickets for the play are used to defray, in part, the expenses of the publication of the Zenith, the school annual. To assure a good Zenith, the attendance at the play must be large. According to Townsend Hoopes, business manager of the play, the sale of tickets has far exceeded expectations, and a record house is expected. Several novel ideas have been used by Manager Hoopes in advertising the play. All printing was done in the school printery.

One of the features of both evenings will be the music that has been arranged for. Louis Zalk, a student at the school, has organized an orchestra, composed of a few high school pupils and some outside artists. What will undoubtedly prove as popular as the orchestra will be the Central High School Boys' Glee club. This will be their first real appearance of the season. Some time ago they sang a few selections in chapel at the school, and were forced to respond to several encores. Mrs. Dixon, head of Central's music department, has been training the boys for some time in preparation for the event, and it is expected that they will be well received.

The cast of characters is considered the best that has ever attempted a dramatic production at Central high school. Coach Rasey thinned out a long list of candidates, and selected the very best talent in school. The part of Miss Hardcastle is taken by Muriel Smith. Robert Zuger plays opposite her in the role of young Marlowe. The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Hardcastle are taken by Reginald Reed and Vina Walz, respectively. The opposite roles of Miss Neville and Hastings are ably filled by Margaret Johnson and Harold Baker. The difficult part of Tony Lumpkin will be taken by Irving Grover, in which position he will have considerable opportunity to demonstrate his ability. Other roles are filled as follows: Diggory, Horace Craig; maid, Evangeline Troiander; Sir Charles Marlowe, Julian Hagberg; Jeremy, William Harrison; servants and alehouse frequenters, Stanley Laskey, Robert Kerr, Harold Hein, Edward Scrivens, Ralph McCarthy, Albert Armstrong, Elton Guyer, Harold Coe and Lawrence Moore.

Through the courtesy of the Lyceum theater, the Kelly Furniture company, and the Y. M. C. A., Ben Wood, stage manager, is certain of obtaining the correct settings, and with an expert corps of scene shifters, this end of the affair will be ably cared for.

PERSONAL MENTION

District Convention of W. C. T. U. April 30.

At the executive meeting of the district W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. plans were discussed for the annual district convention that will be held at the Y. W. C. A. building Friday afternoon, April 30. It will be attended by delegates from the West Duluth, Central, Scandinavian and Proctor branches. Superintendents and officers will give their reports and an election of officers will be held.

Donald-Frederickson.

Miss Esther Donald and Fred Frederickson were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Donald, 608 North Fifty-fifth avenue west. Rev. U. S. Villars of Lester Park M. E. church performed the ceremony. Miss Ethel Brand of New Duluth and James Donald, brother of the bride, were the attendants.

The bride wore a traveling suit of blue with hat to match.

A luncheon of twelve covers was served at a table that had tulips as the centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederickson left for a trip to Minneapolis. They will make their home in Duluth.

Pupils of Tanis School Give Recital.

Pupils of the Tanis School of English gave their sixth literary recital last evening. They were assisted by Miss Edna May Dreier, vocalist; John Korbes, violinist; and Harold Storer, accompanist. Superintendent R. E. Denfeld, who was to have given an address, was unable to be present. The following program was given:

Overture—"The Golden Scepter" ..... Schlepegoll
Mr. Korbes.
Vocal—"Beautiful Night" ..... From "Tales of Hoffman"
Miss Dreier.
"The Drunkard's Daughter" ..... Anton Johnson.
"An Unsolved Problem" ..... Ernest Johnson.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Private Lessons Will Be Given for 25 Cents, Class Lessons for 10 Cents, at Seattle.

"Persons do want to help each other; it is just a question of how they will do it." So say a group of Seattle musicians who are banding together to establish a settlement school of music in one of the poor districts of the city.

The music teachers will give their services but a small fee, probably 25 cents will be charged for each individual lesson and 10 cents for a class lesson. The 25-cent charge lesson will include a lesson on the instrument chosen and class instruction in one other branch of musical education. No pupil will be admitted to the school who is able to pay for a 50-cent lesson elsewhere.

The courses of study will be outlined by committees composed of the leading music teachers of Seattle. Already committees on piano, violin and voice are at work on their plans.

There will be classes in musical history, theory and rhythmical gymnastics originated by Jacques Dalcroze.

Both private and class instructions in voice will be given, but before a pupil can have private lessons he must have accomplished a certain amount of work in sight singing classes.

The money derived from lessons will be used to pay house rent and piano rent. Several violins have been given to the school and one has been bought, besides two cornets and two flutes. House furnishings have been promised when the new school shall have been established in its own quarters.

The Seattle settlement school of music is the outgrowth of a talk given to the Musical Art society by a Seattle woman who made a thorough study of the settlement schools of music in New York last summer. The New York Music Settlement school, the first one established in this country, now has its own building that accommodates 800 at a time. There is always a waiting list of at least 500, and each year 1,000 students receive musical instructions. There are two other settlement schools of music in New York.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Contemptible to Open Letters.

It was recently claimed by a Southern judge that the practice of a husband opening letters addressed to his wife and of the wife opening those addressed to the husband is one of the most common causes for divorce.

I have often been surprised into entering a protest when I have seen a woman calmly tear open an envelope received through the mail and addressed to her husband. To me, she had no right to do this and it is a dishonorable thing to do. Even if one has the permission of the husband or wife, it is a wholly indelicate thing to do and one at variance with personal liberty.

There are parents who seem to think that they have a right to open any letters that come addressed to one of their children. Perhaps they have the legal right, but they have no moral right. It is only by example that we can hope to impress the younger generation with high and fine ideals, which are in no sense more to be desired than in the conduct of every day life. A child that has its letters opened, and its small secrets and treasures pried into, will develop usually into a grown-up who has little regard for the rights of others.

I do not advocate a parent allowing a child to receive all manner of sealed communications or of being too secretive regarding habits. There are other and more just ways of learning the contents of a letter sent to—say, your daughter. You can at least be courteous enough to your child to permit her to break the seal and first read the letter, and then you can ask to see it yourself if you are mistrustful of its contents. It is the best and most honorable way if you want your children to remember that they always receive just and considerate treatment at your hands.

I know there is nothing that a fair-minded child resents more than this tactless opening of letters addressed to them, or the prying into little secrets and to places where they keep their treasures. It very often plants a seed of distrust that is never fully overcome. You can guard a child without making it feel that it is being spied upon and dishonorably treated.

As for the husbands and wives who open one another's letters, I do not believe that either one or the other really likes the idea of having an opportunity of doing so themselves. I should think, too, that the one guilty of such a breach of common courtesy would feel themselves to be miserable, guilty creatures. The law itself has taken cognizance of the sacred right of the individual in this regard and has made it an offense to thus meddle with the property of another.

WILL REVIVE "CHARLEY'S AUNT."

"Charley's Aunt" will be revived by the Baldwin Players. This famous old farce is better known to the theater-goers of a generation ago than it is today. It is today. It is now seldom seen on the stage, but at the time it was first produced it was the most popular play of the day. It is doubtful if any farce comedy ever written has had such a long life, and it has made a fortune for its authors and producers. It has not been seen in Duluth for years, and Mr. Baldwin believes it will be one of the most popular bills yet presented by the company. The play is simply one long laugh. It will be presented for the week of April 25. For next week "The Lure" will be presented. "The Lure" aroused much comment when it was first offered in New York. It was indorsed by some social workers as teaching a greatly needed lesson, and by others it was attacked for parading the so-called "white slave" traffic. The engagement next week will be interrupted on Friday and Saturday with a road attraction, but a special matinee for women only will be given Thursday.

This week the popular comedy "The Heir to the Hoorah" is drawing well. The company is seen at its best in such a vehicle, and another crowded house greeted the matinee yesterday. Four more performances will be given, tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday matinee and night.

"ARE YOU A MASON?"

The prominent star, John Barrymore, who attained phenomenal popularity as an irresistible screen comedian in the two Famous Players Film company's comedy triumphs, "An American Citizen" and "The Man From Mexico," surpasses both his former screen successes in the five-part film adaptation of Leo Ditrichstein's famous farce, "Are You a Mason?" at the Rex.

This subject was selected as the vehicle for Mr. Barrymore's return to the screen because it represents, more than any other comedy of similar reputation, the type of dramatic humor best adapted to the inimitable talents of this star.

In "Are You a Mason?" Mr. Barrymore portrays the character of Frank Perry, a dashing young married man of exuberant spirits and vivid imagination. When his wife announces that her chief desire in life is to have him become a Mason, Perry grasps the opportunity it affords for staying out several nights, explaining his numerous absences from home by the statement that he is spending his evenings at the Masonic lodge.

LORD'S GRANDSON AT ORPHEUM

England is represented at the Orpheum theater this week in the person of a sure enough English peer, a grandson of Lord North. T. Yates Benyon, is the young man, and he is appearing in a small part in the little playlet presented by Frances Nordstrom and company. It is said that Mr. Benyon was sent to this country to keep him away from the German guns and to make sure of preserving an heir to the North title and estate. Two cousins who are next in line have joined the army.

Anyway the young man is at the Orpheum, playing a small part with Miss Nordstrom. He does not boast of his connection, does not wear a monocle, and except for one of the performers on the present bill giving it away, no one would have known that English nobility was appearing on the Orpheum bill. Mr. Benyon is enjoying his visit in America and especially his theatrical experience.

STORY OF DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

Pretty little Mary Miles Minter appears in "The Fairy and The Waif" at the Zelda today. In the story in which she is given an opportunity to display her talent, she appears as the daughter of a major of the British army. The father is called away by the outbreak of the European war and she is left in care of a friend, where her keeper's attitude changes and the poor little rich girl is turned out into the streets. Commencing Sunday, the local order of Knights of Pythias will present at the Zelda the great story of universal friendship, "Damon and Pythias," in five acts. Four hundred years before the dawning of the Christian era, the drama of Damon and Pythias was enacted and has lived and is still the foremost theme upon which universal peace may be founded.

THE GRAND'S NEW BILL

Talented singers, and comedians presenting novelties and fun making specialties comprise the new bill opening at the New Grand this afternoon. Four acts of vaudeville and photoplays of decided merit combine to make the entertainment an exceptional one.

Headlining the bill are Cassidy and Longston in their new skit, "The Smoke Queen." The skit is in three scenes opening in New York city then to Egypt and back again. The skit is a novelty which gives this clever team ample opportunity to display their versatility.

The McNeil Trio consists of three young women who perform on all kinds of musical instruments. Classical as well as the late popular numbers are included in the repertoire.

Billy Brown offers comedy imitations in a new and original manner. His twist of English is humorous without obvious effort.

One of the sensational acts in vaudeville is the offering of the Ambler Brothers. They run the gamut from singing and piano playing to daring and thrilling equilibristic demonstrations. Throughout the act there runs a rich vein of humor.

The Hearst Selig News contains views of unusual interest including the burning of the Moulin Rouge, Paris, France; the training of the Giants at Marlin, Texas, and war pictures from Russian Poland.

"The Gentleman Burglar" in two reels; one of the Helen Holmes stories of railroad life, "A Life in the Balance," and a comedy "Getting Into a Scrape" are film plays of interest.

IN FIFTY YEARS.

Fifty years ago last night ours was a nation of rejoicing tempered by the bitter aftertaste of civil war; a country united in form, but divided in spirit and harboring a sectionalism the end of which promised to reach far into the coming centuries.

Fifty years ago today it was a nation of mourning; a country united not only in form, but in the feeling of an irreparable loss to North and South alike.

At the head of the grave that received the body of Abraham Lincoln there grew and blossomed a sprig of affection that spread abroad a fragrance soothing to angry hearts, and refreshing to minds long wearied with the wearing problems of the bitterest of human strife and sacrifice.

Today ours is a nation united not alone in form, but in all that goes to make a people one. There are still living among us men who not only felt the strong currents of the war, but who were swept with those currents. Had certain of these men met in those days, some or all of them would have gone down in death at the hands of the others. When they meet today it is to let hand clasp hand and to salute together the flag that represents them all, and also signals with its flowing folds remembrance of the small beginning of the most powerful union of states the world has ever seen.

Fifty years ago today Lincoln died as a result of the shot fired by an assassin, and as we look back at his life and his work we cannot avoid the thought that, cruel and disastrous as the murder seemed at the time, there was perhaps no other incident possible that could have done so much in the same length of time to heal the wounds of pride and spirit and modify the natural extravagance of the victor in dealing with the vanquished.

We still mourn Lincoln, and we still honor him. We cannot conceive of such a thing as the coming of a time when he will not be honored by the American people. Perhaps, with time added to the passing years, his position in the history of our country will become even plainer than it is today, and the manner of his death appear but the logical climax to the work which fell to him to do.

This much is sure: That never was there a people so terribly divided, that achieved in so short a time the resumption of a united national existence. To those who have faith in the power of the human soul after death to exert itself among its old associations, it would be useless to argue that Lincoln's death ended his work for his country and ours. At least there can be no question that his surviving influence went far to smooth the path for reconstructive efforts, and helped to make these fifty years just passed one of the most marvelous periods in the history of any nation.

It will be generally conceded that it must be pleasanter to run into a neutral harbor than to run into a mine.

"S'LONG" TO THE FIRST COMMISSION.

As this edition of The Herald goes to press, the first city council Duluth had under the commission form of government is holding its last session. Two years ago it held its first session, and in the interval there have been some very interesting times in the city, as relates to administrative and legislative affairs.

The five men who are meeting today for the last time in their official capacity have given Duluth its first experience as a commission government city. They have had the honor of introducing the modern methods in this community, and though there has been severe criticism of their work in some respects, nobody will even try to dispute the statement that these officials have given the city the best service they could.

It is not always that public officials are able to look back over a term in office and find it clear of even the suggestion of tainting influence. Yet that is the record these five men have made, and it is one especially to be proud of in the cases of the two who will now step down and out of the city government, for on them has fallen the burden of management of those features of city affairs most apt to suffer from such taints.

The spirit in which these two men are leaving office was shown in the statements they gave to The Herald last night. Mr. Hicken pleaded for a spirit of tolerance, co-operation and friendliness toward the new commissioners, and Mr. Murchison predicted the greatest of success for his successor at the head of the department of public works.

This is an agreeable ending for the old council, as well as a promising beginning for the new one. The city can say good-by to its first commission with a feeling of friendliness and appreciation of services rendered, and can welcome the new one with the best of good will.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS.

One of the best actions taken by the legislature thus far is the passage of the teachers' pension bill, making the system state wide. Only agreement by the house to the amendment making it clear that the law does not apply to the three large cities, stands between the bill and its transmission to the governor for signature. The house will accept the amendment, since it merely expresses what was already intended.

Teachers' pensions already are provided for in the larger cities, and will now be provided for throughout the state. The fact that a teacher serves in a small community instead of in a large one does not make that teacher's faithful and continued service any the less valuable, and the object of the pension system is to ensure "rainy day" funds for those who have served the state as teachers.

It has often been found that some source of opposition prevented the adoption of teachers' pension systems in many smaller communites—opposition often based, in fact, on financial difficulties of the community. So it has been impossible to make the system as general as could be desired.

Now the state is to take up the work, and by making an exceedingly small addition (one-twentieth of a mill) to the tax levy, provide the nucleus of a teachers' pension fund. This will be supplemented by contributions from the teachers, based on the nearness of the time when they will draw on the fund instead of contributing to it. Thus the men and women who have spent their lives working for the public good will be provided for when they get beyond the height of their earning power.

The teachers' pension plan is excellent and necessary. The legislature has done well to approve it.

Now that the F-4 has been located, the public will be inclined to keep an eye on it pending the determination of the cause of the disaster.

FOR THE HISTORICAL LIBRARY.

The Minnesota Historical society is to be congratulated on getting its building bill through the legislature, and the state is to be no less congratulated on the progress being made toward putting the historical library into permanent and suitable quarters.

Probably nobody who has not had occasion to visit and use the library personally can appreciate even to a slight degree the value of the institution. It is here that there is being filed, day after day, a record not only of the great events in the state's history, but of the small things, the little incidents and affairs that go to make up the story of the daily life of the people.

In the historical library are files of all the more important newspapers in the state—files extending back to the first issues of those papers. These are valuable, not only for their historical contents, but for the legal notices contained in them. It is not uncommon for records in the historical library, either as newspaper notices or otherwise, to be deciding factors in determining important points in the courts.

In the most complete, interesting and valuable manner possible, the state historical library contains the history of Minnesota and her people. And all this invaluable—and often non-reproducible—matter is at present crowded into a space that leaves parts of it unavailable, and all of it in danger of damage or destruction.

To remedy this it is planned to build a separate home for the historical library, and that plan is furthered by the bill now before the governor. When the plans are completed, Minnesota will have at its capital one of the most valuable collections of its kind in the country, and all available at a moment's notice for whatever purpose any citizen may want to use it.

A British Tribute to Lincoln

(At the time of Lincoln's death, London Punch, which had been bitter throughout the entire Civil war in its caricatures of Lincoln and its attacks on his character and policies, published the following poem, written by the editor, Tom Taylor, and accompanying a drawing by Tenniel, the famous cartoonist, in which England was represented as joining with America in mourning at the bier of the murdered president.)

You lay a wreath on murdered Lincoln's bier,
You, who with mocking pencil wont to trace,
Broad for the self-complacent British sneer,
His length of shambling limb, his furrowed face,
His gaunt, gnarled hands, his unkempt, bristling hair,
His garb uncouth, his bearing ill at ease,
His lack of all we prize as debonair,
Of power or will to shine, of art to please:

You, whose smart pen backed up the pencil's laugh,
Judging each step as though the way were plain;
Reckless, so it could point its paragraph,
Of chief's perplexity or people's pain;
Beside this corpse, that bears for winding sheet
The Stars and Stripes he lived to rear anew,
Between the mourners at his head and feet,
Say, scurrile jester, is there room for you?

Yes. He had lived to shame me from my sneer,
To lame my pencil and confute my pen;
To make me own this hind of princes peer;
This rail splitter a true-born king of men.
My shallow judgment I had learned to rue,
Noting how to Occasion's height he rose;
How his quaint wit made home truth seem more true;
How, iron like, his temper grew by blows.

How humble, yet how hopeful he could be;
How, in good fortune and in ill, the same;
Nor bitter in success, nor boastful he,
Thirsty for gold nor feverish for fame.
He went about his work—such work as few
Ever had laid on head and heart and hand,
As one who knows, where there's a task to do,
Man's honest will must Heaven's good grace command;

Who trusts the strength will with the burden grow;
That God makes instruments to work His will,
If but that will we can arrive to know,
Nor tamper with the weights of good and ill—
So he went forth to battle, on the side
That he felt clear was Liberty's and Right's,
As in his peasant boyhood he had plied
His warfare with rude nature's thwarting mights—

The uncleared forest, the unbroken soil,
The iron bark that turns the lumberer's ax,
The rapid that o'erbears the boatman's toil,
The prairie, hiding the mazed wanderer's tracks,
The ambushed Indian and the prowling bear,
Such were the deeds that helped his youth to train,
Rough culture, but such trees large fruit may bear
If but their stocks be of right girth and grain.

So he grew up a destined work to do,
And lived to do it: four long, suffering years'
Ill fate, ill feeling, ill report, lived through;
And then he heard the hisses changed to cheers,
The taunts to tribute, the abuse to praise,
And took both with the same, unwavering mood,
Till, as he came on light from darkling days
And seemed to touch the goal from where he stood,

A felon hand, between the goal and him
Reached, from behind his back; a trigger pressed,
And those perplexed and patient eyes were dim,
Those gaunt, long, laboring limbs were laid to rest.
The words of mercy were upon his lips,
Forgiveness in his heart and on his pen,
When this vile murderer brought swift eclipse
To thoughts of peace on earth, good will to men.

The Old World and the New, from sea to sea,
Utter one voice of sympathy and shame!
Sore heart, so stopped when it at last beat high;
Sad life, cut short just as its triumph came.
A deed accursed! Strokes have been struck before
By the assassin's hand, whereof men doubt
If more of horror or disgrace they bore;
But this foul crime, like Cain's, stands darkly out.

Vile hand, that brandest murder on a strife,
Whate'er its grounds, stoutly and nobly striven;
With much to praise, little to be forgiven.

Publicity's Greatest Victory.

New York World: Just about the time the British authorities had become convinced that conscription was inevitable they decided as a tentative and unpromising subsitute to resort to advertising.

Summaries are now being made up on the astonishing result. Under the direction of a publicity expert England's need for fighting men was advertised as a kodak, a breakfast food, a 1915 motor car model, a corn cure, might be advertised. Huge space was engaged in the press. Appeals stared able-bodied men in the face with billboards, theater programs, "sandwich men," placards in street cars and buses. Much of the publicity did not seem very artistic or effective from the American standpoint, but the expert knew the workings of the British mind.

One of the greatest victories ever won by publicity is now recorded. Men responded as women might to a bargain sale—responded faster than the government could provide facilities for equipping them. All conscription projects have been abandoned as hopelessly out of date.

A Word About Wages

By Savoyard.

Washington, April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chiefs of the G. O. P. announce that the tariff is to be the paramount issue in 1916 and already the fallacy is advanced that as soon as the war is over in Europe that country will flood our country with merchandise forged and fashioned by paupers and drive our labor out of employment unless we make another monopoly tariff like the Payne-Aldrich monstrosity of 1909. It is conceded that our people might be able to hold their own in industrial and mercantile competition with a Europe that is rich and powerful; but we are told that it is folly to attempt to strive on equal terms with a Europe that is bankrupt in purse and on the lift in body.

Nowhere in this world at any period of its history has pauper labor ever driven well-paid labor out of a job and it never will be done because it never can be done. The first seventy years of our republic the South had slave labor that got no wage other than food, raiment and shelter; at the North was the best paid labor in the world. Did the South beat the North in the race for industrial supremacy? Nay verily. On the contrary, quite the reverse.

I have repeatedly tried to illustrate this subject of wages by citing the cases of Aaron Hiser and Jim Cage down in the Kentucky Pennyrile when I was a small boy over fifty years ago. They were rail-splitters, employed by a prosperous farmer, David Philpott, at La Fayette, Barren county. Hiser commanded a wage of $1 a day and he felled the trees, chopped the trunks into "cuts," each ten feet in length, and split 300 rails. Cage was paid half a dollar a day and cut and split 100 rails a day. There was little money round about in those times, but living was ridiculously cheap. Hiser's wage of $1 was regarded as munificent and it would buy more hog and hominy, more chickens and eggs, than $5 will at the capital of the nation today.

According to the dogma of your protectionist Cage was bound to drive Hiser out of a job. He was the "pauper laborer," Hiser the well paid laborer, who needed to be "protected." But it did not work that way. Hiser could always get a job at splitting rails and Cage abandoned the field, became an excellent gunsmith, and had steady work patching up rifles and shotguns and pistols. The labor cost of the rails split by Hiser was one-third of a cent each; the labor cost of the rails split by Cage was one-half a cent each. Judged by the wage Cage was the pauper laborer, and judged by the product Hiser was the pauper laborer.

And that same rule maintains, has always existed and will ever prevail, in every nation, among all tongues and peoples, from the time when Adam was a gardener till the archangel shall sound the last trump. Judged by the rate the American laborer has the greatest wage in the world; judged by the output American labor is the cheapest in the world. The superior does not require protection from the inferior and every argument in favor of a protective tariff is based on the assumption that ours is a very inferior people.

Now we have the best paid and the cheapest labor in the world. Less than one-tenth of it is in the exertion of human muscle. More than 90 per cent of it is machine. I speak of shop labor. We have the cheapest machine labor of any country on the globe, for our coal is abundant, inexhaustible and low-priced and when all the water power of the country is adequately harnessed to generate electric energy our labor will become yet cheaper while the wage of the human operative will steadily advance.

Not only does a protective tariff encourage unthrift, but it promotes rascality. J. Pierpont Morgan did not set out to create the Steel trust. He only designed to monopolize the manufacture of steel tubes. To that end he bought up every tube mill in the country, some of them antiquated and worthless. Highly protected in the tariff, he expected to reap millions. Andy Carnegie wanted to sell his steel mills and tried to dispose of them to Morgan, who would not purchase. So Carnegie announced that he would go into the tube business, that he would construct a vast, up-to-date tube mill at Conneaut, Ohio, where he could assemble all the necessary raw materials at less cost for transportation than at any other point in the country. Morgan was frightened and paid Carnegie half a billion for all his properties, and it was developed in a congressional scrutiny of the transaction that he was ready to give Carnegie an additional $100,000,000 to clear out and give the trust full swing. The property sold by Carnegie could have been duplicated for less than $200,000,000 and today the American people are helping to pay Carnegie for that property. It amounts to this: The Steel trust by its monoply has the power of taxation and by its issue of watered stock it exercises the right to counterfeit a security.

The price of steel rails is as fixed as the price of a glass of beer. It is $28 a ton without regard to the cost of production. The trust forges much of its wares in antiquated mills, employing antiquated machinery. That makes the labor cost higher than it should be, for there are Hisers and Cages in machinery as well as in rail-splitting.

If this country had been unable to produce a wire nail and the Republican party had remained in power, the tariff on wire nails would have been prohibitive and all the nails in the United States would be the antiquated "cut" nails of our grandfathers. Indeed there was an attempt to suppress the wire nail by men who had vast sums invested in cut nail works.

The battle between superiority and inferiority is irrepressible. The latter would be overthrown and overwhelmed if it were not for its most potential ally—a protective tariff. Free trade among all peoples would do more to secure universal prosperity than the opening of a score of gold fields like California when the state was virgin, and two score years of absolute free trade the world round would do more to promote universal peace than a thousand tribunals like that at The Hague.

Refining Influence.

Washington Star: "Have you been making any progress since my last visit to Crimson Gulch?" asked the serious stranger.

"Yes. Ever since some whist players struck the town we have been more refined. They didn't last long, but their influence lingers. Every time a player says he can open a jackpot everybody around the table says, 'Pray do.'"

Proved It.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From Diary:

I would not have had the heart to write in my diary today except for one thing. I saw in the papers yesterday that a Washington young woman has recovered the $3,000 cigarette case she left in her wheel chair at Palm Beach. If she had not recovered that $3,000 cigarette case it would have spoiled the entire spring and summer for me. I reckon I would have cried myself to sleep every night for a month. That she can smoke once again from her $3,000 gem-studded case is the best news I have heard since I read a while ago that a fancier had finally developed a perfect cat. Now, if I could just get some positive assurance that Mabel Gilman Corey will never write any more magazine articles and that Eleanor Sears will soon be back safe and sound on the first page, I believe I could go to work with a light heart.

The San Diego exposition must be the best exposition, considering the size of the town in which it is located, that has ever been put on. San Diego was a town of only 40,000 when their fair was started five years ago. Now they claim 100,000. That may be a trifle high, but anyway the town has enjoyed a big boom. And it should. Any town of 40,000 population, containing people that have the nerve to undertake a show like that at San Diego ought to have anything it wants.

I am not going to do much describing of expositions, for that has been done rather exhaustively in folders and booklets that may be had for the asking, but the San Diego fair is characterized by a clean-cut exquisiteness that makes it a cameo of expositions. It must be borne in mind that it is primarily a horticultural fair, showing the products of southern California. Hence, the out-of-doors part, with its flowers and landscape effects, is just as important as the inside. The San Diego fair is worth going to see, even if one didn't go inside a building.

The most noteworthy exhibit at San Diego, to my mind, is the five-acre model farm, with its model bungalow and model gardener's cottage. It has at least one sample of every kind of fruit, flower, vegetable or shrub that will grow in southern California, and nothing on it was planted more than two years ago. After the fair is over, the city of San Diego plans to keep the model farm for a permanent exhibit. It should be kept up, not by the city but by the state, for it will bring scores of people to California. I cannot imagine any one of human impulses looking at the model farm without a desire to live in California on a five-acre farm somewhat similar.

San Diego claims to have a climate that shows less variation in the course of the entire year than any place in the United States—or any place in the world, I forget now which. Anyway, they insist that it is a great climate—warmer in winter and cooler in summer than any place else you can think of. If you are too hot, just move across the street into the shade, and all is lovely. If you are a trifle cool reverse the process. I tried the scheme to see if it would work, and it did.

Then San Diego has other attractions. It is on a beautiful bay, within sight of snow capped mountains, and its people are real genuine folks. If I were picking a town for the offhand hospitality of its people—people that I would like to have for neighbors—I believe I would select San Diego.

Down in the Imperial valley, a stretch of fertile irrigated country south of San Diego, overlapping into old Mexico, they take a peculiar attitude toward the weather. They have less than one inch of rainfall a year and everybody is mad because they have that much. The people there look at it this way:

"We can't hope to get enough rain to do anything any good. We must depend entirely on water from the Colorado river for our crops. So why have rain at all? Everything here is arranged on a no rainfall basis. An hour of rain musses everything up. Better have not a drop of rain."

The clay soil is the kind that we build adobe houses of, and when it gets wet it sticks to one's feet worse than any clay you ever saw. If a man keeps chickens and they walk about the yard after a rain the clay has to be amputated from their feet by hand. Is it any wonder they are opposed to rain? Imagine having to go out and spend a day picking clay from the feet of a lot of silly-looking chickens. I would rather make my living tying strings in almanacs.

A Point for the Housewife

Chicago Herald: It seems to us that a very generous principle of American merchandising is being abused by many Chicago people.

It is the principle of "returned goods."

The privilege of ordering goods and then returning them to the seller is one that is part of the plain, forthright system of trusting the good faith of the customer upon which our national business has prospered and grown.

Nevertheless, any excellent thing may be spoiled by abuse. And this privilege of "return" is unquestionably being abused by thousands of housewives who do business with our great retail stores.

Many of them do it thoughtlessly. They are so used to the courtesy extended by the merchant that they order things without any real intention of keeping them. The result is that the store loses the cost of delivering and calling for the goods as well as the display of them for sale during a day or two.

This means an expense that must be fast becoming so heavy as to add perceptibly to the cost of all goods.

In plain words, the careful, considerate buyer is being compelled indirectly to pay for the carelessness of other less considerate buyers.

It is human nature to stretch out a privilege. We have the same case in the careless telephone user who endangers the privilege of "unlimited service" by talking for half an hour at a single "call."

But it is a redeeming feature of the Chicago public that it is willing to play fair. The "Do your shopping early" movement is an example of this. Once our shoppers became convinced of the hardships put upon the stores by eleventh-hour shopping, they proceeded quietly and methodically to shop at a time when the evils could be avoided.

If the average Chicago housewife has it brought home to her that the grateful privilege of returning goods—which the stores are only too willing to extend for sincere use—is being abused, we have no doubt that she will at once curb those abuses as effectively as she did in regard to her Christmas shopping.

Clear Case.

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Hope for Future Action.

Elk River Star-News: The efficiency and economy legislation will not be enacted by the present legislature, but the foundation is laid and something along this line will come through at the session two years hence.

Want Economy and Action.

Battle Lake Review: The demand of the people in Minnesota for less state expenditure is insistent and if the present legislature doesn't cut the appropriations down to the 1911 figures, a good many will plead in vain for re-election. The people want the ornamental and useless male and female state employes fired and their jobs abolished, the state university professors to stay at home and earn their salaries and keep out of politics and cut loose from the chamber of commerce schemes. And a safe, sane force of workers in office, instead of idlers and wasters.

Defends Legislature.

Cambridge Independent Press: You fellows who seem to enjoy rapping the present legislature, stop and ponder a moment. The lawmakers should not be judged by the few bills they pass but rather by the kind of bills passed. County option was demanded by the people and it has been enacted into law; a efficiency and economy committee will study state government during the next two years; the appropriations will be cut down to the lowest ebb, and in many ways the present legislature has served the people well. There may be ground for the claim of the lack of responsibility of a non-partisan legislature, but the Minnesota legislature this winter has had for consideration mainly measures of a non-political nature.

Senator Jones' Bill.

St. Cloud Times: Another "fool" bill appears in the legislature. Senator Jones has introduced a bill proposing a constitutional amendment providing for a six-hour day of labor. The bill provides that all wage-earners or those on salary, shall not work more than six hours a day. It would be an absolute impossibility to perform the labor of the world, in all its different avocations, in six hours. For instance, in the matter of newspapers alone, even at eight hours a day, it is with great strain that afternoon and morning papers cover the news of the day and are issued. Why not make the government a commune, divide all wealth and all labor equally, and live without laboring at all? Let us have a picnic every day in the week.

Would Burn Well.

Winona Leader: The legislature has still 1,200 bills to act upon. Better build a bonfire of them and adjourn.

Economical.

Morris Sun: The present legislature is at least making an effort to practice economy in some respects. If the recommendation of the senate finance committee goes through nearly $2,250,000 will be saved over the appropriation of two years ago. The legislature has also been economical with the number of laws passed.

Road Projects Hindered.

Aurora News: The good road movement was given quite a set back when the Elwell law was repealed by the legislature and the Dunn law amended so as to remove some of its best features. The laws in question were opposed by the people in those parts of the state where the development work has been done, and the northern parts have been left without adequate means of carrying out the large road projects proposed.

Proud of Slaughter.

Glenwood Herald: It is said that the members of this legislature will point with pride to an unparalleled record of bills killed. If they have chosen wisely, this record should prove to be a great recommendation.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

In our wildest wanderings there is sometimes a love strong as a father's, tender as a mother's, watching over us, and bringing back the erring child again. Know you not the law of nature? Have you never seen how out of chaos and ferment nature brings order again—life out of death, beauty out of corruption? Such, gainsay it who will, often is the history of the rise of saintliness and purity out of a disappointed, bruised and penitent spirit. When the life hopes have become a wreck—when the cravings of the heart for keen excitement have been ministered to so abundantly as to leave nothing but loathing and self-reproach behind; when innocence of heart is gone—yes, even then—the voice of Him is heard. Who so dearly purchased the right to say, "Come unto Me, and I will give you rest."

Love was given, encouraged, sanctioned, chiefly for this end—that self might be annulled.—From Wellsprings.

They that know Thy name will put their trust in Thee; for Thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek Thee. Ps. ix, 10.

To know God's name is to know His character—to know Him. Had God not revealed Himself, man could never have attained to this knowledge. To know Him is to see His trustworthiness; and when we are convinced of that, it is not difficult to put our trust in Him. Ignorance of God is the secret of all our impenitence. We begin to pray when the first glimmer of the light of the knowledge of God breaks into our soul. "If thou knewest the gift of God"—what then?—"thou wouldst have asked of him" (John iv). "I know whom I have believed" (not "in whom," as many inaccurately quote the text). I know Him whom I have trusted. The whole Gospel is comprehended in the Divine Names. Let this be our prayer: Lord, show me Thyself. Let me know Thee. Unveil to the eye of my soul Thy glorious attributes. Let me forget my own faith and my own efforts to trust Thee. Let me see Thy glorious trustworthiness, and rest. —Evan H. Hopkins.

Not Her Quarrel.

Tit Bits: The fact that corporal punishment is discouraged in some public schools is what led Harry's teacher to address this note to the lad's mother:

"I regret very much to have to inform you that your son Harry idles away his time, is disobedient, quarrelsome and disturbs the pupils who are trying to study their lessons. He needs a good whipping, and I strongly recommend that you give him one."

Whereupon Harry's mother responded as follows:

"Dear Miss Jones: Lick him yourself. I ain't mad at him. Yours truly, Mrs. Smith."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

Governor Clough today signed the joint resolution passed by the Minnesota legislature in regard to the appointment of commissioners for the annexation of Superior to Minnesota.

The Paris Figaro publishes a story that Dr. Nansen, the Arctic explorer, has found the North pole and that it is situated on a chain of mountains. It is also said that Dr. Nansen planted there the Norwegian flag. The story lacks confirmation.

The new steamer North Land of the Northern Steamship company will leave Chicago on June 7 for Duluth, taking among her guests the directors of the Minnesota Iron company, which will have its annual meeting in Duluth on June 10. On the return trip she will go to Buffalo, stopping at Ashland, Marquette, Detroit and other ports, making the entire trip a special affair.

Lester Park is in an uproar over the wholesale poisoning of dogs belonging to residents in that suburb. Among those who have lost dogs are J. C. Hollembaek, Franklin Paine, J. D. Holmes and W. A. Montague.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 36; maximum yesterday, 42; minimum yesterday, 35.

Easter was given a general observance throughout the city yesterday, and all the churches had large congregations, with special programs and abundant floral decorations. One of the leading services was held at the First Presbyterian church in the afternoon by the Knights Templars, about 100 of whom attended in full uniform. The service was conducted by Dr. Cleland and Dr. Robert Forbes, the latter delivering the sermon. At the close of the service the knights returned to the Masonic Temple and attended the ceremony of relighting the candles extinguished on Maundy Thursday, as conducted by the Rose Croix chapter of Scottish Rite Masons.

The G. A. R. posts have decided to engage Col. Plummer of North Dakota to be Memorial day orator here.

Workmen are reconstructing the Henry H. Bell residence on Second street, purchased some time ago by C. M. Hill, the lumberman. The repairs and changes will cost about $10,000.

Rev. J. M. Anderson, the owner of the building at 219 West Superior street, occupied by Ericson's clothing store, will erect a new building in place of the present one, to cost about $15,000. It will be leased by C. W. Ericson.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SWIMMING RECORDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Was there ever a woman who swam across the English channel? If so, who and when. HARVEY SHERIDAN.

Ely, Minn., April 11.

Published records show only two men who have swum the English channey. They were Capt. Webb and T. W. Burgess. Several women have tried it, but the editor has been able to find no record of any of them getting across.—The Editor.

WILLARD'S NATIONALITY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Regarding the nationality of Jess Willard answered to me in last evening's Herald saying: "He was an American" does not give much satisfaction regarding his nationality, as an Indian is "classed" as the only real American. Please inform me what descent his parents were. Possibly that will throw a little more light as to what nationality he might be? Respectfully, GEORGE F. COTEY.

Eveleth, Minn., April 13.

Mr. Cotey evidently does not consider the United States a nation. Willard was born in Kansas and is therefore an American. His parents, it is reported in recent newspaper stories, were of Scotch-Irish descent, but the record books of sportdom do not yet contain much information about them.—The Editor.

TOUCHING ON RECENT TEA PARTY AT HAVANA.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to say a word or two about our last big fight between Jess Willard and Jack Johnson. I think every true sport will agree with me it was the poorest championship fight we ever had between two heavyweights. Think of two big men fighting for twenty-six rounds, not a knock-down and hardly any blood shed. While I give Mr. Willard credit for winning, he is long way from a real champion of the Bob Fitzsimmons or Joe Gans class. I think it was a very wise act not to have matched this negro Sam Langford with Willard. I am afraid we would have lost another white hope.

After reading your editorial about holding fights between the two races I cannot just agree with you. If any fighter calls himself champion and he bars races, how can you call him champion of the world?

I will call your attention to the fact that in the early history of the prize ring a negro by the name of Molineaux beat Tom Crib, the champion of England. They were matched the second time and Tom Crib won. Were not such fighters as Peter Jackson, Joe Gans, George Dixon, Joe Walcott negro champions? They were all whipped by white fighters. Fighters of those days barred nobody. Why? Because we had good true and honest sporting men. The only international champion of the world was George Dixon, an American negro, who beat Abe Willes, the champion of Australia; Billy Plummer, the champion of England, and Cal McCarty, champion of America. We heard of no one barring negroes in the days of true and honest sportsmen for the reason there was not such graft in the game those days. "Sure thing" men and whisky sports control the game now. Money is their game, with no respect for true sportsmanship, and when any champion is afraid or is managed by men of this stripe he is, to my way of thinking, a coward. We do not bar a negro from fighting for our country and flag, and why should we bar him from the prize ring? If we are true and honest sports we should be fair and not blame the race for the action of this big negro, Jack Johnson.

FAMOUS NEWSPAPERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Could you or some reader of The Herald give me, through the Open Court, the names and addresses of the ten leading newspapers and periodicals of the world, published in the ten leading countries. I am rather curious to know this, and thank you in advance. Yours very truly,

OLE J. SNEIDE.

Ely, Minn., April 13.

The Editor would not care to decide which were either the ten "leading" newspapers or the ten "leading" countries. One Chicago paper claims to be "the world's leading newspaper," but this claim is naturally disputed. Here are some excellent papers in some of the principal countries of the world: United States—New York World, New York Times, New York Sun, Chicago Tribune; England—London Times and London Daily Mail; France—Le Petit Journal of Paris; Germany—Vossische Zeitung and Fliegende Blatter of Berlin; Austria—Neue Frei Presse of Vienna; China—Peking Tchingpao; Argentina—La Prensa of Buenos Aires. If you will specify any other countries, The Herald will try to give the name of at least one important periodical there.—The Editor.

HOME GYMNASTICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly publish, through your Open Court columns, a few instructions for home gymnastics that you think would prove beneficial as exercise for anyone confined to indoor work, such as bookkeeping and similar occupations. Thanking you, I remain,

A SUBSCRIBER.

Virginia, Minn., April 14.

Take a short piece of rope, about six inches in length. Hold one end in each hand and exert all your strength pulling on the rope. You can evolve dozens of exercises yourself, changing the positions of your hands and trying to bring different muscles into play. Put the rope behind your back or under your feet or over your head, and keep up a steady pull on it. You will be surprised at the number of new muscles you will discover the next day, after ten or fifteen minutes' hard work of this kind.—The Editor.

WELL, IT'S ALL IN THE POINT OF VIEW.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I have read with interest the communication of Daniel Du Lhut, Jr., in Tuesday's Herald, and while appreciating our friend's satisfaction at the leveling of distinction accomplished by the jitney bus, would like to say that while the experience of having a pretty, blonde-haired young woman sit in one's lap and chew gum may be delightful to Daniel, it is not quite as pleasant for another young woman, returning from an afternoon reception, to have a type of the genus homo, with a liberal supply of John Barleycorn on board, climb in and sit in her lap, spilling his parcels of bologna sausage and fish on her feet.

While he probably did not intend to sit in her lap. (John B. being responsible for a hazy sense of equilibrium and judgment of distance) this experience of the young woman was not as satisfying, in regard to the leveling of distinction as was that of D. D. L., Jr., which proves again that so much depends upon the viewpoint.

Yours truly, Y. W.

Duluth, April 14.

A HARD LOSER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

When reading last Saturday's Herald I read an item regarding Judge Windom contesting the election of Capt. W. H. Smallwood as municipal judge. Why does Judge Windom play the part of a hard loser? Cannot Judge Windom take defeat gracefully, and not cry over it? The judge states that the preferential voting is invalid under the state law; if so, why didn't the judge say so before the election? Does he call himself a man, or nearly a man? Once or twice in a man's life he must suffer defeat one way or the other. Judge Windom has had defeat at the polls, and why does he holler that the second and third choice votes are invalid under the state law? He is a hard loser.

A. C. HELLER.

Duluth, April 15.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"The Children's Hour," from Mrs. H. R. Van Gorder of Biwabik and Sylvia Welling of Smithville.

The Children's Hour.

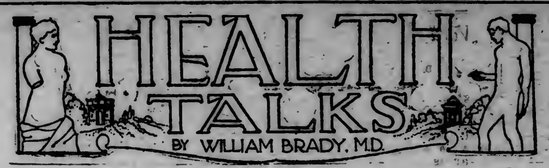
Between the dark and the daylight,
When the night is beginning to lower,
Comes a pause in the day's occupation
That is known as the Children's Hour.

I hear in the chamber above me
The patter of little feet,
The sound of a door that is opened,
And voices soft and sweet.

From my study I see in the lamplight,
Descending the broad hall stair,
Grave Alice, and laughing Allegra,
And Edith with golden hair.

A whisper, and then a silence;
Yet I know by their merry eyes
They are plotting and planning together
To take me by surprise.

A sudden rush from the stairway,
A sudden raid from the hall!
By three doors left unguarded
They enter my castle wall!



They climb up into my turret
O'er the arms and back of my chair;
If I try to escape, they surround me;
They seem to be everywhere.

They almost devour me with kisses,
Their arms about me entwine,
Till I think of the bishop of Bingen
In his Mouse Tower on the Rhine!

Do you think, O blue-eyed banditti,
Because you have scaled the wall,
Such an old mustache as I am
Is not a match for you all!

I have you fast in my fortress,
And will not let you depart,
But put you down into the dungeon
In the round-tower of my heart.

And there will I keep you forever,
Yes, forever and a day,
Till the walls shall crumble to ruin,
And moulder in dust away!

Anemic Obesity and Nourishment

THE diet given for this plethoric fat person in a recent talk was purposely designed to restrict the quantity of nutriment to the minimum necessary for the average adult. But the anemic fat person requires liberal feeding to maintain the general strength.

• • •

In anemic obesity there is an excess of water in the body, and often a tendency to dropsical swellings. It is, therefore, a good plan to restrict the total daily amount of water in the food to a minimum consistent with good metabolism. The less nitrogenous food, animal or vegetable protein in the diet the less water is necessary for complete elimination of the products of nitrogen metabolism or oxidation. Often a consumption of not more than a quart of water each day will reduce weight remarkably and improve the general strength at the same time.

Must Eat Nutritious Food.

The anemic fat person should eat a reasonably nutritious ration, including meat, eggs, cheese, bread, rice, peas and beans. He or she should reduce the quantity of water, sugar, fruit, green vegetables and cereals to the minimum. It is better to eat light meals and tide over with such things as hot bouillon or a glass of milk or a sandwich of scraped beef or chicken between meals when very hungry.

Of course the anemic fat person should have medical advice about the blood. And it is necessary to make sure that the heart is sound before undertaking any strenuous gymnastics or restrictions of diet.

Questions and Answers.

A Request Program: From time to time we will endeavor to talk about subjects which our readers may be particularly interested in. Requests coming anonymously, however, will not interest us. And it is necessary to remember that the choice of subjects for these talks must be determined by two things: (a) suitability for discussion in a newspaper; (b) adaptability of the subject to a very limited space. Now, come on with the requests.

Spare Room Hygiene: Is it more sanitary to sleep in a room kept exclusively for guests or in a room vacated by its regular occupant to accommodate a visitor?

REPLY.

We should prefer the spare room.

Sarsaparilla Buncombe: Will you kindly explain what medicinal effects one can expect from sarsaparilla, and whether it removes humors from the system and purifies the blood?

REPLY.

It's a flavor, that's all. It has no more effect upon the blood than vanilla, strawberry or peppermint. Anything which is said to "purify" the blood, be it a home remedy or a "boughten" one, should be taken with plenty of fresh air and good hygiene, if at all.

• • •

Discredited Cancer "Cure": Some time ago I saw a circular describing the Dr. Bye Combination Oil treatment for cancer. Will you please tell me how this treatment can be obtained?

REPLY.

The government issued a fraud order against this "treatment," and you are fortunately unable to contribute your mite.

Measles "Setting In": I have always understood that a case of measles must be kept very warm and given only warm drinks, for fear of the rash setting in. Is this the correct treatment?

REPLY.

No. Keep the patient comfortable, not warmer than any ill person. Give all the cold water the patient wants. The rash never "sets in." That idea comes from the fact that when some complication, like pneumonia, develops, the rash may fade or appear less pronounced, as a result of the withdrawal of blood from the skin, not as a cause of the complication. If my children had measles I should give them only cold air to breathe.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. TEN MYSTERIOUS FIRES IN KALAMAZOO.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 15.—Ten fires which have broken out in widely separated points of Kalamazoo within the last twenty-four hours, have led to the belief that an incendiary is at work in this city. Two downtown business blocks were destroyed yesterday with a loss of more than $100,000 and eight other fires were extinguished before they gained much headway.

Twelve members of the department, including Chief Russell and Assistant Chief Welch were overcome by smoke, their lives being saved by the use of a pulmotor.

In every case, it is declared, piles of shavings and rags saturated with oil were discovered by the firemen, when they reached the scene of the blaze.

DULUTHIAN'S MOTHER BURIED AT ASHLAND.

Ashland, Wis., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Kennedy, aged 67, who died Monday evening, was held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Agnes church. She had lived in Ashland for the last thirty-two years. Her husband died about fifteen years ago. Mrs. Kennedy is survived by two sons and one daughter, Alex and Don, the latter living at Bremerton, Wash., and Mrs. Fred Johns of Duluth. Don Kennedy was not here for the funeral of his mother, it being impossible for him to do so.

MAKES SHRAPNEL SHELLS FOR WAR

Former Duluthian Engaged in Manufacture of Bombs for British Army.

William White, Jr., formerly of Duluth but now of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, where he is engaged in the manufacture of shrapnel shells for the English army and for use in the European war, is in the city for a visit with his father and other relatives and friends.

Mr. White left Duluth about six months ago for New Glasgow. He intended to go into the real estate business there with his cousin, Walter McNeill, but later changed his mind. They saw the profits to be made in the manufacture of shells and organized the McNeill Machine & Motor company, which is now one of the largest shell plants in Canada. The firm has orders ahead to keep it busy for two years.

Mr. White stated that when he returned to New Glasgow, the plant would be enlarged. He will leave for the East this evening.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: APRIL 18.

Psalm 23: The Shepherd Psalm.

CONNECTION.

This is the most famous, familiar and comforting of all the psalms. In an address to the students at Yale, Charles Dudley Warner said: "Who can estimate the distinct loss to the literature of the world should the little poem beginning 'The Lord is My Shepherd' be blotted out?" The psalm reflects the life of David because it comes out of his experience. To him God had been a shepherd caring for His sheep; a host, furnishing bountiful hospitality to the warrior and traveler. David also had been a shepherd over his father's flock and over the people of Israel; he had been a warrior defending his flock from the lion and the bear and protecting his people from enemies within and without. David has had a ripe experience and now he gives rich views of God.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Shepherd and His Sheep. 1-4.

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with Me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me."

1. NURTURE.—God is the shepherd of the human life. The relationship is natural; that is, it is so because God is what He is and we are what we are. That means that He has a care for us, of which the shepherd's care for his flock is a good illustration. In our country sheep are left to themselves because their pastures are enclosed and contain both grass and water, while enemies are shut out. It was and is the opposite in the East. Grazing places are small and far apart, even in the rainy season, and hard to find at all in the dry season; the paths are precipitous and confused; perils abound —robbers, wild beasts, stones, briars, torrents. The shepherd is a necessity.

His care is personal, as well as collective. The Eastern shepherd knows his flock as a whole and he knows each one in its personal looks, condition, perils, values. They know him, too, and when he calls they hear and act. It is right to say "God and I." David uses the first person singular all through the psalm—I, me, my. When he says Jehovah he means the great self-existent God. When Jesus came He brought the very heart of God to us, for He was "the brightness of the Father's glory and the express image of His person." He is the "good shepherd" with the love, the devotion necessary. He is the "great Shepherd and Bishop of our souls," who layeth down His life for the sheep. His sheep are known to Him, for "the very hairs of your head are numbered."

That care comprehends the supplying of food, as the Eastern shepherd constantly leads the flock to where they will find the pasture lands they need—"I shall not want." It requires thought on the part of the shepherd and wide information as to the best pastures at different seasons of the year. God thinks it out in advance of us, looks ahead, supplies us all we need—truth for the intellect, love for the heart, right for the conscience and power for the will. All of it is found in Jesus, our "wisdom, righteousness, sanctification and redemption," the bread that came down from heaven that we may eat thereof and not die.

It involves guidance, too, for paths are confused, distances are deceiving, the knowledge of the sheep is limited, the perils of mistakes are very serious. That's the same way with us. He knoweth the way we take. We follow the path He has already passed over, for He died leaving us an example that we should follow in His steps. There is something in His name, or nature, that prompts Him to lead us in the paths of righteousness.

2. PROTECTION.—The flock must be protected from exhaustion, from undue exposure to natural difficulties, from wild animals and from robbers. Therefore rest is provided, rest in the best possible place, by the waters, by the quiet waters, in the pastures, so that they can refresh themselves with food and drink at suitable times. That's the way Jesus treats us. The guidance will steer them away from cutting crags and dangerous ravines, except as it is necessary to secure something or achieve something on the other side of the cliffs and ravines. That's also the way Christ leads us. In going to new pasture lands they would often go through deep, dark gorges, where the sunlight never fulls and he must have the crook ready to draw the sheep out of danger or darkness and his staff, which was often the other end of the crook, to beat off any beast of prey or robber from the flock. There is a dark passage through the valley of death into the unclouded light and the psalmist has no fear, for he knows God is with him, with the crook to extricate him from trouble and with the staff to smite down his enemies. Knowing this the psalmist has no fear and finds comfort, which means strength with God.

II.

The Host and His Guest. 5, 6.

"Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

1. ENTERTAINMENT.—The figure changes. David had been a warrior and traveler and he thinks of God as giving him hospitable entertainment and protection. Perhaps he remembers when, as a fugitive from Absalom, he had been entertained at Mahanaim by Barzillai and others. As a soldier he is hard pressed and there is nothing save what God provides. On his journey, or flight, he comes to a hostelry and finds all that is prized in Oriental hospitality. The table is prepared in sight of his tantalized enemies and they can see him eat without being able to touch him. Here is what the host gives him—food of the highest quality, protection while he eats, relaxation so that he is restored after exertion and anxiety. He had been like a hunted partridge but now he is at ease. The rites of hospitality in the East required that a host protect his guest and the taking of the host's food was a pledge from him that no danger could reach him in that home. As the invisible hosts surrounded Dothan and gave confidence to Elisha, God surrounds us now. The oil was refreshing and gave its own joy; symbol of the Holy Spirit, the joy and strength of our lives.

2. GUIDANCE.—The traveler and soldier has safe conduct as he goes on by two messengers, "goodness and mercy." The shepherd precedes the sheep but here the soldier is attended or followed by his guards. All that can befall him is anticipated and provided for by his host and a blessed end is assured—a home where God is, where safety and satisfaction will be complete. Christ promises to each one of His followers a home of many mansions made ready for each one.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Food and rest are the two thoughts most prominent in each part of the psalm. They are the factors insisted upon by every physiologist as absolutely necessary to the winning back of vitality. Jesus used both thoughts in connection with His mission to mankind. He was sustained because He had meat to eat, of which the disciples knew nothing. He told those who followed Him that unless they ate His flesh and drank His blood they could have no life in themselves. He also invited men to find His rest—His yoke would be easy and His burden light. Food and rest—they are the thoughts made prominent in every picture of heaven, and the sleep which ushers the soul into the heaven is the beginning of rest.—J. R. Brown.

A favorite guest will often have his dish heaped up—as was Benjamin's by Joseph's order—without the least expectation that he will be able to eat it all, as a mark of special regard. The host whose dishes were cleaned off by his guests would feel his honor had been seriously impaired.—Ewing.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How is it true that God makes all things work together for the good of each believer?
2. Of what value are the sheep to the shepherd that they can claim so much for him?
3. What is there sacred about rest and recreation?
4. Why is the path of danger the only path of safety?
5. What evidence does this psalm give of the truth of immortality?

When Your Fiftieth Birthday Comes will you have the sound heart, steady nerves and good digestion of your younger days?

Many men and women reach the prime of life, burdened with stomach trouble, headaches, constipation, nervousness, heart flutter, etc., and frequently the cause is the drug, caffeine, in the coffee they drink.

You can quickly tell if coffee is injuring your health by stopping it ten days and using

INSTANT POSTUM

This delicious, pure food-drink contains no caffeine nor any other harmful ingredient. It is wholesome and invigorating, with a snappy flavour very like that of the Old Gov't Javas.

And Instant Postum is so easy to make. Put a level teaspoonful in a cup and add hot water—that's all.

The convenience of Instant Postum is seen at a glance. Sold in 30c and 50c tins. Some prefer Postum Cereal—the original form, which must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages.

Grocers sell both kinds, the flavour is equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

SHARP TILT ON JITNEY BILL AT ANNUAL MEETING OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Members of New City Commission Are Guests of Honor.

The annual election of directors of the Duluth Commercial club took place yesterday afternoon and last evening the report of the balloting was made at the annual meeting of the club and of the public affairs committee.

The report of the judges, Charles D. Folke, W. H. Pryor and Ray H. Hill, showed that 246 votes had been cast during the day and that the new directors elected for the ensuing two years are: W. N. Hart, J. B. Cotton, H. J. Atwood, W. H. Strachan and Dr. E. L. Tuohy.

Following a dinner last evening, the annual meeting of the club was called to order by Treasurer J. W. Lyder, President David Williams, First Vice President Watson S. Moore and Second Vice President A. Miller McDougall being absent.

Following the meeting of the club, that of the public affairs committee of the club began with Chairman R. B. Knox in command.

During the reading of the auditor's report, just before the public affairs committee took charge of the gathering, the three members of the city commission who will hold over, Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Merritt, and the newly-elected commissioners, Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell, appeared and were ushered to the head of the table amid applause, the crowd standing in their honor, and they were seated alongside of the officers of the club.

Jitney Discussion.

It was during the meeting of the public affairs committee that the only semblance of a clash or even brisk discussion developed. This came up after the report of the legislative committee had been made by Henry Nolte, chairman. Mr. Nolte reported that at the previous meeting of the public affairs committee a review of the work done by the committee had been submitted, so the report he made last night dealt with only what has been done since. He reported that the "jitney bus" bill, now before the state house of representatives, having been passed by the senate previously, was discussed, but that no recommendation had been made; that a bill to promote the development of suburban electric railways by permitting them to use the rails of already established roads in the city for terminal purposes, had been indorsed, and that one regarding the time of notification in canceling insurance policies, opposed by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Red Wing, had been recommended for opposition.

The stir came up on the "jitney bus" bill and resulted in the public affairs committee taking a stand in opposition to it and instructing the St. Louis county delegation in the house to use its best efforts to kill the bill. The fight was started by N. J. Upham making a motion to so instruct the delegation, but as it received no second his attempted discussion of the matter was forbidden. H. J. Mullin then moved that the committee report be accepted, which was seconded, and Mr. Upham then opened the discussion. Said he:

Bill Too Stringent.

"This bill was introduced on Feb. 25, three weeks before there was a jitney bus in service in any of the three cities. Palpably it was a measure to protect the street railways and head off jitney competition. The feature of the bill that I object to is that it provides that the three cities 'must' regulate the jitneys as provided for in the bill. Minneapolis is not a home rule city, but Duluth is, and the language of the bill takes away her home rule rights. Besides, the provisions of the bill are so drastic that it would put all such means of transportation out of business. A bus could not be used to transport people to the Jean du Luth or Exeter farms, nor could a bus be used to take people from the end of the street car line at West Duluth to Gary, unless they acceded to the demands of the provisions of the bill. The bill requires that bonds to secure $5,000 damages in case of one death and $15,000 in case of one accident be provided, and besides that, the jitney bus owner must give a heavy surety bond to the city to ensure his obedience of law. As to the first mentioned bond, no surety company issues to the extent of $15,000 for a single accident, $10,000 being the limit; and if a larger one were provided for, the premium would be practically prohibitive.

"This matter should be regulated by the cities, especially in the case of home rule cities like Duluth. The Duluth Real Estate exchange has gone on record as opposing it, and this body should."

The assertion that started the real trouble was made by Mr. Upham, when he said:

"I am informed that the street railway companies have made it known that if this bill is fought in Duluth, the Jay Cooke park bill will be killed in the legislature."

Attempts to break in on Mr. Upham's talk, evidently with denials, were quieted by Chairman Knox, and Mr. Upham, continuing, moved as a substitute to the motion to accept, that the jitney bill be opposed, and the St. Louis county delegation in the house be so informed.

No Such Threat Made.

Secretary Eva, following Mr. Upham, declared emphatically that no such threat as that voiced by Mr. Upham had been made, nor had anything like it been intimated.

C. P. Craig declared that he believed that the bill should be carefully considered, and that it might be well for the club to oppose it, as the bill, on the face of it, appears too drastic.

"The jitney bus," said he, "has come to stay; we may as well make up our minds to that. And much can be said in favor of this class of transportation. We need the assistance of this plan of transportation, and should not permit action that will destroy it. Aside from that, I think, we have no need of the legislature meddling with the matter or with our home rule charter. Our city commissioners have plenty of power to regulate the jitneys, and I think we should oppose this bill."

Frank Crassweller declared that the feature that should be considered is that the Duluth charter covers the matter and that if the legislature is permitted to interfere in the government of home rule cities in this matter it will be hard to find a place to stop its interference.

"This bill," said he, "takes away our legitimate powers. The charter should contain the law of this city, but with this bill adopted in its present form, the Duluth city commissioners would be tied hand and foot."

H. W. Cheadle, a member of the legislative committee, said that while the members felt much the same way as Mr. Crassweller, it appeared to them that the proposition embodied in the bill benefits Duluth. Henry Nolte, chairman of the legislative committee, said that Minneapolis has no home rule charter and the bill emanated from that delegation; and, he added, the legislative committee believed that the matter should be left to the judgment of the legislative delegation. W. C. Sherwood also spoke in favor of leaving the matter with the city commissioners and recommending that the bill be killed. Mr. Crassweller asked that the question of accepting the committee's report be divided, which was done and the report as to the two other measures mentioned was accepted.

Opposed to Bill.

Mr. Upham then moved that the public affairs committee go on record as opposing the passage of the jitney bill in the house. A division showed the sentiment of the gathering that way by a large majority.

Following the report of President David Williams, which is given in another column, Secretary Eva made his annual report. Mr. Eva reported that during the last year there has been a net gain in membership of thirty-six, the gross gain being 141, deaths, suspensions and removals causing the losses. He praised the work of the membership committee for the hard work and results obtained during the fall campaign, and also the business and professional men who give so much time to the business of the club. Mr. Eva's report consisted largely of statistics, and he enumerated the conventions secured by the club during last summer.

P. W. Sullivan, chairman of the city planning committee, made his report, which is reproduced in another column, but supplemented his report quite extensively in which he declared that he believes that the city commissioners should appropriate $2,500 as a portion of the sum of $7,500 necessary to make the exterior of the new armory about to be built what it should be.

"This ought be done at once," said Mr. Sullivan, "for they will begin laying brick next week, and the question before the city is as to whether the armory will be an eye-sore for fifty or fifty years, or a building of whose appearance Duluth can be proud. I can safely say that so far as present plans for the exterior of the building are concerned, it will have the appearance of a factory more than anything else, and it is at that point of the city where about the only good view of the lake can be obtained except in outlying districts. It is at the junction of two business and better residence district—an important point—and no building should be erected there that does not have an appearance that is fitting. A motion indorsing the plan was made by Henry Holte and it was carried by a rising vote. The city commissioners were present and got the full benefit of it. Mr. Sullivan's report was adopted as a whole.

H. J. Mullin, chairman of the committee on good roads, gave a lengthy report in which he reviewed the work done by the committee during the year, summarizing reports mentioned from month to month in connection with the meetings of the public affairs committee. He declared that the good roads work has been largely educational but that the ensuing season is expected to show good results.

Industrial Committee.

W. M. Prindle, chairman of the industrial committee, made a brief report in which he said that the committee is continually on the watch for new industries, but these having capital; and expressed the belief that the best work that can be done is to help the industries that are now in Duluth. He mentioned that there is no dearth of promoters but that their plans are usually faulty.

Frank Crassweller, acting chairman of the municipal committee, made a brief report on the work of the committee and on the work on the housing ordinance.

J. W. Lyder, by permission, made a short talk, urging all business men to help the Duluth Curling club along by patronizing and boosting for the engagement of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for June. Stephen H. Jones, president of the Duluth Curling club, also talked briefly in the same vein.

In his report on the work of the neighborhood clubs committee, Bentley P. Neff, chairman, declared that there is a very friendly feeling between the Commercial club and the neighborhood clubs; and praised the work of the community clubs for the results obtained through their efforts in getting better paving, better living conditions, industrial progress, and the promotion of civic pride; and concluded:

"The wonderful power of co-operation, of working in harmony, of accomplishing the greatest good for the greatest number in the best possible way, or, in other words, carrying out the ideals of this body, can best be emphasized by further maintaining the friendly relations already established, by further cultivating the good will of our sister clubs, and by showing them, and through them, the people of their communities, that this club preeminently stands for what they are most anxious to see accomplished—Duluth, the greatest city in civic accomplishments; Duluth, the first city in industrial progress; and Duluth, the best city in humanitarian and social development."

W. B. Cross, chairman of the wholesale committee, made a brief report.

Dr. Tuohy, chairman of the public health committee, made a report and also obtained the adoption of a resolution asking the St. Louis county delegation to the legislature to give immediate attention to the bill providing for an appropriation for county sanatoriums. Dr. Tuohy, J. H. Hearding and C. P. Craig spoke on the matter.

While-Time Officer.

Dr. Tuohy offered another resolution to have the club go on record as favoring a "whole-time" health officer, and spoke at length in its favor. J. H. Hearding said that in view of the fact that the city commission-elect have not yet taken office, he believed it would be a good plan to defer action. Bernard Silberstein, who was recognized as the probable next commissioner of public safety, addressed the meeting and said that the commission-elect is even now considering the matter and has practically determined that as soon as the proper man can be found, a "whole-time" health officer will be engaged. On the strength of this, the matter was recommitted to the committee on public health.

Hall of Fame.

J. H. Hearding, chairman of the state and county committee, reviewed the work of the year and also started a campaign for a local "hall of fame" in the courthouse. He declared that he believed tablets, unpretentious, but sufficient, should be installed commemorating the men who did the most for the development of the county and city, and urged that this be done before old residents, who are acquainted with the conditions and the men who fought the first fight for development, have passed away. He suggested brass tablets for the corridors of the courthouse.

The street improvement committee, H. J. Atwood, chairman, reported on the work done and complimented Roderick Murchison, retiring commissioner of public works, on his co-operation with the committee, his time given to them and the work he has accomplish in the way of improvements. The report recommended the improvement of East Superior street and East Second street; the regrouting of the brick pavement on Superior street; the amending of the city charter to provide for the payment of a definite percentage of the cost of street improvements to cover the expense of intersections; and of the employment by the club of a competent engineer for at least a few months of the year, to inspect public improvements during the course of the reconstruction.

Traffic Commissioner G. Roy Hall, reviewed in brief, the immense amount of work done by his department and was rewarded by enthusiastic applause. Frank Crassweller had adopted a resolution favoring the appropriation by the city commissioners and the school board of $1,500 each for the maintenance of recreation grounds and the plan mapped out by T. S. Settle.

In response to a request, Mayor Prince made a short address in behalf of the city commissioners, in which he briefly compared the excellent conditions of the club of today with what they were some years ago, and congratulated the club members on the good work done.

chine gun and shrapnel fire. The Villa troops fled, leaving large numbers of killed and wounded in the streets.

Villa's losses in this battle were estimated at 4,000 killed, wounded and captured. One hundred of the Villa wounded were sent to Guadalajara.

Rains Interfere With Siege.

Brownsville, Tex., April 15.—Heavy rain promised to interfere today with operations in the siege of Matamoras. There were occasional light firing by sentries.

Bullets on American Soil.

Washington, April 15.—Maj.-Gen. Funston, at Brownsville, Tex., reported to the war department today that many bullets fell on American soil yesterday during the fighting between the Villa and Carranza forces at Matamoras, but that no one was injured. He said desultory firing continued throughout the day, but that no serious engagement had been fought.

and that in Alsace an advance of nearly one mile was made.

The British steamer Ptarmigan has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea. Eleven men of her crew of twenty-two were saved. Four steam trawlers flying the flag of Holland have been seized by German warships and taken into Cuxhaven.

It was announced in the house of commons today that the British casualties from the beginning of the war to April 11 amounted to 139,347 men.

French Statement.

Paris, April 15, by wireless to London, 2:27 p. m.—The French war office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"Near La Boiselle our heavy artillery completely wrecked German shelters and trenches.

"In the Argonne near Fontaine-aux-Charles, a local engagement took place, from trench to trench, in which we gained the advantage. Our ascendancy over the Germans at this point is becoming more and more pronounced.

"On April 14, the day following the repulse by our artillery of the counter-attack at Les Eparges, made by the enemy debouching from Combres, the Germans bombarded our positions but did not attack.

"The extension of our front at the Ailly wood, already reported, was maintained against a counter-attack. Our progress rendered us masters of a portion of the principal German trench and to the north of this trench also gained for us a section of ground 400 yards long and 100 yards deep. The new trench gained by us near the Essey-Flirey high road remains in our possession.

"Near Fey-En-Haye a bombardment was carried on but not followed up by an infantry attack.

"In the forest of Le Pretre, after having won in the course of the thirteenth part of the German lines, we maintained our gains yesterday and stopped a counter-attack by machine guns.

"In Alsace, to the north of La Lauche, we made progress amounting to 1,500 yards in the direction of Schnepfen-Riethkopf."

German Statement.

Berlin, April 15, by wireless to Sayville.—The German war office gave out a report on the progress of hostilities today dated April 15, which reads:

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle there was yesterday nothing more than isolated engagements.

"French attacks near Marcheville, in and around the forest of Le Pretre, northeast of Manonviller and south of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf resulted in failure.

"On the eastern front the situation remains unchanged."

The German war office today gave out a report on the situation in the Carpathians, dated Monday, April 12, which reads:

"The Russian attempt with the army that was before Przemysl to force the invasion of Hungary has resulted in failure. The endeavors to get through the Lupkow and East Dukla passes were not successful and the Russian attacks at Scztropko and Felsorzebeurz have definitely come to an end. The Russians, consequently, are attacking further to the east but here also they were repulsed near Koziowa with heavy losses.

"The attacking strength of the Russians has visibly lessened."

Russ Offensive Checked.

London, April 15.—According to special dispatches appearing in London, both the Russians and the Austrians still continue to claim local successes in the Carpathians. Nevertheless, it would appear as though reinforced Austro-German forces had checked the main Russian offensive in the region of the Uzok pass.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George has presided at the first meeting of the business committee which is to organize to the full the resources of the nation in the production of war material. The war office, the admiralty and the board of trade each is represented on the committee.

LAST FLICKER OF THE FLAME OF EFFICIENCY AT PRESENT SESSION

ate on the two C. H. Warner house bills intended to check the work of the alleged bridge combine. Senator R. C. Dunn succeeded in having passed under suspension of the rules the bill requiring that notices of all proposals for bridge bids be filed with the state highway commission, so as to attract a broader field of bidding. The bill authorizing the highway commission to buy bridge materials for counties and communities was allowed to go to committee, and it may not be passed.

Workingmen's Compensation.

The house went on the calendar this morning by motion, for the sixth time this session and the first time in three weeks. The McGrath bill repealing the so-called third party clause of the workingmen's compensation was defeated, after an amendment by the author had been adopted that would allow injured persons to sue the third party under the old personal injury system.

Representative Nelson of Duluth offered an amendment to the title stating that the purpose of the bill was to help ambulance chasing lawyers, but it was voted down. The bill was killed, 43 for and 67 against. The third party clause provides that, in such cases as where a workman employed by a street contractor is struck by a street car while at work, he shall be entitled to the compensation act benefits from the third party—the street railway company.

The teachers' pension bill, as amended by the senate, was repassed by the house, 78 to 31, and now goes to the governor.

Highway Commission Stays.

The house killed the bill that would have abolished the state highway commission and allowed farmers to work out their road taxes instead of paying cash, by adopting an adverse committee report. Representative Welch sought to have the bill placed on general orders, but his motion failed, 42 to 64, and the majority report indefinitely postponing the bill was adopted.

The house passed the senate bill prohibiting the shooting of ducks from motor boats.

Senator George M. Peterson's bill curing the defect in the 1913 law exempting from garnishment wages amounting to $35 per month, substituted for the house bill by Representatives Syverson and Vasaly, passed the house this morning. The 1913 law was made to apply only to the necessaries of life, and the supreme court held that this made it unconstitutional.

Telephone Bill Recalled.

The telephone regulation bill was recalled from the governor by the house, on motion of Representative Minette, in order to make a technical correction, which means that it must repass both bodies.

Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker this morning introduced a new bill allowing the Itasca county commissioners a salaries of $1,200 and $300 expenses.

A number of telegrams have been received, mostly from Hibbing and Buhl, protesting against the passage of the per capita village levy bill. There are a few from Eveleth, one from Virginia, and one from Keewatin. The bill is on the calendar in the house, the senate bill having been substituted this morning for the house bill.

Appropriations bills are before both houses this afternoon as a special order.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

Ann law had its second trial, all it achieved was confusion, which resulted in a distressing contest between Henry Rines and J. A. O. Preus, candidates for the Republican nomination for state auditor. That contest developed the fact that not only was the second choice feature an exploded theory and a nuisance, but that there was no practical method of contesting state elections.

Hence this bill, which, besides repealing the second choice feature, provides an easier method of contesting state issues by arranging to have the ballots all sent in to the state capital for counting.

Representative A. M. Peterson of Coleraine cast the single vote against the bill.

Will Not Pay Delegates.

The house also passed, by a vote of 82 to 2, a bill amending the presidential preference primary law of 1913 so as to eliminate the provision for payment by the state of the expenses of delegates to national conventions. This was a compromise on a bill by Representative Knutson, which proposed the repeal of the law.

A bill to appropriate $37,500 to supply the state with the Garbo system of ballots and counting failed to pass. There were but 30 votes for it and 59 against it. Three legislatures have indorsed the plan as a great improvement on the present system, but when it came to spending money on it they have balked, as this one did yesterday.

Minneapolis Trolley Franchise.

The enabling act to authorize Minneapolis to grant a new franchise to its street railway company passed the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 45 to 21, after several amendments offered by Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis had been voted down.

The first amendment offered would have cut the term of the proposed franchise to thirty years, and it was lost by a vote of 9 to 36. The franchise is for thirty years, with the provision that if the city does not within that time exercise its option to purchase, it shall be extended thirty years more, the option to purchase continuing.

The next amendment, providing that the franchise must be presented to the people of Minneapolis at a special election, and not a special or general election as the council determines, was lost by a vote of 15 to 35.

An amendment enlarging the powers of the council in determining rates and requiring extensions, and providing that new regulations might be made at any time, was lost by a vote of 15 to 35.

The last amendment, requiring that two-thirds of the council must approve the franchise before it is presented to the people, instead of a majority, was beaten 35 to 21.

Aid For Poultry Shows.

State appropriations for poultry associations failed, a great danger of vanishing, because of the action of the house yesterday afternoon.

Formerly, the law providing state aid to county fairs took care of poultry associations also, including the Duluth and Lake county associations.

In the senate, these items were separated, and county fairs were taken care of in one bill, which passed the house Tuesday with an amendment, and poultry associations in another bill by Senator J. D. Sullivan, which the house took up yesterday afternoon. This bill added the Iron Range Poultry association to the list of beneficiaries.

When the house took up this bill yesterday afternoon it proceeded to add associations after association to it, until the original twenty had been more than doubled.

Then an admendment by Representative Davis, providing that one association in every county in the state should share in the $15,000 appropriated, was adopted.

Then the house killed the bill, giving it 56 votes when it needed 66, with 50 votes against it.

This left all poultry associations uncared for.

The news being carried to Senators George M. Peterson and C. E. Adams of Duluth, when the bill providing for county fairs came into the senate with the house amendment they moved that the senate refuse to concur in the house amendments and that a conference be asked. This motion prevailed, and it is possible that in conference the old situation in which poultry associations and fair associations are provided for in the same law can be re-established.

Otherwise, there will be no state aid for poultry associations for the next two years.

The Mayo Foundation.

The senate committee on education, by a divided vote, yesterday afternoon approved the Holmberg-Sageng bill forbidding the university to enter into the proposed affiliation with the Mayo foundation.

This will put the senate bill on general orders, but as the house committee is opposed to the bill, and as the general sentiment in the legislature appears to coincide with that view, there is virtually no chance for the bill to pass, and the board of regents will be left to do what they believe to be for the best interests of the university and the state.

Suffrage Bill Dead.

Though a majority of the house voted for it, the limited woman suffrage bill, which would have allowed women to vote on presidential candidates in Minnesota, is dead because its friends could not get enough votes to carry the Wefald motion to suspend the rules.

The vote on the motion was as follows:

Yeas—Adams, Anderson, Baldwin, Bendixen, Bernard, Bjorge, Bjorklund, Bjornson, Boyd, Burrows, Christianson, Corning, Dare, Davis, Dealand, Devold, Flinn, Frye, Gill, Gordon, Grant, Guilford, H. H. Cut in Appropriations.

Though the appropriation bills are not yet passed, there is every indication that there will be a marked reduction in the appropriations from two years ago and a noticeable decrease in the state tax rate.

Owing to the illness of Chairman Spooner of the house appropriations committee the affairs of that body are not so well shaped as those of the senate.

But in the senate, thanks to the untiring labors, the intelligent application and the practical experience of Chairman A. J. Rockne of the finance committee, the work is well in hand.

The total of the appropriation bills framed by the finance committee is $18,334,945.97, which is something less than a million smaller than the appropriations of 1913. However, this comparison does not show the fact that the 1913 legislature, in addition to its appropriation of $19,094,168.57, provided for certificates of indebtedness amounting to $1,750,000, which do not appear in its totals.

The house yesterday afternoon shows its feelings toward Speaker H. H. Flowers when it devoted part of its dwindling time to exercises in honor of the speaker's father, who died day before yesterday. The exercises were held during the hour of the funeral in Philadelphia, which Speaker Flowers was unable to attend because of the vast amount of work before the house.

With Representative John B. Hompe of Ottertail county in the chair, there was a recess during which Chaplain W. R. Keesey of Mankato offered prayer and Representative Hompe, representing the Civil war veterans of the house, gave a tribute to the deceased, himself a veteran.

Peterson's Bill Passed.

The house yesterday afternoon passed Senator George M. Peterson's bill abolishing the fees now required of merchants for the state inspection of weights and measures, and putting the burden of expense on the state. The house bill, which was passed yesterday, was introduced by Representatives Swenson, Bjornson and Nimocks. It will be substituted in the senate for the Peterson bill, which is now on general orders.

The bill by the house committee on public accounts and expenditures, making it possible for the state university to discount its bills and legalizing the office of controller of the university, passed the house yesterday.

The bill by Senator Richard Jones of Duluth prohibiting employment agents from charging fees to get jobs for common laborers was declared to be unconstitutional by the senate judiciary committee yesterday and is dead.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

Burning and Itching. Caused Much Loss of Sleep. Broke Out Over Body Also. Two Cakes Cuticura Soap and One Box Ointment Healed. Not a Scar Left.

808 N. 6th St., Springfield, Ill.—"Several months ago I was troubled with pimples all over my face. The breaking out was unsightly and the burning and itching caused me to scratch which irritated the pimples. They caused me to lose much sleep for they itched all night long. They disfigured me while they lasted. My face was very sore. The pimples then broke out all over my body also. My clothes felt uncomfortable.

"One day I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and was healed, and not a scar was left." (Signed) Carlyle C. Bryan, October 30, '14.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations and promote skin and hair health generally.

Members Object Because It Violates City's Home Rule Charter.

The annual election of directors of the Duluth Commercial club took place yesterday afternoon and last evening the report of the balloting was made at the annual meeting of the club and of the public affairs committee.

The report of the judges, Charles D. Folks, W. H. Taylor and Ray H. Hill, showed that 246 votes had been cast during the day and that the new directors elected for the ensuing two years are: W. S. Hart, J. B. Cotton, H. J. Atwood, W. H. Strachan and Dr. E. L. Tuohy.

Following a dinner last evening, the annual meeting of the club was called to order by Treasurer J. W. Lyder, President David Williams, First Vice President Watson S. Moore and Second Vice President A. Miller McDougall being absent.

Following the meeting of the club, that of the public affairs committee of the club began with Chairman R. B. Knox in command.

During the reading of the auditor's report, just before the public affairs committee took charge of the gathering, the three members of the city commission who will hold over, Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Merritt, and the newly-elected commissioners, Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell, appeared and were ushered to the head of the table amid applause, the crowd standing in their honor, and they were seated alongside of the officers of the club.

Jitney Discussion.

It was during the meeting of the public affairs committee that the only semblance of a clash or even brisk discussion developed. This came up after the report of the legislative committee had been made by Henry Nolte, chairman. Mr. Nolte reported that at the meeting in charge of the public affairs committee a review of the work done by the committee had been submitted, so the report he made last night dealt with only what has been done since. His report said that the "jitney bus" bill, now before the state house of representatives, having been passed by the senate previously, was discussed, but that no recommendation had been made that the city prompt the development of suburban electric railways by permitting them to use the rails of already established roads in the city for terminal purposes, had been indorsed, and that one regarding the time of publication in canceling insurance policies, opposed by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of Red Wing, had been recommended for opposition.

The stir came up on the "jitney bus" bill and resulted in the public affairs committee taking a stand in opposition to it and instructing the St. Louis county delegation in the house to use its best efforts to kill the bill. The fight was started by N. J. Upham making a motion so to instruct the delegation, but as it received no second his attempted discussion of the matter was forbidden. H. J. Mullin then moved that the committee report be accepted, which was seconded, and Mr. Upham then opened the discussion.

Said he:

Bill Too Stringent.

"This bill was introduced on Feb. 25, three weeks before there was a jitney bus in service in any of the three cities. Palpably it was a measure to protect the street railways and head off jitney competition. The feature of the bill that I object to is that it provides that the three cities 'must' regulate the jitneys as provided for in the bill. Minneapolis is not a home rule city, but Duluth is, and the language of the bill takes away her home rule rights. Besides, the provisions of the bill are so drastic that it would put all such means of transportation out of business. A bus could not be used to transport people to the Jean du Luth or Exeter farms, nor could a bus be used to take people from the end of the street car line at West Duluth to Gary, unless they acceded to the demands of the provisions of the bill. The bill requires that bonds to secure $5,000 damages in case of one death and $15,000 in case of one accident be provided, besides that, the jitney bus owner must give a heavy surety bond to the city to ensure his obedience of law. As to the first mentioned bond, no surety company issues to the extent of $15,000 for a single accident, $10,000 being the limit, and if a larger one were provided for, the premium would be practically prohibitive.

"This matter should be regulated by the cities, especially in the case of home rule cities like Duluth. The Duluth Real Estate exchange has gone on record as opposing it, and this body should."

The assertion that started the real trouble was made by Mr. Upham, when he said:

"I am informed that the street railway companies have made it known that if this bill is fought in Duluth, the Jay Cooke park bill will be killed in the legislature."

Attempts to break in on Mr. Upham's talk, evidently with denials, were quieted by Chairman Knox, and Mr. Upham, continuing, moved as a substitute to the motion to accept, that the jitney bill be opposed, and the St. Louis county delegation in the house be so informed.

No Such Threat Made.

Secretary Eva, following Mr. Upham, declared emphatically that no such threat as that voiced by Mr. Upham had been made, nor had anything like it been intimated.

C. P. Craig declared that he believed that the bill should be carefully considered, and that it might be well for the club to oppose it, as the bill, on the face of it, appears too drastic.

"The jitney bus," said he, "has come to stay; we may as well make up our minds to that. And much can be said in favor of this class of transportation. We need the assistance of this plan of transportation, and should not permit action that will destroy it. Aside from that, I think, we have no need of the legislature meddling with the matter or with our home rule charter. Our city commissioners have plenty of power to regulate the jitneys, and I think we should oppose this bill."

Frank Crassweiler declared that the feature that should be considered is that the Duluth charter covers the matter and that if the legislature is permitted to interfere in the government of home rule cities in this matter it will be hard to find a place to stop its interference.

"This bill," said he, "takes away our legitimate powers. The charter should contain the law of this city, but with this bill adopted in its present form, the Duluth city commissioners would be tied hand and foot."

H. W. Cheadle, a member of the legislative committee, said that while the members felt much the same way as Mr. Crassweller, it appeared to them that the proposition embodied in the bill benefits Duluth. Henry Nolte, chairman of the legislative committee, said that Minneapolis has no home rule charter and the bill emanated from that delegation; and, he added, the legislative committee believed that the matter should be left to the judgment of the legislative delegation. W. C. Sherwood also spoke in favor of leaving the matter with the city commissioners and recommending that the bill be killed. Mr. Crassweller asked that the question of accepting the committee's report be divided, which was done and the report as to the two other measures mentioned was accepted.

Opposed to Bill.

Mr. Upham then moved that the public affairs committee go on record as opposing the passage of the jitney bill in the house. A division showed the sentiment of the gathering that way by a large majority.

Following the report of President David Williams, which is given in another column, Secretary Eva made his annual report. Mr. Eva reported that during the last year there has been a net gain in membership of thirty-six, the gross gain being 141, deaths, suspensions and removals causing the loss. He praised the work of the membership committee for the hard work and results obtained during the fall campaign, and also the business and professional men who gave so much time to the business of the club. Mr. Eva's report consisted largely of statistics, and he enumerated the conventions secured by the club during last summer.

F. W. Sullivan, chairman of the city planning committee, made his report, which is reproduced in another column, but supplemented his report quite extensively in which he declared that he believes that the city commissioners should appropriate $2,500 as a portion of the sum of $7,500 necessary to make the exterior of the new armory about to be built what it should be.

"This must be done at once," said Mr. Sullivan, "for they will begin laying brick next week, and the question before the city is as to whether the armory will be an eyesore for forty or fifty years, or a building of whose appearance Duluth can be proud. I can safely say that so far as present plans for the exterior of the building are concerned, it will have a appearance of a factory more than anything else, and it is at that point of the city where about the only good view of the lake can be obtained except in outlying districts. It is at the junction of our business and better residence district—an important point—and no building should be erected there that does not have an appearance that is fitting. A motion indorsing the plan was made by Henry Holte and it was carried by a rising vote. The city commissioners were present and got the full benefit of it. Mr. Sullivan's report was adopted as a whole.

H. J. Mullin, chairman of the committee on good roads, gave a lengthy report in which he reviewed the work done by the committee during the year, summarizing reports mentioned from month to month in connection with the meetings of the public affairs committee. He declared that the good roads work has been largely educational but that the ensuing season is expected to show good results.

Industrial Committee.

W. M. Prindle, chairman of the industrial committee, made a brief report in which he said that the committee is continually on the watch for new industries, but those having capital, and expressed the belief that the best work that can be done is to help the industries that are now in Duluth. He mentioned that there is no dearth of promoters but that their plans are usually faulty.

Frank Crassweller, acting chairman of the municipal committee, made a brief report on the work of the committee and on the work on the housing ordinance.

J. W. Lyder, by permission, made a short talk, urging all business men to help the Duluth Curling club along by patronizing and boosting for the engagement of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for June. Stephen H. Jones, president of the Duluth Curling club, also talked briefly in the same vein.

In his report on the work of the neighborhood clubs committee, Bentley P. Neff, chairman, declared that there is a very friendly feeling between the Commercial club and the neighborhood clubs; and praised the work of the community clubs for the results obtained through their efforts in getting better paving, better living conditions, industrial progress, and the promotion of civic pride; and concluded:

"The wonderful power of co-operation, of working in harmony, of accomplishing the greatest good for the greatest number in the best possible way, or, in other words, carrying out the ideals of this body, can best be emphasized by further maintaining the friendly relations already established, by further cultivating the good will of our sister clubs, and by showing them, and through them, the people of their communities that this club preeminently stands for what they are most anxious to see accomplished—Duluth, the greatest city in civic accomplishments; Duluth, the first city in industrial progress; and Duluth, the best city in humanitarian and social development."

W. B. Cross, chairman of the wholesale committee, made a brief report.

Dr. Tuohy, chairman of the public health committee, made a report and also obtained the adoption of a resolution asking the St. Louis county delegation to the legislature to give immediate attention to the bill providing for an appropriation for county sanatoriums. Dr. Tuohy, J. H. Hearding and C. P. Craig spoke on the matter.

While-Time Officer.

Dr. Tuohy offered another resolution to have the club go on record as favoring a "whole-time" health officer, and spoke at length in its favor. J. H. Hearding said that in view of the fact that the city commission-elect have not yet taken office, he believed it would be a good plan to defer action. Bernard Silberstein, who was recognized as the probable next commissioner of public safety, addressed the meeting and said that the commission-elect is even now considering the matter and has practically determined that as soon as the proper man can be found, a "whole-time" health officer will be engaged. On the strength of this, the matter was recommitted to the committee on public health.

Hall of Fame.

J. H. Hearding, chairman of the state and county committee, reviewed the work of the year and also started a campaign for a local "hall of fame" in the courthouse. He declared that he believed tablets, unpretentious, but sufficient, should be installed commemorating the men who did the most for the development of the county and city, and urged that this be done before old residents, who are acquainted with the conditions and the men who fought the first fight for development, have passed away. He suggested brass tablets for the corridors of the courthouse.

The street improvement committee, H. J. Atwood, chairman, reported on the work done and complimented Roderick Murchison, retiring commissioner of public works, on his co-operation with the committee, his time given to them and the work he has accomplish in the way of improvements. The report recommended the improvement of East Superior street and East Second street; the regrouting of the brick pavement on Superior street; the amending of the city charter to provide for the payment of a definite percentage of the cost of street improvements to cover the expense of intersections; and of the employment by the club of a competent engineer for at least a few months of the year, to inspect public improvements during the course of the reconstruction.

Traffic Commissioner G. Roy Hall, reviewed in brief, the immense amount of work done by his department and was rewarded by enthusiastic applause. Frank Crassweller had adopted a resolution favoring the appropriation by the city commissioners and the school board of $1,500 each for the maintenance of recreation grounds and the plan mapped out by T. S. Settle.

In response to a request, Mayor Prince made a short address in behalf of the city commissioners, in which he briefly compared the excellent conditions of the club of today with what they were some years ago, and congratulated the club members on the good work done.

Villa's losses in this battle were estimated at 4,000 killed, wounded and captured. One hundred of the Villa wounded were sent to Guadalajara.

Ruins Interfere With Siege.

Brownsville, Tex., April 15.—Heavy rain promised to interfere today with operations in the siege of Matamoros. There were occasional light firing by sentries.

Bullets on American Soil.

Washington, April 15.—Maj.-Gen. Funston, at Brownsville, Tex., reported to the war department today that many bullets fell on American soil yesterday during the fighting between the Villa and Carranza forces at Matamoros, but that no one was injured. He said desultory firing continued throughout the day, but that no serious engagement had been fought.

and that in Alsace an advance of nearly one mile was made.

The British steamer Ptarmigan has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea. Eleven men of her crew of twenty-two were saved. Four steam trawlers flying the flag of Holland have been seized by German warships and taken into Cuxhaven.

It was announced in the house of commons today that the British casualties from the beginning of the war to April 11 amounted to 139,347 men.

French Statement.

Paris, April 15, by wireless to London, 2:27 p. m.—The French war office gave out the following statement this afternoon:

"Near La Boiselle our heavy artillery completely wrecked German shelters and trenches.

"In the Argonne near Fontaine-aux-Charles, a local engagement took place, from trench to trench, in which we gained the advantage. Our ascendancy over the Germans at this point is becoming more and more pronounced.

"On April 14, the day following the repulse by our artillery of the counter-attack at Les Eparges, made by the enemy debouching from Combres, the Germans bombarded our positions but did not attack.

"The extension of our front at the Ailly wood, already reported, was maintained against a counter-attack. Our progress rendered us masters of a portion of the principal German trench and to the north of this trench also gained for us a section of ground 400 yards long and 100 yards deep. The new trench gained by us near the Essey-Flirey high road remains in our possession.

"Near Fey-En-Haye a bombardment was carried on but not followed up by an infantry attack.

"In the forest of Le Pretre, after having won in the course of the thirteenth part of the German lines, we maintained our gains yesterday and stopped a counter-attack by machine guns.

"In Alsace, to the north of La Laurche, we made progress amounting to 1,500 yards in the direction of Schnepfen-Riethkopf."

German Statement.

Berlin, April 15, by wireless to Sayville.—The German war office gave out a report on the progress of hostilities today dated April 15, which reads:

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle there was yesterday nothing more than isolated engagements.

"French attacks near Marcheville, in and around the forest of Le Pretre, northeast of Manonviller and south of Hartmanns-Weilerkopf resulted in failure.

"On the eastern front the situation remains unchanged."

The German war office today gave out a report on the situation in the Carpathians, dated Monday, April 12, which reads:

"The Russian attempt with the army that was before Przemysl to force the invasion of Hungary has resulted in failure. The endeavors to get through the Lupkow and East Dukla passes were not successful and the Russian attacks at Sestropko and Felsaerzebeurz have definitely come to an end. The Russians, consequently, are attacking further to the east but here also they were repulsed near Koziewa with heavy losses.

"The attacking strength of the Russians has visibly lessened."

Russ Offensive Checked.

London, April 15.—According to special dispatches appearing in London, both the Russians and the Austrians still continue to claim local successes in the Carpathians. Nevertheless, it would appear as though reinforced Austro-German forces had checked the main Russian offensive in the region of the Uzok pass.

ate on the two C. H. Warner house bills intended to check the work of the alleged bridge combine. Senator R. C. Dunn succeeded in having passed under suspension of the rules the bill requiring that notices of all proposals for bridge bids be filed with the state highway commission, so as to attract a broader field of bidding. The bill authorizing the highway commission to buy bridge materials for counties and communities was allowed to go to committee, and it may not be passed.

Workingmen's Compensation.

The house went on the calendar this morning by motion, for the sixth time this session and the first time in three weeks. The McGrath bill repealing the so-called third party clause of the workingmen's compensation was defeated, after an amendment by the author had been adopted that would allow injured persons to sue the third party under the old personal injury system.

Representative Nelson of Duluth offered an amendment to the title stating that the purpose of the bill was to help ambulance chasing lawyers, but it was voted down. The bill was killed, 13 for and 67 against. The third party clause provides that, in such cases as where a workman employed by a street car contractor is struck by a street car while at work, he shall be entitled to the compensation act benefits from the third party—the street railway company.

The teachers' pension bill, as amended by the senate, was repassed by the house, 78 to 31, and now goes to the governor.

Highway Commission Stays.

The house killed the bill that would have abolished the state highway commission and allowed farmers to work out their road taxes instead of paying cash, by adopting an adverse committee report. Representative Welch sought to have the bill placed on general orders, but his motion failed, 42 to 64, and the majority report indefinitely postponing the bill was adopted.

The house passed the senate bill prohibiting the shooting of ducks from motor boats.

Senator George M. Peterson's bill curing the defect in the 1913 law exempting from garnishment wages amounting to $35 per month, substituted for the house bill by Representatives Syverson and Vasaly, passed the house this morning. The 1913 law was made to apply only to the necessaries of life, and the supreme court held that this made it unconstitutional.

Telephone Bill Recalled.

The telephone regulation bill was recalled from the governor by the house, on motion of Representative Minette, in order to make a technical correction, which means that it must repass both bodies.

Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker this morning introduced a new bill allowing the Itasca county commissioners a salaries of $1,200 and $300 expenses.

A number of telegrams have been received, mostly from Hibbing and Buhl, protesting against the passage of the per capita village levy bill. There are a few from Eveleth, one from Virginia, and one from Keewatin. The bill is on the calendar in the house, the senate bill having been substituted this morning for the house bill.

Appropriations bills are before both houses this afternoon as a special order.

Ann law had its second trial, all it achieved was confusion, which resulted in a distressing contest between Henry Rines and J. A. O. Preus, candidates for the Republican nomination for state auditor. That contest developed the fact that not only was the second choice feature an exploded theory and a nuisance, but that there was no practical method of contesting state elections.

Hence this bill, which, besides repealing the second choice feature, provides an easier method of contesting state issues by arranging to have the ballots all sent in to the state capital for counting.

Representative A. M. Peterson of Coleraine cast the single vote against the bill.

Will Not Pay Delegates.

The house also passed, by a vote of 82 to 2, a bill amending the presidential preference primary law of 1913 so as to eliminate the provision for payment by the state of the expenses of delegates to national conventions. This was a compromise on a bill by Representative Knutson, which proposed the repeal of the law.

A bill to appropriate $37,500 to supply the state with the Garbo system of ballots and counting failed to pass. There were but 30 votes for it and 59 against it. Three legislatures have indorsed the plan as a great improvement on the present system, but when it came to spending money on it they have balked, as this one did yesterday.

Minneapolis Trolley Franchise.

The enabling act to authorize Minneapolis to grant a new franchise to its street railway company passed the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 45 to 21, after several amendments offered by Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis had been voted down.

The first amendment offered would have cut the term of the proposed franchise to thirty years, and it was lost by a vote of 9 to 36. The franchise is for thirty years, with the provision that if the city does not within that time exercise its option to purchase, it shall be extended thirty years more, the option to purchase continuing.

The next amendment, providing that the franchise must be presented to the people of Minneapolis at a special election, and not a special or general election as the council determines, was beaten 14 to 35.

An amendment enlarging the powers of the council in determining rates and requiring extensions, and providing that increased regulations might be made at any time, was lost by a vote of 15 to 35.

The last amendment, requiring that two-thirds of the council approve the franchise before it is presented to the people, instead of a majority, was beaten 35 to 21.

Aid For Poultry Shows.

State appropriations for poultry associations are in great danger of vanishing, because of the action of the house yesterday afternoon.

Formerly, the law providing state aid to county fairs to associations of poultry associations also, including the Duluth and Lake county associations.

In the senate, these items were separated, and county fairs were taken care of in one bill, which passed the house Tuesday with an amendment, and poultry associations in another bill by Senator J. D. Sullivan, which the house took up yesterday afternoon. This bill added the Iron Range Poultry association to the list of beneficiaries.

When the house took up this bill yesterday afternoon it proceeded to add associations after association to it, until the original twenty had been more than doubled.

Then an admendment by Representative Davis, providing that one association in each county in the state should share in the $15,000 appropriated, was adopted.

Then the house killed the bill, giving it 56 votes when it needed 66, with 50 votes against it.

This left all poultry associations uncared for.

The news being carried to Senators George M. Peterson and C. E. Adams of Duluth, when the bill providing for county fairs came into the senate with the house amendment they moved that the senate refuse to concur in the house amendments and that a conference be asked. This motion prevailed, and it is possible that in conference the old situation in which poultry associations and fair associations are provided for in the same law can be re-established.

Otherwise, there will be no state aid for poultry associations for the next two years.

The Mayo Foundation.

The senate committee on education, by a divided vote, yesterday afternoon approved the Holmberg-Sageng bill forbidding the university to enter into the proposed affiliation with the Mayo foundation.

This will put the senate bill on general orders, but as the house committee is opposed to the bill, and as the general sentiment in the legislature appears to coincide with that view, there is virtually no chance for the bill to pass, and the board of regents will be left to do what they believe to be for the best interests of the university and the state.

Suffrage Bill Dead.

Though a majority of the house voted for it, the limited woman suffrage bill, which would have allowed women to vote on presidential candidates in Minnesota, is dead because its friends could not get enough votes to carry the Wefald motion to suspend the rules.

The vote on the motion was as follows:

Yeas—Adams, Anderson, Baldwin, Bendixen, Bernard, Bjorge, Bjorklund, Bjornson, Boyd, Burrows, Christianson, Corning, Dare, Davis, Dealand, Dewald, Dillman, Frye, Gill, Gordon, Grant, Guilford, H. H. Harrison, J. M. Harrison, Hauser, Holmes, Hompe, Hulbert, Indrehus, M. Johnson, Knutson, Kunze, Larson, Lattin, Lee, Leonard, Lydiard, Madigan, Marschalk, Marwin, Moeller, Morken, Nordgren, Norton, Olon, Parker, Pendergast, A. Cut in Appropriations.

Though the appropriation bills are not yet passed, there is every indication that there will be a marked reduction in the appropriations from two years ago and a noticeable decrease in the state tax rate.

Owing to the illness of Chairman Spooner of the house appropriations committee the affairs of that body are not so well shaped as those of the senate.

But in the senate, thanks to the untiring labors, the intelligent application and the practical experience of Chairman A. J. Rockne of the finance committee, the work is well in hand.

The total of the appropriation bills framed by the finance committee is $18,334,945.97, which is something less than a million smaller than the appropriations of 1913. However, this comparison does not show the fact that the 1913 legislature, in addition to its appropriation of $19,094,168.57, provided for certificates of indebtedness amounting to $1,750,000, which do not appear in its totals.

The house yesterday afternoon shows its feelings toward Speaker H. H. Flowers when it devoted part of its dwindling time to exercises in honor of the speaker's father, who died day before yesterday. The exercises were held during the hour of the funeral in Philadelphia, which Speaker Flowers was unable to attend because of the vast amount of work before the house.

With Representative John B. Hompe of Ottertail county in the chair, there was a recess during which Chaplain W. R. Keesey of Mankato offered prayer and Representative Hompe, representing the Civil war veterans of the house, gave a tribute to the deceased, himself a veteran.

Peterson's Bill Passed.

The house yesterday afternoon passed Senator George M. Peterson's bill abolishing the fees now required of merchants for the state inspection of weights and measures, and putting the burden of expense on the state. The house bill, which was passed yesterday, was introduced by Representatives Swenson, Bjornson and Nimocks. It will be substituted in the senate for the Peterson bill, which is now on general orders.

The bill by the house committee on public accounts and expenditures, making it possible for the state university to discount its bills and legalizing the office of controller of the university, passed the house yesterday.

* * *

The bill by Senator Richard Jones of Duluth prohibiting employment agents from charging fees to get jobs for common laborers was held to be unconstitutional by the senate judiciary committee yesterday and is dead.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Frederick Smith Head of Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints.

Lamoni, Iowa, April 15.—Frederick M. Smith of St. Joseph, Mo., was elected president of the reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, to succeed the late Joseph Smith, according to an announcement today. The request of the former prophet naming his son as his successor was complied with last night. The conference will adjourn this week. The new president is said to be recovering from an illness at Worcester, Mass.

BRITISH CASUALTIES TO DATE 139,347 MEN.

London, April 15.—The total of British casualties in the war from the beginning of hostilities up to April 11, is 139,347 men, according to an announcement made in the house of commons this afternoon by Harold J. Tennant, under-secretary of war.

Thompson Noncommittal.

Chicago, April 15.—William Hale Thompson, mayor-elect of Chicago, sent a noncommittal reply today to an appeal from union carpenters to intervene in the building trades situation here. He expressed the hope that the men and their employers would be able to adjust their differences without resort to intervention.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

Burning and Itching. Caused Much Loss of Sleep. Broke Out Over Body Also. Two Cakes Cuticura Soap and One Box Ointment Healed. Not a Scar Left.

808 N. 6th St., Springfield, Ill.—"Several months ago I was troubled with pimples all over my face. The breaking out was unsightly and the burning and itching caused me to scratch which irritated the pimples. They caused me to lose much sleep for they itched all night long. They disfigured me while they lasted. My face was very sore. The pimples then broke out all over my body also. My clothes felt uncomfortable.

"One day I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and was healed, and not a scar was left." (Signed) Carlyle C. Bryan, October 30, '14.

In the care of baby's skin and hair, Cuticura Soap is the mother's favorite. Its gentle emollient properties are usually sufficient to allay minor irritations and promote skin and hair health generally.

WILL FORM COMMITTEE TO ADVISE COMMISSION

City Fathers Ask Rotary Club to Undertake the Work.

Committee Will Include Representatives From All Civic Organizations.

The Rotary club has been commissioned by the city council to get together what is hoped to be one of the most important civic organizations in Duluth. It has no name as yet, but its duties will be to act as advisory committee to the city commissioners in all civic matter, becoming, as it were, an intermediary body through which the desires of the citizens will be brought specifically to the attention of the city council.

The matter was discussed today by the Rotary club members at its weekly luncheon at the Spalding. For some time the club has had a committee whose duty it is to confer with the city commissioners on public matters, and recently the commissioners suggested that an advisory board be organized, and asked the members of the rotary committee to look after it. This invitation was accepted and the work of organizing such a board will be started soon.

It is proposed to have one representative from each club in the city, including the Rotary, Commercial and all community clubs, who will form the advisory board and meet at stated intervals to discuss public questions and make suggestions to the city commission as may be found advisable. It will be a volunteer subsidiary city council, which, while having no official standing, no executive power and no vote even, will, it is believed, wield a good deal of power and will be the mouth-piece of all sections of the city in regard to matters that will concern the people as a whole or sectionally.

This is a plan that has been suggested frequently ever since the commission form of government has been talked of, and especially since the present system of city government has been established. It has been suggested in various forms, ideas being received from other cities.

One form of advisory body suggested was that it should be elected from the various wards, the same as the old form of council was elected, that it would serve without pay, meet weekly to thresh over matters of civic interest coming up and make suggestions to the council. This form has been adopted by one or two cities.

The now proposed plan has long been held in favor, and many believe that it is the most practical of all.

A short time ago the charter commission carefully considered the proposal to add to the commission two more members, to be elected by the people, but to serve without pay, and to act as advisors to the official commissioners. That plan was laid aside for the time.

The Rotary club officers will take steps to bring the suggested advisory board about in the very near future and the various clubs will at once be consulted on the matter.

SAYS HE SETTLED DAMAGE CLAIMS

Taking of testimony was resumed this morning at the trial of the action brought against the Mesaba Electric Railway company by Mrs. Mabel Cherry, who is seeking to recover $5,000 from the defendant company for injuries alleged to have been sustained when an electric car was derailed between Mountain Iron and Buhl last fall.

Oscar Helam, claim agent for the railway company at the time of the accident, testified this morning that he had settled the case with Mrs. Cherry a few days after the accident happened. He declared that he paid her $200 and her doctor bills and that she signed a release discharging the company from all liability in connection with the accident.

Commissioner-elect Farrell has not yet taken his oath of office.

GIRL FOUND AT BRAINERD

Grace Fuda Is Returning to Duluth With Her Father.

After an eight-day search extending over the entire Northwest, the police found Grace Fuda, 17-year-old girl from New Duluth's Italian colony, at Brainerd, Minn., last night.

Reports that a girl answering her description had been in Brainerd were verified over the telephone by Chief of Police C. H. Troyer yesterday afternoon, and at 7:15 p. m. F. Fuda, the father, left for Brainerd. After a short search, aided by the Brainerd authorities, he discovered his child in a hotel there, and will return to Duluth with her this afternoon.

Motives for the girl's flight from home have not been learned by police, as no reports have been received other than that she had been found.

Grace was well known in New Duluth, being the belle of the Italian colony. She left home about noon on April 7, and, after visiting a school nearby, went to the New Duluth public library. She left there about 4 o'clock and was not seen after that.

At the time of her disappearance she wore about $100 worth of jewelry, and this fact encouraged the foul play theory. She is believed to have pawned some of the jewelry to secure money for railroad fare.

After police verified reports of her presence in Brainerd, they learned from Mrs. Fuda that a Northern Pacific time card, with the name Brainerd written along the margin, had been found in the girl's room the morning after she disappeared.

Waitresses in a Brainerd hotel were attracted by the unusual amount of jewelry worn by the girl, and when reading newspaper accounts of Grace's disappearance a day or so after she had worked with them, notified the police.

EVIDENCE READ BY COURT REPORTER

T. A. McGuire, Patrick Walsh and Michael Linahan, employes of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, who came to Duluth last January to testify as state's witnesses in the prosecution of George K. Robertson, Northern Pacific switchman, on a charge of complicity in the theft of $3,000 worth of copper anodes from a box car a year ago last November, will not attend court at Robertson's second trial.

Their testimony as taken at the former trial was received in evidence. It was read to the court and jury by George P. Stillman, court reporter.

John Murphy, general yardmaster of the Duluth terminals of the Northern Pacific, took the stand this morning and was minutely examined as to the system of switching cars in the Duluth yards. He described in detail how the work was done in the usual course of business. R. M. Smith, cashier at the local freight house, and Dan McLennan, car checker, both employes of the Northern Pacific, also took the stand this morning.

The testimony offered by the several witnesses was in all substantial particulars, the same as that adduced at Robertson's first trial.

ACCIDENT CAUSED BY LAW VIOLATION

Two accidents, one of which was due to violation of traffic rules, were reported to police yesterday, injuries being sustained by persons on both occasions.

Martin Kreasick, 2720 West Third street, conductor on a Duluth-Superior car, was struck by a motorcycle when flagging a railroad crossing on Garfield avenue and slightly injured. He was thrown several feet. J. J. Kraus, 1305 Tower avenue, Superior, was driving the machine.

Morris Ostrov, age 11, ran into the street and and was knocked down by a jitney bus last night when he attempted to escape from two boys who were chasing him. His hand crashed through the windshield and was cut badly.

Jerome St. George, 2502 West Third street, driver of the bus, was exonerated by police after an examination. Police Surgeon I. J. Murphy dressed the Ostrov boy's injuries. He lives at 425 West Fourth street, and the accident happened at Fourth avenue west and Superior street.

In the first accident the motorcycle was going at a high rate of speed, and in utter disregard of traffic regulations, according to the conductor.

The knockout pictures of the big fight show Johnson hitting Willard. But then why quibble over a little thing like that?

The Chicago Federals have released a player by the name of Ashenfelterhoff. It is believed the baseball writers had something to do with it.

Germany insists upon holding the Olympic games in Berlin. That would be a good way to win them.

Grand Forks has a practical baseball management. Grand Forks lost $6,200 last season.

Tom Sharkey has not challenged Jess Willard as yet, which has led some of his friends to believe that Tom is attempting to write a speech.

Ty Cobb declares he has little time for a ball player who will jump to the Federal league and then back to organized baseball. It is believed Tyrus has reference to Walter Johnson.

Walter Johnson pitched a one hit game yesterday. If a ball player remains on a team long enough he is liable to get in a rut.

It is said the officials of the Federal league sent Walter Johnson a telegram of congratulation last evening.

GRIFFITH'S STAR IN COMEBACK ROLE

WALTER JOHNSON.

It looks like the same old Walter Johnson. Just another sign of spring, "Johnson scored a shutout." While one swallow does not make a summer, the work of the man generally credited with being the world's greatest pitcher in the opening game of yesterday, shows that he has regained the form that in the past made him the most feared twirler in either league.

BERT MOHON WILL LEAVE

Crack Curling Club Hockey Star May Go to St. Paul.

Bert Mohon, the Canadian hockey star who played such a spectacular game for the curling club team in the position of rover during the last season, will not play here next season, according to the announcement made yesterday.

The statement came from Mohon and is one that will be received with exceeding regret by all of the followers of the team. And what tinges the regret with a poignant sting, is the rumor that Bert will play with St. Paul next season.

While Mohon refused to confirm this rumor today, he did not deny it. If the Apostles have Bobby Baker and Mohon as regular members of their next year's team, St. Paul will have some team.

Not only was Mohon one of the best players who ever performed on local ice, but he was also one of the most liked chaps. As a speedy skater and efficient checker, the Canadian kid could hardly be improved upon. The departure of Mohon will be followed with genuine regret.

APPEAL TO COURTS ADVICE OF COMMISSION

Highest Court of Baseball Advised Amicable Settlement or an Appeal to Civil Courts.

There seems to be some confusion regarding the decision of the national commission in regard to the Winnipeg Baseball club. The commission, after dismissing the appeal of the Pulford faction from the ruling of the national association arbitration board, made the following recommendation:

"The commission recommended that an amicable adjustment be made by the Winnipeg club and the Northern league, but if this cannot be done that the case be taken to the civil courts."

NORTHLAND CLUB WILL ISSUE BOOK

New Publication Will Contain Recent By-Laws and Amendments.

A new club book will be issued some time this spring by the Northland Country club. In the new club book all of the amendments will be published and all of the rules brought up to date. Various by-laws adopted since the old club book was published will be arranged in the new publication.

It was unofficially announced today that the regular golf schedule of the Northland club will open on May 22. Last season the official playing season started on May 24.

There will be no changes in the course this season. Golfers playing over it early this spring report that it is in better shape than ever and that when some work is done on it the Northland course will be one of the best in the state.

Secretary Coryate S. Wilson states that a number of new members have been received during the winter. The 1915 season of the club is expected to be the best in its history.

UMPIRES FOR OPENING GAMES

American Association Head Predicts Good Year for Baseball.

Chicago, April 15.—President Chivington of the American association yesterday announced the umpires for the opening games of the season today as follows:

Murray and Doyle at Kansas City.
Owens and Knapp at Cleveland.
Johnson and Connolly at Columbus.
O'Brien and Irwin at Milwaukee.

President Chivington before leaving for Kansas City, where he will attend the opening of the season, said:

"There has been unmistakable evidences of a revival of public interest in baseball during the last thirty days and the prospects for the coming season are most encouraging. The conditions that prevailed last year attracted attention away from the sport itself, and this affected both the public and the players. The patrons are now thoroughly tired of the commercial side of baseball that was forced upon their attention and they will now return to the full enjoyment of the game.

"The number of unemployed players this year has taught all players a lesson and there will be no such indifference on the ball field as marred last season and was partially responsible for the falling off in attendance. The American association will start this year stronger than ever as an organization. Having driven the Federal league out of Indianapolis, the best city in the the country outside of the circuits of the National and American leagues, is restored to the association. There is still competition in Kansas City, but it amounted to little last year and will probably amount to less this year.

"The weaker teams have all been strengthened, particularly St. Paul and Kansas City. It is difficult to forecast the outcome of the race, but it is certain that there will be a close battle and the luck of the diamond will determine the first and second division teams."

LEAGUE MEETINGS ARE SCHEDULED

Grade, Amateur and Fraternal Baseball Managers Will Gather.

The Bryant and Lowell schools were today added to the baseball teams that will make up the Duluth Grade School league. The addition of these schools makes fourteen teams that will fight it out for the grade school championship of the city and the privilege of journeying to St. Paul and playing the winner of the Apostle city grade school league.

There will be a meeting of the grade school teams at the Fenton-Duby store on Saturday evening of this week. There will be a meeting of the team representatives of the Duluth Amateur league at the same store on Friday evening. This evening, at the Kelley Hardware company, there will be a meeting of the managers of the teams of the Fraternal league.

The final games in the grade school league will be played at Athletic park, arrangements to that end having been made yesterday by Lawrence Duby.

William Skog, representing the Duluth Amateur league, also completed arrangements to have the majority of games of that league played at Athletic park.

St. Paul 8; St. Joe 3.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 15.—The St. Paul association team defeated the St. Joseph Westerns here yesterday by a score of 8 to 3.

BATTERIES: WILSON AND BILL EVANS

President Throws First Ball to Umpire at Washington Game.

Washington, April 15.—President Wilson, several members of his cabinet and a huge crowd yesterday saw Washington defeat New York 7 to 0 in the opening game of the baseball season here.

The president began the game by throwing out the first ball to Umpire Billy Evans. With Secretaries Bryan, Lane, Daniels and Garrison, he remained throughout the game and warmly applauded the best plays.

A baseball bat and ball, inscribed with the name of Francis Sayre, the baby grandson of President Wilson, were presented to the president during the game by Manager Griffith of the Washington team.

The weather was ideal and the feature of the game was the pitching of Walter Johnson, who allowed New York but two hits. Williams' catch off Cree's line drive in the fifth with two on bases, brought applause from the president.

Three of Warhop's four passes, which were followed by hits and sacrifices, resulted in runs. With the bases full in the fifth, Cook misjudged Morgan's fly, which went for three bases, and Washington scored three runs. Washington scored again in the eighth on Ainsmith's hit, errors by High and Maizel and sacrifices by Moeller and Foster. Score: R. H. E.

New York .....000000000—0 2 3

Batteries — Warhop and Sweeney; Johnson and Ainsmith. Umpires—Evans and Mullaney.

Pennock in Great Form.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Herb Pennock was in such wonderful form in the opening championship game between Philadelphia and Boston here yesterday afternoon that the latter team was not only shut out 2 to 0, but it was not until two men were out in the ninth inning, that the visitors made their lone hit off the contest. Then Hooper bounced a single over Pennock's head. Lajoie made a desperate try for the ball, but he could not hold it with one hand, and Pennock lost his chance for a no-hit mark. Shore was effective except in the seventh inning, when Philadelphia scored its runs on a pass, two safe bunts, fielder's choice and scratch double.

Both teams put up a perfect fielding game.

Mayor Blankenburg tossed the first ball. Frank Baker, who announced his retirement several weeks ago, witnessed the game. His place at third was filled by Eddie Murphy, who did excellent work. The weather was cool and the stands were little more than half filled. Score: R. H. E.

Philadelphia ...00000020x—2 7 0

Batteries—Shore and Cady; Pennock and Schang. Umpires—Connolly and Chill.

Tigers Play Ingloriously.

Detroit, Mich., April 15.—Detroit fielded miserably, was unable to hit Mitchell opportunely, and Cleveland yesterday won the opening game of the season 5 to 1. Ty Cobb, ingloriously muffed Chapman's high fly in the first inning, tus making an error on his first fielding chance of the year. Chapman took second on the misplay, and scored on Jackson's single. Vitt's wide throw paved the way for Cleveland's run in the sixth while Covaleskie's muff of a thrown ball and some consecutive hitting gave the visitors three runs in the seventh.

Mitchell was at his best when men were on bases, except in the fourth, when hits by Cobb and Crawford and a long fly by Veach saved the Tigers from a shut out.

Thirteen-Inning Game.

St. Louis, Mo., April 15.—Chicago and St. Louis opened the American league season here yesterday by a thirteen-inning game which the visitors won 7 to 6. In the last inning Fournier's triple brought in Brief and Schalk, who had singled. On the following out, Fournier scored. In the same inning St. Louis also took on new life and scored twice, but fell a run shy of tying the score again. Mayor Kiel pitched the first ball. Governor Major of Missouri and many other notables were present.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Giants 16; Dodgers 3.

New York, April 15.—The New York Nationals opened their championship season here yesterday with an easy victory over Brooklyn, the former champions winning 16 to 3. McGraw's team got off to an early lead by hammering Pfeffer for seven runs in the first and second innings. Schmidz stopped New York for a few innings, but in the sixth, the home team piled up five more runs. Brown who finished was even less effective. Doyle up five times, hit two doubles and three singles, and scored four runs. Score: R. H. E.

Cubs 7; Cardinals 2.

Chicago, April 15.—Speedy base-running and St. Louis' numerous errors gave Chicago so many runs that Vaughn's pitching task was easy yesterday, and the opening game of the season went to the locals 7 to 2.

Not until the eighth inning did Vaughn permit a visitor to reach third base. He struck out eight. Sallee was poorly supported and triples by Fisher and Saler and a double by Archer helped in the rout of the Cardinals. Long's three-base hit was the main factor in the scoring of the St. Louis team. The usual ceremonies preceded the game. Score: R. H. E.

Runaway for Pirates.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 15.—Pittsburgh made a runaway event of the opener here yesterday, winning from Cincinnati 9 to 2 before a crowd that tested the capacity of the Redland field.

Finding Ames' curves to their liking, they started their run-getting in the second; sent Ames to the bench by scoring three runs more in the fourth, and pounded Schneider in the final two innings. In the meantime, the locals were having their troubles connecting with McQuillen. Hinchman, the Pittsburgh rightfielder, was by far the star of the contest. He obtained three hits, one triple, scored two runs, and his hitting was responsible for several other Pittsburgh tallies.

An innovation in opening the day's ceremonies, besides the usual band concert, was the singing of popular songs by a woman vocalist. Score: R. H. E.

Braves Lose Opener.

Boston, Mass., April 15.—The Braves received a setback from Philadelphia yesterday at the start of their quest for a second pennant. With Alexander pitching remarkably well for the opening game of the season, the world's champions were shut out, 3 to 0. Spectacular fielding by Whitted and Bancroft, recent additions to the visitors' ranks, aided materially in their success.

Besides the customary flag raising and mayor's introduction of the ball, the opening ceremonials included presentations to Dugey and Whitted of the Philadelphia team. The gifts were made by the Braves, through Manager Stallings. Dugey and Whitted were members of the Boston team when it won the championship last fall. Score: R. H. E.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Brooklyn 8; Newark 7.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 15.—The Brooklyn Federals staged a ninth-inning finish yesterday and administered the first defeat of the season to Newark. The score was 8 to 7. The final inning opened with the score 7 to 5 in favor of Newark. Hits by Magee, Myers and Westersil, two steals and a pass to Evans sent over three runs and the victory.

Lee Magee, back in the game after a three-days' suspension, made four hits, one of them a triple in the first inning, on which he made a clean steal of home while Moran was winding up. Score: R. H. E.

Clears Skin—Stops All Blood Troubles

Goes Right Down to Where the Germs Start From.

The action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is notable in the skin. It is but natural that blood impurities should seek an outlet. Water, gas, oil and nearly all the active products of nature seek the surface. It seems to be a cosmic law. Even our thoughts will undertake to find expression. And so whatever we take into our system will eventually come out changed in form, converted often into some other substance, but constituting always either waste or that which has served its useful purpose and must be eliminated. And the skin is the principal avenue for escape of certain acids or poisons. If the skin and blood be healthy, these wastes pass off as vapor or perspiration. But impure blood loads the skin with eczema, pimples, acne, rheumatism, rash, fever blisters, blood risings and other eruptions. And S. S. S. has been found the very best, safest and most effective remedy to purify the blood and thus restore the skin to clear and attractive health. Get a bottle today of any druggist, but be emphatic. Do not allow anyone to hand you a substitute. Wrapped around the bottle is an interesting circular that tells you how to obtain skillful advice free on any subject concerning the blood.

HUDSON, WIS., CLUB AFTER GIBBONS-McFARLAND BOUT

Mike Collins Bids $15,000 for the Star Boxers—Bids for Match to Be Opened Today.

St. Paul, Minn., April 15.—Although Emil Thiry expressed confidence that the Gibbons-McFarlane battle will be staged either in Milwaukee or New York, if it is staged at all, Promoter Mike Collins of the Hudson club was just as positive this morning that the big event would not be pulled off in either of the above mentioned cities, but that Hudson will be the scene. Mr. Collins, in discussing the affair, said:

"We expect to land the Gibbons-McFarlane battle. Hudson has had a taste of the big stuff and we have demonstrated to the fight public that we are after the best there is. We have had several stars in action and next week will have a world's champion. If money will talk, and talk will land the Gibbons-McFarland card, I'm going to talk my head off. My offer to the two fighters is $15,000, cold cash, to be divided as they see fit. That ought to make some of these so-called 'big' promoters sit up and rub their eyes, hadn't it?"

Chicago, April 15.—Whether Packey McFarland is sincere in his intentions to meet Mike Gibbons will be known when bids for the match, which was arranged a short time ago, will be opened. To date Packey has not posted a forfeit, but Manager Emil Thiry yesterday said he would put up the money as soon as the match is awarded to the club offering the best inducements.

New York or Milwaukee.

Frank Mulkern, matchmaker for the National Athletic club of Milwaukee, was in Chicago yesterday and renewed his offer of 80 per cent of the receipts for the fighters. According to Mulkern, this money can be split any way the fighters elect.

"The fight is going to take place, and it is going to be decided either in New York or Milwaukee," said Thiry. "I favor Mulkern's club, because he has offered better terms than Tom Andrews, and as long as he is willing to take such a chance I am in favor of throwing the match his way.

To Billy Gibson's Club.

"If the match goes to New York, Billy Gibson of the Fairmont club will get it. According to the last letter I received from Gibson, he wants to stage the bout in one of the ball parks the later part of next month. His terms, however, are not as high as Mulkern's and I think the match will take place in the Cream City."

RULES FOR AEROPLANE COMPETITION DRAWN

Aero Club Will Work to Build Up Naval and Guard Militia.

New York, April 15.—Plans for the national aeroplane competition, as drawn by the contest committee of the Aero Club of America, were approved here today at a meeting of the board of governors of the club. Support of military organizations is asked to get men already connected with the national guard and naval militia to learn aviation.

One condition of the test will be that the aviators participating and winning prizes of $7,500 and upward, will agree to put themselves and their machines at the disposal of the national guard and form a naval militia free of compensation, their expenses to be paid by the organization availing themselves of their services.

Flying days have been limited to ten hours, it was stated, because conditions of the contest are made principally for weather fostering normal flying.

A $25,000 prize is to be divided between the three aviators who make the best time in flights across the continent, starting from or ending at New York. There are numerous other prizes.

UMPIRES WILL SAY "PLAY BALL"

Initial Games of Season in American Association to Be Played.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 15.—While bright skies greeted the opening day of the American association baseball season here today, a cool breeze from the lake gave promise that it would be rather chilly in the stands when the Cleveland and Indianapolis teams lined up for the initial fray this afternoon. Manager Jack Knight of the Spiders expected to use "Lefty" James in the box, while Manager Hendrick of the visiting Indians said he would probably work Schardt, whose home is here.

Columbus, Ohio, April 15.—With a new manager, Rudy Hulswitt, to direct their play and Louisville as their opponent, Columbus American association players were ready for the first championship

Scheneberg or Eayrs will be selected to pitch for Columbus, while Northrop will be on the mound for the visitors. Governor Willis was expected to pitch the first ball. This was Hulswitt day in honor of Manager Hulswitt, who is a former Columbus player. The usual opening day ceremonies were to precede the game.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 15.—With the promise of fair weather, an auspicious opening of the American association baseball season in Milwaukee was looked for this afternoon, the home team being opposed by the Minneapolis club.

"Cy" Young or Hovlik and Hughes, it was expected, would be the battery for Milwaukee and Williams and Sullivan for the visitors. Milyor Bading, it was planned, would pitch the first ball.

Kansas City, Mo., April 15.—The American association baseball season opened here today with St. Paul opposing Kansas City. T. M. Chivington, president of the league, was present. The Kansas City batteries were announced as George and Giebel.

Manager Kelly said he probably will start Williams, a recruit, and Johnson for the visitors.

WITTMER, CHAMPION WRESTLER, IS CALLED

Cincinnati, O., April 15.—Charles Wittmer, for many years the undisputed champion heavyweight wrestler at the Graeco-Roman style, died at his home here yesterday. He had been ill for several months and passed away while the physicians were preparing to operate on him. He was 55 years old.

The Duluth Hardware team has organized for the season. The following is the batting order:

MAGNATE BLUME IN MINNEAPOLIS

Harry Blume, head of the local baseball club and one of the powers of the Northern league, is in Minneapolis today consulting with John Burmeister. While there is no information to that effect, it is nevertheless believed that the trip has something to do with the Pulford controversy.

Mr. Blume is one of the inner circle of the league and very close to John Burmeister. Big John has just returned from Winnipeg.

DOG RACE BEGUN.

Five Teams Start From Nome to Candle and Return.

Nome, Alaska, April 15.—Five racing dog teams, driven by expert drivers, got away at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in the 412-mile all-Alaska sweepstakes dog race over the snow trail from Nome to Candle and return. The five starters were A. A. (Scotty) Allan, Alex Holmson, Paul K. Jogstad, Leonard Seppala and Eskimo John, a native driver.

Telephone reports from points along the race trail indicate a slow race.

Princeton, N. J., April 15.—Princeton easily defeated Ruttgers here yesterday, 10 to 2.

Lexington, Va., April 15.—The Washington and Lee team defeated the University of Michigan team yesterday by a score of 12 to 10.

The Giant Among Tires

Last year we sold 1,479,883 Goodyear pleasure car tires alone—about one for each car in use.

Yet Goodyear has some hundred rivals. How came this tire to dominate like that?

This is the reason: In the years before we sent into service millions of Fortified Tires. And those tires, by their records, sold the tires of last year. You know that's the only reason.

Supremacies

In at least five ways these tires excel all others. Each way is costly and important. Each is exclusive to Goodyear Fortified Tires.

These ways combat rim-cutting, blowouts, loose treads. They combat insecurity, punctures and skidding, as in no other tire that's built.

We spend millions on them, but they save our users more millions. They have made these the super-tires.

3 Price Cuts

In two years we have made three price reductions, totaling 45 per cent. The last was on February 1st. Thus every saving, due to mammoth output or other reasons, is promptly passed on to our users.

Yet the tires grow better as prices come down. We spend $100,000 yearly in seeking new ways to improve them.

You owe yourself a trial of such tires. Any dealer will supply you. (2268)

BLUECOATS INSPECTED

Duluth Protected By Only Six Officers for Hour and a Half.

Smollett "Czar" of Superior Street; Relief Association Meets.

Bluecoats, who keep the peace in Duluth, lined up before their commanding officers, Chief C. H. Troyer and Capt. A. G. Fiskett, yesterday afternoon, for the annual spring inspection of the police force.

During the hour and a half that the officers were at headquarters, the city's peace was protected by but six men, one at New Duluth, one at West Duluth, one in the west end, and three in the downtown sections. Officer "Bob" Smollett was "czar" of Superior street from the Point of Rocks east past the city hall.

Each man, as his name was called, stepped into the center of the assembly room and was given a rigid examination by Capt. Fiskett. Brass buttons were fairly dazzling and guns were well oiled, or the officer in question was in hot water.

Before the examination, the Duluth Police Relief association held its annual meeting. All members of the force belong to this organization.

Capt. Fiskett was re-elected president, Lieut. F. A. Schulte, secretary; Lieut. Gustaf I. Lindstrom, treasurer; Sergt. David Butchart was elected vice president succeeding Sergt. A. V. Youngberg, appointed court officer some time ago.

Lieut. Schulte reported that there was about $23,400 in the treasury. Of this, $22,000 is invested in city water and light bonds. Death benefits of $500 each were paid during the year to the family of Edwin F. Force and Edward Jensen, both of whom died during the year. Officer Force, for years a signal operator, was retired before his death, while Officer Jensen was a municipal court officer.

BANK OFFICIALS MAY BE ATTACKED

Government May Counter With Proceedings Against Riggs National.

Washington, April 14.—Interest in the effect of the Riggs National bank to obtain injunctions against Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller of Currency John Skelton Williams centered yesterday on the question of whether these proceedings might not be overshadowed by a counter attack upon officials of the bank, with proceedings alleging violations of the National banking act.

Dr. Williams declined to discuss this phase of the matter. It became known, however, that careful consideration was being given to all statements and correspondence between officials of the bank and the comptroller's office. District Attorney Lasky, whose aid would be invoked in other than civil proceedings, was in conference at the department of justice with Louis D. Brandeis, counsel for the comptroller, and Mr. McAdoo. Late yesterday Mr. Williams called on Secretary McAdoo and discussed the case. The secretary has been confined to his home since his recent operation.

Before any decision is reached in respect to the government's course, it is said, every bit of evidence in its possession will be examined with the greatest care and resort will be had to a federal grand jury only if treasury officials and counsel are convinced that the law has clearly been violated.

REPORTS ON GREAT FIGHT

Field Marshal French Gives Figures on Neuve Chapelle Battles.

Praises Brilliant Action of Troops; Losses on Both Sides Heavy.

London, April 15.—Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary forces on the continent, reports the British losses in the three days' fighting at Neuve Chapelle as follows:

Killed, 190 officers, 2,337 men.

Wounded, 359 officers, 8,174, other ranks.

Missing, 23 officers, 1,728 men.

Field Marshal French's report continues:

"The enemy left several thousand dead on the field and we have positive information that upwards of 12,000 wounded were removed by train. Thirty officers and 1,657 of other ranks were captured."

The British commander's dispatch concerning the battle of Neuve Chapelle, which began early in March, is lengthy and says, among other things:

"Considerable delay occurred after the capture of Neuve Chapelle and the infantry was greatly disorganized. I am of the opinion that this delay would not have occurred had the clearly expected order of the general officer commanding the First army been more carefully observed."

The dispatch describes the occasions leading up to the attack on the town, saying:

Brilliant Action by Troops.

"On Feb. 6 a brilliant action by the troops of the First corps materially improved our position in the area south of La Bassee canal. During the previous night parties of the Irish guards and the Third battalion of the Cold Stream guards had succeeded in gaining ground from which a converging fire could be directed on the flanks and rear of certain brick stacks occupied by the Germans, which had been for some time a source of considerable annoyance. At 2 p. m. the affair began with a severe bombardment of the brick stacks and the enemy's trenches.

"A brisk attack by the Cold Stream guards and the Irish guards from our trenches west of the brick stacks followed and was followed by the fire from the flanking position.

"The attack succeeded; the brick stacks were occupied without difficulty and a line was established north and south through a point about forty yards east of the brick stacks.

Casualties Heavy.

"The casualties of the Fifth corps throughout the period, and particularly during the month of February have been heavier than those on other parts of the line. I regret this, but do not think, taking all circumstances into consideration, that they were unduly numerous.

"The position then occupied by the Fifth corps had always been a very vulnerable part of our line. The grounds were muddy and hard to maintain. The 27th and 28th divisions of the Fifth corps had had no previous experience in European warfare, and a number of the units composing the corps had been only recently returned from service in tropical climates. In consequence, the hardships of a rigorous winter campaign fell with greater weight upon these divisions than any other in the command.

"Chiefly owing to these casualties, the Fifth corps up to the beginning of March, was constantly engaged in counter attacks to retake trenches and ground that had been lost. In their difficult task, however, the troops displayed the utmost gallantry and devotion. It is most credible to the skill and energy of their leaders that I am able to report how well they have surmounted all their difficulties and that the ground first taken by them still is intact and held with little greater loss than is incurred by the troops in all other parts of the line."

Attack On Trenches.

Describing an attack on German trenches near St. Eloi on Feb. 28 by Princess Patricia's regiment of the Canadian contingent, under command of Lieutenant C. E. Crabbe, the commander-in-chief says:

"Lieutenant Crabbe, who showed the greatest dash, took his party over everything in a trench until they had gone down it about eighty yards, when they were stopped by a barricade of sandbags and timber. This party, as well as others, then pulled down the front face of a German parapet. A number of Germans were killed and wounded, and a few prisoners were taken.

"The services performed by this corps have continued to be very valuable since I had occasion to refer to them in my last dispatch. They have been most ably organized and trained and were commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Farquhar, D. S. O., who, I regret to say, was killed while superintending some trench work on March 20. His loss will be deeply felt."

DULUTH SETS GOOD EXAMPLE

Sioux Falls Traffic Commissioner in Fight for Better Rates.

Opening Gun in Southwestern Rate Case; Duluth Big Factor.

That Duluth's insistent and unrelenting fight for equalization in railroad freight rates, and its victories before the interstate commerce commission, have awakened other points in the Northwest to the injustice that has been done by the railroads in the favor of the Twin Cities, fostering the Northwestern wholesale trade for those cities, has been attested by the fact that the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club has been called on for aid and advice by traffic commissions of other cities; but the fight of Sioux Falls, S. D., waged by its traffic commissioner, R. D. Springer, stands out as an exceptionally emphatic case.

Mr. Springer, who, Duluth traffic men believe, has shown himself untiring and shrewd in his demands for relief for the wholesalers of his city, some time ago started a case before the interstate commerce commission against the Great Northern and the Omaha roads to obtain equalization in coal and class rates between Duluth and his city; and this case has become recognized as the opening gun in the great Southwestern rate case, in which Duluth is a leading factor. The decision of the commission in the Sioux Falls case will have a strong bearing on the outcome of the whole case concerning rates to the Southwest, G. Roy Hall, Duluth traffic commissioner, believes, and Duluth has become an intervenor in the case and is doing everything possible to aid Mr. Springer in his demands.

Hearing Set for May 15.

Recently a hearing before an examiner of the interstate commerce commission was held at Sioux Falls, and the commission has now set May 15 as the day for the oral arguments in the case, to be held at Washington.

Presents Strong Case.

In his brief, Mr. Springer presents what is considered here a strong case, and directly attacks the railroads for their fostering of trade for the Twin Cities. He does not mince words, and presents, in support of his claim that Sioux Falls, as a wholesale center, is being discriminated against in favor of the Twin Cities the following on iron and steel rates from Pittsburgh—only one of many things:

"We find that the rail-lake-and-rail carload rate to the Twin Cities (from Pittsburgh) is 23.75 cents and to Sioux Falls, all-rail, 44.6 cents. In distributing these commodities in less-carload lots to consuming points both Sioux Falls and the Twin Cities use distributing fourth-class rates. To Salem, S. D., the less-carload iron rate is 31 cents from the Twin Cities and 13 cents from Sioux Falls; the combination on the Twin Cities is therefore 54.75 cents and on Sioux Falls 57.6 cents. The distance from Sioux Falls to Salem is forty miles, while from the Twin Cities to Salem it is 277 miles. The Sioux Falls jobber, therefore, uses just one-seventh the number of miles for the more expensive less-carload service than the Twin City jobber uses. In addition to this, the distance to Salem direct through Sioux Falls is forty-six miles less than through the Twin Cities. Regardless of this advantage of forty-six miles in actual distance and the use of one-seventh of the expensive less-carload service, the Sioux Falls jobber has to meet a disadvantage in rate of approximately 3 cents in competition with the Twin City jobber. The exhibit shows various other statistics where the discrimination is even more radical in favor of the Twin Cities."

Affects Entire Northwest.

In his concluding argument in the brief, Mr. Springer says:

"This complainant insists that there is a very serious problem confronting, not only Sioux Falls as a jobbing and market center, but the entire Northwest territory. It is a well understood fact that the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis have grown great and powerful commercially, very largely through subsidies from their railroads in the form of cheaper transportation than extended to competing cities. The subsidizing of these cities has had a very serious effect on Sioux Falls and other cities in their efforts to develop.

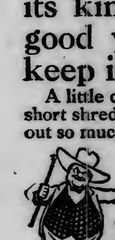
"It is very significant indeed that, west of these twin cities in a vast territory 1,200 miles long and 600 miles wide—from the Canadian border on the north to the South Dakota-Nebraska state line on the south, and extending west to Butte, Mont.—there has not been built a city, with the single exception of Sioux Falls, of over 15,000 population. This 'Northwest Empire' embraces the greatest agricultural section in the United States and has been very properly named the 'Bread-basket of the world.' Regardless of its wonderful resources and its agricultural development, it has not been able to build a single city within its limits large enough to furnish a market for even a small community.

Unreasonable Domination.

"The unreasonable domination of this territory by these twin cities is the issue in this case. Sioux Falls is asking that this unreasonable restraint and handicap be removed and that its jobbers be allowed, by relatively fair freight rates, to develop their business and economically serve their natural trade territory.

"A reasonable and fair adjustment of local and proportional class rates from Duluth to Sioux Falls will give us justice. We ask for nothing more."

Duluth traffic men consider that Mr. Springer has made a very complete case of it and look for Sioux Falls to get the relief asked. Duluth is an intervenor in the case and has filed a brief with the commission as such, stating in the introduction that the "Intervenor is interested in the local rates from Duluth to Sioux Falls, and, therefore, this brief is directed solely to that phase of the case." The Duluth brief also gives a complete history of the establishing of present class rates between Duluth and Sioux Falls and deals with the policy of the Chicago lines and its effect on rate adjustment. In conclusion Traffic Commissioner Hall says:



Conditions Have Changed.

"Both Duluth and Sioux Falls have grown in population and commercial importance since the present adjustment of rates was fixed. The commercial interests of both cities have outgrown their respective city limits and are now seeking a share of the trade of the surrounding territory. Under the present adjustment of rates it is impossible for Duluth merchants to compete at a profit in Souix Falls with the merchants of Chicago and Twin Cities. The witnesses for the defendants admitted that the business from Duluth was very light indeed and that, with a readjustment of the relation of rates from Duluth and other markets to Sioux Falls, the traffic would increase to the benefit of the defendants' revenues. It is clearly beyond the power of these defendants to adjust their rates as to exclude Duluth from the territory in question or to nullify the advantages of Duluth's location on the Great Lakes. If 60 cents, first class, is a fair and reasonable rate for 345 miles generally in this territory, the Duluth and Sioux Falls people are justly entitled to the benefits of such a scale of rates for similar services."

ALL bets are off when it comes to the Real Tobacco Chew. Might as well fork over at once. It's the only thing of its kind and a kind that's so good you just naturally can't keep it to yourself.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary caudied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

MILLER SELECTED TO VISIT HAWAII

Congressman Clarence B. Miller will be a member of the party of forty senators and representatives who have been invited by the Hawaiian government to visit the islands this coming summer.

Congressman Miller, who has been in Duluth since congress adjourned on March 4, will leave early next week for Chicago, where he will join Mrs. Miller. The latter is now visiting there with relatives and next Thursday they will leave with the congressional party for San Francisco.

At San Francisco the party will be the guests of the exposition management, and after a stay of several days, they will sail for the Hawaiian islands. A complete tour of the island will be made under the direction of the government officials. The expenses of the entire trip are to be paid by the Hawaiian government.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elmwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Miss "Constance" asks: "I am very thin and bloodless and want to increase my weight about 30 pounds. Please tell me what method to pursue."

Answer: A regular and persistent use of three-grain hypo-nuclano tablets will usually produce an increase of weight by aiding nutrition and building up the flesh tissues. Scores of patients have reported increases of from 10 to 40 pounds from the use of these tablets. Full directions come with each sealed package.

Mrs. X. asks: "My scalp itches terribly, is feverish and a great amount of oily dandruff is present. What is good for this?"

Answer: First shampoo the hair and then apply plain yellow minyol about once a week as per directions. This relieves the itching, overcomes the dandruff and makes the hair beautifully glossy and vigorous. Obtain in 4 oz. jars of druggists.

Mabel R. writes: "Both my husband and I suffer all the time from stomach trouble. Nothing we eat seems to digest properly. Neither of us can ever get any enjoyment from our meals and we are drowsy and then again at bedtime we are sleepless. Please prescribe for us."

Answer: Dyspepsia, indigestion, sluggish liver and costive bowels with symptoms like yours are best conquered by a good aid and tonic for the functional organs. I advise the new treatment known as "double-four stomach and bowel medicine," as the best for such conditions. Almost immediate relief and permanent benefits follow its use. Sold by druggists in sealed packets with directions complete.

Mrs. "Annie R." writes: "My husband is surely afflicted with some kidney disease. He has become weak and suffers with headache and pains in his back and groins. Pains are like rheumatism. His ankles swell and his feet seem to be tired all the time. Some days he has chills and no appetite. Please prescribe."

Answer: The symptoms indicate derangement of kidneys and should not be neglected. I would advise balmwort tablets, a compound well suited to such cases. Obtain in sealed tubes with directions for home use.

"Old Soldier" writes: "I would like to know what to do for rheumatism, as I am so crippled that I cannot walk. Please answer at once."

Answer: Here is the best remedy for rheumatism that is known, and if taken according to directions you will soon be out again and be strong and well. Get 2 drams of iodide of potassium; 4 drams sodium salicylate, ½ oz. wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

C. O. C. asks: "I am constipated, tongue coated, have headache, dizzy spells and indigestion sometimes. Please advise?"

Answer: I advise that you begin using three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur.) These tablets are laxative, act on the liver, kidneys and bowels and tend to keep the blood pure, by arousing the elliminative functions. Relief should follow quickly.

"Secretary" writes: "I have pains in my spine and frightful headache in back of head, fainting spells, twitching and trembling, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and strength, and in fact am a 'has been,' when it comes to performing accustomed work and duties. Please advise."

Answer: In all such cases the assimilative functions have not kept pace with waste functions and a powerful, harmless tonic treatment is needed. I find three-grain cadomene tablets unexcelled and astonishingly beneficial in such cases and advise them for you.

Mrs. C. W. B. asks: "I suffer greatly owing to too much fat. Can you advise me of a good reduction remedy?"

Answer: Any well stocked pharmacy can supply you with 5-grain arbolone tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions for use. These tablets have proven wonderfully effective in reducing abnormal fat.

"Fern" writes: "I have suffered with a bad cough for some time and I am also weak and tired most of the time, which I think is due to the severe coughing. Can you give me a remedy?"

Answer: Yes, your weakness is due to the coughing, but you should be well relieved by using the following: Get a 2½-oz. package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle, then take a teaspoonful every hour or two until the cough is cured. This makes a full pint of the very best and safest cough syrup. If your druggist does not have mentho-laxene, have him order it for you of the wholesale firm.

Mrs. D. E. E. ask: "Will you please give me a prescription for Pelvic catarrh and catarrh of the head?"

Answer: The very best local treatment for the relief and correction of catarrh is antiseptic Vilane Powder. Obtain either a two or eight ounce package and with it you will find complete directions for treating catarrh of the head and pelvic catarrh (leucorrhea). It is an antiseptic of the very highest quality.—Advertisement.

WAGE ASSIGNMENT WILL BE CHECKED

Virginia Council to Try and Prevent Practice Among City Employes.

Virginia, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notice was served on the council at its last session that the city is defendant in a damage suit instituted by Mrs. Emma A. Redinpaa, in which she is seeking to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 for alleged injury which, she says, resulted from a fall on an icy sidewalk on Pine street just in front of the Finnish Lutheran church.

The matter of putting a stop to laborers employed by the city assigning their wages, sometimes two months in advance, to saloon keepers, was referred to the city attorney to recommend the best method of procedure to be employed.

In presenting this matter to the consideration of the council, Clerk Bickford stated that in many cases laborers, often drunkards, assign their wages two months in advance to saloon keepers, who they owe a few dollars, and receive the balance of the amount back in change. In this way they beat the grocers, butchers and other dealers by not paying their honest debts.

The recommendation of the fire chief that the water main be extended out to the Williams and Ausburn additions, and a petition carrying twenty-five signers, were referred to the light and water committee and to the city engineer, to be reported on at the next meeting.

A refund of $622 was granted to Mrs. Thomas Lautry and a warrant ordered drawn in her favor, on the liquor license fee paid by her husband, who died January 29. The statutes provide that in case of death of the one in whose name the license is drawn, it shall expire and a proportionate amount of the fee paid shall be refunded to the estate, upon application.

The contract for culverts was allowed to the Virginia Building & Supply company for the sum of $366.60.

Given Lumber Contract.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company received the contract to furnish the city with the necessary lumber to be used in the various departments during the coming season. The contract calls for delivery when needed. This company was the only bidder.

Proposals were received from five public accountants offering to audit the city's books for the past fiscal year, and all were referred to the finance committee, which will report at the next meeting of the council.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up and present a traffic ordinance to be acted on at the next meeting of the council. The matter was suggested to one of the councilmen by several of the automobile owners. It is believed that an ordinance enforced would effectually do away with a number of accidents.

The report of the mayor, giving a detailed report of the expenditures from the poor and contingent funds, was accepted and ordered filed. Resolutions were passed embursing the poor and contingent funds with $500 each.

CHISHOLM BAND IS GIVEN $250 MONTHLY

Village Council Votes to Allow Melody Makers That Sum.

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. J. Harrington appeared before the village council yesterday afternoon on behalf of the Commercial band and asked that the council extend the same support this year as the council last year did. Antone Mahne favored giving the support needed. O. J. Backman and E. R. Kleffman both advocated the support sought. It was finally decided to give the band $250 per month for six months from May until October, the band to give two open air concerts a week during the summer.

Over $3,000 Lost.

Jack Rice, president of the old Fire Relief association, asked for information as to where the balance of the money due the association, amounting to $3,463.25, was to be found. No one seemed to be able to answer the question and it was referred to Expert Accountant S. S. Williamson, who will delve into past records on a still hunt for the missing money.

Six additional applications were read, the jobs wanted covering every department. The applications were laid on the table. Peter Chichetto and Dominic Grosso were recommended by the Italian club for boss jobs on the streets.

Trustee Mahne drew the council's attention to the fact that there was but one Croathian employed on the police force and mentioned the council's previous resolve to distribute village patronage fairly.

Trustee Mahne wanted to know why the work of putting in a water line to the Shenango mine by way of the Myers location was being done by contract instead of day labor. Mr. Fugere asked him if he had not agreed to that system. Mr. Mahne replied that he had not; that he was not present at the last council meeting at which the work by contract was agreed upon; that he had no proper notice of that meeting and that he would not have agreed to contract labor had he been present. He wanted the council to take action toward changing the system as he considered that the men who did the work were entitled to fair wages and not the contractors' to big profits.

J. J. Hayes was given permission to build a dock on the eastern shore of Longyear lake, north of the village bridge, as it is his intention to run a pleasure boat line on the lake this summer.

The reports of Fire Chief Nitch and Humane Officer Rell were read, and approved.

Renewals of liquor licenses were granted to John Lamuth, Joe Conley and Charles Zgonis.

The bonds of Recorder Culver, Deputy Recorder Drew and Assessor George Rice were approved.

Sent to School Board.

A delegation from the Junior Athletic club requested $100 as a donation towards the baseball team. They were told to go to the school board by President Fugere, as that body had more money than the council.

Applications were received from several who would like to be either poundmasters or firemen.

A request was made to have single horse wagons licensed at $5, and team wagons at $7 per annum. The village attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance covering the request.

Expert Accountant Williamson reported having found village property in danger of being sold for delinquent taxes. The matter was referred to the village attorney.

Dr. A. B. Kirk, president of the library board, requested that the council make provision for the board to handle its own funds, explaining that under the present system accounts were sometimes held over as long as six weeks before being paid. A resolution to that end was drawn and passed. It calls for two annual payments, one each six months. Recorder Culver proposed that any person receiving salary from the library board should first sign an affidavit that he or she was a citizen. This was not supported.

CHISHOLM EXPECTS E. V. DEBS TO COME

Noted Socialist Invited to Speak on Midsummer Day.

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local Socialists will hold a monster reunion and midsummer picnic at Longyear Lake park June 19 and 20. Thousands of members of that political party are expected to take part. Eugene V. Debs, leader of the Socialist movement, will deliver an oration. Last year the midsummer picnic was held at Eveleth. The affair will last two days and will be an occasion for much merriment as well as a reunion and business gathering.

BUHL YOUNGSTERS TO HAVE GARDENS

Will Raise Produce on Portion of the School Grounds.

Buhl, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—School children will plant gardens on a section of the school grounds, according to an announcement made by Superintendent of Schools M. A. Morse. The ground will be plowed as soon as practical and the children will begin tilling the soil in preparation to planting.

Each boy will be given a small plot of ground; he will do his own work and will gather his own produce. Prizes will be awarded the best young farmers. It is planned to have a Buhl school agricultural exhibit at the county fair next fall. John Lawton will supervise the gardening work.

The produce can be sold by the owners, Superintendent Morse said. As Buhl housewives have always demanded much garden truck during the summer, this enterprise, will mean money in the pockets of youngsters here.

GHEEN ENTERTAINMENT.

Held in School and $39 Raised to Buy Phonograph.

Gheen, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entertainment, basket social and dance held at school No. 18, April 10 proved a decided success though the weather was very bad.

There were several out-of-town guests, as follows: J. L. Galob of Duluth, Miss Nora Grenier and Elizabeth Galob of Hibbing, Mr. and Mrs. Otmar Tancig, Mrs. Schweiger and daughter, Anna, of Chisholm. There were also many from Pelican lake and around Gheen.

The sum realized was $39 which will be used to buy a phonograph for the school.

WORKING 300 MEN.

Miller Mine at Aurora Has Day and Night Shifts.

Aurora, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three hundred men are now employed at the Miller mine and all indications point to a good business year here. The property is being worked day and night and it is understood here that this amount of men will be kept on until navigation closes. None of the other mines here has opened yet, but it is likely that the open pits will soon commence shipping.

CHISHOLM CLASS PLAY NOW BEING REHEARSED

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cast of characters for the senior class play, "Our Boys," has been chosen and the play is being rehearsed.

The cast follows: Violet Melrose (an heiress), Helen Rahja; Mary Melrose (her poor cousin), Fannie Leppi; Clarissa Champneys (Sir Geoffry's sister), Hilda Kangas; Belinda (a lodging house slave), Anna Schweiger; Perkyn Middlewick (a retired butterman), John Lipovetz; Charles Middlewick (son of Mr. Middlewick), Henry Tomfohr; Sir Geoffry Champneys (a country magnate), Lincoln Knebone; Talbot Champneys (his son), Andrew Talus; Kempter (Sir Geoffry's man servant), William Talus; Poddles (Middlewick's servant), Joseph Gzelka.

CHISHOLM NOTES.

Chisholm, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Installation of officers will take place at the next regular meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose, Tuesday, April 20.

The Knights of Pythias lodge will enjoy a social evening next Monday as well as an initiation of candidates.

Decorating Buhl Church.

Buhl, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Decorations are being made on the interior of the M. E. church. Services were postponed last Sunday. No services will be held next Sunday although it is probable that the Sunday school will meet in the village hall. It is expected that work will be completed next week.

WHY ACTRESSES ALWAYS HAVE YOUNG LOOKING HAIR

Theatrical people retain youthful hair as they do faces and figures, because of proper care. Personal appearance is a large part of their capital and they give very practical attention to everything that helps them in any way to make a better impression upon the public. They have found that in washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

CIGARS FOR JURY ARE BLAMED FOR VERDICT

Attorney Who Lost Case Alleges Twelve Men Were Influenced.

Virginia, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Smoking some cigars sent into the dining room while the jury that heard the case of Courtney vs. Erickson tried here last Tuesday in which the plaintiff won, constituted misconduct on the part of the twelve men, according to Attorney Harold K. Chance of Gheen, who made a motion before Judge Fesler in district court today to have the verdict found for the plaintiff set aside.

The Gheen lawyer, who represented Erickson, claimed that when the jury went to the Ormonde hotel for dinner while deliberating on the case the twelve men stood six to six, that during the meal, Dan Flournoy, the foreman, gave a waitress $1 and sent her for cigars for the jury that they all "lit up" and then started back to the courthouse, that on the way one juror dropped out of line and entering a saloon presumably took a drink; that on arriving at the jury room a verdict was soon returned for the plaintiff, that all of these actions constituted misconduct.

Judge Fesler said he hardly considered the taking and smoking of the cigars misconduct, but if evidence could be produced as to the juror dropping out of line and getting a drink the court would punish the derelict. The motion was denied.

Courtney was surety on Erickson's bond to build a school at Cook. Erickson defaulted and Courtney had to finish the building and he sued to recover $1,200, the jury giving him a verdict.

EVELETH DICE GAME IS AIRED IN COURT

Four "Deuces" at One "Flop" Resulted in Two Being Stabbed.

Virginia, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Shaking four "deuces" in one "flop" during a dice game for drinks for the "house" in an Eveleth saloon resulted in a row and a stabbing that was aired in district court here today when Anton Modic was tried on an assault charge.

It is alleged he cut John Horvic and John Denic during a street fight that resulted from the dice shaking. One of the men shook the four "deuces" at one, clatter and Modic refused to try to beat it. They called him a quitter, got into a wrangle on the street and the cutting resulted. Modic claims he acted in self defense. The case will go to the jury this afternoon.

IS LONG-WINDED AFFAIR.

Damage Suit at Grand Rapids Still Dragging Along in Court.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A motion was heard in district court yesterday to dismiss the action of the Gilbert Land company vs. the Minneapolis & Rainy River Railway company, in which the land company asks for damages amounting to between $40,000 and $50,000.

The motion was based on the usual grounds, and in addition the attorneys for the defendant railway company alleged that the plaintiff had failed to show title to the lands upon which the alleged damages are claimed. The court denied the motion, and the case will probably drag along another three or four weeks. The plaintiff rested Tuesday evening, the case going twenty-two days before the evidence of the plaintiff was all in. While most of the time was consumed in putting in testimony, there was considerable of the time employed in hearing motions. It is believed that the defense will require almost as long.

PLAN MINSTREL SHOW.

Grand Rapids Athletic Association Members Are Rehearsing.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice By a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy. Boyce Drug store, 331 West Superior street, can supply you.

BRICK PLANT BUSY.

Pengilly Concern Making Carload Every Day.

Calumet, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manager R. L. Hall of Range Sand, Lime & Brick company of Pengilly states that the brick yards are turning out a carload of brick every day. A great deal has been shipped to the Twin Cities and to places on the range. It is expected that Pengilly will be a little town in a very short time. There are about 100 men employed at the present on the works.

TAXES ARE WELL PAID.

Delinquent Personal List Smaller in Itasca County.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Treasurer J. E. McMahon on Tuesday turned over to Clerk of Court Rasmussen a list of the delinquent personal property taxes which were unpaid at the expiration of the time limit for paying such taxes, March 1, and upon which judgment automatically accrues when not paid in time. Mr. Rasmussen will enter the judgments and will then turn the list over to Sheriff Gunderson to force collection. The list this year contains about 400 names, which, Mr. McMahon says, is less than usual, the personal taxes having been paid fairly well this year.

FARMERS HELD MANY INSTITUTES

Two Hundred and Eleven Gatherings in North Dakota Last Winter.

Fargo, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Director Randlett of the North Dakota Farmers' institute corps of workers reports that during the past winter 211 different farmers' meetings were held in North Dakota.

There were three corps of workers, one under J. E. Eastgate of Larimore, and associated with him were L. Byron Robb, alfalfa expert of Haynes, Adams county, and Miss Julia O. Newton of the extension department of the agricultural college.

In the second corps were Frank Stanford of Valley City, the stockman; George McKerrow, for many years director of farmers' institute work in Wisconsin, G. W. Randlett, L. A. Larson and Mrs. G. W. Randlett. In No. 3 were W. C. Palmer, W. R. Porter, R. C. Doneghue, President J. H. Worst and a part of the time Director Randlett.

In addition to these regular workers there were frequently special speakers to meet especial conditions in certain localities where requests were made for information along other than regular lines. There was no stated program at any of the sessions and in most instances the people requested talks on lines in which they were most interested.

hotel. At 5 o'clock the Arab patrol and Temple band will parade from Masonic temple to the hotel, where the imperial official will be taken in tow and escorted back to the temple.

Immediately upon the arrival of Mr. Smith at the Masonic temple, the spring ceremonial will begin. Prof. A. F. M. Custance and the Shrine girls will open the program with their special musical show, after which the novitiates "will walk the sands."

Mr. Smith will leave late Tuesday evening or early the following morning.

RAIN STARTS BUT FAILS TO QUALIFY

Weather Bureau Closed—Forecast Is for Cooler Weather.

Officially there is no weather today, but actually there is intermittent rain. It looked this morning as if the wishes of most of the people of Duluth—which were for a heavy downpour to clean things up—were to be realized, but the best that has happened have been light showers.

This being the fiftieth anniversary of President Lincoln's death, the weather bureau is not open and not making predictions, but the general forecast gives Eastern Minnesota, which includes Duluth, a promise of partly cloudy and cooler weather tonight and Friday.

A year ago today was warm and fine. The sun rose this morning at 5:30 and will set this evening at 6:56, giving thirteen hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

General Forecast.

Chicago, April 15.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; cooler tonight and in east and south portions Friday.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; cooler Friday and in north and west portions tonight.

Iowa—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; cooler Friday and in west portion tonight.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; cooler tonight.

South Dakota—Probably showers tonight and Friday; cooler tonight and in southeast portion Friday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; not much change.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday.

Upper Michigan—Probably showers tonight and Friday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

GRAND CONCLAVE OF KNIGHTS TEMPLARS

Expected 3,000 Knights Will Parade in Minneapolis.

On May 18 and 19 there will be held in Minneapolis the fiftieth annual grand conclave of the grand commandery of Knight Templars of Minnesota. This being the semi-centennial of the institution of this body, the sir knights composing it have determined to celebrate the event in a manner befitting the occasion.

With that idea in view the grand commandery at its last session appointed a committee of three, consisting of Very Eminent Sir Jehiel W. Chamberlin, Right Eminent Sir Will Hayes, Lord and Right Eminent Sir Harry E. Whitney, this committee to co-operate with a committee of fifteen sir knights of Minneapolis—five from each of the three commanderies—of which Eminent Sir Frank J. Meyst is general chairman; Eminent Sir V. D. Jones, secretary, and J. Frank Walker, corresponding secretary.

As the celebration is to be held in Minneapolis the sir knights of the Minneapolis commanderies, consisting of Zion commandery No. 2, Darius commandery No. 7, and mounted commandery No. 25, will act as local hosts. A very entertaining program is being prepared and all who attend this celebration are assured that they will be more than repaid for the effort.

The exercises for the first day of the grand conclave will be the reception of the visiting state commanderies and the guests from other jurisdictions; the escort of the grand commandery officers and their guests from the hotel to the place of meeting in the Masonic temple, when the grand commandery will be opened in full form. It is expected that every grand commandery in the United States will be represented and also the grand priory of Canada.

On the evening of the 18th there will be a grand parade, and it is predicted that no less than 3,000 sir knights will be in line. Elaborate preparations are being made for this affair, and it is believed that it will be the most spectacular of its kind that has ever been seen in the Northwest.

The parade will end at the banquet hall where a banquet will be spread. To those wishing to gain admission to the banquet it may be said that the sir knights must be in full templar equipment, this being the rule established by the committee having the arrangements in charge. No others will be admitted.

The second day will be devoted to the business of the grand commandery and the entertainment of visitors. There will be exhibition drills, and prizes will be awarded to commanderies coming up to the specifications of the prize committee. The program is not complete.

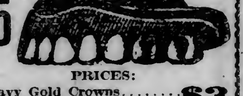
Old Anokaite Buried.

Anoka, Minn., April 15.—Robert F. Whidden, a resident of Anoka since 1872, was buried from the Masonic hall this afternoon. He was born on Jan. 7, 1841, in Nova Scotia. He had been a lumberman and surveyor and was well known throughout all this district. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Gillis of Anoka, and a son, Walter Whidden of Everett, Wash.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

25-Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Makes Hair Thick, Glossy and Wavy.

Removes All Dandruff, Stops Itching Scalp and Falling Hair.



To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets.

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after-effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

ENDS BUCOLIC SIMPLICITY

Goddess Terpsichore Introduces Herself to Cafe Life of Duluth.

Duluthians Try Fox Trot as Dessert and Like It.

Duluth has a Temple de Dance, a terpsichorean-gastronomic offering on the altar of the goddess of pleasure.

For some two or three years now, Duluthians have read of the pleasure of "dropping in at Churchill's" or "stopping a minute at Shanley's," but the evening life of the Zenith City has been marked by a bucolic simplicity.

Joan Sawyer and the Castles and Maurice were known only through the medium of a platitudinous semi-monthly magazine, which rather fearfully dipped one foot into the popular dance pool, found the water "fine" and jumped in. Then the parlor grafanola and the community dancing club have contributed, but the public restaurant with dance floor attachment has been a great unexplored territory to the stay-at-home Duluthian.

True, one New Year's eve, it is reported, there was a cabaret dance in a Superior street cafe, but it was spuradic, impromptu, and some of the dancers have but hazy recollections of it.

But last night the Goddess Terpsichore floated shimmeringly into the Holland cafe, kicked a chandelier and exclaimed: "Gosh ding it, Duluth, we're going to citify you."

In Mere Metaphor.

The above, of course, is a metaphor—a mere figure of speech.

The facts are that Ethel Linten, "late of Rector's and Shanley's," slim and graceful, and Max Alexander, also late of Rector's and Shanley's, and tall, cool, slim and graceful, fox-trotted and one-stepped at the Holland and courteously invited the rather bashful guests to do likewise.

Now, it requires real nerve to get up in a crowded cafe and attempt the intricacies of the fox trot, one step, or maxixe. This is especially true after observing the professional dancers glide smoothly and untrippingly through the dances that grandfather or grandmamma never dreamed of. Only one of these "tall, cool devils" as Stephen Leacock says, can do it.

At the Holland last evening three or four local couples arose from the side line seats and attempted the difficult dances. Manager Tuttle was immensely pleased with the initiation of Duluthians into the public tango dancing. The next time he hopes there will be more local talent.

"No, there was no tripping upon the part of the local dancers last evening," said Mr. Tuttle. "Tell the Duluth people that they should not be discouraged because the professionals glide through the mazes of the dance as if it were second nature; you know they have been doing that a long time.

"In Milwaukee every one is doing it. Dancing comes easy—after one or two starts. No one is going to laugh at you—they are going to admire you.

"When the tango dance craze first hit Milwaukee local persons hesitated to get up and dance while everyone was looking at them. Now the case is different. It will be different here. The people of Milwaukee would not think of going to a cafe without dancing. Wait a while and see what the people do here."

Those at the Holland cafe last evening declared that the three or four Duluth couples that essayed the maxixe or fox trot or one step, did remarkably well. No one fell down, and there were few false starts.

HOLD THEIR LAST MEETING

Old Council Orders First Street Paving at Cost of $30,000.

"Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince."

For the last time this afternoon City Clerk Palmer called the above roll, and for the last time the commissioners adjourned a council meeting attended by the present body.

Next Monday noon the new commission will take office, and for the next two years the roll call will be as follows:

"Farrell, Merritt, Silberstein, Voss, Mayor Prince."

Paving Ordered.

At the special meeting of the commission this afternoon the members passed a resolution ordering the paving of First street from Twenty-eighth avenue east to Congdon park, the city's cost to come from the permanent improvement fund. The engineer's estimate places the total cost of the pavement at $30,000 for asphalt.

Mayor Prince introduced a resolution ordering the city attorney to commence a friendly suit against the Northern Pacific railroad for the purpose of establishing the rights of the city and the company regarding the Smithville subway, work on which will start May 1.

A sanitary sewer was ordered in Glendale street, from Fiftieth to Fifty-fourth avenues east.

Commissioner Voss introduced an ordinance appropriating $570 from the general fund to pay for the renewal on the premium of City Treasurer McLean's bond.

The contract for furnishing the city with 20,000 gallons of road oil during this summer was awarded to the Standard Oil company on its bid of 3½ cents per gallon. August Bodin was awarded the contract for paving Fifth alley, from Fourteenth to Fifteenth avenues east, on his bid of $1,336.80.

Contracts for Street Work.

Contracts for sprinkling and cleaning the city streets were awarded to the following low bidders: District No. 2, Tony Ferraro; No. 8, Louis Nordi; No. 4, Sam Scandin; No. 5, M. Goldfine; No. 6, Louis Nordi; No. 7, Sam Scandin; No. 8, Tony Ferraro; No. 9, Frank Micheliggi; No. 10, Sam Scandin; No. 12, Wennerlund & Gustafson; No. 13, Louis Nordi, and No. 14, Sam Scandin.

Commissioner Murchison introduced an ordinance designating the name of the roadway from the Boulevard to Clay street, near Seventy-third avenue west, as Breidablik avenue.

MAKE FIRST TROUT CATCH OF SEASON

Ned McNulty, son of Dr. N. B. McNulty, and Robley Wharton, son of Attorney James A. Wharton, have the honor of making the first reported trout catch of the legal season. The two boys were out on Lester river early today and before 9 o'clock had caught two trout.

One of the Wharton boys has caught the first fish around Duluth each year for the last several seasons. The Whartons are great fishermen, while young Ned McNulty seems to take after his father, who is one of the real Waltons of this section.

NEW COUNCIL MEETS.

First Gathering Is Social; Mayor Prince the Host.

Duluth's new commission held its first meeting last night—but it was a social gathering and it was at the St. Louis hotel.

The commissioners were the guests of Mayor Prince, who said this morning that the city's affairs were not even discussed, nor any appointments decided upon. It was purely a get-together meeting, he said, for the purpose of acquainting the commissioners with one another.

After the dinner the commissioners went to the Commercial club, where they were invited to attend the annual meeting. Those present at the dinner were Mayor Prince, Commissioners Voss and Merritt and Commissioners-elect Silberstein and Farrell.

Making Good Work Possible.

As long as one is on his feet, he can work after a fashion, no matter how badly he feels. But you cannot do good work—have ambition and energy, feel that life is worth living—with sluggish bowels or torpid liver. Foley Cathartic Tablets do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling. They never gripe or cause nausea. They're wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons. Sold everywhere.

INJURED CONDUCTOR WAS NOT CAREFUL

Jitneys were the chief topic of discussion in municipal court this morning, when Mrs. Frances Fay, Duluth's only woman bus driver, was tried on a charge of reckless driving.

An April 8 Mrs. Fay attempted to run by a street car at Seventh avenue west and Superior street and struck John V. Palm, a street railway conductor, injuring him seriously. Mrs. Fay was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

The conductor failed to take proper precautions before stepping into the street to board the car, according to the evidence, and this was a factor in minimizing the sentence imposed. Passengers should "look both ways" before boarding a car, said the court.

This is the first jitney case in which anyone was injured to be brought into court. Conductor Palm, who lives at 4009 West Fifth stret, was in the hospital several days and now is on crutches.

Hairs Quickly Vanish After This Treatment

(Helps to Beauty)

Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hairy growths from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delatone paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed every trace of hair has vanished. Be sure to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

NO UPHEAVAL AT CITY HALL

Commissioners Say Politics Will Not Figure in Appointments.

Politics will not enter into appointments to be made by the new commission, according to statements made by a majority of the members this morning.

That all efficient employes now in the service of the city, aside from those already slated to go, as the result of campaign pledges, will be retained and that any new appointments made will be for the sole purpose of establishing an efficient business administration, is the statement of the commissioners. This quiets the rumors to the effect that there is to be a general upheaval in the city hall after next Monday.

Rumors that the reappointment of City Clerk Palmer was uncertain, are denied at the city hall. As a result of the report, friends of the city clerk have been aroused and many prominent business men appealed to the new commissioners this morning, declaring that Mr. Palmer is one of the most valuable men in the city's employ, and that the office should not be made a political issue.

Commissioners-elect Silberstein and Farrell said this morning that they do not propose to make any political appointments and that if new officers are selected, it will be for a better and more efficient administration. Mr. Silberstein said that Police Chief Troyer and Fire Chief Randall will both continue, for the present at least, but that the office of health director is still uncertain. Mr. Farrell confirmed the report that he is looking for an expert on pavements to come here and take charge of the maintenance division. Supt. Lawson, he said, will continue in office and may be placed in the city engineer's department.

Next Monday, Mr. Farrell said, he plans to take charge of his department, taking with him Ned Culver, his secretary, and Lyonel Ayres, the new city engineer. John Wilson, the present engineer, will remain for a week or two to acquaint Mr. Ayres with the office, while Mr. Lawson will continue indefinitely. Edward Furni will serve as a bookkeeper after a few weeks.

Both Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss seconded the statements of the new officials that politics will not enter into any appointment and that it is the aim of the commission to keep politics out of the city hall.

OFFICIALS "IN THE AIR."

Orders Regarding Holiday Suspension of Work Are Delayed.

Federal officials at the local government building were left somewhat in doubt as to their duties today because of the delay in receipt of telegrams regarding the holiday in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln. A holiday was declared by President Wilson, and it was to affect all the Federal offices. Some of the local officials got telegrams late yesterday while others did not get them until this morning. Things were somewhat "in the air" until the Federal orders arrived. No reason is given for the delay of orders.

HEAR CLAIMS AGAINST McALPINE ESTATE.

In probate court yesterday afternoon, Judge S. W. Gilpin conducted a hearing in the disputed claim of John H. Savage against the estate of John McAlpine, wealthy Duluth lumberman who was mysteriously shot in Duluth in August, 1913.

The claim on which the hearing was held was for $517.66, alleged to be due for services and for expenses on a trip made on behalf of Mr. McAlpine to Mexico in 1908. Mr. Savage is an attorney. The testimony had not been submitted when the case was adjourned indefinitely. The matter will be taken up again at the convenience of the court and the attorneys.

The court in the near future will also dispose of the disputed claim of F. E. Milsted of Santa Rita, N. Mex., for $9,719.50, who acted as millwright and superintendent in charge of a mine owned by Mr. McAlpine at El Limon, Durango, Mexico. Mr. Milsted bases his claim on an unpaid note and a charge for services between 1901 and 1912.

In both cases, the claimants are represented by Harold Harris of St. Paul. T. T. Hudson of this city is appearing as attorney for the McAlpine estate.

INJURED BADLY BY CORN CULTIVATOR

A Michigan farmer was so badly injured while cultivating that he had 33 running sores. He states that he tried many remedies and doctors with no success and that finally he used Allen's Ulcerine Salve which cured up all the sores completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably shore time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

Minnesota State Rural School Inspector to Address N. D. Teachers.

Will Speak at Annual Meeting of Tri-County Teachers at Grafton.

Grafton, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. M. Phillips, state rural school inspector of Minnesota, has been secured by the Tri-County Educational Association of Grand Forks, Walsh and Pembina counties for two addresses at the annual meeting of that body here May 6 and 7.

This association attracts annually an attendance of from 200 to 350 teachers, and is one of the most successful district organizations in the state.

In addition to Mr. Phillips, these prominent North Dakota educators have been secured for addresses: W. A. Broyles of Park River, W. L. Stockwell of Fargo, Miss Edna Twambley of Grand Forks, Mrs. Bertha Lee Broyles of Park River, Clyde R. Travis of Mayville, W. J. Hoover of Grafton, F. W. Reinhoel, Larimore, Dr. A. R. T. Wyllie, Grafton; Dr. W. J. Cryderman, Grafton; Dean Joseph Kennedy, North Dakota university, and President F. L. McVey, North Dakota university.

I. O. Moats of Drayton is president of the association.

VERRY BOUND OVER.

Former Park River, N. D., Banker Retaliates By Perjury Charge.

Grafton, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A charge of perjury has been lodged against Frank J. Skala of Park River by Charles R. Verry, also of Park River, resulting from the settlement of the affairs of the two men at the dissolution of their partnership.

The charge of perjury by Verry comes almost simultaneously with the binding over to the district court of Verry on the charge of embezzling $10,000 from the Farmers' & Merchants' bank of Park River. The action against Verry, in justice court, was completed yesterday, when Verry was held for trial, bonds being fixed at $1,500, which were furnished.

The hearing of Skala on the perjury charge will be held here April 20.

AGED BACHELOR AND WAR VETERAN CALLED.

Minneota, Minn., April 15.—Jean Kunz of Alexandria, Minn., said to be the oldest bachelor in the state, died at the Soldiers' home at Minnehaha following injuries received in a fall on April 7. Kunz was 83 years old. While walking near the home he fell over a slight embankment and fractured his wrist. His weakened arteries would not stand the strain of the shock. Kunz was born in Austria, fought with Company K of the Eighth Minnesota infantry in the Civil war. He lived at the home for nine years.

NORTH DAKOTA MASONS FOR PEACE COMMISSION

F. B. FEETHAM.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local Masonic bodies, through a resolution presented by F. B. Feetham, a local attorney, have commenced a nation-wide movement for the creation of a peace commission to go to Europe in an endeavor to bring about peace.

That such a commission would be able to get in touch with men high in the councils of the various nations at war, is the gist of the resolution, expressing the grounds for hope that some results might be gained through Masonic intervention.

The Feetham resolution contemplates a national gathering of Masons of the United States for the purpose of naming such peace commission.

Several Masonic bodies of the United States have evinced much interest in the plan.

FACES ANOTHER CHARGE.

North Dakota Wants Humphrey When He Finishes Wisconsin Sentence.

Fort Yates, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—When his six years' imprisonment in Wisconsin is ended, the Federal officials will endeavor to bring R. H. Pumphrey back to North Dakota for trial. Pumphrey was recently convicted at Marinette, Wis., on an embezzlement charge.

Three years ago he was collecting on the reservation for the estate of the late Col. W. H. Robinson of Mayville, formerly Indian agent here, and is charged with taking a first mortgage from an Indian here and later appropriating it for his own use and selling the mortgage to a South Dakota bank. This offense was not discovered until recently and Pumphrey could not be located until after his arrest on the Wisconsin charge.

ONE OF TRIPLETS ILL.

Member of Famous Wisconsin Family May Not Survive Sickness.

Fond du Lac, Wis., April 15.—Sylvester Windecker, one of the Windecker triplets whose 71st birthday anniversary is coming in June, is critically ill at his home in the town of Byron, and not expected to recover.

Mrs. Sedate Pier, a member of the triplets, wired yesterday from her home in Wausau saying that she was very ill in bed and that her physician would not allow her to come to Fond du Lac. Another sister, Mrs. Carrie Hill of Ripon, was summoned to Byron owing to Mr. Windecker's illness.

The Windecker triplets had planned to celebrate their 71st birthday anniversary at the home of Sylvester this year.

INDIAN LAND SALE ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Many Inquiries Received About Standing Rock Offering.

Fort Yates, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the sale of noncompetent and inherited Indian lands here May 5 is attracting a lot of attention is evident from the large number of inquiries being received here by Supt. Covey and the local Commercial club. These lands are on both the North Dakota and the South Dakota sides of the Standing Rock Indian reservation. The bids are to be opened May 5. Each bidder must include a certified check for 10 per cent of the amount offered. The terms of the sale are one-fourth down and the rest in three equal payments in two, four and six years, bearing 6 per cent interest.

Few Quarters Cheaply Appraised.

There are some of the least desirable quarters appraised as low as $3 and $4, but these are very few. The highest appraised valuation is $20. The average is around $10 per acre. The bids are expected to be considerably in excess of the appraised valuation in many instances, as some of the land is regarded as especially desirable for agricultural purposes. None of the bids will be entertained for less than the appraised valuation.

CROSBY PEOPLE ARE SUMMONED TO COURT

In Federal Damage Case Growing Out of Sjogren Kidnaping.

Crosby, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning United States Marshal Buckman of Little Falls, in connection with the Theodore Sjogren kidnaping case which happened nearly two years ago at the time of the miners' strike here, served damage suit papers on the following: George Payne, Peter Newman, William Sullivan, James Sullivan, Henry Kruse, Henry Breen, Dr. Sewall, Rogers Brown Ore company, K. A. Anderson, Claude Atkinson, Herman Lefko.

NEVER MISSED MEETING IN TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

Brainerd, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Eagle Hose Company No. 4 meeting Pete Peterson was re-elected foreman for the twenty-fifth consecutive year. Records of the secretary disclose the fact that Peterson has not missed a single meeting of the hose company in twenty-four years.

FIRST MARQUETTE FISH CATCH FOR THIS YEAR.

Marquette, Mich., April 15.—The tug Columbia, of the Anderson Fish company, which returned Tuesday afternoon from the first trip of the season, brought in from 700 to 800 pounds of whitefish and trout. The nets were set the early part of the week and were to have been lifted Monday, but the tug did not venture beyond the breakwater, owing to the heavy seas. The catch is considered a good one for this season of the year.

RAPID SHAFT SINKING.

World's Record Reported Broken in Newport Mine at Ironwood, Mich.

Ironwood, Mich., April 15.—The steel shaft that is being sunk at the Newport mine here is 21 by 13 feet in size. From March 1 to April 1 it was sunk 190 feet. This is said to break the world's record for sinking a shaft of this size. The shaft has four skip roads, ladder road and a pipe road. It has been sunk to date at the rate of 150 feet a month. When completed it will be 2,000 feet deep.

GAVE LIBERALLY IN BEHALF OF BELGIANS.

Williston, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Williams county has proved to be one of the most liberal of the counties in the state, so far as aid to the Belgians is concerned, its donations totaling $500.

The county has given $141.85 in cash, in addition to a carload of flour which was shipped from Williston last December.

For Abusing Children.

Jamestown, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bearing black and blue marks and bruises by fearful beatings that had been administered to their tender little bodies, Lloyd F. and Richard D. Harris, sons of a widow, and only 3 and 4 years of age respectively, are in the hands of Juvenile Court Officer J. La Moore, while Wilbur Coover is serving a 30-day jail sentence for abusing the children.

AGAINST SEGREGATION.

North Dakota Bankers Against Adding Wisconsin Banks to Chicago District.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Bankers' association is opposed to the proposal to segregate the nineteen Wisconsin counties in the Ninth, or Minneapolis, Federal reserve district and transfer them to the Chicago district and an appeal has been issued to all member banks in this state to take steps to avoid such a change.

W. C. Macfadden, secretary of the North Dakota association, makes the appeal on behalf of the Ninth district, insisting that the present division is more equitable, and that it operates to the advantage, not only if the banks in the district outside the Wisconsin territory, but also to the banks within that territory.

BADGER HEALTH BOARD URGES WAR ON BEDBUGS.

Madison, Wis., April 15.—The state health department is on the trail of bedbugs in Wisconsin hotels.

In a circular letter to be sent out to all hotel proprietors this week the Wisconsin board of health says:

"Before repapering, recalciming or repainting bedrooms, walls, ceiling or woodwork you should make a determined attempt to eradicate all vermin."

Hotel and restaurant men are urged to clean and renovate their places this spring. The board says it wishes to do what it can to increase the business of Wisconsin hotels and restaurants and at the same time to make this state a cleaner and healthier place to live.

FORMER NEGRO PREACHER OF MADISON ACCUSED.

Madison, Wis., April 15.—Rev. C. H. Thomas, deposed pastor of the African Methodist church here, was arrested with his wife on a charge of running a house of ill fame. He pleaded not guilty in court.

Rev. Thomas, as organizer of the National Association for the Protection of Colored Women, attained considerable publicity several months ago. He was elected president of the association, the functions of which are questioned by leaders in Madison's colored colony. Two white residents of Madison, elected to office, resigned. The association lists among its members and officers prominent colored educators of the South.

Rice Lake—The funeral of Mrs. Frances Phillips was held at the home of her son, Robert Phillips. Interment was in Meadow Creek cemetery. Mrs. Phillips was 62 years of age, and a resident of Rice Lake forty years. She made her home with her son here several years. Robert Phillips was sheriff of Barron county many years, but was defeated for re-election last fall.

Ashland—The newly appointed dock and harbor board was organized here with C. N. Cramer as chairman, Sam Wheeler as secretary. The board decided that the question of building a new dock should receive a thorough investigation before any action is taken and this may cover a period of many months.

Janesville—The late Luella M. Osgood left the Janesville Art league a bequest of $500 to be used to purchase a painting as it may deem appropriate. She also left $200 to the Janesville Firemen's Relief association in honor of her late husband, for many years chief of the Janesville fire department.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Bridget Bowen, aged 76, a resident of Milwaukee for more than sixty years, died at her home here Tuesday. She was one of the pioneer settlers of the Fourth ward. Surviving her are two sons, John, a patrolman, and William.

Antigo—Robbers who broke into the saloon of Lawrence Walk and Vanooyen Brothers, obtained only $16 from the cash register. They made an unsuccessful attempt to open a safe containing $700.

La Crosse—Morrill Godfred, one of the oldest settlers of Lansing, Iowa, a prominent Mason of that place, died here April 14 at a local hospital. He was born Dec. 24, 1834, in Hannibal, N. Y., coming to Lansing forty years ago. He is survived by three children, Mrs. H. Van Hoogenstyn of Orange, N. J.; Mrs. C. P. White, Stoddard, and Morrill, Jr., of Detroit, Mich. His wife died ten years ago.

CUYUNA MAN KILLED.

Employe of Inland Steel Company's Mine Fatally Hurt.

Crosby, Minn., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Lind, a surface employe of the Inland Steel company's Armour No. 1 mine, was run over by a train of dump cars yesterday, having both legs and an arm severed. He was immediately taken to the Miners hospital where he died a short time after. The funeral was held Wednesday.

Ishpeming—Marshal Trevarrow reports that he has had sixty-six lodgers in the city jail during March. This includes only men who are traveling from place to place seeking work and who asked for a night's lodging. This was about the largest number of men who have ever been given shelter in the jail in one month.

Houghton—The Portage Lake township board has made the following appointments: Attorney, Joseph F. Hambitzer; health officer, Dr. G. A. Conrad; special officer at Hurontown, Charles Cosby; superintendent and sexton of Forest Hill cemetery, Hugo Krellwitz.

Houghton—Houghton County Electric Light company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent (75 cents) on the preferred stock, and a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. (62½ cents) on the common stock, payable May 1 to stock of record April 15.

Stephenson—William Finnegan, a well-known engineer of the Peninsula division of the Chicago & Northwestern railway line, who was injured here last September, when the engine he was driving toppled over, has resumed his work.

Ishpeming—The executive committee of the Ishpeming Advancement association has wired to the state railway commission a protest against the increased freight rates on anthracite coal from Marquette to Ishpeming, which have gone into effect.

Gladstone—The school board of Gladstone has re-engaged Supt. E. J. Willman for the ensuing year.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—The annual convention of the Burleigh County Sunday School association will be held in this city next Thursday and Friday. The sessions will be held in the Baptist church, the opening session to commence at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Rolla, N. D.—The First National bank of Rolla is shipping in about forty bushels of Northern Dent seed corn with the purpose of giving one bushel free to any farmer who will undertake to plant and care for the crop properly.

Casselton, N. D.—To fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the local superintendent to accept a similar position in Devils Lake, the board of education has selected A. E. Robinson of Galesburg, Ill.

Bismarck, N. D.—Pete Anderson, who has been living in the Finnish settlement near Wing and whose home is said to be at Powderville, Mont., is being held here on a statutory charge. The Miles City, Mont., authorities telegraphed to the Burleigh county officers to hold the man on a fugitive warrant until the Montana officers can arrive. The complaining witness in the Montana case is said to be Anderson's niece, a girl who has not yet reached her legal age.

Sentinel Butte, N. D.—Congressman P. D. Norton will have some opposition at the next election, the first candidate to openly announce himself being Guy Lee, Sentinel Butte. Lee is 37 years old, a graduate of Drake university of Des Moines, Iowa, and is now serving as a county commissioner of Golden Valley county.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Grand Forks will lose Great Northern train No. 28, the fast mail train returning from the Pacific coast, under the new schedule to go into effect April 25, according to local officials of the railway. The train will be operated over the Surrey line, the change being made necessary by the impossibility of returning the engine and train crews to Minot by way of Grand Forks unless they "dead head" the entire distance.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Bemidji—Miss Jennie Beaudette, aged 42, died at St. Anthony's hospital Sunday after a long illness. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. William Hesse of Bemidji, and three sons, Bert of Bemidji, John of Hancock, Mich., and Fred J. of Chicago. On motion of Mayor Prince the minutes of the meetings of March 31, April 8 and April 5, were approved as published in pamphlet form, upon a vote by acclamation.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS AND OTHER COMMUNICATIONS.

Judges and clerks of general municipal election, held April 6, 1915, returns of said election—Commissioner of public affairs.

The mayor reported the filing on the 10th inst. of a writ from the district court, restraining the council from canvassing the vote cast for judge of the municipal court, and a modification of said writ filed on this date, allowing the council to canvass the vote cast for said office, and declaring the result, but restraining the clerk from issuing a certificate of election. The council then proceeded to canvass the returns submitted by the judges and clerks, after which the following resolution was introduced.

By Mayor Prince:
Whereas, On April 6, 1915, there was held by the city of Duluth pursuant to Section 37 of the charter of said city, a municipal election for the purpose of electing certain city officers, and

Whereas, There was submitted to the voters of said city at said election, certain amendments to the city charter, and

Whereas, The judges and clerks of the several election districts of the city have made their returns of said election, and the council has duly canvassed said returns in compliance with Section 48 of the city charter, and ascertained the number of ballots cast at said election,

Now, therefore, The council of the city of Duluth hereby declares that at said election there were cast 13,228 ballots.

That for the office of commissioner, William L. Bernard received 320 first choice votes; Chris E. Evens received 711 first choice votes; James A. Farrell received 6,897 first choice votes; W. A. Hicken received 5,103 first choice votes; R. E. McFarlane received 549 first choice votes; Roderick Murchison received 4,375 first choice votes; James L. Norman received 93 first choice votes; Bernard Silberstein received 7,179 first choice votes.

That for the office of judge of the municipal court, M. E. Louisell received 992 first choice votes; John H. Norton received 3,417 first choice votes; W. H. Smallwood received 3,496 first choice votes; William L. Windom received 4,408 first choice votes.

That James A. Farrell and Bernard Silberstein having received a majority of first choice votes, as provided in Sub-Section D of Section 44 of the city charter the council proceeded to canvass the second choice votes for the office of judge of the municipal court.

That for the said office M. E. Louisell received 734 second choice votes, which added to the first choice votes makes a total of 1,726 votes; John H. Norton received 1,501 second choice votes, which added to the first choice votes makes a total of 4,918 votes; W. H. Smallwood received 2,845 second choice votes, which added to the first choice votes makes a total of 6,341 votes; William L. Windom received 604 second choice votes, which added to the first choice votes makes a total of 5,012 votes.

That no candidate having received a majority of all votes cast, the council proceeded to canvass the additional choices.

That for the office of judge of the municipal court, M. E. Louisell received 402 additional choice votes, making a total of 2,128 votes; John H. Norton received 167 additional choice votes, making a total of 5,085 votes; W. H. Smallwood received 240 additional choice votes, making a total of 6,581 votes; William L. Windom received 54 additional choice votes, making a total of 5,066 votes.

That the proposition, "Shall the proposed amendment to the charter of the city of Duluth, numbered 'one' be ratified" received in the affirmative 6,011 votes and in the negative 4,330 votes.

That the proposition, "Shall the proposed amendment to the charter of the city of Duluth, numbered 'two' be ratified" received in the affirmative 9,634 votes and in the negative 1,398 votes.

Therefore be it resolved, by the city council of the city of Duluth, That James A. Farrell and Bernard Silberstein are duly elected commissioners of the city of Duluth for four years.

That the proposition "Shall the proposed amendment to the charter of the city of Duluth, numbered 'one' be ratified," having received less than three-fifths of all votes cast is hereby declared duly rejected.

That the proposition "Shall the proposed amendment to the charter of the city of Duluth, numbered 'two' be ratified," having received three-fifths of all the votes cast at said election is hereby declared duly ratified.

Mayor Prince moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:
Yeas—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Passed April 12, 1915.
Approved April 14, 1915.

It was called to the attention of the council that the modified order of the court allowed the council to declare the result of the election as far as judge of the municipal court was concerned.

Mayor Prince moved to amend said resolution by inserting therein after the words "duly elected commissioners of the city of Duluth for four years," the following, "That W. H. Smallwood is duly elected judge of the municipal court of the city of Duluth for a term of four years."

H. C. Fulton, attorney for William L. Windom, demanded that the council declare the election of William L. Windom as judge of the municipal court of the city of Duluth, he having had the greatest number of the first choice votes cast.

The amendment was declared adopted upon the following vote:
Nays—None.

The question being upon the adoption of the resolution as amended, it was declared adopted upon the following vote:
Yeas—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Passed April 12, 1915.
Approved April 14, 1915.

An alternative writ of mandamus issued by the district court of the Eleventh judicial district, was served upon the council in the case of the State, ex rel, William L. Windom, relator, vs. W. I. Prince, mayor; Roderick Murchison, commissioner; William A. Hicken, commissioner; Fred J. Voss, commissioner; Leonidas Merritt, commissioner, the city council of the city of Duluth, respondents.

Mayor Prince moved that the city clerk be instructed to take no further steps in connection with the election of the judge of the municipal court, and issue no certificate of election, pending the return of the writ mentioned above.

The motion was declared adopted upon the following vote:
Yeas—Commissioners Hicken, Merritt, Murchison, Voss, Mayor Prince—5.
Nays—None.
Passed April 12, 1915.
Approved April 14, 1915.

BULLS STILL IN CONTROL

Wheat Bulges Again on Active Export and Millers' Inquiry.

Flaxseed Strong With Bidding by Crushers—Argentine News Bullish.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 15.—The market was easier around the close, with trading quiet.

May wheat closed 1⅜c up; July, 1½c up, and September, 2c up.

May durum closed 2c off, and July 5½c off.

May oats closed ½c off at 54¾c@55¼c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.08-1.09, and barley unchanged at from 60c to 75c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c up at 64⅞c, and July ⅛c up at 65c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.51¼ asked, and calls at $1.56¾ bid.

Good buying reported by exporters at the seaboard and the working of a substantial volume of business at Winnipeg, led to a bull market in wheat again today, and advances of 1¾c were recorded locally during the first three hours trading.

Liberal buying of cash wheat was reported at Winnipeg, but the trade here was comparatively inactive. As a result of Minneapolis millers paying good premiums for cash wheat, while exporting houses here cannot see their way to paying better than the May price, receipts on this market have been falling off of late. The off-grade stuff, both in wheat and coarse grains furthermore, is slow of sale.

The splurge was over in durum for the time being, the market in the May future easing off 5c to $1.70 during the early trading. At that level there was a renewal of bidding, and its quotation was lifted up 3c where it rested. The advance in durum was explained in a nutshell in the fact that vessel space for 350,000 bu for early shipment has been chartered, while stocks in the elevators only aggregate 316,000 bu, and beyond that again there are said to be other contracts to be taken care of.

The monopolization by Winnipeg of the foreign business lately is said to be in a measure accounted for in the fact that supplies in Duluth elevators are practically sold up, and local houses with Eastern connections say that export trade put through so far bulks up to a heavier tonnage than has been estimated. With millers demand coming into competition with export bidding, cash wheat was strong in the Southwestern markets today. At St. Louis they were paying 2c over the May price.

May wheat opened ⅜c up at $1.57½, and it advanced 1c more. July opened ¼c up at $1.52¼ and moved up 1¼c more. Some interest was shown in the new wheat future. September opened 1c up at $1.17, and it advanced ½c more up to the noon hour.

May durum opened unchanged at $1.75, eased off 5c, and then recovered 3c. July opened unchanged at $1.69 and declined 5c.

Flax Still Strong.

Flaxseed again showed strength on renewed buying by crushers and light offerings. While trading was in comparatively light volume, the market showed a firm undertone throughout. Reports are being received by operators to the effect that the Argentine exportable surplus will be lighter than had been figured upon owing to deterioration through heavy rains.

At Buenos Aires today, flax closed ⅜c off at $1.14⅝ and London was 1⅜c up at $1.88⅜, both April-May delivery.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.96¾ and closed 1¼c up at $1.98 bid. July opened unchanged at $2 and closed ¾c up at $2.00¾ asked. September opened unchanged at $2.01 and closed 2c up at $2.03 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅝c up at $1.77⅞ asked and July ⅝c up at $1.81 asked.

A Duluth grain man received a query from Chicago yesterday afternoon as to the cause of the rise in durum wheat.

He replied: "Space for 350,000 bu has been chartered; 316,000 bu in store. What is the answer?"

In addition to the steamers reported yesterday as having taken on loads of grain for the lower lakes, the following were reported today: Pope, 371,000 bu spring wheat; Heberd, 343,000 bu spring wheat, and the Weston, 370,000 bu spring wheat. The Congdon and Philbin are also under the spouts for wheat and durum. This brings the tonnage of wheat loaded so far up to 3,484,000 bu and the tonnage of all grains up to 4,708,000 bu.

G. M. Le Count wires us from Concordia, Kan., this morning: "Kansas wheat acreage is about the same as last year. Wheat is looking generally good, plant looks healthy and of good color and is deeply rooted. Crops in this territory are considerably above the average and condition is improving. Weather is favorable.

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Weather is favorable. Seeding is progressing for spring crops.

South Africa—Broomhall's agent cables weather is unfavorable. Outlook for corn is good.

Argentina—Damage reports continue to come to hand, and harvesting is being seriously delayed.

Russia—A semi-official report states that the outlook for the new crops in the south is generally good.

India—An official statement has been made placing the wheat crop at 384,000,000 bu and exportable surplus at 76,000,000 bu. Native requirements will be unusually large this season, and it is believed that the surplus will be largely arranged for.

There continues a fair demand for oats at Liverpool with prices maintained. France continues to purchase liberally, with consumption heavy.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Strength in America and firmness in Buenos Aires were the principal reasons for the firmness here this morning with all offers light. Spot market is firm. Millers are taking freely. Cargo market is strong with winters and Plates nine nence higher and the advance paid. With America supporting new crop months as evidenced in yesterday's rise, apprehension is felt everywhere and a more confident feeling is shown. The continental demand has revived with bidding freely for the Plate steamers.

"Corn is strong with strong Plate offers and demand good. Argentine new crop offers are few. Corn cargo markets are strong, 6@9d higher."

CHICAGO MARKET.

General Rush to Buy Sends Wheat Prices Upward.

Chicago, April 15.—Wheat swept higher in price today as a result of a general rush to buy. Bullish sentiment was encouraged because of strength shown in Liverpool quotations and owing to the apparent tightening of the available supply situation the world over. Special attention was given to the fact that estimates of the exportable surplus of India had been reduced to 76,000,000 bu as against previous estimates of 120,000,000 bu. Active profit taking on the bulge led, however, to a material setback after opening ⅛c to 2c higher, the market rose about ⅝c more and then receded about 1c.

Sales of wheat to go to store here gave some advantage later to the bears. At the same time the volume of business diminished to an extent that was very noticeable. Closing prices were unsettled, at ⅝@1¼c above last night.

Corn hardened with wheat. The market was also affected by continued reports of crop damage in Argentina. Opening prices, which ranged ⅛c to ⅜c higher, were followed by additional gains and then a moderate sag.

Traders afterward proved timid about going short and the market again began to ascend, but eased off when wheat turned heavy. The close was firm at a shade to ⅝c net advance.

Pit speculators who sold oats found no company and quickly ran for cover. The consequence was a sharp advance, helped, of course, by the upturn in wheat.

Higher prices for hogs lifted provisions. Trade, though, was small, especially in lard.

MURDERER REPORTED DEAD FROM OPERATION.

Dennis Malfredis, the alleged slayer of Dennis Champanus, whom the police have been searching for since Feb. 18, is said to have died in a Mnneapolis hospital following an operation, according to information received by the police yesterday. The shooting occurred in a lodging house on Banks avenue following a quarrel.

The police intend to conduct a thorough investigation to ascertain whether or not the man who died in the hospital is the one wanted in Superior.

After Illegal Voters.

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the recent "dry" campaign in Superior, held last evening, arrangements were made to employ private detectives to check up the list and investigate alleged illegal voters casting ballots in various precincts of the city at the last election. Several prosecutions are expected, say leaders in the movement.

To Ferret Out Evils.

The city commission yesterday authorized the expenditure of $200 for private detective work in ferreting out alleged gambling joints, houses of ill fame and blind pgs. The sum was turned over to Chief of Police McKinnon for that purpose. The investigations are to begin at once.

North Butte Mining Company.

To the Stockholders:

ANDREW ANDERSON,
Secretary.

STOCKS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Recent Records Are Surpassed By Number of Issues Traded in.

Edge Taken Off Late Advance By Inevitable Profit-Taking.

New York, April 15.—Early dealings in the stock market today pointed to another session of extreme activity. Initial prices suggested further profit-taking by reason of the irregularity of the movement. Bethlehem Steel opened with a lot of 500 shares at 135 to 136, a minimum overnight rise of 3 points. Gains of 2 to 5 points were registered by various industrial and equipment issues, while some of the more important railway shares like Union Pacific, New York Central, Atchison and St. Paul were fractionally lower. Local tractions added materially to recent advances on very large offerings.

Trading lost none of its feverish activity during today's morning session, the overturn of the first two hours approximating yesterday's enormous total. Business was on the broadest scale thus far witnessed, taking in many issues not heretofore quoted There was a confusion of gains and losses, and leading stocks continued to evince further irregularity, Reading's course being especially erratic. London and other foreign centers were sellers here to a considerable extent and local interests, particularly the trading element, renewed their operations on the short side. Bonds were irregular.

Low-priced specialties gathered greater scope and strength in the afternoon with gains of 2 to 7 points. Meanwhile standard shares were being absorbed in round amounts at recent record prices and Bethlehem Steel had risen 7 points from its early low.

Dealings in stocks today surpassed all recent records, both in respect to activity and number of issued traded in. Realizing sales caused marked recessions and the end.

Inevitable profit-taking took the edge off the late rise, leaders declining one to two points from their best. The closing was strong.

CARPENTERS WILL STRIKE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, April 15.—Word went out from union headquarters today to "pull out the carpenters when the whistle blows at 4:30." Business agents from the carpenters' union district council carried the edict, which means that 13,000 men will stop work this evening.

"Let them strike," was the defiant message that passed between employers. "It would be business suicide to pay carpenters 70 cents an hour; it is safer to shut down the building industry until every union in the structural trades is forced to sign an anti-strike agreement."

Both sides said they were prepared for a long struggle.

It is estimated that a strike by the carpenters would throw out of work 60,000 other building mechanics and if continued would affect 50,000 wage earners in allied industries. The daily loss to members of the carpenters' union would aggregate $52,000 in wages, it is said.

RAILROADERS WIN THE FIRST ROUND

Madison, Wis., April 15.—Railroad employes who have been active since the sessions started to secure legislation allowing semi-monthly payment of wages, won the first step today when the senate voted, 19 to 10, to engross the Baxter bill.

As amended, the bill applies to all corporations except those engaged in logging and lumbering. Senator Bray secured the exemption of the latter after explaining that conditions under which lumbermen work in the woods do not demand such a method of payment.

The committee on corporations recommended the Arnold home rule constitutional amendment for passage, only Senator Martin dissenting. This was the same measure rejected at the polls last November.

A substitute just introduced by Senator Bray provides that no bill to restrict or repeal any power delegated to municipalities shall be considered or passed in either house of the legislature unless its introduction and its passage are ordered by two-thirds of the members present to be taken by ayes and noes.

The senate advanced the Jennings bill allowing Milwaukee to raise two million dollars for a sewerage system by bond issues covering a period of three years and without a referendum.

In the assembly the Dobie bill increasing the penalties for selling liquor to minors, was advanced and the eugenics law was recommended by the committee for retention on the statute books.

SEVERE SENTENCE FOR NIGHT RIDER

Bowling Green, Ky., April 15.—P. C. Jenkins, one of the most prominent residents of Butler county, was found guilty by a jury in circuit court here today and sentenced to four years and a day in the penitentiary on the charge of being connected with night riders' operations in Western Kentucky.

The indictment charged that Jenkins recently led a band of masked men to the home of W. A. Webster near the village of South Hill where Webster was seized and compelled to witness the flogging of his wife, daughter and son. Mrs. Webster is 60 years old. Testimony at the trial failed to disclose a reason for the action of the band.

Trials of seven other persons on the same charge were postponed.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF SEATS ON EXCHANGE.

New York, April 15.—Fifty-nine thousand dollars was bid today for a seat on the New York Stock exchange, an advance over the last actual sale of $9,000. A few weeks ago memberships were offered at $36,000 and several transfers were made below that figure.

WORK FOR NEARLY 1,000 MEN WILL BE PROVIDED BY MAY 1

Ore Docks and Sawmills Will Offer Employment to Many.

Industries Now in Operation Show Signs of More Activity.

Nearly 1,000 additional men will be put to work in various lines of employment in the western end of the city between now and May 1. The opening of spring work not only in the mills and docks, but also on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad and the Minnesota steel plant will furnish the employment.

The first of these industries to start active operations will be the Scott-Graff lumber mill at Twenty-third avenue west, which is expected to start tomorrow morning or Saturday. Employment will be given to about 100 men in this mill.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern ore docks at Thirty-fourth avenue west will commence operations on Saturday. It is then expected to load the first ore boat. All of the company's docks will be in operation this summer, including the large steel dock built last year. With the ore shipping on the railroad likely to be heavier than it was last year it is expected that before the middle of the summer between 400 and 500 men will find employment at the docks. A small crew will be put to work there on Saturday.

"We expect to use more crews than we used last year," said J. W. Kreitter, superintendent of the road, this morning. "The indications at present are that the railroad will have a very successful year from the standpoint of shipping. Just how many men will be employed it is yet impossible to say, but it will be more than last year."

Proctor Shops.

The company's shops at Proctor are again rapidly getting back to normal condition. During the winter the company has given employment to the greater percentage of its regular men, but instead of working full time they have been on little better than half time. Some of the departments of the shops have already resumed full time and within a few days it is expected that every department will be working on similar schedule.

Within the last two weeks sewer construction in Proctor has given employment to about 200 men. The construction of the sewer system in the village is to be rapidly pushed so as to have it entirely completed this fall. The village is making an outlay of about $50,000 in building the system. The system will drain almost the entire village and will include a main trunk that will carry the sewage off to a point a mile and a half south of the village to a septic tank.

Between now and May 1 the Minnesota Steel company will undoubtedly have put on the greater part of the 350 men ordered to work a week ago. These men are being put to work in small numbers each day. So far about one-third of this force has been employed and the others are being given employment as fast as they can conveniently be put to work. The work on the cement plant is also likely to be resumed about May 1.

On or about May 1 the Alger-Smith sawmill at West Duluth will resume operations. This sawmill will give employment to about 225 men. The mill will be operated days only this year, according to present plans.

Several of the industries now running are beginning to show signs of more activity. Walter M. Byrod, president of the National Iron works, said yesterday afternoon that inquiries relative to placing orders were coming faster and that indications were that within a short time work would be resumed at the plant at a greater scale than at present. Under normal conditions the plant employs nearly 200 men. Less than half that number are now working.

PASTOR IS RECALLED.

Rev. Mr. Oberg Will Resume Former Charge Here.

Rev. Gustaf Oberg, who two years ago resigned as pastor of the Bethel Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street, has been recalled to become pastor of the congregation and has accepted the call. He will return to Duluth to assume charge of the work about June 1.

The pastor made a large number of friends while in this city. He was pastor of the church for a period of six years. On leaving here he went to Southern Wisconsin.

The choir of the church has arranged to entertain at a musical and literary program Saturday evening. The affair will be held at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Rev. O. H. Nelson of Superior will give the principal address.

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

Joseph Foucault Succumbs After Few Weeks' Illness.

Joseph Foucault, age 76 years, a resident of West Duluth for the last eighteen years, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 224 North Fifty-third avenue west, following an illness of a few weeks. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean de Baptiste French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Foucault is survived by his widow, four daughters and five sons most of whom reside in this end of the city.

West Duluth Briefs.

Gosta Lodge No. 243, Order of Vasa, will entertain at a social tomorrow evening at Victor's hall, 5528 Grand avenue. The members of the committee in charge are Fred Anderson, Florence Mattson, Gust Spitz and Miss Ida Olson.

A social session followed the regular meeting of the Non-excelled homestead, B. A. Y., at Gilley's hall last night. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. E. M. Hand, Mrs. E. Lambert, Mrs. W. Milsop and Mrs. E. Keiber.

Mr and Mrs. Harry White, 203 North Fifty-third avenue west are the parents of a daughter born Tuesday.

The Young People's Society of the Swedish Mission church will be entertained this evening at the home of Mrs. Moline, 313 North Fifty-third avenue west.

TO CELEBRATE NATAL DAY.

Normanna Chorus Will Give Patriotic Program May 16.

The Normanna Male chorus is making plans for the celebration of Norway's natal day, May 17, with a special musical program. The affair will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 16, at the auditorium of the Duluth Central high school.

In addition to a good program of singing, the chorus will be assisted by Flaaten's orchestra, which will render a number of instrumental selections.

Dr. Thomas Warloe of Chicago has been secured to give the principal oration of the day. Dr. Warloe is said to be one of the best Norwegian speakers in the country. He is prominently identified with a number of Norwegian-American societies in Chicago.

The committee in charge of the arrangements comprise Hans Holm, Berger Sande and Axel Ruske.

WINNIPEG'S MAYOR PATRON OF GRAND FORKS' CLUB.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. D. Waugh, mayor of Winnipeg, was elected patron of the Caledonian Curling club of Grand Forks at the annual meeting held last night. The reports of the club officers showed the body in excellent shape.

Other officials elected were: President, Dr. G. M. Williamson; vice presidents, J. C. Sheppard and N. B. Black; secretary and treasurer, D. M. McKenzie; executive committee, T. Carter Griffith, R. H. Green, C. E. Garvin, Charles Murphy and Thomas Porte.

TESTIFIES FOR HIS DAUGHTER

G. W. Whiteside Maintains He Had Contract Covering Murphy Estate.

District Court Hears an Appeal From Decree of Probate Judge.

George W. Whiteside of Springfield, Ill., took the stand in district court this morning to give testimony in behalf of his daughter, Mrs. Edna Snyder, who several months ago instituted proceedings in probate court to obtain possession of the estate of the late James F. Murphy of Duluth, her foster father. The case in which testimony was taken this morning is one involving an appeal from the probate court's order awarding the Minnesota estate to her, notwithstanding a will making other disposition of the property.

Mr. Whiteside testified at the probate court hearing several months ago, and his testimony today was substantially the same. He declared that he had relinquished all claims to his daughter Edna in favor of James F. Murphy and his wife, when Edna was a girl of 5 and that he did so in consideration of a promise from the Murphys that she would inherit all of their property. Mrs. Murphy died in 1911 and her husband's death occurred two years later. The latter left a will bequeathing the estate to a sister in Detroit and a brother in Ashland. It provided a $100 bequest for Mrs. Snyder. When the will was presented for probate, she contested it, and the lower court set it aside, giving precedence to the contract which the Murphys are alleged to have made with Mr. Whiteside several years ago.

Judge Cant this morning denied the motion of Attorneys A. T. Rock and John Brown, representing Frank Horgan, executor named in the will, for a dismissal of the case on the ground that the probate court was without jurisdiction to try the case in the first instance. This permitted the appeal to be heard on its merits. It is expected that several witnesses will be called.

No Prohibition for Florida.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 15.—A resolution to submit a statewide prohibition act to the voters, was defeated yesterday in the Florida senate. The house passed such a resolution.

SUMMER RESORTS.

NE-NA MIK-KA-TA

(which in the Chippewa means East Portage) is located in a sheltered bay on Pine island at Lake Vermilion.

Our choice has been approved by men from the banker to the woodsman who enjoy and know the real beauty of nature. Lake Vermilion (well named the Playground of Minnesota) is attracting more attention this year than ever before. Our advertisements in national outing magazines has sold many tracts to people in the east who have never seen Ne-na Mik-ka-ta, and probably won't until this summer.

Our Money Back Guarantee plan allows one to safely do this. Ask us about it. Prices range from $35 a lot up according to size, location, etc. On easy terms if desired.

Let us send you illustrated literature describing Ne-na Mik-ka-ta together with price list and many names of buyers.

Ne-na Mik-ka-ta as a summer resort has many advantages over the ordinary summer resort, which becomes very apparent upon investigation.

GRAY-WERTIN COMPANY,
407 Alworth Bldg, Duluth.

—SUMMER HOME SITE—

I have a beautiful tract of about an acre and one-half on the shore of Lake Vermilion, especially chosen as summer home property; fine fishing and boating; timber enough on tract to build cabin and still leave plenty of trees standing; price $250; will give good terms. Address A 593, Care Duluth Herald.

GERMAN AIRMEN DROP BOMBS ON ENGLAND DAY AND NIGHT

RACE BETWEEN THE TAX LEVY LIMIT BILL AND CLOSE OF THE SESSION

Passage Seems Assured If It Can Be Reached in House.

But Four More Working Days for Passage of Measures.

Moeller Boxing Bill Special Order in Senate on Saturday.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a pretty race on between the end of the session and the bill limiting the per capita expenditures of villages and cities of the third and fourth classes. If the bill is reached in the house before the work of the session ends at midnight next Wednesday, it is likely to pass. If the end comes before the bill is reached, then it will die with several hundred others.

The fight on the bill now seems to be no longer a fight for or against it, but a fight for and against reaching it for consideration. It appears to be generally conceded that it will pass if it is reached. It is well up on the calendar, where the senate bill has been substituted for the house bill. Those opposed to it are helping along the filibuster of delay, and they are being helped by the natural slowness of the house and by the fact that there are other bills which a considerable number of the members do not wish to reach.

There are but four more working days and apparently a good share of this time is to be taken up by the house in considering the appropriation bills. It is declared, too, that there is some relationship between the filibuster on the per capita bill and

COMMISSION ENDS ITS INVESTIGATION

Complaints Against Telephone and Telegraph Companies Settled.

Washington, April 16.—The interstate commerce commission today announced discontinuance of its investigation into the rates and practices of the telephone and telegraph companies.

The investigation, carried on intermittently for several years, was begun on the commission's initiative. Many specific complaints laid before the commission have been settled and the understanding between the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the department of justice last year was said to have made further investigation unnecessary.

BIG RISE IN INDUSTRIALS

New Phase of Speculative Activity in the Stock Market.

Extensive Selling for Profits Brings About Some Declines.

New York, April 16.—The speculative activity in the stock market assumed a new phase at the outset of today's session with gains of 7 to almost 20 points in the shares of various industrial companies which are reported to have received large orders for ammunition and other supplies from foreign governments now at war.

American Locomotive made a maximum gain of 18½ points, advancing to 68. New York Airbrake rose 11¼ points to 89¾, and Westinghouse Electric jumped 7 points to 88. From these extraordinary advances there were sharp declines of 3 to 12 points, Locomotive falling back to 56. Bethlehem Steel participated in the rise to the extent of 7 points, and numerous other specialties gained 1 to 3.

Meantime leaders like Reading, Great Northern and United States steel were up a point or more. New Haven rose 3 points.

Selling for Profits.

Sales in the first hour aggregated 350,000 shares, with some reduction of activity toward mid-day. Representative issues were once more subjected to extensive selling for profits with consequent declines. A large portion of these offerings was again believed to be for foreign account. The war specialties failed to recover to early maximum figures, except Airbrake, which added five points to its initial 11-point advance. Reactions in this group ran from 3 to 12 points.

A bid of $65,000 for a stock exchange seat was reported to have been made. This compares with yesterday's high price of $60,000 and $50,000 a week ago.

EFFICIENCY COMMISSION

Senate Adopts Curley Resolution for Further Inquiry Into Subject.

Progress Made on Appropriation Bills By Both Branches.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a vote of 37 to 16, the senate yesterday afternoon passed the joint resolution by Senator James A. Carley of Plainview providing for a joint commission to investigate the subject of "efficiency and economy" and to report to the legislature at its next session.

The house has already voted to create a commission composed entirely of house members.

The Carley resolution provides that the commission shall consist of four senators, four house members and three other citizens of the state to be appointed by the governor. The legislative members would be appointed by Lieutenant-Governor Burnquist and Speaker H. H. Flowers.

Appropriation Bills.

Both branches of the legislature fell to the work of passing the appropriation bills yesterday afternoon, and the parallel between the action of the two houses is characteristic of the comparison that has held all winter.

The senate passed within ten minutes the educational appropriation bill, carrying a total of $7,122,760 for the two-year period, while the house spent the entire afternoon getting to the bottom of page 3 of the departmental bill, and had to run into the evening with its work.

The educational bill, as passed unanimously by the senate as it came from Senator A. J. Rockne's finance committee, carries among others the following items:

For the state university, $1,846,500 a year, including $550,000 for maintenance.

For the university farm school at St. Anthony Park, $303,000.

For general school aid throughout the state, $3,330,000.

For the Crookston agricultural school, as follows: Maintenance, $45,-

IOWA PASTOR ENDS HIS LIFE ON TRAIN

Rev. Perkins Slocum Found Dead in Washroom on Burlington Road.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—When a Burlington train from Chicago arrived here late last night, a man believed by the coroner to be Rev. P. Slocum of Lyons, Iowa, was found dead in one of the train's washrooms. He had been shot in the head and a revolver found on the floor, the coroner said, indicated suicide. A letter in his pocket apparently from his wife, was addressed to Rev. P. Slocum and postmarked Lyons, Iowa.

Had Nervous Trouble.

Lyons, Iowa, April 16.—The Rev. Perkins Slocum, who was found dead on a train arriving at St. Paul last night, apparently a suicide, was pastor of the Lyons Methodist church. He had suffered for years from a nervous disorder.

For many years he was on the chautauqua platform lecturing on the results of a research work in numerous expeditions to different parts of the world and as a Masonic student.

RUSSIANS REPULSE GERMAN SOLDIERS AFTER HARD FIGHT

Army of Picked Men Attack Russ Troops Marching on Bereg.

Teutons Finally Repelled After Thirty-Two Hours of Fierce Battle.

Muscovites Capture Large Quantity of Arms and Ammunition From Enemy.

Geneva, Switzerland, April 16, via Paris.—The Tribune publishes a dispatch from Ungvar, in Northeastern Hungary, saying a great battle has been fought between the Stry and the valley of the Ondava. A German army composed of picked men attacked the Russians marching on Bereg. After thirty-two hours of severe fighting, the Russians succeeded in repulsing the Germans and capturing a quantity of arms and ammunition.

Another dispatch received here from Vienna says sixty-five Austrian officers have been disciplined for negligence which resulted in the annihilation of a division of reserves near Bereg and the Austrian defeat in the Sarac region.

The announcement is also made in Geneva that Austrian troops from the Serbian frontier are being sent to the Trentino, and that a number of them already have passed through Salsburg.

FLOOD INUNDATES TOWN OF WOODRUFF

Water Seven Feet in the Streets But No Fatalities Reported.

Holbrook, Ariz., April 16.—The flood which swept away the reservoir dams at Lyman and Hunt and submerged parts of St. John's yesterday, today had inundated the town of Woodruff, twelve miles southeast of here. Water diverted from the overflowed Little Colorado river submerged the streets in places to a depth of seven feet before the Woodruff dam burst and relieved the pressure.

Meantime, all the people of the town had reached high ground and there were no fatalities to add to the list of eight lives lost by the breaking of the Lyman dam Wednesday midnight.

HAS PERFECT WAR MACHINE

Italian Minister of War Says Miracle Has Been Accomplished.

Italy Today Has 1,200,000 First Line Soldiers Under Arms.

On the Italian frontier, via Paris, April 16.—Italy today has 1,200,000 first line soldiers under arms. They are from 20 to 26 years of age. They are perfectly armed and equipped otherwise "to the last button."

Gen. Zupelli, Italian minister of war, speaking on the military situation in Italy, said a miracle had been accomplished, in that a country which for about twenty years had maintained a military organization merely for the purpose of preservation of peace, had created what he termed one of the most perfect of war machines. The change was not easy, Gen. Zupelli said, as was proved wherever the same work was attempted. Great Britain for example, had faced the same problem and though possessing greater resources, was even less prepared than Italy.

Equipment Superior.

The war minister said the equipment of the army with weapons was superior proportionately to that of the German army at the beginning of the war.

Eagerness of the soldiers concentrated along the frontier to begin action is so great that their officers are compelled to hold them closely in check for fear of disturbing border conditions.

In view of the extensive preparations which have been made the question is asked with insistency why Italy does not enter the war. The men in a position to speak with authority say that a majority of the people prefer, and the government still hopes to obtain territorial concessions from Austria without a rupture of friendly relations.

Weather conditions in the Alps must also be remembered in considering Italy's probable action. Snow still lies deep in the mountains, and the cold is intense. Most of the passes are still closed by snow and ice.

KANSAS CLEANS UP FOR THE SUMMER.

Topeka, Kan., April 16.—Today is the official spring cleaning day in Kansas and dirt has been flying over the state since early morning. Elaborate plans had been made in both city and rural districts and the cleaning promises to be one of the most effective since the plan was inaugurated several years ago.

The cleanup was called for in a proclamation by Governor Capper.

STROKE OF APOPLEXY ENDS LIFE OF NELSON W. ALDRICH, EX-SENATOR

Had Been Ill From Attack of Indigestion Since Thursday.

Dominant in National Councils of Republican Party Many Years.

Represented Rhode Island in the Senate From 1889 to 1911.

New York, April 16.—Nelson W. Aldrich, for thirty years United States senator from Rhode Island, and Republican leader whose name was stamped upon tariff and currency legislation of his party, died of an apoplectic stroke at his home on Fifth avenue here today. He had been ill of indigestion since yesterday afternoon. Until then he had been in excellent health.

Senator Aldrich was in his 74th year. He will be buried in Swanpoint cemetery, Providence, R. I., Sunday afternoon.

Dr. John S. Thatcher, his family physician, had left Mr. Aldrich less than half an hour before he died. When Dr. Thatcher left, Mr. Aldrich appeared to be recovering from the slight attack of indigestion which put him in bed yesterday afternoon. Ten minutes later, however, he suddenly became unconscious.

Family Summoned.

Members of his immediate family were hurriedly summoned and were at the bedside when, a few minutes later,

BANK INJUNCTION CASE TO MAY 12

Judge Orders Postponement on Agreement of Counsel for Both Sides.

Washington, April 16.—Judge McCoy of the District of Columbia supreme court today signed an order postponing until May 12 the injunction case of the Riggs National bank against Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency Williams.

The order provides that the temporary injunction restraining John Burke, United States treasurer, from payment into the treasury of $5,000 interest on bonds of the bank, withheld to cover penalties for alleged failure to make reports, shall continue until the hearing next month.

Counsel on both sides agreed to the postponement, although Former Senator Bailey, chief counsel for the bank, preferred an earlier date.

APOLOGY IS MADE CHILE

Great Britain Expresses Regret for Sinking Dresden in Harbor.

Misunderstanding as to Status of German Cruiser in Port.

London, April 16.—The British government has offered a "full and ample apology" to the Chilean government for the sinking on March 14 in Chilean territorial waters of the German cruiser Dresden, the internment of which had already been ordered by the maritime governor of Cumberland bay, when the British squadron attacked and sank her.

This fact was made public last night in a white paper, giving the texts of the Chilean note protesting against the sinking of the Dresden, and the British government's reply.

The note delivered by the Chilean minister to Great Britain says that the Dresden anchored in Cumberland bay (Juan Fernandez island) March 9, and asked permission to remain eight days for the purpose of repairing her engines, which were said to be out of order. The governor refused the request, as he considered it unfounded, and ordered the captain to leave the bay within twenty-four hours.

As the order was not complied with, the captain of the Dresden was informed that his ship was interned.

British Ships Open Fire.

When the British squadron appeared on March 14, the governor was proceeding to the cruiser Glasgow to inform the British officers of the steps he had taken, but he had to turn back, as the British ships opened fire on the Dresden, on which a flag of truce had been hoisted, and called on her captain to surrender. The captain then gave orders to blow up the magazine of the Dresden.

"This act of hostility committed in Chilean territorial waters by a British naval squadron," says the Chilean minister, "has painfully surprised my government."

After referring to the hospitality shown British ships in Chilean waters and to the long friendship between the two peoples, the minister says:

"Nothing could be a more painful surprise to us than to see our extremely cordial attitude repaid by an act which bears unfortunately all the evi-

NOT MUCH DAMAGE HAS BEEN DONE

Count Zeppelin Said to Be Directing Movements From Cuxhaven.

Shells Dropped on Kent, Near London, in the Afternoon.

French Aviators Also Busy Bombarding German Headquarters.

London, April 16.—Pronounced activity at the German airship bases at Emden and Cuxhaven today is reported in telegrams from Holland. An urgent call was issued in London this afternoon for special police to go on duty at 5 p. m.

According to reports from Holland, three Zeppelins were seen today flying westward over Dutch islands in the North sea. Count Zeppelin is said to be directing the movements at Cuxhaven.

London, April 16.—German aeroplanes this afternoon were dropping bombs in Kent within thirty miles of London.

The machines first made their appearance over Herne Bay, to the east of Canterbury, and about fifty miles from London. Within a few minutes they were reported over Canterbury, closer to the capital and very shortly afterwards they appeared over Faversham and then over Sittingbourne, not more than thirty miles away, dropping bombs on each town.

This was the third German aerial attack on the eastern counties of England in the last thirty-six hours. The two previous attacks were made at night by Zeppelin airships. This raid was carried out by aeroplanes.

Not Limited to Germans.

Aerial onslaughts, however, have not been limited to the Germans. French official reports claim a successful bombardment from the sky of the imperial German headquarters in retaliation for a Zeppelin assault on Nancy.

A German wireless report credits to a Swiss newspaper the statement that French airmen have dropped bombs on several German towns unprotected by anti-aircraft guns.

SUBMARINE TORPEDO SANK THE KATWYK

Dutch Government Will Undoubtedly Make Protest to Germany.

The Hague, via London, April 16.—A submarine sank the Dutch steamer Katwyk, which went down yesterday near the North Hinder lightship, according to a report of the examination of the vessel's captain and crew published by the department of marine. The report says:

"The captain cast anchor in twenty fathoms of water, seven miles west of the North Hinder Lightship. The anchor light immediately was lighted as well as two electric lamps illuminating the flags fore and aft, 15 and 10 feet in length, respectively. Between the flags in big letters were the words 'Katwyk, Rotterdam.'"

Considered Grave.

The Hague, via London, April 16.—The sinking of the Dutch steamer Katwyk is considered here the gravest incident of the submarine warfare up to the present, as it directly affects the Dutch government, to which the cargo of grain on board the steamer was consigned. While awaiting further details of the torpedoing of the Katwyk, the ministerial departments concerned declined to make a statement.

The Amsterdam Telegraph, commenting on the occurrence, said:

"We must expect that the German government will, without loss of time, be made responsible for this severe violation of the rights of neutral powers. The talk of there being contraband among the cargo of grain, or that the ship was about to be chartered by the British government, cannot now be discussed. The plain fact is that a Dutch ship, chartered by the Dutch government has been torpedoed off the Dutch coast by a state pretending friendly relations with The Netherlands. How many similar proofs of friendship must we receive before we declare we prefer open enmity?"

A GERMAN DOCTOR HAS SUCCEEDED IN MAKING BREAD FROM STRAW.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Official reports from Paris reveal a resumption of hostilities in northern France, particularly in the neighborhood of Arras.

In the east the Russians have taken up the attack along the Warsaw front, after the long winter lull. They claim the capture of a village near Sochaczaw, about thirty miles from the Polish capital. In the vicinity of Ossovets, near the Russian frontier, fighting also has been resumed.

Holland is stirred deeply by the sinking of the Dutch steamer Katwyk, bearing a cargo consigned to the government of the Netherlands. The Dutch marine ministry, after an investigation, expressed the opinion that the vessel was sunk by a German submarine.

The suggestion has been made to the French ministry of marine, that each ship of the allies sunk by German submarines be replaced by a vessel of corresponding size from among the 278 German vessels detained in French ports. The French government has taken the suggestion under consideration, although it is explained that the consent and co-operation of Great Britain would be necessary.

Another raid by a German airship—the third in as many days—was reported today from London. It is said that a German aeroplane dropped bombs in Kent. This is the first instance of a daylight attack by German aviators flying over England.

Last night's Zeppelin raid resulted in considerable damage to property, although so far as is known no lives were lost. It is announced officially in Berlin that the airship which made the first raid returned in safety.

Although no great battles are in progress, with the exception of the protracted struggle on the 115-mile front between Bartfeld and Stry, in the Carpathians, active operations are being undertaken over increasingly wide sections of both the eastern and western fronts.

DULUTH BOY IS MISSING

Leaves Home After Resenting Instructions From Parent.

Hurt by a parental edict which he didn't want to obey, Jay Atwood, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Atwood, 1914 Waverly avenue, Hunter's Park, failed to return home for lunch at noon yesterday and has been missing ever since. His parents became greatly alarmed over his absence last night, and notified Chief C. H. Troyer, who instructed officers throughout the city to look for the lad.

On his way to the Washburn school yesterday morning, Jay stopped at a small pond, and while playing there, fell in up to his knees. When he arrived at school the principal sent him home to change his clothes, fearing that he might catch cold.

Mrs. Atwood told him to return to school, after he reached home and changed his clothes, but the boy didn't want to do it, and after objecting to his mother's request, left the house, going towards the schoolhouse. He has not been seen since that time, and his mother is greatly distressed by his absence.

Members of the Atwood family started searching for him last night, and drove out along the Colbyville road, where they heard he had been seen. Police do not believe that the boy has gone very far, or that he has been harmed in any way, and advance the theory that he probably is staying with acquaintances in the nearby suburban district, while fishing.

When he left home, Jay wore a blue serge Norfolk suit and a mackinaw cap. He is large for his age, being aboue 5 feet 6 inches tall, and is dark complexioned, with black hair and eyes.

Mr. Atwood, the boy's father, is a leading member of the Duluth board of trade and a director of the Commercial club.

SILBERSTEIN HAS DECIDING VOTE

Palmer's Fate Rests With New Head of Safety Department.

The city clerkship appointment rests with Commissioner Silberstein.

Indications now point to a tie vote on the city clerkship, with Mr. Silberstein left to cast the deciding ballot.

Commissioner-elect Farrell is said to favor Walter Borgen, while friends of the latter say that he aided Commissioner Merritt in the campaign two years ago and that there is no doubt about the support of the head of the utilities division. Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss say that they will vote for Mr. Palmer, thus leaving Mr. Silberstein to cast the deciding ballot. Commissioner Merritt, when asked this morning how he would vote, said that he had made up his mind, but that he would never make any announcement to the newspapers. Mr. Silberstein declared this morning he was not ready to announce his decision.

HICKEN REPLIES TO STATEMENTS REGARDING HEALTH OFFICER'S FEES

In a letter to The Herald this morning, Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety division, takes emphatic exception to articles published in the News Tribune during the last week, regarding the salaries of Health Director Webster and Police Surgeon Murphy.

Commissioner Hicken's statement follows:

"To the Editor of The Herald:

"In order to correct an impression that the morning paper is systematically endeavoring to foster, permit me to give the public the facts regarding the salary and fees of the director of public health the past year. Salary from the city of Duluth, $1,200; fees from the state as register of births and deaths, $754.25, or a total of $1,954.25, as compared with $2,000 in fees claimed by the morning paper.

"The register of births and deaths is a state appointment and the state is under no obligation to appoint the director of the health department. The $2,000 in fees reported by the morning paper is a wilful misrepresentation of facts, as the paper is in possession of the correct figures, which are as stated above.

"The police surgeon's salary is $900 a year and not $1,800 as reported by the morning paper today. Yours truly,

"W. A. HICKEN,
"Commissioner of Public Safety."

DULUTH BENEFITS BY NEW TRAIN CHANGES

New Great Northern Time Card Will Help the Zenith City.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the new Great Northern time card, effective April 25, Duluth will be given much better passenger service to points west of Grand Forks.

To Duluth, the Great Northern gives a connection at Minot with No. 2, the Oriental Limited, which connection, east bound, was disrupted several months ago.

West-bound, the train arriving here in the morning from Duluth, will connect with No. 29, reaching Minot by 1 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of 4 o'clock, as at present.

The earlier morning trains out of Grand Forks made this new advantage possible.

The Great Northern fast mail, east-bound, which has operated over this division for several months, will be returned to the Surrey line.

No announcement as to Sunday service has been made.

MISSIONS HELD IN ENGLISH AND ITALIAN.

A mission is being given at the St. Peter's Italian church, Eleventh avenue west and Superior street. It began last Sunday and will close a week from next Sunday. This week the mission is being conducted in Italian by Rev. Father Ercole Dominicis and next week, starting Monday night, will be preaching in English for the English-speaking Italians by Father Mullaly, the noted Paulist, who gave missions at the cathedral church a few months ago. Father Mullaly, while preaching his missions at the Italian church next week, will also give a course of short noon lectures at the Lyceum.

Large crowds are attending the missions and are growing larger every evening.

SOME JOBS FILLED.

International Falls New Council Holds First Session.

International Falls, Minn., April 16.—The new city council at its first session held this week elected Pat Lynch, Second ward alderman, to succeed Frank Keyes, who was elected mayor. The offices of street commissioner, electrician and city hall janitor were not filled, an effort to combine all in one person falling.

The salaries of police of chief at $100 per month and that of patrolmen at $90 a month were allowed to stand.

Applications for the position of health officer were heard after the salary had been cut from $36.60 to $26.60 a month. Doctors Swinnerton and Chance applied for the place and Dr. Chance received the appointment.

The salary of the driver of the fire team was continued at $90 a month and the appointment left over. Salary for city attorney was cut from $85 to $50 a month and F. J. McPartlin again named.

Edgar Zimmerman received appointment as assessor over the other applicant, C. E. Wisard, and the salary of city treasurer was again fixed at $25 a month and that of municipal judge at $100 a month.

Mayor Frank Keyes will receive $200 a year for his services, as the former mayor did, and the city clerk $75 a month, the same as formerly, according to the action of the council.

MOURNS DEATH OF W. R. NELSON

Flags at Half Mast and Business Suspended in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., April 16.—Flags were set at half mast here today, schools and public libraries were closed and hundreds of business houses and factories were to suspend operations during the hour of the funeral of William R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, whose death occurred Tuesday.

The services were to take place at the Nelson home and were open to the public. Private ceremonies later were to be held at Mount Washington cemetery, where burial was to take place.

Bishop Cameron Mann, Episcopal bishop of Florida, and a life-long friend of Mr. Nelson, arrived today to have charge of the ceremonies. Pall bearers were selected from among the employes of the Star, various departments being represented. There were no honorary pallbearers and simplicity marked all arrangements of the funeral.

Many civic and commercial organizations gathered to attend the services in membership bodies. Scores of former friends of Mr. Nelson were present from other cities.

Employes of the Star visited the home in the morning hours to pay their respects to the memory of the editor. The paper printed but one edition today.

SAW LINCOLN SHOOTING.

War Veteran, Living Near Mondovi, Wis., Tells of Tragedy.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 16.—Just fifty years ago last night Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth at Ford's theater in Washington.

Of the vast concourse of people who were in the theater that memorable night only a few are now living to recall the terrible tragedy that there transpired. Herbert M. Nogle of Mondovi, Wis., a small city some thirty miles southwest of here, a veteran of the great Civil war, is one of these few survivors.

He yesterday recalled vividly to mind the happenings of that awful night, for he was a close eye witness to what occurred, his seat in the opera house not being far from the box occupied by the great president.

Nogle heard the fatal pistol shot, saw Booth leap from the box to the stage and leap behind the scenes while pandemonium reigned in the audience which at once became panic stricken.

Nogle tells of the great excitement and how he and his comrade managed, after a great deal of work and struggle, to make their way out onto the street.

DULUTH BOY IS MISSING

Leaves Home After Resenting Instructions From Parent.

Hurt by a parental edict which he didn't want to obey, Jay Atwood, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Atwood, 1914 Waverly avenue, Hunter's Park, failed to return home for lunch at noon yesterday and has been missing ever since. His parents became greatly alarmed over his absence last night, and notified Chief C. H. Troyer, who instructed officers throughout the city to look for the lad.

On his way to the Washburn school yesterday morning, Jay stopped at a small pond, and while playing there, fell in up to his knees. When he arrived at school the principal sent him home to change his clothes, fearing that he might catch cold.

Mrs. Atwood told him to return to school, after he reached home and changed his clothes, but the boy didn't want to do it, and after objecting to his mother's request, left the house, going towards the schoolhouse. He has not been seen since that time, and his mother is greatly distressed by his absence.

Members of the Atwood family started searching for him last night, and drove out along the Colbyville road, where they heard he had been seen. Police do not believe that the boy has gone very far, or that he has been harmed in any way, and advance the theory that he probably is staying with acquaintances in the nearby suburban district, while fishing.

When he left home, Jay wore a blue serge Norfolk suit and a mackinaw cap. He is large for his age, being aboue 5 feet 6 inches tall, and is dark complexioned, with black hair and eyes.

Mr. Atwood, the boy's father, is a leading member of the Duluth board of trade and a director of the Commercial club.

SILBERSTEIN HAS DECIDING VOTE

Palmer's Fate Rests With New Head of Safety Department.

The city clerkship appointment rests with Commissioner Silberstein.

Indications now point to a tie vote on the city clerkship, with Mr. Silberstein left to cast the deciding ballot.

Commissioner-elect Farrell is said to favor Walter Borgen, while friends of the latter say that he aided Commissioner Merritt in the campaign two years ago and that there is no doubt about the support of the head of the utilities division. Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss say that they will vote for Mr. Palmer, thus leaving Mr. Silberstein to cast the deciding ballot. Commissioner Merritt, when asked this morning how he would vote, said that he had made up his mind, but that he would never make any announcement to the newspapers. Mr. Silberstein declared this morning he was not ready to announce his decision.

HICKEN REPLIES TO STATEMENTS REGARDING HEALTH OFFICER'S FEES

In a letter to The Herald this morning, Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety division, takes emphatic exception to articles published in the News Tribune during the last week, regarding the salaries of Health Director Webster and Police Surgeon Murphy.

Commissioner Hicken's statement follows:

"To the Editor of The Herald:

"In order to correct an impression that the morning paper is systematically endeavoring to foster, permit me to give the public the facts regarding the salary and fees of the director of public health the past year. Salary from the city of Duluth, $1,200; fees from the state as register of births and deaths, $754.25, or a total of $1,954.25, as compared with $2,000 in fees claimed by the morning paper.

"The register of births and deaths is a state appointment and the state is under no obligation to appoint the director of the health department. The $2,000 in fees reported by the morning paper is a wilful misrepresentation of facts, as the paper is in possession of the correct figures, which are as stated above.

"The police surgeon's salary is $900 a year and not $1,800 as reported by the morning paper today. Yours truly,

"W. A. HICKEN,
"Commissioner of Public Safety."

DULUTH BENEFITS BY NEW TRAIN CHANGES

New Great Northern Time Card Will Help the Zenith City.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the new Great Northern time card, effective April 25, Duluth will be given much better passenger service to points west of Grand Forks.

To Duluth, the Great Northern gives a connection at Minot with No. 2, the Oriental Limited, which connection, east bound, was disrupted several months ago.

West-bound, the train arriving here in the morning from Duluth, will connect with No. 29, reaching Minot by 1 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of 4 o'clock, as at present.

The earlier morning trains out of Grand Forks made this new advantage possible.

The Great Northern fast mail, east-bound, which has operated over this division for several months, will be returned to the Surrey line.

No announcement as to Sunday service has been made.

APPOINTEES SETTLED ON

Newly Elected City Commissioners Quiet Rumors for the Time.

Safety Appointments Temporary But Those in Works Department Permanent.

Appointees of New Commissioners.
SAFETY.
C. H. Troyer, chief of police.
Joseph Randall, fire chief.
Dr. E. W. Fahey, health director.
Dr. O. A. Oredson, consulting surgeon.
Dr. Harry Klein, police surgeon.
Capt. W. E. Hoy, harbor master.
PUBLIC WORKS.
Lyonel Ayres, city engineer.
James G. Lawson, assistant.
Ned Culver, secretary.
Edward Furni, bookkeeper.

All rumors concerning appointments by Bernard Silberstein and J. A. Farrell, city commissioners-elect, have been quieted for the time, at least, by announcements of the two concerning those whom they will name to the places to be filled in their respective departments after next Monday, when they will take up the reins of office.

Most of Mr. Silberstein's appointments in the public safety department, of which he will be the head, will be temporary, but there is no certainty that there will be changes and those named as temporary officers may continue as permanent officers. Chief of Police Troyer, for instance, will remain chief until, at least, Mr. Silberstein becomes acquainted with the needs of the department, and while there are rumors about concerning the permanent appointment to the chieftainship, Mr. Silberstein will, as yet, give no inkling of what he expects to do, but, rather, intimates that he will not know for sure until he knows more about police conditions.

In the health department, Dr. E. W. Fahey will be director, and Dr. O. A. Oredson will serve as consulting surgeon without pay, until such time as the new safety commissioner can make arrangements for a "whole-time" director. Dr. Harry Klein will be police surgeon for the time, at least.

Commissioner-elect Farrell announces that his appointments are settled upon and will be permanent. The only change or addition will be the employing of a paving expert to take supervision of the maintenance division and the paving work. Mr. Farrell left last evening for St. Paul.

LEHIGH ROAD WILL AWARD BIG CONTRACT

Improved Business Conditions to Bring About Expenditure of $1,000,000.

Washington, April 16.—Announcement that the Lehigh railroad soon will award contracts involving an expenditure of almost $1,000,000 as a result of "improved business conditions at this time," was made in a letter to President Wilson from E. B. Thomas, president of the road, which was made public last night at the White House, with the consent of Mr. Thomas. Details were not given, but the letter added that the road contemplated additional expenditures, "if conditions improve in the manner I believe they will."

Mr. Thomas wrote the president to deny that he meant any criticism of the administration in saying in a recent statement after a call at the White House that the prosperity of the railroads depended largely on the attitude of Washington officials.

"It seems to me that a careful reading of the entire statement," he concluded, "cannot leave an impression of criticism of your administration. I said, among other things, that business should face the future with confidence; that the adjournment of congress enabled you to keep your promise that business was to have a rest; that the manner in which the country had solved the financial problems forced upon us by the war, due in large measure, of course, to the new Federal reserve act, demonstrated that the country was fundamentally sound. These sentiments certainly cannot be regarded as a reflection either upon you or your administration."

PETITIONS BEING SIGNED IN FARGO

Many Matters Sought to Be Controlled By Direct Legislation.

Fargo, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The referendum petitions aimed at fourteen enactments of the recent legislative session are being circulated here and signed. These are ostensibly issued by the Direct Legislation league, though the people behind the deal are the Knauf-Seiler-Buck combination of Jamestown and F. O. Hellstrom, twice a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket.

Because of the appeals of the press to the voters not to sign the petitions against the board of regents and the immigration bills, it is hoped to prevent many from assisting in holding those up. The petitions as circulated here are aimed at so many measures of a minor character some people regard them as petty and have refused to sign, although opposed to some of the other measures in controversy.

Those behind the movement are expressing the utmost confidence in their ability to secure a sufficient number of signatures to hold them up for two years and submit them to the voters at the next general election.

OLD RESIDENT BURIED.

Funeral of Ole Sorum Is Held at Moose Lake.

Moose Lake, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Ole Sorum, one of the old residents living on the East side, who died last Saturday, aged 72, was held Monday at the home and also at the Norwegian Lutheran church, Rev. Mr. Casperson officiating. A large number of friends and neighbors were in attendance. The remains were interred at the Moose Lake cemetery.

Mr. Sorum is survived by a widow, three sons and two daughters.

WEST END

WILL GIVE SERMON ON THE SEVEN SEALS

Pastor White Will Give Illustrated Interpretation of Bible Prophesy.

Next Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west, Pastor Stemple White will deliver the third of a series of Sunday afternoon lectures, now in progress. Following Bishop Charles Thompson's religious liberty address on "Forbidden Fruit" of last Sunday, Pastor White will present next Sunday afternoon, in a most strikingly illustrated manner, the prophecy of Rev. vi, in which the seven seals of a mysterious book were consecutively broken and opened. What the prophet beheld, the spectator will behold on colored charts, and also clearly understand its simple meaning.

If You Are Losing Weight and your nerves are in bad condition, we recommend

E. M. Tredway.

There will be special music and the service will begin promptly at 3 o'clock.

Dr. David Paulson of Chicago will speak on Sunday, April 25, on "How to Postpone Your Own Funeral." The doctor will speak before the student body of the state university of Minnesota on the evening of April 24 and only by most urgent and special request has he consented to come on to Duluth. Fortunate, indeed, will be those who go to hear Dr. Paulson, noted as lecturer, writer, preacher, traveler and editor. All of these Sunday afternoon addresses are free to all.

"DRY" WORKERS WILL ORGANIZE

Hope Vote Will Be Taken Next Spring in County.

An effort to secure a vote on county option in St. Louis county will be deferred until next spring, according to announcement made by members of the North Star lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T. It is then planned to have the question voted on at the same time that the "dry" element in Superior places the question before the citizens of the City of Destiny.

The organization of a campaign committee, which will quietly work during next summer and winter, will take place in the meantime. Every temperance organization in Duluth and in St. Louis county will be asked to send a delegation to a meeting to be held within the next two months at which definite plans for securing signatures for a referendum of the question will be made.

The securing of this petition and its filing will be timed so that the election will be held on the same day that the election on the question will come up before the Superior electorate. Temperance advocates feel confident that Superior will go "dry," and that this will be an impetus to make the county of St. Louis go the same way.

BOYS FORM LEAGUE TO BEAUTIFY CITY

Twenty-Five Students From Five Schools Meet Clean-up Committee.

Twenty-five boys, representing the five schools of the West end, formed the "West End Beautifying League" at a meeting held with the clean-up committee of the West End Commercial club last evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. Plans for starting an immediate campaign for cleaning up each school district were made.

The boys will carry back to their respective institutions the plans as outlined by the club members, and this afternoon will organize in each of the schools the clean-up squad. The districts will be gone over systematically under the direction of the boys, who will appoint captains, lieutenants and other assistants.

Rakes and other implements necessary for the cleaning up of the district will be furnished by the Commercial club. The campaign will be in full swing next week, and it is expected that all of the districts will have been given their cleaning before the middle of May.

The distribution of prizes will take place following an inspection of the various districts at the close of the campaign. The committee to judge the winners are: K. A. Franklin, A. B. Width and L. A. Simonson.

MILL TO EMPLOY FIFTY MORE MEN

Scott-Graff Operations to Be Increased in Ten Days.

The Scott-Graff lumber mill at the foot of Twenty-third avenue west commenced the cutting of hardwood logs yesterday afternoon. While this kind of lumber is being cut, only about a half crew will be employed. It is expected that it will take about a week or ten days before the cut is completed. At its completion the mill will be opened on both sides, and employment will be given to about fifty more men.

MANY ATTEND LUNCHEON

Business Men Plan Entertainments at Noon-Day Meeting.

Virtually every business house in the West end was represented at the noon luncheon held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Rex hotel. The discussion of plans for a series of open-air entertainments that will take place during the summer on Superior street, began at 2 o'clock. It is expected that some action will be taken on this matter before the meetings end. The luncheon was arranged by a committee consisting of A. O. Anderson and John Moir.

Hostess to Society.

Mrs. H. J. Webber was hostess yesterday afternoon for the Tabernacle Society of St. Clements' Catholic church at a social held in the society's rooms. Cards were played. The honors were won by Mrs. Crube, Mrs. Walters and Mrs. John Nolan.

Superior Pastor Will Preach.

Rev. H. B. Burt of Superior will preach Sunday morning at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. In the evening the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. J. W. Lilleo, pastor of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Frank Forsberg, 3911 West Eighth street, was pleasantly surprised yesterday afternoon by about forty women representing the Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Methodist church. Mrs. Adolph Wiberg and Mrs. Ueis Setterquist arranged the affair.

The Epworth League of the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a social in the church parlors this evening. Miss Esther Segerman will be hostess.

The choir of the Swedish Mission church will hold a specil rehearsal this evening. The choir will furnish the program Sunday afternoon at the Vesper services to be held at the Y. W. C. A.

Albion C. Anderson of St. Paul, who has been visiting friends in this end of the city, left for his home last evening.

Mrs. W. E. Harmann, 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west, entertained yesterday afternoon for the Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church.

ARTISTS SING IN LONDON'S STREETS

Professionals Have Been Reduced to Play for Pennies.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—Grinders of wheezy organs, elastic cheeked cornetists and otherebeggars using music simply as an excuse for passing the hat are rapidly being driven out of business in London, for the war has brought a new and superior type of street musician to the front. Professionals, who used to support themselves by teaching and orchestral work, have now been reduced to playing for pennies. But they give the public really good music for its money, and are not paid to move away.

Most of these artists come from Belgium. Usually they push around a piano on wheels, either to be played in solo or to accompany voices or the violin. Their programs are as good as ordinarily heard in the best theaters, but they are graded according to the part of the city. In Soho, London's Latin quarter, the music is of the gayest sort, in the ordinary middle class neighborhoods the selections run to the popular and sentimental, but in the cultivated West end to the classical. Many of the singers come from the opera and concert stage. Sometimes, to conceal his identity, the impoverished artist wears a domino across the face.

The new type of street musicians are not badly rewarded for they are recognized as respectable people who have fallen victims to war conditions.

WOMEN STREET CAR CONDUCTORS TRIED.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Glasgow, April 2.—Women street car conductors are being tried in Glasgow. The uniform includes a neat blue skirt and coat, edged with gold braid. If the trial squad of women conductors proves efficient, a considerable number will be employed at once. For the present, the women fare-collectors will work only four hours a day, running between the University and Dunbreck. They will be paid the same wages as men—$6.25 to $9 a week.

DON'T KNOW "HARD TIMES"

Duluthians Haven't Felt Any Such Depression as Southwest Has.

Dr. W. A. McClaran of Duluth returned yesterday from a two weeks' business trip over the Southwest with the information that Duluth and Duluthians don't really know what hard times are.

"If you want to get a thorough realization of just how prosperous Duluth is, visit some other sections of the country," said Dr. McClaran. "While I believe that the country is on the very brink of an era of prosperity, it is a matter of fact that money is awfully tight in vast stretches of the Southwestern country.

"For instance, there is $15,000,000 more today in the banks of Kansas City, Mo., than at any period for a long term of years, and yet real estate values have shrunk to a low degree and business men will tell you that it is difficult to realize money on good security.

"Texas is suffering from a somewhat similar money-tight malady. In some instances large ranches have been sold for mortgages that did not represent anywhere near the actual value of the land. People who have the money are not letting go.

"Coming back to Duluth is like stepping into a different financial atmosphere. Up here we have not known anything like the degree of depression that has been gone through by other sections of the country. Everywhere there is a feeling that the United States is going to experience some real prosperity.

"Down in Kansas and Missouri I met a number of representatives of European governments who were purchasing horses, leather goods and machinery for their governments. The Middle West live stock dealers have reaped a benefit from the insistent demand of the European countries for horses. Foreign governments have their inspectors who rigidly inspect the livestock before purchasing.

"Duluth has no real reason to complain of 'hard times.' It is certainly one of the most prosperous cities in the Middle West, and its condition could hardly be compared with the conditions found in many of the cities of the Southwestern cotton belt."

BURGLAR WORE BLACK MASK

Held Up Clerk With Revolver, Taking Cash From Drawer.

Wearing a black mask and carrying a formidable looking revolver, a true-to-dime-novel-form holdup artist entered the J. L. Trondal meat market, 2103 West Third street, shortly after 6:30 o'clock last night and held up the clerk, taking between $30 and $40 from the cash register. He escaped.

A. C. Berg, the clerk, said the visitor walked over to the counter and pointed the gun at him, telling him to "keep his mouth shut." He then walked around back of the counter and emptied the cash drawer of its contents.

When the police arrived the clerk was unable to give a good description of his assailant, except that he wore a mask and was broad shouldered.

ANOTHER FARGO DAILY.

Equity Co-operative Exchange Reported Behind the Undertaking.

Fargo, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. M. Baker, manager of the Co-operative Herald, a weekly publication, and J. M. Anderson, president of the Equity Co-operative exchange, are arranging to start a third daily in Fargo. It will be issued first about May 15. They are now getting the equipment. It is for the purpose of boosting the Equity Co-operative exchange and attacking the state administration, against which both are bitter. It will be a morning publication.

"May Duffy's Do For Many Others, What It Has Done For Me"

MR. T. A. HALL

Because a healthy system will throw off germs through the various eliminating organs of the body, the waste-repairing and strength-producing properties of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey prove particularly valuable in the relief of throat and lung troubles, as this gentleman so clearly states:

"I feel it a duty to tell everybody the good Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done me. Four years ago I became very ill—had suffered for years with lung trouble; in fact have lost two sisters, a nephew and niece with the same malady. The doctors told my family I could not possibly live the winter through. I read your advt. and resolved to try Duffy's, and it has certainly done wonders for me. I am much better than I have been for years, and as I have taken no other medicine but yours, I feel all the credit is due to Duffy's. May Duffy's do for many others what it has done for me."—(Signed) T. A. Hall, 432 Locust St., Barberton, O.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is made to meet the demand for a high grade tonic stimulant, free from the injurious by-products contained in beverage whiskies, and suitable for the use of the delicate, those who are not entirely well, and the aged who require a tonic stimulant to maintain good health. It is truly a medicine for all mankind, which makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous. You, too, can

EGG PRICES UNCHANGED

Butter and Eggs Market Firm Owing to Heavy Demand.

Fruits and Vegetables Are Cheap; Meat Quotations Are Advanced.

Butter and eggs in Duluth are not likely to be any cheaper for some time yet, in the opinion of dealers.

Receipts of eggs are said to be increasing slowly, but with the extra call for storage purposes, the market in them is firm, as supplies are being kept fully cleaned up. Wholesale quotations remin at 20@22 cents a dozen, with operators bidding for all lots coming in. Comment is made that eggs are going into store this spring at higher figures than had been expected some time ago, and as imports will be shut off on account of the European war, predictions are made that consumers will be asked to pay a fair price for them next winter.

Butter is steady with the best creamery quoted at 29@31 cents a pound. The make is improving, but it is assumed that the market will hold firm until cattle are sent out to pasture and their cost of upkeep is reduced. A steady Eastern call for butter on this market is reported by the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company, and fair shipments are being made from here to various points in New York state.

Green Vegetables Cheap.

Green vegetables from Texas, Louisiana and California are cheaper today than a week ago and supplies and choice offerings have been materially extended. Shipments of California celery have been stopped for the season and its market is firm, as stocks in dealers' hands are comparatively small. Supplies of old Northern Minnesota cabbage have been cleaned up and the market is now being supplied from Texas. As weather conditions down there were favorable, the quality of the vegetable is good and its price is regarded as cheap.

The best Minnesota potatoes are now selling at 60 cents a bushel, and it is predicted that their price will be higher shortly. Though stocks all through this state were heavy, they are being rapidly cleaned up. An interesting development is that shipments of potatoes are being made from this territory all the way to San Francisco, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company. That is due to extra demand created there through the Panama exposition. Ordinarily the market would be supplied from Idaho.

Fruit Choice Good.

Oranges are a feature in fruits. The navel season is nearly over, but Valencias will be available in a short time. It is said that they will run to large sizes this season and that their quality will be exceptionally good.

Box Ben Davis apples are still selling in quantities. This is the best keeping late variety and the quality of the fruit is holding up well. Sales of grapefruit are reported to have been larger this season than in several years due to its low price. No immediate advance is looked for. Strawberries are scarce on account of the first crop being cleaned up. Receipts of the second crop berry from Louisiana are expected next week, and then it is thought their quotations will be lower. Rhubarb from Illinois is due on this market in a few days.

Meats Are Dearer.

With the exception of lamb, quotations in all meats are higher owing to light receipts of cattle at packing points. No improvement in that respect is likely for some time as farmers are busy with their spring work in all sections of the country.

Poultry prices are unchanged, as receipts of live birds are still at a minimum. The market is firm in all frozen stock.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

BLIND SOLDIERS BEING TAUGHT

American Banker Turns Over London Residence for Their Use.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—There are already fifty blind soldiers, including three officers, at the home of Otto Kahn, the American banker, at Regents Park, St. Dunstan's. Mr. Kahn turned his residence over to the Red Cross society some time ago for the use of soldiers who had lost their eyes.

The Kahn estate includes about fifteen acres of grounds, with various small buildings which will be used for training-rooms and workshops. There is also a small lake on which the blind men will be allowed to row.

The sightless soldiers will receive preliminary instruction in carpentry, boat repairing, mat making, basket weaving, telephone operating, massage, poultry farming, and market gardening, an effort being made to find for each man the occupation to which he is best adapted. The cost of running the institution will be met by the Red Cross, the National Institute for the Blind and the Order of St. John.

FARGO COLLEGE STILL IN ORATORICAL LEAGUE.

Jamestown, N. D., April 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo college, which for a time was threatened with being ousted from the North Dakota Collegiate Oratorical league, has established itself in the good graces of that organization and will have a representative at the state meeting here April 26. Bruce Pollock was chosen by the college as its representative.

Fargo college, the state university, Jamestown college, the North Dakota Agricultural college and the Wahpeton school of science will be represented in the coming event here.

TIME TO PLAN THE GARDEN

Seed Selection and Soil Treatment First Problems to Consider.

Sweet Peas May Be Planted Soon—Preparing the Lawn.

SEASONABLE HINTS FOR THE GARDENER.

Clean up the back yard.
Don't set trees or plant the garden until the frost is out and the soil warms up.
Plan how and where everything in the garden is to be planted.
Prepare the soil for the lawn and sow grass seed.
Cut a brush trellis for sweet peas and garden peas.
Now is the time to plant early cabbages, tomatoes, peppers and head lettuce in the hot bed.
Nasturtiums for early blooming may be started under the glass at this time.

This is the time of the year when interest in green lawns, bright flower beds and the backyard vegetable garden begins to assert itself.

Throughout the city there are unmistakable signs of garden preparation and lawn making. The homecroft idea, for which Duluth is famous, has also been revived and is spreading like contagion. Yards have been raked and cleaned, grass plots burned over and garden spots spaded.

Everybody who has a backyard seems to want a garden this year. The experienced homecrofter knows that it is one solution to the problem of the high cost of living, and others are profiting by his experience and are making preparations for a garden plot of their own this season.

The matter of first importance for the gardener is his seed supply. The experienced gardener knows that poor seeds never bring satisfactory results, and he is therefore careful in his selection. He is either guided by his experience in past seasons or by the advice of some successful gardener in this locality.

The home gardener should first determine what varieties to plant and then carefully select his seeds. Good seeds usually cost but little more than those of good quality, and they are worth many times more than the slight difference in cost.

Soil Treatment.

Soil treatment is also another important feature. If a garden has been cropped for several seasons without the aid of fertilizers, its yielding capacity necessarily has been lessened to a more or less extent. Under such circumstances, the surest method for rejuvenating the soil is the application of a liberal amount of well-rotted stable manure thoroughly plowed or spaded under.

Where it is impossible to get good stable manure, commercial fertilizer may be used, but it is more difficult to get as good results. For a garden 25 by 50 feet, 100 pounds of the following mixture should insure satisfactory results when thoroughly mixed with the top soil after spading: Four parts of nitrate of soda, eight parts of muriate of potash and ten parts of crushed phosphate rock or acid phosphate.

Hot beds that have already been planted should be protected against frost these chilly nights. If seeds for tomato and pepper plants have not already been planted, no time should be lost in getting them in.

Where there are raspberry bushes, the last season's fruiting canes should be cut out from the bushes, carried away and burned. The canes fruit but once, and if left on the bushes, only interfere with cultivation and the gathering of fruit. They also sap the vitality from the new wood and provide a breeding place for vermin.

Seed for early cabbage plants should be planted now, either in the hot bed or in flat boxes in the house. The plants should be given plenty of light and air as soon as they appear above the surface of the soil. They do not require much heat. The best varieties to plant are the Early Jersey Wakefield and Copenhagen Market. Later varieties of cabbage may be started in the open ground. Head lettuce for transplanting to the open ground should also be planted at this time.

Planting Sweet Peas.

Sweet peas as well as the garden variety may be planted soon. It is well to remember that both thrive better where brush is used as a trellis than they do where wire netting is used. For sweet peas the brush should be six to seven feet high. If pushed in firmly to a depth of five or six inches in the ground and placed close enough together to interlace, the brush trellis not only stands well but looks tidy.

Many people do their outside planting too early. Few things can be planted safely until the soil becomes thoroughly worm. Even though the seed may eventually come through, the slow germination means a weakened vitality and unsatisfactory growth.

As soon as the ground is dry enough to work, preparations for making the lawn may begin. Deep spading and fertilization will insure the best results. When there is no wind, the seed may be sown broadcast by hand. It should be remembered to sow thickly enough to insure a heavy growth. Unless the seed is applied just before a shower, the surface which has been sowed should be gently stirred with a garden rake.

Hardy plants and trees which are too early moved in the spring are apt to prove a failure.

A QUICK, SURE WAY TO END CATARRH

Catarrh Germs Breed By Millions in Air Passages of Nose and Throat—Just One Way to Drive Them Out.

To stop catarrh for good you must drive from your system the germs that cause catarrh and that are now feeding and growing fat upon the swollen inflamed mucous membranes of your nose and throat.

A splendid means of destroying catarrh germs and overcoming catarrh has long been recognized by physicians in the well known oil of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and it is now a very simple matter for any catarrh sufferer to use it with splendid results at home, by breathing its air through a little hard rubber inhaling device which leading druggists are supplying with each large complete treatment. Just pour a few drops of the oil of Hyomei into this inhaler, place it between your lips and then breathe naturally and the pleasant smelling antiseptic, germ killing air will penetrate deep down into every fold and crevice of your raw, sore nose, throat and lungs and give you quick certain relief, opening up the air passages, making you breathe easily, stopping the inflammation and discharge and driving from your system every catarrh germ that has found lodgement there.

If you want to be free from every symptom of catarrh, are tired of trying one thing after another without benefit go to Boyce Drug store or any other reliable drug store hereabouts and get a complete Hyomei inhaler outfit, use it every day for a few minutes and if it does not drive the catarrh germs out of your system and give you real lasting relief from catarrh, your druggist will give you your money back.

HOW A STEAMER ELUDED THE U-28

"Yes, I and the Old Man Did It," Said Ship's Boy.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Rotterdam, March 30.—The German submarine U-28, according to seamen who travel between this port and England, has a regular beat which she patrols, between the Maas lightship and the North Hinder. Practically every day she is on duty along that route watching for the railway and cargo steamers on their way to Hull or Harwich or Rotterdam. She has a number of captures to her credit at this point, although she has not yet succeeded in getting any of the fast mail or railway packet boats. Their speed is superior, and they vary their course on each trip so as to make it impossible for the submarine to lie in wait along the way.

The following description of the pursuit of one of the railway steamers is published here:

"The ship was pounding along at twelve knots, when suddenly there was a flash of sunlight on the surface of the sea, maybe two miles away, and the lookout called sharply, 'Submarine on the port bow!'

"There was a sharp command to the man at the wheel and the ship changed her course. Then a quick call down the tube and the engineer sang out to his stokers, 'Beat her up, boys, U-28 is having another go!'

"Down the stokehold tumbled the deckhands, eager to help with shovel and oilcan. The water jumped in the gauge, the safety valves showed signs of torment, there was a smell of heated bearings, the ship began to quiver, while the perspiring crew made bets with each other on the race.

"The captain himself took the wheel. Beside him stood the ship's boy, watching with fascinated eyes the white wake which marked the course of the submarine running at fourteen knots to cut them off. Smoke and fire streamed from the funnels and there was an odor of burning paint. The iron deck chattered and groaned under the demands of the engines and the ship gained headway.

"Suddenly the captain's shoulder gave a lurch, his arms shot down, the boy thrown off his balance fell against the bulwarks, and the ship swerved in a half circle on a new course. Gradually the speed rose to 13, 14, 14½ knots. The captain's face relaxed into a smile.

"What if the engine should break down?" thought the boy, as his eyes again sought that distant white wake. In the long stern chase the same thought often came to the captain, but his face showed nothing but a quiet interest and his hands held strong on the wheel. Smaller and smaller grew the pursuer, until finally it sullenly gave up the chase. Then came a call down the tube, a heavy sigh of relief from the engineer, and the men came tumbling back to deck.

"'Good old U-28, we've beaten her again,' shouted one of the crew gazing astern.

"'Yes, I and the old man did it,' exclaimed the boy."

Dermatologist Gives Complexion Secret

"The great secret of keeping the face young is to keep off the dead cuticle," says Dr. J. Mortimer Mitchell. "It is well known that the surface skin is constantly dying, falling off in imperceptible particles, except in some diseased conditions, when the same appear like dandruff. But the particles do not all drop off immediately they die, being held for a while by the live skin. "To have the dermatological surgeon peel off the entire outer skin at one time is a painful and expensive operation. The same result is obtained by applying ordinary mercolized wax, as you would cold cream, allowing this to remain on over night, then taking it off with warm water. One ounce usually suffices. This process is both painless and inexpensive. The wax, which is procurable at your drug store, hastens the natural shedding process. It gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead skin, revealing the new, healthy, youthful-looking skin underneath."—Advertisement.

KILLED BY NEWS OF SON'S DEATH

Old Official of British Post-office Department Is Dead.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—Sir John Cameron Lamb, who as second secretary of the British postoffice, had a large part in the development of the port and telegraph system of England, is dead at his home here, aged 70 years. His death was hastened by the shock of news that his son had been killed in action.

Sir John's work in the postoffice covered a period of over forty years and was chiefly concerned with the administration and development of the telegraph. He was an ardent advocate of a cheap telegraphic service and carried through most of the arrangements which made possible the present flat rate of six pence (12 cents) for any twelve-word message anywhere in Great Britain. He took part in all the great international telegraphic congresses, and was in charge of the negotiations whereby the British postoffice acquired ownership of all telephone lines.

It is estimated that if the oceans evaporated they would yield about 4,500,000 cubic miles of salt.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Boyce drug store or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

NOW SEEKS HIS FREEDOM

New Chapter in Matrimonial Tangle of Clinton Curry.

Is Out on Parole Under Sentence for Abandoning Family.

Although he escaped serving a 60-day sentence at the county and city work farm on a promise that he would contribute regularly to the support of his wife and children, Clinton L. B. Curry, 24, would also evade the responsibility attached to him while under parole.

In the circuit court at Peoria, Ill., where he formerly resided, Curry has started suit for divorce against his wife, Nellie M. Curry, of this city, charging her with infidelity. The papers in the case have been sent to Duluth to be served upon her.

The divorce proceeding opens up a new chapter in the Currys' eventful matrimonial career. Although it would appear from the divorce papers that Curry was now and had been a resident of Peoria, Ill., the fact is that he is now living in Minneapolis and has been for some time past.

In April, 1913, according to the story which was told when Curry was haled before the juvenile court last February and called to account for failing to support his children, he abandoned his family. The Currys were living in this city at the time.

From Duluth, Curry went to Peoria. From there he kept up a correspondence with his wife but failed to send her any money for the grocery bills and household expenses. Mrs. Curry was obliged to give up housekeeping and placed her family of two children in the Children's Home while she sought employment.

Finds Work as Nurse.

At Winona, Minn., Mrs. Curry found work as a practical nurse. While there she received an exceptionally friendly letter from her husband and she decided to go to him to try to win back his lost love. Without informing him of her intention, she took a train for Peoria and with the aid of the police of that city succeeded in locating him.

Curry was found to be living with one Teresa Zehner, to whom he claimed he had been married at St. Louis, Mo. One child had been born. It was then 5 months old. Wife No. 2 declared that she knew nothing of the previous marriage and lost no time in relinquishing all claims to him. At first she even told Curry to take their child with him, but before Curry and Wife No. 1 departed, she changed her mind and the baby was left with her.

Again reunited, the Currys started for Minnesota to begin life anew. They reached Minneapolis last December and, after a short period, Curry again disappeared. Mrs. Curry took the two children and came to Duluth, where she obtained work as a waitress. One of the children was placed in the Children's home and the other was placed with Mrs. William Curry of Lakeside, her husband's mother. Later both were put in the Children's home.

The case was brought to the attention of R. D. McKercher, humane agent, who learned from the St. Louis authorities that no marriage license had been issued to Curry and the Zahner woman, as had been claimed by Curry at Peoria. An investigation of Curry's whereabouts also followed and he was finally located in a logging camp northeast of this city.

Arrested on Old Warrant.

Curry was arrested on an old warrant issued at the time of his disappearance two years ago, and was brought to Duluth. When haled before Judge Ensign on Feb. 7 last, he was sentenced to sixty days at the work farm on a charge of contributing to the dependency of his children.

Because of the wife and children, Judge Ensign decided to give Curry a chance, and suspended the sentence, permitting him to have his liberty. The court, at that time, required him to pay for the support of the children, who were being cared for at the Children's home, and to make proper provision for the support of his wife.

In his suit for divorce, Curry alleges that they were married Feb. 1, 1911. He charges that on Dec. 10, 1914, at a rooming house in Minneapolis, Mrs. Curry committed adultery with a man whose name he does not know, and asks the Illinois court to grant him a decree on this ground.

He also asks for the custody of the two children, Harland, 4; and Milton, 3. His attorneys are Sholes and Pratt of Peoria.

GERMAN AND FRENCH SHELLS

This is one of the huge shells of the German 42-centimeter gun and beside it are shells of the French 75-millimeter and the German 77-millimeter gun. This big shell is one of the family which broke up the steel forts of Liege as though they had been of pasteboard. Because no one could be found who had actually seen a 42-centimeter gun and no photograph of it existed, the English some time ago expressed the opinion that "ther ain't no such animal." This unexploded shell fell near Verdun and afforded the allies the first opportunity to obtain actual information concerning the projectile. The shell is five feet long and it weighs just 133 pounds less than a ton. It was discharged from a point seven and a half miles from the fort at Verdun at which it was aimed.

INDUSTRIAL UNREST ON THE DECREASE

View of J. Ogden Armour in Statement to Commission.

Chicago, April 16.—J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., testifying before the United States commission on industrial relations today, expressed the opinion that industrial unrest in the United States is slowly decreasing. His own employes, he said, were adequately protected through the privilege of appealing to their respective foremen.

The witness said he keeps in touch with employes in their homes through foremen and the company's welfare workers. Employes are privileged to appeal to the president of the company when they think subordinate officials deal unjustly with them.

"I always investigate," said Mr. Armour.

Mr. Armour said he did not believe unions were necessary to the welfare of employes.

"The success of an employer depends on the employe," said he, "and to get the best work of the employe the best wages the market affords must be paid."

"You said you wouldn't have organizers around the plant during working hours. Is the reason industrial or economic?" asked Commissioner Garretson.

"Both," replied Mr. Armour. "I wouldn't have them around, anyway."

"Why?"

"I have had experience. As soon as a union has a little power it commits excesses."

"I am at the head of the Order of Railroad Conductors, considered a responsible organization, yet in its early struggles it was called irresponsible," said Mr. Garretson.

"Maybe the wrong man was at its head in the early days," replied the packer.

"No; it was the same man."

"Then you have gained experience—you have grown into your job," said Mr. Armour.

REFORM DAY IN THE WISCONSIN SENATE

Many Anti-Vice Measures Acted Upon in Various Ways.

Madison, Wis., April 16.—Both houses labored well along in the afternoon today to clean up Friday and Saturday's calendars.

It was moral reform day in the upper house, many of the anti-vice committee's measures being on the calendar.

The senate advanced bills aimed at pandering, attendance of women in dance halls where liquor is sold and indecent exhibitions at fairs and killed a half dozen others, among them the bill making the terms of the Mann act applicable to Wisconsin. The latter was opposed by Senators Bennett, Burke and Fairchild, all lawyers, as a dangerous means of encouraging blackmail and extortion.

Senator Burke observed that the people are drifting toward Socialist schemes in advocating such methods. He declared parading of the vice committee's report had caused more harm than good, that white slavery agitation had debauched the public mind and that he was ready to oppose anything that favored extortion or blackmail.

"We have enough statutes on our books now to take care of all these conditions," said Mr. Burke.

Senator Bray said roadhouses are a menace to Oshkosh.

Senator Fairchild said the conditions can be handled under existing laws. The bill was killed in accordance with the committee's recommendations.

The senate engrossed the Bennett bill providing as amended that the services of the medical staff of the university and the facilities of the medical school shall be furnished only to regularly enrolled students, but that physicians and dentists may avail themselves of the facilities of the clinical laboratories and call upon the medical staff for consultation.

Action on the Bennett bill, limiting medical students to a two-year course, was deferred until next Thursday.

The Tompkins chiropractic bill and the Ackley optometry bill went over until May 6.

BEAT HIS WIFE EACH HOLIDAY

Range Woman Says Husband Was Violent During Idle Hours.

Cursing, Smashing Furniture and Beating Her His Pastime, She Says.

Holidays brought neither recreation nor happiness to the household of John Oman in Virginia during the last year, if the matrimonial experiences of Mrs. Betty Oman, as related in divorce papers filed in district court today, are to be believed.

Most people devote a holiday to amusement and gayety. Oman dedicated his to beating and maltreating his wife, according to her story.

On Thanksgiving day, 1912, Oman evidently had nothing to be thankful for except an opportunity to attack his wife with an ax and threaten her life, she says.

Christmas day, 1914, was spent by Oman in smashing furniture about the house and heaping curses and threats of death upon her, she claims.

When Washington's birthday came around this year, Oman took occasion to attempt to beat his wife again. According to her version, she escaped by running upstairs and locking herself in a room.

Mrs. Oman declares that on numerous occasions she has been subjected to indignities and that several times he has falsely accused her of infidelity.

Mrs. Oman is 39 and he is 55. They were married on March 15, 1894, and are parents of one son, John, now aged 20.

Ernestine Lipke, 53, another Virginia woman is also seeking a divorce on similar grounds from her husband, John Lipke, also 53, to whom she was married at Bayfield, Wis., on July 13, 1897.

At the time of their marriage, she was a widow with three children by her former marriage. Shortly after she went to live with Lipke, she claims, he began to mistreat her children and later began to abuse her. His cruelty, she claims, has extended over a period of ten years.

In 1905, she alleges, he struck her with an iron kettle. In 1910, she received a beating with his fists, she declares. She also relates that in February 1915 he pounded her with a stick of firewood.

This was the last straw. She had him arrested and the court in Virginia sentenced him on Feb. 20 last to do sixty days. Lipke is a lumber grader.

PRISONERS NOT MISTREATED.

Crookston Woman Just Back From Germany Denies Accusation.

Crookston, Minn., April 16.—"Reports that have been circulated freely throughout all sections of the United States that German soldiers have mistreated prisoners of war in their charge are untrue in almost every detail," declared Mrs. Marie Munch, mother of William and Graham Munch, who returned to Crookston Wednesday after a ten months' visit to her brother and other relatives in Dardesheim, Germany.

Mrs. Munch, despite her 72 years, stood the 3,300-mile sea trip well.

"Five of the sons of nephews of mine have taken up arms in defense of the empire," said Mrs. Munch. "One of them was wounded five times, but shortly before I left he had again gone to the front to rejoin his regiment.

"It will be a long time before the Germans will run out of provisions. Everything is being done by the government to conserve the different varieties of food, and nothing is allowed to go to waste. Of course, there is a big decrease in the supply of wheat and rye, but what is lacking in these is made up from other sources, such as making flour from potatoes. One thing that I noticed in particular is that the government has been storing large quantities of breakfast foods in all of the larger cities against the day that they may be needed."

Returns to Proctor.

Negaunee, Mich., April 16.—John Gaffney, left Wednesday evening for Proctor, Minn., to resume his work with the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company.

LABOR TROUBLE SUSPENDS WORK ON 4,000 BUILDINGS

Over 75,000 Men Idle in Chicago Through Lockouts By Employers.

Sixteen Thousand Carpenters Who Struck Also Under Ban.

Chicago, April 16.—Sixteen thousand union carpenters, striking for an increase of five cents an hour were under the ban of a lockout order by their former employers today. Painters, lathers, plasterers and sheet metal workers found themselves in similar conditions and enough allied trades were affected to bring the total of idle men beyond 75,000.

The decision of sheet metal contractors to join the fight against the unions was a blow to the latter as the labor leaders had hoped that employers in that line would try to perpetuate conditions which by barring outside material, it was declared, gave local concerns a monopoly on such work in this city.

Will Save Bonds.

While the action of the sheet metal contractors probably will open the gates for competition from outside communities, the more immediate effect will be to save the local employers the bonds they deposited to insure co-operation with employers of other trades. The metal men were told, however, that if they forfeited their bonds they would also lose any chance for contracts with members of the Allied Employers' association.

Work Ceases.

Work ceased on approximately 4,000 of the 4,500 unfinished structures in the city. Watchmen were employed to keep close vigil over unfinished buildings, and most of the employers announced their intention to bring nonunion workmen into Chicago from other cities. The first action of this kind probably will be taken by the contracting painters and decorators.

Violence has already been reported. A big automobile carrying men armed with brass knuckles and blackjacks appeared on the north side and several non-union men were beaten, according to reports.

Pickets for the union were posted at all downtown work today.

he died. They included Mrs. Aldrich, Miss Aldrich and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., his daughters, and Winthrop Aldrich, his son. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mr. Aldrich's son-in-law, could not be reached in time and was notified of his death within a few minutes after he had died.

This announcement was made today at Mr. Rockefeller's office:

"Senator Aldrich died at his home, 908 Fifth avenue, New York city, about 10 o'clock this morning, of an apoplectic stroke."

Became Ill Thursday.

Mr. Aldrich became ill early yesterday afternoon. Dr. Thatcher was summoned but could not be reached. Dr. Allen M. Thomas was then called. He diagnosed the illness as a slight attack of indigestion and Mr. Aldrich went to bed. Soon afterward Dr. Thatcher arrived, remained a few minutes and departed.

This morning Dr. Thatcher called upon Mr. Aldrich about 9:30 o'clock. The patient seemed to be in good spirits and to be suffering of nothing serious.

After chatting with him about ten minutes, Dr. Thatcher left the house. Ten minutes later Mr. Aldrich was stricken.

Nelson W. Aldrich was born in Foster, R. I., Nov. 6, 1841, and entered politics at the age of 34. He served in the Rhode Island assembly and in 1879 was sent to congress. Two years later he was elected United States senator. He represented Rhode Island in the senate until 1911 when he retired. For years he had occupied a dominant place in the national councils of his party.

In Senate Thirty Years.

Nelson Wilmarth Aldrich held a seat in the United States senate continuously from 1881 to 1911. The influence exerted by him on governmental affairs was best illustrated by the fact that when he was satirically introduced to an audience as "the general manager of the United States," that appellation lived through the administrations of McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Probably the greatest parliamentarian that ever served in the senate, Mr. Aldrich had no difficulty in maintaining leadership of his party. Although known among the veterans as a "committee" senator, he was quite as much at home on the floor and naturally was more in evidence in the larger arena. While he gave special attention to the tariff and financial legislation in committee, on the senate floor his ear was open for all that was said on any subject of general importance. He seldom failed to participate in the discussion of any measure affecting governmental policies.

Charged With Bossism.

Naturally Mr. Aldrich's long-continued supremacy in the counsels of his party and in directing legislation caused him to become the subject of much adverse criticism. He was charged with bossism and with being the tool of the "interests." Whether or not this was true in the main, it can be said in fairness that some of these assertions gained and held currency because it was his policy never to defend himself against published attacks. He rarely permitted himself to be quoted by the press.

The fact that his daughter was married to a son of John D. Rockefeller served to strengthen the popular impression that Senator Aldrich was in some way peculiarly friendly to the oil magnate and considerate of the so-called "Rockefeller interests." Yet when a friend of the senator once asked him for a letter to Mr. Rockefeller, Mr. Aldrich replied:

"As I have met Mr. Rockefeller only twice in my life, I fear the letter would be of but little assistance to you."

In legislation he was charged with being sectional. This is hardly borne out by the facts, and more than once he gained his points by utilizing the conflict of interests between West and South and East.

A temporary opponent within his own party when suddenly deprived of the floor during a debate on proposed currency reforms expostulated in vain. As he took his seat he said: "The senate no longer is the great forum of free speech, at least not when the senator from Rhode Island is here."

Avoided Discussion.

Studiously avoiding discussing or reading attacks upon him Mr. Aldrich practically invited adverse criticism. A well known writer of Wall Street tales devoted one whole winter to a study of Aldrich and then wrote a long biography for a popular magazine. The article was profusely illustrated and a highly colored photograph was used on the outside cover. Naturally the author desired to know what Aldrich thought of the article and a friend sought to find out. A copy of the magazine was handed to the senator. He looked at the cover and his face depicted disgust. "I never wore a green waistcoat in my life," he said, and forthwith the offending magazine was thrown into the waste basket.

Born in Foster, R. I., Nov. 6, 1841, he first appeared in public office as member of the common council in the city of Providence. He was elected to the Rhode Island assembly in 1875, and four years later sent to congress. After two sessions he was elevated to the senate as successor of Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside.

A Business Man.

Having begun his career as a business man, Senator Aldrich continued throughout his public service to display business-like methods and extraordinary capacity for organization. Upon his election to the senate, he was immediately made chairman of the committee on rules, and a member of the committee on finance and interstate commerce. Later as a chairman of the finance committee he was called upon to assume a large share of the responsibility for all tariff and financial legislation before the senate. He participated in the preparation of no fewer than six revisions of the tariff and bore the burden of labor incident to them. The Payne-Aldrich tariff act was engineered through the senate by him after many weeks of skilful manuevuring and hard fighting.

Monetary Reforms.

Mr. Aldrich was always ready to seize upon any trend of public business to advance legislative causes in which he was interested. The "bankers' panic" of 1907 enabled him to give impetus to his plan to bring about monetary reforms. The first fruit of his labors in this direction was the Vreeland-Aldrich emergency currency law of 1908, put through the senate by Aldrich after an historic filibuster directed by Mr. La Follette, the Progressive Republican from Wisconsin, who was aided by Mr. Stone of Missouri, a Democrat. Sharp parliamentary tactics enabled Mr. Aldrich to bring the bill to a final vote, but in taking Mr. La Follette off his feet Mr. Aldrich made an enemy who was relentless in his opposition during many subsequent legislative contests.

The emergency currency law was regarded by Mr. Aldrich as the best remedy possible of speedy enactment, but he did not stop there. He began work immediately upon a more permanent plan of currency reform, giving most of his time to the work of the national monetary commission. He was able to devote his time unreservedly to his work because in 1911 he declined to be a candidate for re-election, giving ill-health as a reason.

Mr. Aldrich's friends contended that his effort to revise the currency system of the country was approached in an absolute non-partisan way. He was exceedingly anxious that his work should stand up a monument to his public service. His disappointment was keen when in 1911 his party lost control of the house and took from the Republicans the credit of putting through this far-reaching legislation. Before the political complexion of congress changed Mr. Aldrich was compelled to admit that his efforts were being frustrated by antagonistic sentiment in the Central West. Then he realized that the attacks he had scorned to answer had taken root. He could not understand that the course he followed through his public career of judging what was best for the state itself was not approved by the people themselves.

Made Speaking Trip.

Mr. Aldrich then undertook a speech-making trip in the Middle West with avowed intention of eradicating hostility to himself and his project. He desired especially to convert the people to believe his declaration that he had no purpose save to devise a system of national finance sound in principle, safeguarding all legitimate interests, and embodying the best wisdom of the entire country. Although he had large audiences of bankers and business men his mission was far from successful.

"Why is not our plan taken at face value?" he asked a friend. He received a frank answer.

"You have spent your vacations in Europe. You have not studied the people. Your language is that of the prosperous business man. You are seeking too late in life to know the people."

Mr. Aldrich expressed regret that he had not earlier made opportunity to acquaint himself with the western people. He said: "In a way I have been familiar with western interests, and have done all I could to protect them, but I feel that I could have been of still greater help if I had familiarized myself on the ground with your institutions and your people."

After his retirement from public life Mr. Aldrich spent much of his time in travel but he continued to follow business affairs. He saw many of his ideas on the subject of currency enacted by the Democrats and although the new laws did not bear his name it is known to a large extent he approved of what was done.

Tribute By Cannon.

Danville, Ill., April 16.—Former Speaker Cannon when told of the death of Former Senator Aldrich said:

"Senator Aldrich brought to the public service great ability, industry and integrity. He was one of the strongest, if not the strongest, legislator during his service in the national congress.

"Like all men entrusted with power he was subject to violent attack by his political opponents, but he enjoyed the respect, admiration and confidence of his colleagues in both house and senate.

"The republic is better that he lived."

in artillery fighting but were quickly silenced.

"On the southern border of St. Eloi we occupied two houses. South of Loretto heights fighting began again last night.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle only artillery duels took place.

"The use of bombs developing asphyxiating gas and of explosive infantry cartridges by the French is daily becoming more frequent.

"Aviators were unusually active yesterday, as the weather was favorable. Hostile aviators threw bombs on places behind the German front. Freiburg also was visited. At this place several civilians, including children, were killed or wounded.

"On the eastern front the situation is unchanged. In skirmishes near Kalwarya (Russian Poland) in the last few days, 1,040 Russians were taken prisoners and seven machine guns were captured."

French Statement.

Paris, April 16, via London.—The French official communication given out by the war office this afternoon adds nothing to the information communicated last night except the following:

"Our artillery brought down during the afternoon of April 15 a German aeroplane which fell in front of the English lines, but behind the German trenches, north of Ypres."

The following official statement was issued by the war office last night: "To the north of Arras we have gained a brilliant success, which completes that of last month. The whole spur southeast of Notre Dame De Lorette was carried with the bayonet by our troops who now hold all the southeastern slopes as far as the outer woodland fringe of Abelain St. Nazaire.

"We took 160 prisoners who include several officers and three trench mortars and two machine guns.

"At Chlepval and Laboiselle in the region of Albert, the enemy attempted two attacks which were checked immediately.

"In the Argonne at Bagatelle, our artillery demolished one of the principal German trenches. Further to the east at La Nourissons, we repulsed an attack.

"At Les Eparges the enemy delivered three counter attacks during the night of April 14-15, with the object of retaking the eastern salient. He was repulsed and suffered heavy losses.

"At noon he heavily bombarded the position but did not attack.

"At Montmartre wood we repulsed a counter attack and on the ground taken on the 13th, we continued the inventory of our booty which included two quick firers, two French mortars, a machine gun, several hundred rifles and thousands of cartridges and grenades.

"In the forest of Le Pretrie, we repulsed an attack and took some prisoners.

"A German aviator dropped bombs on the hospital at Mourmelon. By way of reprisal for the bombardment of Nancy by a Zeppelin, one of our aeroplanes dropped five bombs on the German headquarters. All the projectiles fell on the buildings in which the imperial staff were installed at Mezieres and Charleville. We also bombarded the station of Freiburg Im Breisgau.

"Finally a flying squadron of fifteen machines dropped bombs with complete success on the German military buildings at Ostend. Our troops were violently cannonaded."

An official statement issued today by the French ministry of marine said: "Yesterday morning a French battleship destroyed the railway bridge on the line which joins the interior regions of Syria with the city of Saint Jean D'Acre."

WAGE INCREASE TO AFFECT THOUSANDS

Increase in Copper Country Pay Brings Joy to Very Many.

Calumet, Mich., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Between 8,000 and 9,000 men will be immediatly affected by the increase in wages announced for employes of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company and allied corporations. Ultimately, however, a great many more will benefit as practically every mining and milling company in the Lake camp is gradually increasing forces.

The Tamarack Mining company, which has but 150 men working at present, resumed operations only a week ago. This company will take on about 400 more men in the near future. Ahmeek will reopen shafts Nos. 3 and 4 within a month or six weeks and will add 200 to 300 men to its mining forces and probably fifty to the force at the mills. Osceola, Isle Royale, White Pine, Hancock, Quincy and other companies are adding to their forces right along.

The companies not associated with the Calumet & Hecla are expected to shortly announce wage increases restoring the scale in effect prior to Sept. 1, 1914.

Many Men Affected.

Employes of the several companies announcing increases for May 1 are announced as follows: Calumet & Hecla, 5,000; Lake Mining company, 130; Lake Superior Smelting company, 150; Ahmeek, 500; Allouez, 300; Isle Royale, 650; Centennial, 150; Osceola Consolidated, 1,200; Superior, 150; Tamarack, 150.

Employes at the White Pine did not suffer the decrease in wages last September. Neither the St. Louis or the La Salle companies are operating, but it is probable La Salle will resume shortly, one shaft likely going into commission within the next couple of months. The salaried men connected with the Calumet & Hecla and allied companies, whose wages were reduced 16 per cent last fall, were restored to the old scale March 1.

HUERTA TALKS ABOUT MEXICO

Former Provisional President Issues Signed Statement at New York.

Says a Mexican, Not a Bandit, Will Arise to Save Country.

New York, April 16.—Vehemently asserting that he had nothing to do with the death of Francisco Madero, Gen. Victoriano Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico, issued a lengthy signed statement last night, setting forth what he termed his side of the Mexican question. Gen. Huerta declared that he knew who was responsible for Madero's death, but that he was keeping it a "professional secret."

Gen. Huerta's statement reviewed the history of the Madero revolution, his own accession to the provisional presidency and concluded with the assertion that "my country cannot be conquered." Sixteen millions of men, women and children would have to be killed before Mexico would submit to an invader, he asserted.

The heads of the Washington administration, he declared had not been fair to Mexico, had been mislead by false statements, and if they had been in Mexico for thirty days, "they would have changed their theoretical, erroneous ideas." Had it not been for the embargo on the exportation of arms from this country, Gen. Huerta indicated that his army would have prevailed over those opposed to it.

Resigned for Peace.

The former provisional president reiterated the assertion which he made when he left Mexico last year, that he had resigned from his position, only because he hoped to bring peace to his country.

He pointed out, that in the eight months elapsed since that date, the situation in Mexico had become "too sad for me to analyze deeply."

"Anarchy is too soft a word to call it," he said. Mexico would eventually be saved, but by a Mexican. Who that would be he did not know.

Gen. Huerta declined in response to the questions to give any inkling as to his future movements. He denied the report that he would go to San Antonio, Texas, or any other point near the Mexican border. Discussing the death of Madero, he said:

"That is a professional secret. Lawyers have secrets, doctors have secrets; I am a soldier—why should not soldiers have secrets? It is not through friendship for anyone that I am withholding the information. It is a professional duty. The time will soon come when my name will be vindicated and, as Gen. Lee said to Gen. Jackson, the world will say of me, I stood like a stone wall, submitting to the ignominy and the insults that have been heaped on me."

"It has been said that you betrayed the confidence of President Madero, is it so?" he was asked.

Gen. Huerta straightened out proudly, his eyes flashed, and, bringing his clenched fists against his breast, he replied:

No Way Responsible.

"No, I swear it; I was in no way responsible for his death. It has been one of the big tortures of my life. I am sorry I have to keep the secret. Although I am of a different race than you gentlemen, I am a man."

Gen. Huerta's signed statement was in part as follows:

"After fifteen months of Madero's ill administration of public affairs, a portion of the patriotic Mexican army, who were humiliated and maltreated by Mr. Madero, revolted and took possession of the government's citadel. For ten days the streets of the City of Mexico ran with blood. The situation became intolerable.

"The foreign diplomatic representatives asked Mr. Madero to resign. He did not want to accede to their wishes. Then some head of the army, incited by our senators to put an end to that anguished situation, placed Mr. Madero under arrest.

"Our congress, our senate and our supreme court of justice, complying with all the requisites of the Constitution of our country, named me as the constitutional president of Mexico, considering me as the man for the position.

Died Unnatural Death.

"Madero, while being conducted to the penitentiary, died an unnatural death. In the opinion of some of the public in this country, I am blamed as having taken a part in executing him. I never have tried to shirk any responsibilities, and anything I ever did was done openly. I am man enough to stand by what I do. I know I am not to blame for the death of Mr. Madero. Time and history will do me justice.

"Far be it from my mind to make an eulogy of my own administration, but I must say that during my administration all the law-abiding citizens of my republic, as well as all the foreigners resident there until the very last moment of my command, received guarantees and their homes, their lives and their properties were fully protected. Nobody can ever name a single foreigner who has suffered directly or indirectly from my government, any loss of life or interests.

Not in His Time.

"Unfortunately, and for our shame, numerous crimes have been committed against foreigners on Mexican soil during the last four years and a half, but these crimes were committed before or after my time, or by rebels in territory that I did not control. These are the results of the anarchy of my followers.

"But, never mind, I have hopes. My Mexico is young. My Mexico has plenty of life in it. My country cannot be compared. We have 16,000,000 of men, women and children, and it would need 16,000,000 of invaders, one invader for each men, for each woman, for each child.

"Never mind, Mexico will be saved by a Mexican. By a strong Mexican. Not by a bandit. And then Mexico, in a short time will revive and will be the paradise on earth it deserves to be.

"Where is the man? Who is the man? When will the man appear? I do not know."

ADOPTS NEW STYLE IN WEDDING GOWNS

MRS. HENRY BARLOW.

This is Mrs. Henry Barlow, a recent bride of New York. She was Nadine Arents and she is the daughter of Mrs. Charles F. Adams of Brooklyn. She is less interesting than her clothing, however, for Mrs. Barlow was one of the first of the young women of New York society to wear at the altar the new style short wedding gown and the veil draped from the back of the hat. In these garments it is possible for a bride to look pretty as Mrs. Barlow plainly shows.

DIES IN ILLINOIS.

Mrs. Cecil E. Day Succumbs After Illness of Two Years.

Mrs. Cecil E. Day, daughter-in-law of Mrs. F. D. Day of Duluth, died yesterday afternoon in Waukegan, Ill., of heart disease, after an illness extending over a period of two years. She is survived by her husband and two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Day, Jr., have made their home at a country place near Hudson, Wis., where they were married three years ago. The body will be taken to Hudson from Waukegan today for burial, according to telegraphic reports.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending the arrival of Mrs. F. D. Day from Daytona, Fla., where she passed the winter. Mrs. F. D. Day and her son are well known in Duluth, Mr. Day, Sr., having been a prominent jeweler in this city for years.

MAY INCREASE RATES.

Railroad Given Permission to Advance Through Haul on Lumber.

Washington, April 16.—The St. Louis Southwestern railway was authorized today to increase its joint through rates on lumber and forest products from points in Arkansas and other states to the extent that may be necessary to allow carriers operating in Central Freight association territory an increase of 5 per cent in their share of the joint rate. The order provides that in case changes make an intermediate rate higher than a through rate the increase should not be effective unless the commission gives its further sanction.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES ON WITNESS STAND.

Several witnesses were called in Judge Martin Hughes' division of the district court this morning by the defense in the Robertson trial.

Gust Johnson, engineer; George Morin, fireman; James Smith and Haakon Hanson, switchmen, who were working with George K. Robertson, the defendant, on the day that he was alleged to have caused a carload of copper to be "spotted" where it could be burglarized with safety, all testified this morning that they knew nothing of "planting" the car where it is alleged to have been "spotted" at the time copper anodes worth several thousands of dollars were taken from it.

Other witnesses who testified for the defense this morning were E. C. Chapman, assistant general yard master, and Bert Dungan of Superior, formerly yardmaster for the Soo railway in Duluth, and A. Lofgren. All of the witnesses testified as to Robertson's previous good character and reputation for honesty and integrity.

The state rested its case yesterday afternoon.

This Is Everybody's Silk Sale!

It Closes at 9:30 Tomorrow Night—Regular Prices Again Monday

This is a great silk season—and this is a great silk sale.

It is of great importance to you and to all other good dressers—look up our ad in Wednesday night's paper for details—or better yet come and see.

There are thousands of yards to pick from—some of them are special purchases bought and saved for this sale—others are from our own fine regular stock—but not all of our silks are included.

Six Lots Six Prices 39c, 59c, 69c, 89c, $1.19, $2.39 No Laybys No Approvals
No Matter Which You Select—You Get a Bargain

Used-to-Be Dollar China Shantung Silk, Now 39c Yd.

A change in the tariff, and a mighty big purchase under market value combined to make possible this splendid offer. These silks really should have been here a week ago, we wanted them for the silk sale—they came this morning so we will have them ready tomorrow morning at 39c the yard.

39c 39c

They are those hand woven silks in the natural color so much wanted for coats, dresses, waists, children's garments, pajamas and underwear. We also sell many of them for very effective overdrapes. They are 26 inches wide and a year or two ago sold generally at $1.00 the yard.

Gray's Specialized Suits at $20, $25, $27.50 and $35 Are Unique

There's so much style and so much goodness in the suits we offer at the above prices that nine women out of ten will find something most pleasing at the price in these lines. Of course, we have suits for more and some for as little as $12.50, $14.00 and $16.50, and mighty good suits they are, for they are made, for instance, of good, honest cravanetted balmacaan suitings in nobby lines, but it is in our $20.00 to $35.00 lines that we have specialized successfully.

Come in tomorrow; try on a few suits—feel the satisfaction that comes with a suit that marks its wearer as well dressed in any company on any occasion.

Grays' Smart Broad Brimmed Sailors Are Daringly Different

The Summer Girl absolutely must have a dashing sailor hat. A wide brimmed, low crowned, flat trimmed model, and of course it must be out of the ordinary—it must have a personal touch.

Luckily for you we knew some time ago that you would soon be wanting these and before many houses gave much thought to them we had our pick of shapes that are now much wanted, yet hard to get, and our artistic milliners have taken great pride in creating some remarkably clever trims. Simplicity is their keynote. Novel effects in feathers, in flowers and in ornaments quite out of the ordinary. And these swagger styles are only $6.50 to $14.50, so you see our forehanded buying brings you uncommon style at common prices.

Girls! Misses! Little Ladies!

All Are Invited to Try on Hats Here Tomorrow.

Styles are chic; they follow the lines of fashion and yet are not the least "grown-uppish," they have the charming freshness of youth. Prices are most reasonable, from $1.75 to $5.00.

Mothers will approve of the prices just as enthusiastically as they do of the styles

For Girls

The young girl needs a brassiere just as truly as her mother if she is to dress in the lines of current fashion.

Fashion has ordained the corset to stop just about the bust line and, above this, supplementing the "stays," the brassiere is needed. Right fortunate are we in having the new Warner brassieres, which are admirably designed for their purpose.

We have ready an attractive assortment with special numbers for the youthful figure. Some of them are finished as the younger set would fancy, others which will appeal particularly to mother.

Prices range 50c to $1 for the more popular models.

Set Off Your Feet in New Queen Quality SHOES

You will want to be so careful about your footwear this season, for the feet are so prominent under the swirling boot-top skirts. Fortunately we have another lot of Queen Quality shoes in those popular styles which are now in such big demand.

Come and See the Putty and Sand Top Shoes in Late Queen Quality Models

Then try them on; look how snugly they hug every inch of the foot, how trim, smart and graceful they are. There is distinction and style in every line, but moreover there is Queen Quality comfort and Queen Quality service. Years of leadership in quantity, as well as Queen Quality output, enable the makers to turn out shoes of surpassing value, the more popular of which sell at $3.50 to $5 pair.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS.

Beginning last evening, the Duluth Street Railway company is presenting to the people of Duluth its side of the question of service extensions. This presentation will be made through a series of brief articles published in The Herald, and the articles should be read carefully by every citizen.

There is no question connected with public service in Duluth more vital today than this one of street railway extensions. The outlying districts of the city are building up with a rapidity that must astonish those who have not kept track of those sections in recent years. New additions are constantly being opened and the land purchased, and in divisions opened a few years ago and sold on installment payments, the owners are completing the purchases and erecting modest homes. All this means more traffic, and more immediate and insistent demands for extensions of service.

There have been efforts in former years to secure extensions, but there has been one ground or another for refusing them. Some of the people have openly expressed their dissatisfaction at the course of the street railway company, and meanwhile the company officials have maintained a stand-pat attitude that has not modified the feelings of prejudice.

Now the company is beginning to present its side of the case, in terse, deliberate terms. The Herald has no knowledge and no means of knowing what that presentation will involve. But The Herald feels that it is no more than just to call attention especially to these articles. If you are or expect to be especially interested in this question within the next few months, it would be well to clip these articles as they appear and lay them by for future reference. Whatever form the question may take, much of any argument that may arise will be sure to center about the statements included in them. Now is your chance to begin a compilation of matter that is bound to be of value later on.

Next thing will be to get the typhus fever to respect neutrality.

NELSON W. ALDRICH.

To few men comes more sharply the tragedy of distrust among those he would serve, than it did to Nelson W. Aldrich, for thirty years United States senator from Rhode Island. Of unusual and universally recognized ability as a legislator, and especially as an organizer and parliamentarian, he exerted his great power throughout his long term in the senate to maintain or further the best interests of the state and nation as a whole, as he understood those interests, even earning the satirical title of "general manager of the United States."

In his later years of service, Senator Aldrich was denounced by some opponents as a deliberate enemy of the general welfare. That he ever consciously tried to accomplish anything contrary to the public good is hardly to be credited. It is more likely that, unrealized by himself, he became blind to any but the view to which he was inclined by his first training, and this conception is sustained by his expression of regret, after his voluntary retirement from the senate, that he had not given more attention to the lives and thought of the mass of the people.

Trained through years of experience as member and then chairman of the senate finance committee, Mr. Aldrich entertained a justifiable faith in his own ability to draft a currency plan that would operate for the greatest general good. Of his ability there can be no doubt, and it is probable that his sincerity was equal to his knowledge and skill.

But when he laid his plan before the people he was roughly informed of what probably never before had entered his mind—that his whole public life had been devoted to one-sided, though undoubtedly honest, views and the endeavor to put those views into active forms. His long and successful tariff labors were cited against him, and he found himself, after a lifetime devoted to public work, discredited in the eyes of those whom he had thought to serve by the very efforts they regarded as positive evidences of his hostility. But he lived to see at least the spirit of his work vindicated by the adoption in the new currency plan of many features he had urged as essential to the success of any reorganization of financial affairs.

The death of the former senator can hardly be said to deprive either the nation or the Republican party of important services. Mr. Aldrich's retirement from public life was a real retirement, and he did not seek to exert an influence not in keeping with his actual position. But his death removes one of the ablest men who ever stood upon the floor of the national congress, and one whose influence in national affairs probably will be felt for generations to come.

Imagine what it must be like over there in Europe if Huerta couldn't stand for it.

DOING SPLENDID WORK.

Congratulations and commendation are due the Duluth Commercial club and its officers and committees on the excellent showing made in the annual reports. To attempt to review these reports here is out of the question, but they should be noted and read by every member of the club.

It is shown that the activities of the organization extend to every phase of municipal interest, and that not one of the many matters taken in hand is allowed to receive mere perfunctory handling.

What amount of work must have been done to make such reports as these possible can only be appreciated by those who have taken part in similar activities. They will see under it all the steady, unflagging, self-sacrificing attention to public interests that means success and achievement in any such organization as this.

The Duluth Commercial club is doing splendid work.

ANOTHER REFORM SCHEME.

With efficiency and economy dead and buried, so far as the present legislature is concerned, there still is a chance for the state to benefit ultimately through the adoption of the Curley resolution proposed in the senate. This calls for the appointment of another commission to look into the question, the commission to consist of four senate appointees, four house appointees and three gubernatorial appointees, these last not to be members of either house. This commission would make its own inquiry into the efficiency and economy matter, and would prepare a report to be submitted to the next legislature.

It is not at all certain, of course, that this commission would be able to improve on the report made to the present legislature by the non-legislative committee that did its work for nothing and with no object but a desire to give the state the best possible service. Ideals of that kind, coupled with the ability of the several members of the commission, couldn't very well be improved on. But it has been the evident opinion of the present legislature that for some reason or other the economy and efficiency report ought not to be adopted, and so it has been left in the discard.

Which brings us back to this senate resolution. There is a house resolution too, but that provides for a commission composed only of house members and so isn't to be considered seriously in comparison with the Curley plan. By the adoption of this plan the legislature will ensure the presentation of the question before the next legislature, and for that reason it will be well to approve the resolution. The matter is too important to the state to be allowed to die of inanition.

Illinois is worrying again about its private banks. About the only possible excuse for keeping up the system is so as to be dead sure of having something handy to worry about.

HARD LUCK.

Taking his cue from the recent pessimistic outburst in that paper's editorial columns, the News Tribune cartoonist this morning came before the public with a "hard times" cartoon showing the Democratic donkey in full flight before a swarm of wasps several of which were labeled "business depression." (The unlabeled ones probably were intended to represent Republican campaign falsehoods.)

Evidently the "make-up man" failed to grasp the idea the paper sought to convey in the cartoon, for directly adjacent to it appeared a statement by President E. B. Thomas of the Lehigh railroad that his company is about to award contracts approximating a million dollars AS A RESULT OF IMPROVED BUSINESS CONDITIONS!

It's hard luck to have the effect of a whole day's work killed by a bit of inadvertence, but that is always likely to happen when the day's work is based on absolutely false premises.

England is considering a government monopoly of the liquor business. Which might after all be an easy way to minimize the necessity of putting titles on the market.

Men Can Still Work Up

From the New York Tribune.

From truck boy to president of one of the largest lock concerns in the world—that is the record of Walter C. Allen. And he is not yet 40. If there ever was a self-made man, the president of the Yale & Towne Lock company would qualify as an example. He applied for a job at the factory gates and pushed a truck for two years before he found the office job that gave him his first opportunity for advancement. He left school at an early age, and therefore did not have the advantage of a college education. Now he is a member of the Society of Mechanical Engineers and one of the most popular men in Stamford, where he lives.

Mr. Allen is a stocky, broad-shouldered man, who shows in everything he says and does the energy that has won him his present position. When a boy of 14 he persuaded his parents to allow him to leave school, because he wished to earn some money, as other boys of his acquaintance were doing. The Yale & Towne Manufacturing company was the biggest concern in Stamford, and he applied at the gate for a job. He got it, and has been holding it down ever since.

The young and hustling president of a concern that has been increased fram a capitalization of $100,000 to $10,000,000, under the hands of his predecessors, objected to being interviewed because he had little time at his disposal. "Although," he added frankly, "I confess that I am human, and if reading of my experience will be instructive and helpful to the young men of the country, I shall be glad to talk about it.

"You ask me if I think that there are good business opportunities today for young men without pull and without capital. While I may be biased, since my own experience has been so fortunate, I firmly believe that these opportunities are greater than ever before. Wasn't it J. P. Morgan who said that he was a bull on the United States? The saying is a good one, and in spite of all the knocking that we hear, America is a pretty good place to live in, after all.

"So far as I can see there is an opportunity that is practically unlimited for any ambitious young man over here. Today there is a tendency to do business on a greater scale than ever before, and large business concerns require a more extensive and efficient organization than was the case fifty, or even twenty-five, years ago. In the small concern there is room at the top for a few, but not the same chance for the large number of fellows who must start at the bottom. A man of real ability need not be afraid of becoming lost in a large concern. He will find there a wider field in which to expand his energies. In the small house, where the posts to be filled are limited, there is not nearly the same scope.

"What I am saying is based entirely upon my own experience, however, and it has necessarily been limited. I was particularly fortunate in being in a company that believed in encouraging young men and giving them a chance. Henry R. Towne was never afraid to intrust an important job to a man because he was young. The result of this policy was stimulating to such men as were ready to take advantage of any chance that came their way. Practically all of the officials of this company are young men, and men who have worked their way up from the bottom.

"This policy of encouraging young men, of showing that you can place confidence in them, of letting them have a shot at something before they grow old, is good business. It certainly has been good business for me. I do not believe that I have any greater ability than thousands of other men who are in this country, and it was by a great stroke of luck that my first job should be under men who believed in bringing out what there was in their employes, instead of letting them grow gray in routine and detail. No matter how much ability there is in a man, you are not going to develop it by keeping him back until he has the middle-aged appearance that some employers believe must precede all responsibility.

"But too many of our young men have a fixed idea that opportunity must be thrust upon them, and at the same time do nothing to prepare themselves for grasping it when it comes. In spite of the fact that our company has refused to go outside for its officials, and has promoted men from the ranks, we have had case after case where we actually tried to thrust promotion upon men who were apparently ambitious, but who had left themselves unprepared. Before the chance came they complained because it was not handed to them on a silver tray, and when it did come they were unable to grasp it.

"You ask me for some general rules that in my opinion make for success, and I know of none that is better than the old-fashioned but sound tradition, that the man who is interested in his job, who works hard at it and shows his loyalty to his employers is pretty sure to get ahead if there is any ability in him. A man must like his work to be thoroughly efficient. Some men have a hard time because they show no particular bent for anything, while others you can tell what they will do when they are children. In my own case my parents always said that I would do something in the nature of the work that I have actually taken up, as I was always playing with tools and always interested in the mechanical side of everything.

"If a man dislikes his work he might just as well be out of it for all the good that he will accomplish. Either his dislike comes from laziness, and in that case he is of little value, or it comes from unadaptability, which shows that he is in the wrong craft or profession. A great many men have misplaced their energy in choosing their calling. To a man who consistently dislikes what he is doing and who is unhappy in it I would give the advice first, to make sure in his own mind that this is not due to a natural disinclination to work of any kind, and after he has done so by all means to try something else.

"There has been nothing striking about my progress. One thing came along after another. After I had been wheeling a truck for a couple of years I applied to get into the office because I believed that there was better chance of advancement and better pay. I applied for the change and after a while I received it. When I had been in the office for two years I realized that there was not much chance for climbing high in that particular business without a knowledge of mechanics, so I asked for another change, and was sent to the machine shop and learned the toolmakers' trade—this time at a considerable reduction in my salary. I worked at night on mechanical drawing, which was fortunate for me, for not long afterward I got an opportunity to go into the drawing room, and would not have been able to accept it if it had not been for my night study.

"Then I became an assistant and sort of general assistant to Frederick T. Towne, the son of Henry Towne, a brilliant man, whose career was cut short by an untimely death. Under Mr. Towne I had an excellent training, and when he died I was made assistant general superintendent in his place.

"In 1909 I was made general manager and brought to the New York office, where I had charge of the selling and advertising of this company's products, including the supervision of the foreign branch office. I held that position until 1914, when I became vice president in addition to my duties as general manager. I remained in that position until a few days ago, when I had the good fortune to be made president of the company."

What You Ought to Know

Brooklyn Standard-Union: The rate for electricity in Manhattan has just been reduced from 10 to 8 cents per kilowatt hour. If one not versed in technical terms asks what a kilowatt hour is he will be told that it is a unit of energy equal to that done by one kilowatt acting for one hour, or, in other words, it is the equivalent of 1.34-horse power working an hour. It is also generally known that a kilowatt is a thousand watts. But what may a watt be? This takes its name from James Watt, the Scotch inventor, and represents work done at the rate of one joule a second or in an electric current by one ampere under the pressure of one volt. One-horse power is 746 watts.

The latter two terms are better known than the former. The volt is the unit of electromotive force, or that force which applied to a conductor with a resistance of one ohm will produce a current of one ampere. An ampere, which term preserves the name of a French electrician, is the practical unit of electrical current. An ohm, from a German scientist of that name, is the practical unit of electrical resistance.

To revert now to the joule, which should be pronounced as "ou" in our, but in this country is usually called "jool," is derived from the surname of an English physicist. This is a unit of energy equal to 10.7 ergs. An erg in its turn represents the amount of work performed by a dyne working through a distance of one centimeter, or two-fifths of an inch. A dyne is a unit of force, which, acting on a gram for a second, gives it a velocity of a centimeter a second, the equivalent of the force exerted by a milligram weight under the influence of gravity.

In the electrical vocabulary the quantity of electricity conveyed in one second by the current produced by an electromotive force of one volt acting in a circuit, with a resistance of one ohm is termed a coulomb, from a French electrician of that name. It was formerly called a weber from a German professor, and is also termed a maxwell from an English physicist; unlike the examinations in the school system here called Maxwells from the superintendent of education, a former resident of Brooklyn, now living in Flushing.

Burial of Moses.

And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor; but no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day.—Deut. xxxiv, 6.

By Nebo's lonely mountain,
On this side Jordan's wave,
In a vale in the land of Moab,
There lies a lonely grave;
But no man built that sepulcher
And no man saw it e'er;
For the angels of God upturned the sod,
And laid the dead man there.

That was the grandest funeral
That ever passed on earth;
Yet no man heard the trampling,
Or saw the train go forth;
Noiselessly as the daylight
Comes when the night is done,
And the crimson streak on ocean's cheek
Grows into the great sun;

Noiselessly as the springtime
Her crown of verdure weaves,
And all the trees on all the hills
Unfold their thousand leaves;
So without sound of music
Or voice of them that wept,
Silently down from the mountain's crown
The great procession swept.

Perchance the bald old eagle
On gray Beth-peor's hight
Out of his rocky eyrie
Looked on the wondrous sight;
Perchance the lion stalking
Still shuns that hallowed spot;
For beast and bird have seen and heard
That which man knoweth not.

But, when the warrior dieth,
His comrades of the war,
With arms reversed and muffled drums,
Follow the funeral car;
They show the banners taken;
They tell his battles won;
And after him lead his masterless steed,
While peals the minute-gun.

Amid the noblest of the land
Men lay the sage to rest,
And give the bard an honored place,
With costly marbles drest;
In the great minster transept
Where lights like glories fall,
And the sweet choir sings and the organ rings
Along the emblazoned hall.

This was the bravest warrior
That ever buckled sword;
This the most gifted poet
That ever breathed a word;
And never earth's philosopher
Traced with his golden pen
On the deathless page truths half so sage
As he wrote down for men.

And had he not high honor?
The hillside for a pall!
To lie in state while angels wait,
With stars for tapers tall!
And the dark rock-pines, like tossing plumes—
Over his bier to wave,
And God's own hand, in that lonely land
To lay him in his grave!

In that strange grave without a name,
Whence his uncoffined clay
Shall break again—O wondrous thought!—
Before the judgment day,
And stand, with glory wrapped around,
On the hills he never trod,
And speak of the strife that won our life
With the incarnate Son of God.

O lonely tomb in Moab's land!
O dark Beth-peor's hill!
Speak of these curious hearts of ours,
And teach them to be still;
God hath his mysteries of grace,
Ways that we cannot tell,
He hides them deep, like the secret sleep
Of him he loved so well.

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

From diary:

About the cutest things at the San Diego exposition are the little wicker electric chairs that run by means of batteries. They are a cross between a wheel chair and an electric runabout. When you throw one of these into the high it will make about four miles an hour and you can travel madly about the grounds seeking what you will.

One afternoon I had a real adventure in one of these machines. I was driving across a big, open plaza where pigeons gathered to be fed. One pigeon was strutting leisurely along a few yards ahead of me and I honked to it, for I am not a reckless chauffeur and had no desire to maim or cripple a pigeon pedestrian. The bird waited until I was almost upon it and then stepped nonchalantly to one side without giving me so much as a glance. Then it appeared that we were both going in the same direction. We traveled along side by side, the pigeon afoot and I in my fine wicker car. Neck and neck we were and neither seemed able to gain on the other. This soon got on my nerves. Nothing can be more humiliating than to pay $1 an hour for a conveyance and then not be able to pass a pigeon. Before I realized what was up we were having a race. I had no desire to do any speeding or enter into a race with anybody, but I saw a number of bystanders looking on and it was impossible to ignore the pigeon's impudent challenge.

It was up to me to defend my honor. I was determined not to let that pigeon pass me, and yet that was just what it seemed about to do, for my batteries were weak, and it was beginning to gain. I jockeyed it a bit, but still it seemed to be forging ahead. I was making a brave try, under great odds, and the crowd seemed to be with me as the under dog, but that was not enough. I panted for victory. Then I thought of a bit of strategy. I knew that unless I could outgeneral my contestant, all was lost. By turning my machine and changing my course a bit, I headed toward a stretch of downgrade in the big open space we were crossing. I knew this downgrade would help me more than it would the pigeon. It may not have been quite according to race rules to shift one's course, but the pigeon foolishly made the turn, giving me the pole, and my machine began to gather momentum. Soon we were going fully four and a half miles an hour.

I brought up at a curb I had personally selected for our goal nearly half a length ahead of the pigeon! I had won the race! I had shown that pigeon up. The next time a pigeon tries to start anything with me, it had better know just what it is about.

Oranges are about as expensive in California, unless you know where to buy them, as anywhere else. This seemed illogical to one tourist I met here, Mr. Gittins, from Niagara Falls, N. Y. Gittins happened to see a place where he could buy a couple of dozen excellent oranges for a quarter. He bought a quarter's worth. The next day he had to take a train to another point, and he crowded his oranges into a grip, rather than see them go to waste. An adult train boy came along selling oranges at 5 cents each.

"Aren't those rather high, right here in the orange country?" asked Gittins.

"Oh, no," the boy told him, "oranges cost just as much here as any place. These are good ones. They cost better than 30 cents a dozen wholesale."

"I should think you could buy them cheaper than that," remarked Gittins.

"I'll bet you you could get 'em for 20 cents a dozen."

"I'd take all I could get at that price," declared the train boy.

"All right," replied Gittins, "I'll sell you mine." And he opened up his grip.

But the boy failed to buy.

At the government aviation field in San Diego, the other day, Glenn Martin, the aviator and aeroplane builder, told me a funny thing about women folks as airship passengers. He says he would much rather fly with a woman passenger than a man. A woman does her hysterics, if she does it at all, before climbing into the machine. Having once made up her mind to take a flight—having once placed that much confidence in the machine and the driver—her trust is like that of a little child. With a man it is different. After he is up in the air 1,000 feet or so he gets to wondering if he wouldn't be better off back on the ground. He says to himself: "I don't know about this now," and then turns to ask the driver if everything is all right.

"The only passengers I ever had who showed nervousness while in the air," says Martin, "were not women."

A Cue for Kansas

Buffalo, N. Y., Enquirer: Kansas is "dry" and Minnesota is "wet."

Kansas is continually boasting of empty jails, scanty populations of asylums and other beneficent conditions attributed to the refusal to authorize the sale of enlivening beverages.

In one respect, however, "wet" Minnesota seems to have it on "dry" Kansas. St. Louis county, Minnesota, brags of twenty towns and villages in which not a single death occurred in 1914.

Lest it be suspected that St. Louis county is a wilderness with only a trapper or two to the square mile, it is related that it had a population big enough in 1912 to give Woodrow Wilson 5,124 votes, William H. Taft, 3,881, and Theodore Roosevelt 8,840. It takes a populous county as they run in this country to do that.

Minnesotans claim that the climate is responsible for St. Louis county's wonderful record of twenty towns and villages without a death in a full year. It is probable, however, the Kansans will look their state over and if they can find a few towns without a death in 1914 they will add that to the roll of blessings bestowed by prohibition.

Tunnel From Denmark to Sweden.

Popular Mechanics: Plans are being made by the governments of Denmark and Sweden for a tunnel under the narrow channel that separates these countries. Although this is not nearly as big a job as the proposed tunnel under the English channel, it will be like it in one respect, as the stratum through which it will be driven is the same kind of impervious gray chalk that underlies the English channel. The greatest depth below the sea will be about 100 feet. It is estimated that the tunnel will cost about $25,000,000, and that it will require five years to complete it.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Helpful Plan Suggested.

La Porte News: A plan for clearing land and assisting in the settlement of cut-over lands has been suggested, and there seems to be good reason for believing it may result in something definite and helpful being done. The plan is one of co-operation, and provides a method for financing it on long time and easy payments. More land cleared, more ground broken and more feed raised are absolute necessities for the success of the farmer.

By Continuing in Office.

Gonvick Banner: There is a general impression to the effect that it will be much easier to select a Democratic presidential nominee in 1916 than it was in 1912.

Zone System for Laws.

Tower News: Really it looks as if the "zone" system should apply to Minnesota. That is, the state is so situated that no common condition exists all over it. Laws which apply in one part work a hardship in others. Hard and fast lines within the state are not applicable. The south half does not know how we live up here. And vice versa. An iron mine to them is a blank, the same as a corn field is to us up here. The zone system of laws might work benefits to both zones. Game laws here would not fit there. Iror ore regulations there are seen in a different light than up here. And these conditions will always obtain and should be met up with by our legislators.

Make Good Anywhere.'

Princeton Union: Congressman Miller, who recently returned to Washington from the Philippines, reports that Minnesotans are aiding greatly in developing the islands. The governor of all the head-hunting tribes is a Minnesota boy and the foremost lawyer there hails from the North Star state. Minnesotans are so accustomed to prosperity that they invariably succeed, no matter where they cast their lot.

Chosen for Merit.

Wabasha Herald: The reappointment of Charles E. Vasaly as a member of the state board of control may not meet with general approval for the reason that his political alignment has not been agreeable to a great many Democrats of the state, but Governor Hammond's reasons for the choice are grounded upon the qualifications of merit, ability and efficient public service. The state has gained by the governor's conscientious decision.

Deserved Reappointment.

Alexandria Citizen: Governor Hammond has again demonstrated that he is governor of the great state of Minnesota. Against the advice of a number of the leading Democrats of the state, he has reappointed Charles E. Vasaly of Little Falls a member of the board of control. The governor has acted wisely in this matter. Mr. Vasaly has made good in this important position, which he has filled for the last six years, and merited reappointment.

As to Revenue.

Le Sueur News: And now we have another lesson in tariff. You remember, don't you, how the argument was advanced that the balance of trade in our favor was always maintained by the protective tariff. Well the same men now tell us we have free trade and the balance of trade is the largest in history because there are no imports on account of the war. No getting away from this, is there? Well, the same thing is true of the war all through. We have no revenue, not on account of the tariff, but on account of the war.

The State's Best Interests.

Cambridge Independent-Press: Governor W. S. Hammond will be commended by people of all factions in Minnesota for his appointment of Charles E. Vasaly to succeed himself on the state board of control. Mr. Vasaly was appointed to the position by Governor John A. Johnson six years ago and his services to the state have been of a high type. Governor Hammond did not make any noise about appointing the member of the board of control in advance, but when the time came he acted for the best interests of the state and the vast number of unfortunates who come under the supervision of the board of control.

How lavishly God bestoys His gifts! An artist spends half a year in painting a single picture of the snow, three feet wide; and then it is often a poor, unreal, imperfect thing. God every morning covers all Scandinavia with a new snow picture, and on this gigantic canvas every minutest detail of leaf and twig and tender tree stem is as perfect as if it was the only one he had ever painted. During the day perhaps the sun wipes out the picture, but the next morning He paints it all over again, and repeats the picture perhaps a hundred times during the winter.—In Snowland.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

The state capitol commissioners have decided to award five prizes of $500 each to five competitors for state house plans. Radcliffe & Willoughby, one of the competing firms of architects from Duluth, have captured one of the prizes. There were more than sixty competitors from all parts of the country. Owing to a rumpus among the architects because only 2½ per cent commission was offered by the state, new plans will be called for and 5 per cent commission allowed to the winner.

Mathew Bros. of Milwaukee have been awarded the contract for the storm doors for the Federal building at Duluth.

Thomas Cooper of Tacoma, formerly mayor of South Bend, Wash., has been appointed general Western land agent of the Northern Pacific railroad to succeed the late Paul Schultze.

Murdock McDonald of West Duluth has gone to Barnum to engage in farming operations.

Frank Osborne has returned to Duluth after spending the winter at Bay City, Petoskey and other Michigan points.

H. Perry Mills, formerly of Duluth, has returned from London to New York. He has an interest in Edison's kinetoscope.

At a meeting of the city council last night, W. B. Patton was confirmed as city engineer by a vote of 12 to 3, Aldermen French, Olafson and Patterson voting in the negative.

John J. Ingalls, the famous Kansas statesman, will deliver the next lecture in the Star course at the First Methodist church. His subject is "Problems of Our Second Century."

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 38; maximum yesterday, 40; minimum yesterday, 34.

Col. James Gilbert, better known as the "Mexican giant," is dead at his home at Sauk Center, Minn. He was nearly eight feet tall and had been exhibited in circuses and dime museums all over America.

Fire Warden J. P. Dodge has returned from a trip to the South. At Fruithurst, Cleburne county, Ala., he purchased a ten-acre fruit farm.

The annual meeting of the Sagar Drug company was held yesterday. All the old directors were re-elected, with the exception of George C. Howe, who was succeeded by James C. Hunter.

The City band difficulty has been adjusted. Otto Muhlbauer resigned the directorship of the band and Ernest Meier was elected to the place. He will also manage the band. Mr. Muhlbauer will retain the Symphony orchestra.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FEARS TEN-CENT FARES TO SUBURBS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The novelty of having one automobile after another running up and down the street marked "Jitney 5c" seemed to amuse a great many people for a while, but it has been carried to such an extent that it is becoming a positive nuisance. Numerous accidents are being caused, and pedestrians have to be extremely careful, and then dodge to get across Superior street anywhere in the central part of the city.

The people who have it in for the street car company on general principles are no doubt enjoying the situation, for the picking up of the number of people that are being carried by these cars is taking away from the street car company the bulk of the short haul business, and that is the business on which the street car company has made such profit as it did get.

Some real estate promotors have no doubt been sore because extensions have not been made every time the company was asked to make extensions, and there seems to have been for some time past a general disposition on the part of certain individuals to knock the street railway company. Thousands of dollars of the city's money has been spent in an attempt to forfeit the company's franchise, under conditions that any honest man would not want to take advantage of if the affair was a private one. There never was any possible doubt but what the company had in good faith made a bona fide effort to comply with the conditions under which the franchise was granted, and the city, or those in authority, after ordering extensions and taxing the company for years, seemed willing and anxious to step in and destroy all value in the company's property by forfeiting the franchise.

The fact is, I believe, that there is not another city in the country, of the size of Duluth, that has been furnished as good street car service as we have enjoyed. I also think that there is an absolute loss to the company on the Lakeside and Woodland lines, and has been for years. This has been made up in part by the profit that the company was able to make on the short trip passengers in the more central part of the city.

If the "jitney" craze continues, and spreads, and is not put under some restriction as to number, and the operators placed under some adequate bonds, the result will be that people who ride to Lakeside and Woodland, and probably West Duluth, will be paying 10 cents a ride, on the street cars, and they certainly won't get any cheaper ride on the "jitneys," and under some of the weather conditions we get in Duluth the "jitneys" will be out of commission.

If the systematic knocking against the street car company that has been carried on for years is stopped, and the company given fair treatment, chances for extensions and improvements will be much better.

NOT GETTING RICH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly inform me through your Open Court columns what salary is attached to the mayor's position at Warba, Minn. Thanking you for your attention, I am yours truly, MAURITZ GREENFIELD.

West Duluth, April 14.

The mayor of Warba is in reality president of the village and receives no regular salary, outside of about $10 or $12 a year, which is given each councilman.—The Editor.

SOME PUBLIC OFFICERS.

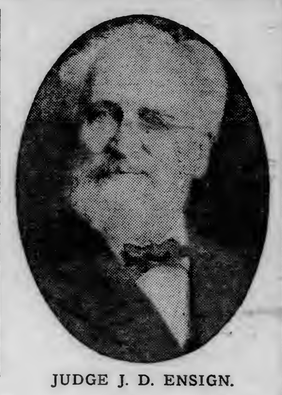
NO ALUM IN ROYAL BAKING POWDER

BEGINS TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR ON BENCH OF DISTRICT COURT



Josiah D. Ensign, Duluth's veteran jurist, today began his twenty-seventh year as judge of the district court.

Judge Ensign is the senior member of the St. Louis county bench and bar, having been appointed district judge on April 16, 1889. He has been elected continuously since his appointment.

Next month Judge Ensign will celebrate his eighty-second birthday. He was born in Erie county, N. Y., May 14, 1833. When a boy of 6 he moved with his parents to Ashtabula, Ohio, where he received a common school and academic education. In 1857 he was admitted to the bar.

In 1857 he was elected clerk of the courts of Ashtabula county and served six years. In 1869 he settled in Minnesota, coming to Duluth in February, 1870. He followed the practice of law in this city until his appointment as judge in April, 1889.

Before going on the bench, Judge Ensign was active in political and civic affairs. He has held the office of county attorney for St. Louis county. He is a former mayor of Duluth and has also served as a member on the city council and board of education.

AWARD AFFIRMED.

Administratrix Will Receive $5,000 for Death, Says Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decision was rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

Hennepin County.

Anna T. Wheeler, administratrix, respondent, vs. James A. Tyler, appellant—

Plaintiff's intestate was injured, while engaged in cutting a doorway through a brick wall between two rooms, by the collapse of a steel beam the end of which was let into the wall above. His fellow workman supposed this beam ran continuously through both rooms. Had it done so there would have been no danger in working where deceased worked. The jury in passing on the question of assumption of risk found that deceased did not know the place was unsafe or did not appreciate the danger or understand the risk. He was charged with no duty of inspection. He was ordered by defendant to do this work and was doing it in the usual manner. There was no evidence of contributory negligence on his part, and the court properly refused to submit this issue to the jury.

Deceased was 49 years old and was earning 25 cents an hour. This action is for the benefit of a widow and a posthumous child. An award of $5,000 damages was not excessive.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

LIBERTY BELL WILL BE TAKEN TO FRISCO EXPO

Philadelphia, Pa., April 16.—Select and common councils yesterday decided to allow the historic bell to be sent to the Panama-Pacific exposition. Resolutions providing for its trip across the continent were unanimously voted by both branches. Mayor Blankenburg announced last night that he would sign the resolutions and only minor details now remain to complete the arrangements.

The bell cannot go until about July 4. On that day it is to be made the feature of an Independence day celebration in Philadelphia.

MAN CAUGHT CARRYING DYNAMITE INTO PLANT.

Kansas City, Mo., April 16.—A man who officers said was carrying four sticks of dynamite wrapped in a package, was arrested last night by detectives in Kansas City, Kan., as he was entering the grounds of the Cudahy Packing company, a portion of whose plant was wrecked by mysterious explosions last Sunday night. The man gave the name of John Mulvahill. Two companions arrested with him, gave the names of Max Barren and R. E. Conley.

According to the police, Mulvahill, who was an employe of the packing company, has been under surveillance since last Monday.

Morgan Furniture Sold.

New York, April 16.—The J. P. Morgan collection of French eighteenth century furniture has been bought, it was announced yesterday by Duveen Bros. Although the purchase price was not stated, it is estimated that the amount was not far from $3,000,000.

SANDBAGS BY MILLION WANTED AT THE FRONT

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—Sandbags by the million is the latest call from the front. They are used not only for parapets to trenches, but to make houses for officers and men of the artillery as well as for the guns and telephone stations. The infantry trenches require about 100,000 bags for each mile.

"When we advance," writes one officer, "we have no time to empty out old sandbags. We need fresh ones, made either of coarse linen or canvas."

TO REMODEL POLICE FORCE

Commissioner-Elect Silberstein Has Ambitious Plans for City Guardians.

Special Drills, Dress Parades, Well Informed Officers Part of Program.

Reorganizathion of the police department, to include traffic policemen, motorcycle "cops," special drills and dress parades, is planned by Commissioner-elect Silberstein, who will direct the public safety division after he takes office next Monday.

Mr. Silberstein said this morning that his aim will be to make the police department second to none in this country as to efficiency, dress and appearance. In addition, the department will be modernized in every respect and special traffic police and motorcycle men will be added to the force, so that the present traffic congestion will be met.

"I want our police department," said Mr. Silberstein this morning, "to make an impression with every visitor that comes to this city. I want these people to remark on what a well-appearing and live-looking corps of patrolmen we have on our force. If necessary, we will hold special drills and dress parades.

"A good, live, awake bunch of officers suggests a good live, awake city, especially when the men walk with the air and dignity of real policemen. The men must also be acquainted with all the streets, business houses and office buildings, so that they can direct a stranger anywhere in the city.

"Traffic policemen on the important corners to direct the congestion and also keep pedestrians from 'jay-walking' will mean much toward establishing the efficiency of the police department. Auto speeders will be watched by the motorcycle police and every offender, no matter who he is, will be brought to justice."

ONE SOLDIER GETS OVER 3,000 LETTERS.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—Rifleman A. C. White, who was described by a sentimental fellow soldier in a letter to a London paper as the lonesomest man in the British army, has become the bane of the British army postal service. White was lying in a hospital near the front, with no one to write to him or to send him presents. But after the pathetic description appeared, an extra force of men had to be employed to handle and carry his mail. His letters have now passed the 3,000 mark, and his parcels are numbered by the hundreds. Every mail White draws a bigger bag than many companies.

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following suggestion will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

By taking it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's short-comings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, let it be stated that the prescription calls only for three-grain Cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration. The tablets contain no opiates or habit-forming drugs, so a physician's prescription is not necessary. Well stocked pharmacies supply these tablets which possess the most wonderful tonic—invigorating powers imaginable. The effect of their use is soon apparent in new strength and nerve force.—Advertisement.

WILD TALE OF KIDNAPERS

Grace Fuda Tells Unbelievable Story of Flight to Brainerd.

Walked Eight Miles With Armed Men Following Her in Auto.

Telling a Munchausen-like tale of being kidnaped and forced to walk eight miles through the streets of Duluth in front of an automobile driven by the two kidnapers, Grace Fuda, age 17, returned to her New Duluth home last night.

After being the object of a Northwest-wide search for eight days she was found on a farm near Brainerd by her father yesterday. Mr. Fuda was sent to Brainerd by Duluth police after they had verified reports of persons who had seen her in the Cuyuna range city. She disappeared April 7.

With her chic little rosebud-trimmed hat set at a saucy angle, Grace smiled and her black eyes flashed as she recited to Lieut. Robert McDermott of the New Duluth station a story full of inconsistencies and apparent contradictions. She was never at a loss for an explanation and seemed to have enjoyed her week's jaunt. F. Fuda, her father, corroborated his daughter's statement and said:

"That's just the way it happened."

"About 4 o'clock," said Grace, "I left the Gary library and went to the home of a man living near the steel plant to collect a bill. I couldn't get any money.

"On the way back I passed two men near the cement plant. They were out in the middle of the road, evidently repairing their automobile. They asked me if I wanted a ride and I said: 'No.'

Draw Revolvers.

"When I said that they pulled out revolvers and ordered me to walk down the road, saying: 'If you speak to anyone we'll shoot you.'

"I walked several hundred feet ahead of the car for miles. At intervals they stopped to repair the car to give me time to get further ahead, and once they were so far behind I could have dodged away from them.

"I thought they would make me get into the machine after a while, but no—they were sore at me; they made me walk. When we got downtown a ways they called me back to the machine. They gave me $2.25 and ordered me to keep on walking until I reached the Union station, and then to get on the Northern Pacific train and go to Brainerd.

"I asked a man at Twenty-ninth avenue west the way to the Union depot and about at this point I met a man in a wagon who offered me a ride. I wanted to ride, but I was afraid of my life, so I went on walking. I saw the same man again a little while later. All this time my two tormentors were a short distance behind me in the automobile.

Bought Ticket.

"When I got to the depot my slippers were all torn, and I was tired out, but I bought the ticket to Brainerd, and went down there expecting to meet the men there the next morning. They didn't come so I got work in the hotel there for two days. After that I got work at the depot lunch counter from a Mr. Herbert, who sent me down into the country with his sister after I worked two days.

"I never saw the two men again. I had seen them once before, when they came into the store and purchased cigars. They were dressed like laborers then."

She persisted in the story, refusing to explain how she walked eight miles in an hour and a half, and how she had managed to live without any money except the $2.25 paid in railroad fare. When confronted with a Northern Pacific time table, bearing the pencilled word "Brainerd" on the margin, which was found in her room soon after she disappeared, Grace only smiled.

The real reason back of the girl's flight will probably never be known—when found she had all of the jewelry she wore when she left home, valued at more than $100.

The case attracted wide attention, as Grace was one of the prettiest and most popular girls in New Duluth's Italian colony.

WILL CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE DAY

Norwegians of Duluth Plan Elaborate Program for May 17.

Norwegian-Americans of Duluth under direction of the United Seventeenth Day of May committee are now active in making arrangements for the celebration of Norway's independence day. An elaborate patriotic program will be given at the Armory on May 16, beginning at 2 p. m.

Virtually every Norwegian church, lodge, society and other organization will take an active part and a representative from each organization is on the committee. S. Momb is secretary of the committee.

There will be a number of patriotic addresses, chief of which will be delivered by Prof. Kildahl of the St. Anthony Park Lutheran seminary. Mrs. Valborg Gunderson Finkelson will play the violin and Flaaten's orchestra will render music. Choirs from different churches will take part.

"The 17th of May is Norway's independence day," said Mr. Momb this morning. "It is the time that Norway secured her separation from Denmark and represents to patriotic Norwegians what the Fourth of July does to Americans."

ROADS BEING BUILT ALONG NEW DITCHES

Hibbing Concern Has Several Teams Working Near Floodwood.

Floodwood, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A carload of horses and road scrapers and other machinery arrived today from Hibbing for the Coons Construction company to be used in making roads along the ditches made last year and during the present year. That company has from three to five teams daily hauling out supplies to its eight dredges.

From ten to fifteen cars are being loaded with hardwood bolts and shipped out daily. Most of it goes to the National Woodenware company at Hill City, which has approximately 50,000 cords piled here in the yards and is shipping it out as fast as it is enabled to secure empty cars.

The new dry-land machine recently purchased by Sub-Contractor Lawton has just arrived and is now being hauled to a point on the creek near the Gowan road, where the dredging operations will start as soon as the machine is put together.

Farmers' Club Elects.

The Floodwood Farmers' club met yesterday and the following officers were elected: S. F. Hutchinson, president; O. H. Gjora, vice president; Nels O. Stagoberg, secretary and treasurer. Regular monthly meetings will be held on the first Friday of each month.

A son was born Easter Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. John Paquet, making ten healthy children in that family of pioneer settlers. Mrs. Paquet's father, M. Snyder, located on the Upper Floodwood river some twenty years ago on a 160-acre homestead and on which he is still residing, having raised a family of twenty-four children.

MOST IMMIGRANTS TO GOPHER STATE

Minnesota Led Other Northwestern States in March Settlers.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of all the cars of immigrant movables handled by the Minnesota Transfer Railway company last month, Minnesota received more than half, according to reports compiled by that company, and given out by the state immigration department. During March 1,494 cars of immigrant movables were handled by the Minnesota Transfer Railway company, of which 851 were left in Minnesota. North Dakota came next with 233, Wisconsin, 165; Montana, 113; Canada, 76, the balance of the Northwestern states received 5, 3, 2 and 1 each.

"March is generally conceded to be the best month for immigration," said Fred D. Sherman, commissioner of immigration, "although I expect to see a heavy movement this month. I am receiving letters daily from people in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana who write for instructions about shipping livestock, etc., informing me that they are going to move in April, and for that reason I believe that the month of April will be fully as good as March.

Two Things Interfere.

"While I am much pleased with the outlook for this year, there are two things that have retarded immigration to a considerable extent. First, the European war has affected the money market in such a way that many farm renters in other states who have from $1,000 to $5,000 in their local bank hesitate very much to draw it out and invest it at this time. Another reason is the foot and mouth disease which is now raging in the states of Iowa and Illinois. Many farmers have written me that they had sold their farms and were planning to move up to Minnesota in the spring and bring their stock with them, but a quarantine has been placed on many of these counties, and the result is that these farmers cannot move their stock here, neither can they dispose of it. Barring the two above mentioned points, prospects are excellent for a big influx of settlers this year."

GERMAN BOYS RUN AWAY TO THE WAR.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, March 25.—Romantically inclined German boys who run away from home for a life of adventure have changed theor direction since the outbreak of the war. Formerly they always went West, led astray by cheap tales about fighting the Indians and life in the Rocky mountains; now they go East in order to get nearer to Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

Four such youngsters recently left Neu-Koelln, a suburb of Berlin. Not having any money they fell upon a newspaper vendor and robbed him of $1.75. That took them as far as the Frankfort on the Oder, where they were stranded. Roaming in an adjacent village begging for food, they were arrested by the police and sent home to their parents. The boys said they intended to go to East Prussian and carry water to the German soldiers in the trenches.

MINNEAPOLIS WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Mrs. Sinclair Finds Wonderful Remedy in Time to Avoid Knife.

Mrs. Sadie E. Sinclair of 418 East Lake street, Minneapolis, suffered from stomach derangements for more than six years. She became despondent and hopeless. She feared she would have to undergo an operation. Her complexion suffered along with her general health.

Then she discovered Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and took a course of treatment. The first dose brought results. She wrote:

"Only one dose and I slept like a log. And I felt relieved right away. If I should need any more medicine you may be sure I will send for it. It is a wonder one can be rid of such conditions without pain. And my complexion is clearing; they all speak of it—I was so yellow and brown before."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

MINNEAPOLIS FOREMAN IS BACK ON THE JOB AFTER TAKING AKOZ

H. M. Bohlig Finds Quick Relief From Severe Stomach Trouble.

Suffering so severely with stomach trouble that he was unable to continue his work as foreman for the Deere & Webber Implement Company, H. M. Bohlig of 4128 Elliot street south, Minneapolis, Tri-State phone Grove 1681, was able to resume his labors one week after he began taking Akoz, the new California medicinal mineral.

"At times during the last four years I have been confined to my home, unable to work," said Mr. Bohlig. "I tried various so-called remedies and doctors but with indifferent results. Nothing proved satisfactory until I tried Akoz. From the first I noticed a decided improvement. Within a week I was able to return to my duties as foreman for the Deere & Webber Implement Company. Anyone wishing to verify this statement may do so by calling Tri-State phone Grove 1681. I will be pleased to recommend Akoz to anyone suffering as I have suffered."

Akoz has also proved very effective in the treatment of rheumatism, kidney, bladder and liver, catarrh, eczema, piles and other ailments. Akoz is a natural mineral of rare tonic properties.

H. M. BOHLIG.

Akoz is now being introduced in this city with most gratifying results. The Akoz man is located at the Lyceum Pharmacy at Fifth avenue west and Superior street, Duluth. Visit, phone or write him for further information regarding this advertisement.

Mrs. William B. Castle of 4 North Seventeenth avenue east entertained sixteen guests at luncheon at the Kitchi Gammi club today in honor of Miss Margaret Conklin of Marquette, Mich., who is the guest of Mrs. E. W. MacPherran of 2107 East First street. Pink roses were the table decorations.

AT KITCHI GAMMI CLUB.

Weekly Dancing Parties Are Discontinued for the Season.

The first formal affair of the Kitchi Gammi club since Lent was the table d'hote dinner dance held last evening. Spring flowers, roses and violets were used on the tables at which 126 diners were seated.

John B. Adams and Miss Esther Adams entertained forty guests at a T-shaped table decorated with baskets of pink Killarney roses and cathedral candles shaded in pink and entwined with ivy.

Other hosts at dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. MacPherran with six guests, including Miss Margaret Conklin of Marquette, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Wall with seven guests; Dr. and Mrs. Homer Collins, six; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seddon, six; Ray Higgins, six; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Zimmerman, four; Mr .and Mrs. Henry Turrish, three; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Goodman, three; and G. G. Barnum, Jr., four. L. C. Hanna, Jr., of Cleveland was an out-of-town guest.

Many who did not attend the dinner came in later for the dancing. Miller's seven-piece orchestra played.

The informal weekly dancing parties have been discontinued until next season. Instead of them two table d'hote dinner dances will be given each month. The next one will be held Thursday, April 29.

Hints for Carving.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Carving is well nigh a lost art in many house holds, the meat being cut in portions in the kitchen served on individual plates, and then carried to the table. It seems to me this is a serious mistake, the fowl or joint nicely browned and served hot and savory with attractive garnishes, is too tempting a dish not to be served whole, especially when, with the aid of a few simple directions the piece de resistance may be carved and served quite easily.

Roast chicken or turkey should be placed on the platter on its back and be so situated on the table that its drum sticks are at the right side of the carver. Plunge the fork across the breast bone at its highest point and hold it closely in the left hand. Then cut through the skin between the second joint and the body, close to the latter. Pull back the second joint and leg in one piece with the knife and disjoint from the body. Carve the breast in slices also. Serve a portion of both light and dark meat on each plate, also a portion of stuffing as well.

When serving a leg of lamb, place on the platter with rounding side up, keeping the small bone to the left of the carver. Stick the fork into the center of the roast, and, holding it firmly, cut thin slices of the meat from the grain to bone, then, slipping the knife under the slices, remove from the bone.

A loin of veal or a crown roast of lamb are carved alike. Have the butcher cut the backbone of the loin at each rib. When carving, cut between the ribs and serve one to each person.

Roast beef is so often boned and rolled that it is not a difficult joint to carve, but for the benefit of those households where a rib or sirloin roast with all of the bones left in it, is served, I will add a few directions as to how it should be carved. Place the roast on the platter with the skin side uppermost and insert the fork into the very center of it. Hold it firmly and with a thin-bladed, very sharp and pointed knife, cut thin, delicate slices from the outer edge to the bones. Then cut from the bone and serve with a spoonful of the thick gravy on each plate.

Roast duck should be placed on the table in the same position as chicken or turkey. Insert the carving fork through the breast and disjoint in the same manner as in carving chicken or turkey, only in the case of ducks you will find the joints much farther back than in other fowls.

If you are serving a steak, cut the flank end from it before cooking. When carving, cut both the tenderloin and sirloin from the bone and cut each into two pieces. These may be again cut in pieces, with the grain and about an inch thick.

Be very careful always to have the carving knife sharp and in good condition. Never allow it to be used in cutting bread or in fact put to any use but its legitimate one, for there is nothing more discouraging to the carver than a dull, unpolished knife. Keep the point well sharpened and the edge free from nicks.

TEACHERS' COTTAGES SOLVE THE PROBLEM OF "BOARDING 'ROUND"

Washington State Has Ninety-nine Homes for Rural Districts, and Leads Other States in Providing for Its Teachers.

The state of Washington with ninety-nine furnished cottages for rural teachers is credited with leading all the other states in doing away with "boarding 'round" that has been the bane of many teachers' lives since schools began in this country. The rural teachers who do not "board 'round" are often worse off for in some cases they stay at uncomfortable places the entire term instead of a week at a time.

Here are a few of the inconveniences suffered by the teachers that caused the cottages to be built:

1. Sitting until bed time in an overheated room; then going to bed in the never-heated northeast corner room.
2. No place to study and write evenings in preparation for the next day's work.
3. Fishing fat pork out of oceans of grease.
4. Strained relations with hostess when change of boarding places becomes necessary.
5. Having to get up at 5 o'clock in the morning.
6. Having to discuss district troubles with family and frequently be accused of favoring faction with which teacher was boarding.
7. Feeling teacher's presence an imposition especially where all families in district are well-to-do and do not really want to board the teacher.

Teachers' Cottages.

The personal leadership of this movement is ascribed to State Superintendent Josephine Preston, who began her work for teachers' cottages when she was assistant county superintendent in Walla Walla county.

"It's out of the question; I can't find a place to board in my district," was the wail of one of the teachers.

"That's strange," replied Mrs. Preston, "for yours is a wealthy community and has several of the nicest homes in the state in it."

"That's it," said the teacher; "they are so well-to-do that they don't want to be bothered with the teacher. The one family that has always had to take the teacher has moved to the city."

Mrs. Preston went with the teacher to one of the best homes and asked the man why his family was unwilling to take the teacher to board. He said he did not want a stranger around him and his family evenings for nine months of the year.

"But you have a big house," suggested Mrs. Preston, "and I'm sure the teacher would be more than glad if you would furnish her one of the upper rooms, where she could stay evenings and at times when she was not at the schoolhouse."

The director looked at Mrs. Preston with indignation and replied hotly:

"If a teacher comes to my house and feels herself too good to sit with my family, she can pack her trunk and get out."

Solving the Problem.

As an answer was an impossibility Mrs. Preston turned to deeds instead of words. In a nearby farmyard was a cookhouse that had done duty during several harvest seasons. This crude shack on wheels was moved to the school yard and fitted up with plain furniture as the home of the discouraged teacher. That was in the fall of 1904. In the ten years that have followed ninety-eight cottages for teachers have made their appearance in the state. They vary from the portable variety to a modern cottage complete in all details.

Some school boards favor teachers' cottages not only because they make the teachers more comfortable, but because the school house and grounds are considered as a "school plant" which should contribute to the social life of the community with the teacher as an integral part of the plan. A teacher wrote of the social phase of the work:

"We have entertained the pupils of the high school and the eighth grade, including others outside of the school. This we could not have afforded to do if we had to pay high rents. The pupils have been made to feel that the cottage was their home also. When they desire a place for their parties they come to us and we give them privilege to use the cottage under our direction. They drop in evenings and play on the piano and sing. We try to make the cottage a social center and the pupils are coming to look on it in that way."

SAYS SENTIMENT FOR PROHIBITION IS GROWING RAPIDLY IN EUROPE

"Temperance Progress in Europe" was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. C. R. Keyes at the meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U., held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Phelps, 5617 Highland street.

Mrs. Keyes commented upon the fact that sentiment in favor of temperance is growing rapidly in Europe, especially in Germany, Holland, England, France, Norway and Sweden. She thought Russia probably would remain a temperance country and that the war may bring prohibition to other European countries.

Mrs. G. W. Smith and Mrs. H. H. Smith also read papers on temperance.

Mrs. Alfred Jaques spoke of the free dental clinic for school children and urged the members to interest themselves in the sale of Mogene to equip the clinic.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. W. A. Pond and Mrs. E. W. Boerner.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday afternoon, May 6, at the home of Mrs. T. B. Jones, 610 North Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Mrs. Jaques and four other members will entertain Friday afternoon, April 22, to raise a portion of the money pledged by the W. C. T. U. to the prohibition party to bring temperance moving pictures to the city.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Silver and Linen Thievery.

If I had silver-plated tableware and linens in my possession stamped with the names of the original owners, I should consider it a matter of shame and not of pride and display. Of course, a person who can slyly or boldly appropriate such things cannot be expected to feel any great shame at anything that seems of such a trivial nature, and that undoubtedly accounts for the brazenness with which they use articles which they come by dishonestly.

Until recently I held a very high opinion of a particular woman who is surrounded with almost everything that a sane woman can desire. She has a fine home, and a good husband, who is a good provider. As far as I can make out she has everything to make the heart of a woman glad and contented; everything, too, to make a woman honest if she has real honesty in her make-up.

In a straightforward sort of a manner, she showed me her assortment of souvenirs, as she calls them, gathered from first-class hotels all over the country. I was surprised at her frankness in the telling of how she came by them, for it was a sort of contradiction. She, however, considered that part of it a lark or a joke; something which attached no blame or stigma upon her, as being more cute and funny and clever than anything else.

I had very little to say to this woman as she showed me a collection of table silverware, but she greatly surprised me when she confided that she had quite a collection of towels and pillow-slips secured from hotels in the same manner. She was not the least offended when I asked her with a laugh if she had the sheets to go with the slips. "I wouldn't be bothered with sheets," she replied, "they are too bulky." Next, she invited me to the dining room, where she proudly displayed several souvenir napkins. She told me she saved her own napkins for "state occasions" but used the "souvenirs" for every day use.

This woman is not the only one I know who is in the habit of purloining what few articles she may from hotels and restaurants, but she was at least the most persistent. I have been told that there are some women who will take anything that they can get away with, undetected, and have been known to take silver sugar bowls, cream pitchers, cut glass ware and table ornaments.

I do not suppose it ever enters the heads of these women that there is anything about it that should give them cause for shame, but at the same time I think there would be some great scrambling to get these same articles out of sight should they learn that they might be visited by the proprietors of these hotels.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "The Heir to the Hoorah."
ORPHEUM—International vaudeville.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—Alive Dovey in "The Commanding Officer," photoplay.
ZELDA—"The Fairy and the Waif," photoplay.

An amusing incident that happened last evening at the performance of FORGOT WHERE SHE WAS. "The Heir to the Hoorah," by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum, nearly caused the members of the company to lose their self-possession. The love affair of Kate, played by Miss Margaret Lotus, and Kelly, played by De Stephani, had reached its happy climax after a rather troubled beginning. Evidently Miss Lotus and Mr. De Stephani had played their parts well, for a young woman in the audience emitted a very plainly audible sigh of relief and happiness. The audience was convulsed, and even the players heard the sigh. "I consider it a pretty compliment," said Miss Lotus. "I'd like to meet the young woman who can so lose herself in a play as to forget her surroundings. She ought to make a good actress."

For the abbreviated engagement next week, the Baldwin Players will present "The Lure." Friday and Saturday, the Ziegfeld Follies will be at the Lyceum, so the Baldwin Players will have but five days in Duluth. An extra matinee for women only will be given Thursday. The play will open Sunday afternoon as usual and run to Thursday night, inclusive, with the usual matinee Wednesday.

"The Lure" is the work of George Scarborough, at one time a New York newspaper writer, and later a special United States secret service agent, who worked on the suppression of the so-called "white slave" traffic. His discoveries during this work made such an impression on him that he felt impelled to make them public. At first he planned to write a book on them, but later decided to present them in the form of a play, and "The Lure" was staged in New York about two years ago.

Jacky Pickford is making a great many friends for himself. He is real MARY PICKFORD'S BROTHER AT REX. "peeved" because people will insist on calling him "Mary Pickford's Brother Jack," and he has made up his mind that one is unfortunate in the possession of a screen star for a sister. As the commandant's orderly in the play, "The Commanding Officer," at the Rex theater today and tomorrow, young Jacky does some clever bits of business, and he has a fighting chance of getting away from the hateful title of just Mary Pickford's brother.

"The Commanding Officer," like all Frohman Famous Player pictures, is splendidly directed. Too much credit cannot be given Allan Dawn for the beautiful setting and care in selecting the varied environment. With the interest centering about the beautiful young wife of the commanding officer, who is unjustly accused of an immoral deed of which she is guiltless, the interest is held until the cloud that threatened the officer's wife rises.

"The Fairy and the Waif" is attracting moving picture fans to the Zelda this week, little "THE FAIRY AND THE WAIF." Mary Miles Minter, the leading player, is very clever in her interpretation of the fairy role, making a good impression upon her audiences. The Zelda theater will give a special matinee tomorrow for the children in this city, assuring the mothers that the "kids" will enjoy themselves. "Damon and Pythias" will follow this production and will be shown for three days, commencing with Sunday matinee, under the auspices of the local order of the Knights of Pythias. Special arrangements have been made for the presentation of this production. It promises to be one of the best ever presented in this city.

Marie Nordstrom believes in the doctrine of optimism. She holds that the duty of every-ORPHEUM ACTRESS DISPELS GLOOM. one is to disseminate happiness and to wear a smile instead of a long face. "Optimism conquers all things," is her motto.

In accordance with this belief and conviction, Miss Nordstrom has thought out several aphorisms, which refute a number of popular plaints and grumblings of the day. These she has in a little book, which she keeps with her, and from time to time she adds to the collection, as some thought strikes her. Among them are the following:

"Most women in the world are good women."

"Eighty million citizens have not committed suicide."

"At least 10,000 bank cashiers have worked faithfully."

"Servants are nerve-racking, but no servants are worse."

"Some hotel keepers are considerate."

"Ten million people made railroad trips in safety last year."

Miss Nordstrom, who is well known upon the American stage, will appear in a little sketch entitled "Bits of Acting." It was arranged for vaudeville by Frances Nordstrom, a sister of the star, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week. Marie Nordstrom in private life is Mrs. Henry E. Dixey and this is her first vaudeville tour, her most recent theatrical engagement being in the New York company of "Bought and Paid For."

Music, comedy and good motion pictures make up the very entertaining VARIETY AT NEW GRAND. new show, which opened at the Grand theater yesterday. Good audiences attended all the performances and the show was well received.

Cassidy and Longdon in their new skit, "The Smoke Queen." The turn is in three scenes and offers a variety of entertainment and shows off the versatility of the players to great advantage.

The McNeil Trio, consisting of three talented women musicians, is one of the most pleasing acts of the show. All of their numbers were heartily greeted yesterday.

Billy Brown offers a number of comedy imitations in a very pleasing manner. The Ambler Brothers at singing and piano playing present one of the best turns seen at the Grand in some time. Thrilling equilibristic acting is another feature of the act.

The Hearst-Selig News and a number of excellent photo-plays round out the bill.

Kayser Silk Gloves wear so much better

The very foundation of the Kayser Gloves—the Kayser Silk—is pure and strong. Fine workmanship alone could not make Kayser Silk Gloves wear longer if the silk itself were not right. In 30 years of silk spinning, we have learned how to make use of a heavier pure silk thread (not weighted), without interfering with the delightful coolness of the gloves. This makes Kayser Silk Gloves wear so much longer that millions of women have learned that the one thing to look for in a silk glove is the trademark "Kayser."

Two clasp gloves are always 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and up; twelve and sixteen button lengths are always 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and up. The name "Kayser" is in the hem and with each pair is a guarantee ticket that the tips will outwear the gloves.

HOW PEARL CLAMS ARE GATHERED

The rivers of Illinois are chief among the clam-producing streams; the annual catch on the rivers of the state is enormous. Thousands of tons of shell are sold, while the value of the pearls and "slugs" (seed pearls) taken from the Wabash alone is estimated at more than $1,000,000 a year.

The work of catching the clams, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, is hard, dirty and unhealthy; but the lure of a valuable find calls many new fishermen to the field each year. Several "wholesale" methods of catching the clams have been experimented with. Steam shovels, sand pumps and other curious devices have been used, but with poor success, owing to the habits of the clam and the formation of the river bottoms.

It has now been fairly proved that the most successful method of catching clams is the "one-man outfit." A flat-bottomed rowboat, or in some cases a craft with a small gasoline engine, is used. A set of drag-nets, consisting of two eight-foot iron bars, to which is attached a section of twine-netting filled with from 300 to 500 four-point steel hooks, is carried. The net-bars rest in brackets along the sides of the boat, and are cast into the water one at a time. The weight of the hooks and bar holds the net on the river-bed, while the force of the current drives the boat down stream. The clams are found feeding upon the mud deposits, lying back down, with shells open. As the net is dragged along, the hook enters the open shells, causing the clam to close, grasping the hook with a grip that holds until removed by force.

After a short drag has been made, and most of the hooks are filled, the net is hoisted into the boat and the empty one thrown out, to be filled while the catch is removed from the first. This operation is continued until the boat is well loaded, when a return to camp is made.

DULUTH'S NEW CITY ATTORNEY ATTENDED PRINCETON WHILE WILSON WAS STUDENT THERE

Henry F. Greene, who will be appointed city attorney next Monday afternoon by the new council, attended Princeton university at the same time that President Wilson was a student at the institution.

According to Mr. Greene, he was a member of the class of 1880, while President Wilson was graduated in 1879. They both attended the academic college and Mr. Greene remembers the present chief executive of the nation as a college student. He has met the president at several Princeton reunions during recent years.

Mr. Greene will not be new to the city attorneyship, when he takes office next week, as he held that position under Mayor d'Autremont in 1893. After he had been in office for a year, the Republicans came into power and Mr. Greene was ousted. He came to Duluth in 1887 and has made his home here since then with the exception of an intervening period of six years, from 1903 to 1909, when he was a member of the United States civil service commission at Washington.

He was born at Newbern, N. C., on May 30, 1859.

HENRY F. GREENE.

the prolonged fight that is being made in the house on appropriation items, though manifestly most of those who are contributing to this delay are utterly innocent of any ulterior purpose in the matter.

Departmental Appropriation.

The house put in another half day this morning on the departmental appropriation bill and at noon had an hour or two's work remaining on it, with three more appropriation bills to come. There was a fight on an amendment offered by Representative John B. Sanborn of St. Paul to provide $5,000 a year for the support of the minimum wage commission, led by Representatives Lydiard and Spooner, but the amendment was adopted, 89 to 16.

Several attempts to reduce the $100,000 allowed the state highway commission for expenses failed. The committee had reduced it from $150,000.

The senate this afternoon was to take up the departmental and board of control appropriation bills.

Two Special Orders.

The Moeller boxing bill was made a special order for tomorrow morning in the senate by a vote of 36 to 25, after Senator Holmberg had succeeded in having the bill forbidding the university to affiliate with the Mayo foundation made a special order for Monday evening.

There was a fight on this motion, which was strongly opposed by Senators Putnam, Lende, Dwinnell and others. Senator Putnam said there there had been more lobbying for this bill than he had ever seen before.

Senator Lende declared that the Mayo proposal provides for a six-year trial, after which the state can dissolve partnership if it wishes. Senator Dwinnell said the passage of the bill would be equivalent to a vote of want of confidence in the regents of the university.

The motion for a special order prevailed, 36 to 28. At least a part of those who voted for it did so because they intended presently to try for a special order on the boxing bill, and they were repaid by support for their motion from some of the friends of the Holmberg-Sageng bill.

Initiative and Referendum.

The following conference committees on the difference between senate and house on the initiative and referendum bill have been appointed: Senators—Sageng, George H. Sullivan, Putnam, Gjerset and Duxbury. Representatives—Bjorge, Bendixen, Christianson, Gilman and Lydiard. Senator George H. Sullivan proposed that the senate conferees be instructed to stand pat on the senate's amendments, but this met with objection, and he withdrew his motion.

The dispute between the two houses is chiefly over what vote shall be required to ratify initiated constitutional amendments. The senate took the position that a majority of all the votes cast at the election should be required, the same as for amendments proposed by the legislature. The house favored a more liberal basis.

Roadhouse Bill Signed.

Governor Hammond this morning signed the roadhouse bill and it is now a law. It is likely that the constitutionality of the manner in which it passed the house will be raised by a suit.

The governor returned to the legislature for correction the bill authorizing St. Louis county to have a work farm for women. The bill, it is said, proposes to amend the wrong law, and will have to be changed and repassed before the governor can sign it.

Representatives Holmes, Frye, Lattin, Southwick and Putnam, because of the wide latitude lately taken in house debates, had inserted in the record this morning a statement that they protest "gently and kindly but firmly" against the use of profane, vulgar and insulting language in house debates. "Lawmakers," says the statement, "should not be lawbreakers."

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

400 yearly; general repairs, etc., $7,500 yearly; special improvements available the coming year, $9,500; water works connection, $6,000.

For the North Central experiment station at Grand Rapids, as follows: General maintenance, $10,000 a year; repairs, etc., $1,000 a year; special improvements for the coming year only, $6,000.

For the Northeast Demonstration Farm and Experiment station at Duluth, as follows: General maintenance, $7,600 a year; institute hall and equipment, for the year ending July 31, 1917, $7,000; for clearing land available the coming year, $3,000.

For the Duluth normal school, as follows: Support, including summer sessions and library, $44,250 a year; repairs, etc., $2,500 a year; special repairs for the coming year, $1,250; for the next year, $9,000.

House Departmental Bill.

The total of the appropriation bills prepared by the house committee for presentation to the house was $18,426,919.54, as against $19,094,168.57 in 1913 and $17,662,308.33 in 1911.

The first bill taken up by the house, the departmental bill, was not seriously amended, though the house spent most of the afternoon and evening on it, with several members acting as watchdogs of the treasury to inspect the items and quiz Chairman Spooner about them.

One amendment of interest to Duluth, brought about by Representative North, sets apart $3,000 a year for the maintenance of the Duluth laboratory, recently ordered closed by Secretary Bracken of the state board of health. This takes care of the laboratory so that it will not be dependent upon the whim of Secretary Bracken. Senator George M. Peterson had a similar amendment made in the senate bill, so the item is sure of adoption.

Two items added to the bill by Chairman Spooner yesterday afternoon were $10,000 a year to the insurance department to carry out the new law for the state regulation of insurance rating bureaus and fire insurance rates, which Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin in urging the adoption of the amendment declared to be the most important insurance law passed in many years; and $10,000 a year to the railroad and warehouse commission for handling the state regulation of telephones, provided in the Minnette-Burrows bill.

Board of Health.

When the state board of health's budget was reached Representative Bullford proposed to cut from $15,000 to $10,000 the item of special tuberculosis work, but Representative J. T. Johnson of Fergus Falls declared that the figure ought to be doubled rather than reduced, and the amendment was beaten.

Representative Elmer E. Adams strongly criticized the item of $13,000 to make up a deficit in the board's appropriations, declaring that state officials ought not to be allowed to exceed their appropriations. Agreement with this view was general, but on the ground that the obligation had been incurred and that the state ought not to repudiate it, the amendment was defeated.

Representative Leavitt Corning of St. Paul tried to increase the allowance for county tuberculosis sanatoriums from $100,000 a year to $250,000, but his amendment was lost, 48 to 54.

At the night session the house succeeded in getting about two-thirds of the departmental appropriations bill off its hands, and expected to finish the rest this morning.

For Immigration Bureau.

Representative Charles H. Warner of Aitkin succeeded in getting $25,000 a year added to the bill for the maintenance of the immigration bureau. The house recently passed a bill abolishing the bureau and the appropriations committee made no provision for the bureau's maintenance, although the senate killed the bill to abolish the department. The Warner amendment had only two votes to spare, and the passage of the bill, it is acknowledged, is due to the work of the Northern Minnesota members of the house.

The appropriation for the forestry department was left at $75,000 a year, fixed two years ago. Attempts to raise it to $100,000 and to cut it to $40,000 and $50,000 have been defeated. The senate committee fixed the appropriation at $40,000 and it may become a subject for conference between committees of the two houses.

An appropriation of $25,000 for the investigation of the so-called Mershon waterway project, proposed by Representative Spooner, was left out of the bill in the house.

An attempt to strike out an appropriation for the oil inspection department failed.

Bank Charters.

During the debate on the bill creating a commission to pass on bank charters yesterday afternoon there was an amusing passage at arms between Representatives Lewis C. Spooner and A. F. Teigen.

Mr. Teigen had just completed a lofty flight of oratory in opposition to the bill, vastly to the edification of the house, when Representative Spooner arose to remark that Mr. Teigen's speech was "the greatest exhibit of monumental assininity he had ever heard in the house."

Mr. Teigen objected to this language, ade demanded that it be taken down by the clerk and inserted in the record.

Mr. Spooner obligingly repeated it, with great distinctness.

"What I want to know," demanded Mr. Teigen, "is what definition of 'assininity' is given in Webster's dictionary."

"It means," said Mr. Spooner, "a procedure which corresponds to that of an ass."

"Do you charge me with being an ass?" angrily demanded Mr. Teigen.

"How," inquired Representative Oscar Swenson of Nicollet, "does the gentleman from Chippewa propose to prove that he is not an ass?"

The joke turned out to be on Mr. Spooner after all, for after he had made a talk in favor of the bill, quoting a number of letters he had received, it developed, that he was talking on the bank reserve bill instead of the bill before the house.

Bank Reserve Bill.

The bill by the house committee on banks and banking putting state banks on the same basis as to reserve requirements as national banks, so they can enter the Federal reserve system, finally passed the house yesterday afternoon by a vote of 72 to 16, after rather a checkered career.

It was passed once before, after several hard fights, but Speaker Flowers, acting on the advice of the attorney general, held that it had failed because it did not get a two-thirds vote. Attorney General Smith held, at that time, that the Constitution requires a two-thirds vote to amend the banking laws. Later, the lawyers of the house decided that while the Constitution requires a two-thirds vote to pass a new banking law, the banking laws can be amended by a majority vote.

The house observed the semi-centennial of the death of Abraham Lincoln yesterday afternoon by hearing read a beautiful tribute to the martyred president written by Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren, and by listening to an eloquent speech by Representative Robert Carmichael of Farmington.

Mr. Carmichael, at the close of the exercises, introduced Representative C. A. Gilman to the house as the last surviving Minnesotan appointed to public office by President Lincoln.

GERMAN AIRMEN DROP BOMBS ON ENGLAND

immune from air raiders of the Zeppelin type. It is realized also that even aeroplanes could bombard the city.

Skeptical of Harm.

Nevertheless the public is skeptical of the powers for harm of Zeppelins, the trifling damage done during the night raids of Wednesday and Thursday being cited in justification of this feeling. It would appear that the latest air raiders have used bombs of an incendiary rather than an explosive character.

The damage done by the German aeroplanes in Kent has been negligible, so far as is known up to the present time. Two bombs were dropped on Faversham, but no damage resulted.

The aeroplane which dropped bombs on Faversham was shot at by local marksmen but their aim apparently was poor.

Flying over Sittingbourne the airmen dropped another bomb, but the only result was the digging of a hole in an orchard. Still another bomb was dropped into a chalk quarry. The German machine then started for the sea by way of Deal from which direction it had appeared over Kent.

Raid Suffolk and Essex.

London, April 16.—At least two Zeppelins raided the counties of Suffolk and Essex early this morning and dropped bombs within thirty-six miles of London, but so far as material damage was concerned the attack of the Germans was less successful than on previous occasions. A large number of bombs was dropped on towns and villages but no loss of life resulted.

The number of airships which took part in the raid is uncertain, but it assuredly was more than one, as attacks were made within a few minutes of each other at points seventy miles apart. The first was on Malden at 12:20 a. m. by a Zeppelin, which previously passed over Burnham and South Minister. After dropping bombs at Malden the airship turned north and let fall more explosives at Heybridge. It may have been the same craft seen at 1 o'clock flying over Harwick in the direction of Ipswich.

A second attack was made between 12:30 and 12:45 a. m. on Southwold, ten miles south of Lowestoft on the North sea.

Lumber Yard Fired.

At Lowestoft, where three bombs were dropped, a lumber yard was set on fire, three horses were killed and many windows were broken; at Southwold, where several bombs were dropped, railway trucks were fired; at Maiden a house was struck but only slightly damaged; at Heybridge several bombs were dropped but no damage has been reported.

A telegram received here from Muiden, in Holland, says the Norwegian steamer Dag came into that port this morning and reports having sighted a Zeppelin airship at 5 o'clock at a point fifteen miles off the Dutch coast. The airship was headed in the direction of Germany and is believed to be one of the invaders on her way home.

Six Killed.

Amsterdam, via London, April 16.—Dispatches received from Freiburg Im Breisgau, Grand Duchy of Baden, announce that a hostile airman dropped bombs there at noon yesterday, killing six persons and injuring a large number, most of them school children. Five bombs, the dispatches say, were dropped in the Stuehlingen quarter. Two of them fell without doing harm, but the other killed two women and four children and seriously injured two men and eight children. A number of other children were slightly hurt.

French Aviators Busy.

Basel, April 16, via Berlin and wireless to London.—French aviators dropped bombs near Krotzingen and on Villingen and Donaueschingen, towns in Baden, on April 13, according to the National Zeitung. These places are said to be without anti-aircraft guns.

APOLOGY IS MADE CHILE

dences of contempt for our sovereign rights, although it is probable that nothing was further from the minds of those by whom it was unthinkingly committed."

Expresses Regret.

The British government, in its reply, expresses regret that a misunderstanding arose and adds:

"On the facts as stated in the communication of the Chilean minister, the British government is prepared to offer a full and ample apology to the Chilean government."

It is, however, pointed out that according to the British information the Dresden "had not accepted internment, and still had her colors flying and her guns trained."

The British reply continues:

"If this is so, and if there were no means available for enforcing the decision of the Chilean authorities to intern the Dresden, she might obviously, had not the British ships taken action, have escaped, again to attack British commerce.

"In view of the time, it would take to clear up the circumstances, and because of the Chilean communication, the British government does not wish to qualify the apology that they now present to the Chilean government."

ALL ZION CITY ALIENS MUST BE NATURALIZED

Zion City, Ill., April 16.—An edict that all aliens in the Christian Catholic church in Zion must become naturalized citizens of the United States, was promulgated today by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the organization founded by John Alexander Dowie. The announced intention of the order is to increase the voting strength of the church by at least 500 before next year's spring elections.

Local politicians say that the solid church vote is generally sufficient to sway the balance of power in Lake county politics. They predict that any material increase would make the overseer almost a dictator.

NOVEL PLAN TO REPLACE SHIPS

Would Take Interned German Vessel for Everyone Torpedoed.

Paris, April 16.—M. Leguales de Mezauban, president of the Brittany Shipowners' association, has suggested that the minister of marine replace each ship belonging to the allies sunk by a German submarine by a vessel of corresponding size from among the 278 German ships detained at French ports since the beginning of the war. This, M. De Mezauban believes would cause German ship owners to do their utmost to induce Emperor William to put a stop to a method of warfare, the cost of which was borne by them.

The proposal of M. De Mezauban has been taken into consideration by the French government, but before it can be put into execution an arrangement must be reached with the British authorities.

NUMBER OF BRITAIN'S SOLDIERS A SECRET

Even Members of Parliament Do Not Know How Many Are Training.

London, April 16.—It is impossible even for members of parliament to find out how many soldiers Great Britain has in training. They have put the question in the house of commons and the war office has refused to answer it, saying that the information would be so valuable to the enemy that it must remain secret.

Meanwhile the friends of conscription, which include Lord Northcliffe's papers, are preaching of the needs of preparing for that form of recruiting and in the daily papers are such appeals as that appearing today from the recruiting committee for Taunton, which says:

"As all efforts now made to obtain the enlistment of the many hundreds of young, eligible, single men in this town and district fail to meet with success the government should start without delay some compulsory system."

This the government, still continuing its poster and newspaper advertising campaign, shows not the slightest disposition to do, apparently satisfied with the present progress, which, as chancellor of the exchequer Lloyd George has said, has produced the largest volunteer army the world ever saw.

A prominent official with knowledge of the situation is authority for the statement that the British troops so far put into the field, including Canadian, New Zealand, Australian and Indian units—regulars, territorials, volunteers and all—probably amount to two and a half million men. As the British, when the war started, told the French they could send but 120,000 men to help them, this seems a large army.

TRYING TO DISCOVER IDENTITY OF WOMAN

Police as Yet Unable to Solve Murder Mystery in the Bronx.

New York, April 16.—Renewed efforts were made by the police today to solve the mystery surrounding the identity of the murdered woman whose body was found under a pile of stones in a vacant lot in the Bronx last Saturday. Not until yesterday when Mrs. William H. Burk, formerly Miss Claudia Hansbury of Troy, N. Y., appeared at the Troy police station, did the New York police entertain much doubt that she was the woman who had been murdered. Mrs. Christopher Carr of this city had previously identified the body as that of Miss Hansbury, her niece.

Police Inspector Faurot sent men to Troy today to bring Mrs. Burk and her brother Thomas Hansbury here to view the body of the murdered woman.

Raffaele Viullo, a contractor, was still in custody here charged with homicide in causing the woman's death but stoutly denying it or that he knew her. He admitted, however, she looked like a woman whom he had known as "Claudia" and whom he last saw five months ago.

ARGENTINE WARSHIP PULLED OUT OF MUD.

Philadelphia, April 16.—The new Argentine battleship Moreno, which yesterday stuck her nose in the mud of Dan Baker shoal, about fifty miles down the Delaware river and remained fast, was floated during the night and proceeded on her way to Hampton roads.

The Moreno will take on coal at Hampton roads and then sail for South America.

STOLE SACK OF FLOUR TO FEED HER CHILDREN.

International Falls, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some of the citizens here are making an attempt to have Mrs. Thomas Dowd of Birchdale released from the county jail on bonds until a new trial can be obtained. It is said that she was arrested for stealing a sack of flour to feed her children, who were not supported by the worthless father, who is also in the county jail.

Beltrami Swamp Land Sale.

Bemidji, Minn., April 16.—Six hundred and seventy-four acres of state school and swamp land were sold at the land sale conducted Wednesday in the grand jury room of the courthouse by Theodore Nelson, manager of the land sales department of the state auditor's office. The average price per acre paid for the land was $5.34. Timber valued at $150 was sold.

RETAIN WARROAD JOBS.

Judge Watts Decides Election Contests in Favor of Contestees.

Crookston, Minn., April 16.—Two election contests invaliding Warroad city offices were decided by Judge Watss in the district court Wednesday when he found for the contestees, who retain their offices.

E. M. Heimback, city clerk, and T. F. Spreiter, president of the city council, were elected and sworn into office. Twenty-seven free holders filed a contest against each office holder, declaring that the election laws were violated. It was claimed that Heimbach and Spreiter carried voters to the polls in automobiles and influenced several voters by giving intoxicating liquors to them. The successful candidates denied the allegations.

John Larson was the candidate against Heimbach for the city clerkship and C. E. Carlquist was the defeated candidate for the office of president of the city council.

Three Injured at Fire.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 16.—Three men were painfully injured here today when fire destroyed an elevator containing about 250,000 bushels of wheat, owned by the Huhn Elevator company. The loss is estimated at $400,000.

AFTER CLOQUET SPEEDERS.

Judge Skemp Puts Punishment of Offenders on Sliding Scale.

Cloquet, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city authorities have decided that this spring they will take stern measures to stop speeding of automobiles and motorcycles on the streets. The first victim, a motorcyclist, was brought before Judge Skemp and fined $5. The court says that this will be the fine for first offence, $10 for the second, $15 for the third, and a fourth violation will prevent the offender from driving a motor vehicle for a period of one year. The law is explicit on the speed regulations.

LICENSE TRANSFERS WILL BE GUARDED

Applicants for Saloon Permits Must Be Well Recommended.

Saloon keepers from Two Harbors who are planning to go into the liquor business in Duluth will have to undergo the closest investigation, said Commissioner-elect Silberstein this morning, regarding the application filed yesterday with the city clerk for a transfer of the Patrick Mulligan license to Nels Erickson and Carl Johnson, both of Two Harbors.

Mr. Silberstein declared that no transfers will be allowed during his administration unless the applicants are absolutely worthy and come well recommended. He is inclined, he said, not to favor the idea of giving licenses to men from out of town.

Both Erickson and Johnson were in the saloon business at Two Harbors, but since the town went "dry," have attempted to come to Duluth. The Mulligan license at 217 West Superior street is now open, as the building has been torn down to make room for a new structure and the two applicants want to open a saloon at 431 West Michigan street.

LARIMORE POTATOES WILL BE SERVED PIPING HOT AT SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

TUBERS SACKED AT LARIMORE DEPOT READY FOR SHIPMENT TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Larimore, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Larimore, long the biggest potato market in North Dakota, which has the greatest potato warehouse in the Northwest, will land on the nation's potato map with a loud noise on April 26—when Larimore grown potatoes, piping hot, made tempting by delicious Larimore made butter, will be served to every visitor at the North Dakota building at the Panama Pacific exposition in San Francisco.

With its population of less than 2,000, Larimore probably is the only city in the United States of its class that has succeeded in prevailing upon the fair management to give over an entire day to its products—and Larimore has taken advantage of the day with a vengeance.

Raised 300,000 Bushels Last Year.

Local farmers, through the initiative of J. H. Pifer, began growing potatoes several years ago, and they have been remarkably successful, raising a total of 300,000 bushels of potatoes last year, all of which were marketed in the city. The Larimore movement has spread to other points in this district, with the result that Arvilla, Shawnee, Niagara, Northwood, and several other points, also have become good potato markets.

In Larimore's mammoth potato warehouse, capable of handling 110,000 bushels of potatoes, the great storage bins are, of course, located below the frost line. Only a comparatively small part of the structure is over ground, all the potatoes being below the surface. This elevator is equipped with all the latest models of potato sorting machinery, and though built by J. H. Pifer, it is now the property of O. J. Barnes of Grand Forks.

The shipment of 4,000 pounds of potatoes to the San Francisco fair was financed by the Larimore Commercial club, with Anthony Stonehouse, N. Hemmingson and Edgar Richter as the committee in charge. The potatoes average better than a pound each, and one will be served to each visitor.

MARINE NEWS

"SAULT OPEN;" NO BAR TO INTERLAKE NAVIGATION

McKee First Up-Bound Vessel to Pass—Paliki Down.

Ice in River Light and Easily Broken—Locks in Operation.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Navigation was opened through St. Mary's river this morning when the steamer J. A. McKee arrived at the Sault, upbound. She experienced little trouble with the ice, which was heaviest between Point Aux Frenes and Lime island. The delay here was not serious, the ice being very badly honeycombed and easily broken through by the light bow of the steamer. She anchored last night in Mud lake, starting out at daylight and reached the locks at 8 o'clock this morning. The tooting of whistles announced her arrival.

The steamer Paliki, which was lying at the dock of the Algoma Steel company, let go her lines and three long blasts and two short ones of her whistle gave the signal for the opening of the Canadian locks to lock her down.

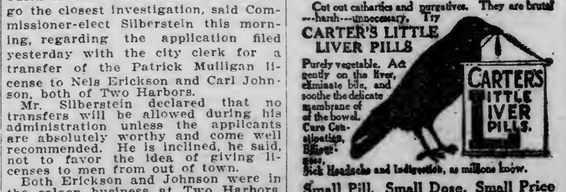
The Paliki left the Canadian Sault with the season's first cargo of steel rails for Chicago.

CAMBRIA TO SHIP.

Will Send First Ore Down Lakes From Marquette Port.

Negaunee, Mich., April 16.—John E. Nelson, superintendent of the Cambria and Hartford mines, has been instructed by the Republic Iron & Steel company to ship 4,500 tons of Cabria ore to the docks at Marquette, where it will be loaded on April 23 in the steamer Republic, due there on that day. This will be the first lake shipment to be made this season by any of the iron mines of the Marquette range. A steam shovel will load the cars during the latter part of the week or early next week. The ore will be taken from one of the stockpiles.

Last season approximately 125,000 tons were shipped from the Cambria and Hartford mines. The first shipment was made on April 14. Rail shipments were made to the Newberry furnace all winter.



None of the other mines has yet announced when it will start shipping. There are large stockpiles at all of the properties.

Fleet Being Inspected.

The Federal vessel inspectors are now making rapid progress looking over the vessels of the fleet at the Head of the Lakes, and it was announced today that all vessels preparing to clear at an early date will be fully inspected and ready to sail as soon as the season actually begins. About two vessels daily are being inspected.

LAKEPORT DUE IN MORNING

First Steamer on Way Up From Sault to Duluth.

Question as to First Out—Several Take Clearance Papers.

The first boat to reach Duluth from the lower end of Lake Superior will be the steamer Lakeport of the Port Huron & Duluth line, and J. W. McLean, agent of the line here, says that she should get in between 1 and 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. She left the Sault, where she has been wintering, yesterday morning, and has been reported at several points on the way up. Her companion ship, the Lakewood, will not start for Duluth for several days yet as the work of fitting out has not yet been completed.

The Lakeport may be said to be from the lower lakes for she and the Lakewood started from Port Huron and Sarnia last fall for Duluth, but when they reached the Sault, all lighthouses having been closed for the season, and bad weather prevailing all along the lake, it was decided not to risk the trip, but to tie up at the Sault.

The earliest arrival last year was the steamer Harvester, which reached this port on April 25. It is practically certain that that record for a ship, actually coming from lower lake ports, will be bettered this year, for the Sault is open and that is the signal for them to start.

Vessels Held.

It is still a question as to what vessel will be the first to clear for lower lake ports, as no orders have yet been received by them so far as known. About fifteen vessels are loaded with grain and ready to start down the lakes at almost a moment's notice, but, as a matter of fact, their owners are not very eager to have them start the season and a delay in the Sault opening would have been quite welcome.

Three vessels have taken clearance papers at the customs office here and can weigh anchor at any time. They are: William Livingstone, 353,000 bushels of wheat; Chester A. Congdon, 370,000 bushels of wheat; and Caldera, 351,111 bushels of wheat; all consigned to Buffalo.

Clearance papers were issued at the Superior customs house today to the steamers La Belle and Charles S. Hebbard. The La Belle will go to Two Harbors for a cargo of iron ore and the Hebbard has a cargo of wheat for Buffalo.

The first clearance of last year was the steamer Thomas Barlum on April 21. In the last ten years the earliest arrival from lower lake ports, which signalizes the opening of navigation at the Head of the Lakes, was April 9, 1910, when the J. J. Sullivan steamed in. The latest was in 1909, when the Troy arrived on April 29.

RELIEVE CUSTOMS OFFICE.

Inspectors Will Now Issue Copies of Certificates and Licenses.

The federal government has just put into effect a new system in the issuance of certificates of inspection and licensing of vessels in carrying gunpowder that will relieve the customs office of some of the work formerly done in that office. The custom has been for the inspectors to issue a copy to the customs office, which in turn would issue three copies. The new system provides that the inspectors shall now issue the copies, one for the inspectors' office, one for masters and one for the customs office.

DULUTH FIRM LOSES DREDGING CONTRACT.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the bids just opened for dredging a fourteen-foot channel to connect the Canadian channel with Niagara Falls, was one submitted by the Duluth Marine Contracting company of Duluth, the bid being $39,000. The contract will, however, probably be let to G. H. Brayman & Bros. of Toledo, Ohio, this firm's being $500 under the Duluth firm's bid.

The Toledo bid was forwarded to the department of commerce at Washington with the recommendation that it be accepted.

The Duluth Marine Contracting company has offices in the Exchange building and its president is R. B. Knox. The manager is E. M. Gaylord.

START SHIPPING ORE FROM ESCANABA, MICH.

Escanaba, Mich., April 16.—Wednesday morning a force of men started at work dumping ore into the pockets of the St. Paul docks here. Ore is being shipped here every day from the iron range. The ore carrier W. L. Brown of Manitowoc is expected at the local docks today to take the first load. Ice has broken up off the south shore of the harbor, and, with the river practically cleared, it is thought a boat could break through most any time now.

HOW "THE LEAVENWORTH CASE" WAS WRITTEN.

"As a young woman," writes Anna Katherine Green, in the Strand, "I began to versify. The result was eventually the volume, 'The Defence of the Bride.' Most of these poems appeared from time to time in the magazines, and I am reminded by a letter from Emerson, now carefully preserved, that he encouraged me to go on writing verse.

"At this time my mother, who was a practically-minded woman, suggested that I should write a novel. I felt unequal to the task, and said so; but I tought that if ever I had the courage to undertake the work it should be one of absorbing plot.

"My mind turned to thinking of plots, and one day it occurred to me that the nucleus for a story might be hinged upon the fact of a person passing the open door of a room, overhearing an accusation, and attributing it to the wrong one of the two occupants. This I coupled with the idea that a complication could be evolved in a guilty party being the first one to announce that a crime had been committed. On these two simple ideas 'The Leavenworth Case' was built.

"But the story had to be written and a willing publisher found to print it. This all came about in good season. It took me two years to write the story, and that all was successfully accomplished is proven by the very complimentary and encouraging letter from Wilkie Collins that lies before me as I pen these lines. 'Although,' he writes, 'my eyes are failing me, I read the story through at a sitting, marveling at its ingenuity.'

"It was a hard-earned triumph. The story was written on all kinds and sizes of paper. I must have written enough for three volumes, judging by a large drawer full of discarded manuscript that I had not the heart to destroy, even after the book was in print.

"But perhaps the hardest ordeal I went through was the experience I had when George Haven Putnam informed me that they thought well of the story, but that it would have to be cut down at least twenty thousand words and then be passed on by Rossiter Johnson before they could undertake its publication. Therefore, with many misgivings and after a long interval, I summoned enough courage to cut into a work that had all but undermined my health. When I had cut out as much of the story as I thought I could, there were still one hundred and fifty thousand words left to tell the tale. This was subsequently cut to one hundred and forty-two thousand, and since then I have written a well-connected epitomization of it in seven thousand words.

"The day for reading the story to Rossiter Johnson came and found me in a very depressed state of mind and a case of nerves. I did not know Mr. Johnson as well then as I do now. When we settled down to work his manner was that of a man who was summoned to endure torture, but who meant to do his duty by the Putnams if he died for it.

"The reading lasted twenty-four hours. Mr. Johnson's only encouragement during the ordeal consisted in saying at the conclusion of a chapter, 'Read another.' Then he would close his eyes, lean back, and, when a pause long enough to indicate that another chapter had been ended, he would repeat, 'Read another,' and so on to the conclusion of the book.

"On leaving, his only comment was, 'Very good.' Two days after that the Putnams sent me ward that they would publish the story on Rossiter Johnson's recommendation. That was in 1878. Since then the book has been translated into many languages, passed through numerous editions, and is in satisfactory demand today."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

She has been a conspicuous figure in the relief events organized by society women of New York during the war.

Baby's Happiness Depends On Health

Cross, fretful babies usually need a laxative to make them comfortable, and comfort begets happiness. Constipation is the cause of much discomfort. Mothers should watch closely the condition of their children's bowels and see that they are regular.

A mild, pleasant tasting laxative such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for children because of its natural composition and gentle action, and because it contains no opiate, narcotic or other harmful habit-forming drug. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists everywhere. A teaspoonful at bedtime will bring easy, certain relief.

A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

Charles Hoffbauer, the artist, who while a student in Paris won a second medal at the Salon with his first picture, a feat never before or since duplicated, is now at the front with his regiment in France. For two years prior to the war breaking out he was engaged in making some elaborate decorative work for the Richmond Confederate memorial. He is, perhaps, best remembered by his famous painting in the Luxembourg, called "War," showing a dead soldier, in a woodland, on a white horse.

ON THE IRON RANGES

OPEN AIR SCHOOL ROOM AT EVELETH

School Board Also Considers Building Additional School.

Eveleth, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The open air school room that will be used by the Eveleth district for children that need the fresh air treatment will be opened next week.

The room is in one of the portable buildings, located near the high school. Windows have been removed and the openings covered with muslin. The building is properly heated and with muslin over the openings there is no draft, but there is always plenty of fresh air.

No children will be assigned to the open air room until written permission has been given by parents or guardians. Twelve will enter the room when the department is opened with the necessary permit from parents. It is thought that the treatment will be beneficial to those not up to standard physically.

Favors New School.

Superintendent of Schools B. O. Greening, in his monthly report to the board of education at the meeting yesterday recommended that a new school building be erected in Eveleth. The need of a new building is urgent and it should be completed ready for occupancy by the fall of 1916. Mr. Greening urged that the site be selected, plans approved and contract let the coming summer so that the foundation can be put in before the ground freezes the coming fall. The contractor could then get an early start the following summer and complete the building by the time school opens.

Mr. Greening went into detail to describe the congested conditions of the schools at present. His reports showed a crowded condition in several of the buildings at present and a probability of still worse conditions next year.

Mr. Greening suggests a large building like one recently completed at Ely or a new high school building to be located east of the manual training building. Either would give the needed room.

NEW NASHWAUK ROAD WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

Two Miles Long and Will Connect With Crooked Lake Road.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids are to be called for, for the construction of a two-mile road leading from the Buck lake road and connecting with the crooked lake road at the Nashwauk cemetery. The cost will be approximately $3,000. The old road passing between the Hawkins and Crosby mines will be closed to traffic as soon as the new road can be completed.

H. Haugen, W. A. Reynolds and Brent Doty have purchased a fine strip of land comprising about five acres on the east shore of Buck lake that will be used as a fishing and hunting resort. The buildings will be constructed of logs and the timber will be left standing for protection against the hot summer sun.

The Hawkins mine employes have organized a gun club and a new $40 trap has been ordered. The site for the trap will be south of the office and a trap house will be built. The club has a membership of twenty-five.

A number of men were put to work at painting the Concentrating plant at the Hawkins mine this week. It is expected that this mine will not ship ore this season until the first of the month.

THREATENS TO GO INTO COURT

Chisholm Village Trustee Objects to Letting of Contract.

Chisholm, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council met yesterday afternoon in an adjourned session. Albert Moisio's bid of $46 for painting two sprinkler wagons was thrown out and that of the next lowest bidder, Will Kealy, of $140, was accepted.

It was decided to retain the services of Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan as caretakers of the detention hospital.

The water, light, power and building commission asked for permission to lay a water main on Longyear lake bridge. The request was granted.

Frank G. Harris appeared before the council and asked that bids be called for the village printing, claiming he was in a position to do the work for one-fifth of the price the council is now being charged. After some discussion the Mesaba Miner got the work by a vote of 3 to 2.

A claim for damages from Mrs. Brooks, who slipped on a glass fan light in front of a store and broke her arm, was received and the matter referred to the village attorney, who thought that the owners of the store were as much liable as the village.

Mahne Makes Objection.

Trustee Mahne criticized the water, light, power and building commission's system on letting the building of a water main to the Myers location by the contract method, contending that the men should be paid the regular $2.50 for an eight-hour day and not be subjected to a cut in wages by the contractor. Mr. Hayes, president of the commission, who was present, stated that the law called for competitive bidding and that the commission was simply following the law. He also informed Trustee Mahne that the contract had been let to Raymond Maturi for 65 cents per lineal foot for soft dirt and $2.50 per yard for ledge rock. Mr. Mahne insisted that the price was too low and threatened to bring an injunction suit against the village if the work by contract was insisted upon. President Pugere, Recorder Culver and Trustee Ulrich all urged that the work be proceeded with according to the terms of the contract. The matter was still in dispute when Trustee Ulrich moved an adjournment.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to so lubricate the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women gladly recommend.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 307 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

ITASCA COMMISSIONER WHO WILL SOON LEAVE

DR. J. L. SHELLMAN.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fifth commissioner district of Itasca county will soon be represented by a new commissioner to succeed Dr. John L. Shellman, who it is understood, will locate at St. Paul. At present there are two candidates for the position which carries with it almost a four-year term. The candidates are Archie McWilliams and John H. Carlson. The appointment will be made by the various village presidents and the chairman of each township organized within the district. There will be eight votes cast.

TOWN OF WHITE TO REPAIR ALL ROADS

Many New Highways Will Also Be Built During Year.

Aurora, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be much work done on the roads in the farming country in the town of White this season. All old roads will be graveled and a number of new roads will be opened. The work will be started as soon as conditions are favorable and the supervisors can look over the district.

The board is composed of Capt. J. J. Hudson, chairman; Eric Ericson and E. T. Sandberg, supervisors, and O. F. Halstrom, clerk. Dr. Edward Darrow has been appointed health officer and Charles T. Murphy has been appointed attorney. Other appointees are: John Mackley, truck driver; Andrew Leiviski, foreman for road district No. 2; Belcher, engineer for crusher plant.

CYRUS MINE BOSS INSTANTLY KILLED

Three Others Injured When Heavy Timber Falls on Them.

Buhl, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Roswall, shift boss at the Cyrus mine here, was instantly killed and three fellow workmen injured at 11 o'clock last night when a cap they were placing on post was dislodged, falling on them.

The three injured will recover. The cap, a heavy timber weighing several hundred pounds, was dislodged by dirt falling from the roof.

Roswall had been employed at the mine several years and was single.

LANDS DULUTH CONTRACT.

Pengilly Brick Plant to Supply New Zenith City Armory.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Range Lime, Brick & Cement company operating a plant at Pengilly has been awarded the contract to furnish 2,000,000 brick for the new armory to be erected at Duluth. The plant at present has only about 1,000,000 brick stocked in its immense shed and this large order will keep the plant busy for some time.

A location to be built this spring and it is expected that a number of families will move out there when an application will be made to the government for a postoffice. The company expects to pay common labor $2.50 per day the coming summer which is an increase of 25 cents over the corporation.

BIWABIK PLAY.

"The Private Tutor" to Be Presented By Literary Society.

Biwabik, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minerva Literary society of the high school will present "The Private Tutor," a farce in three acts, this evening.

COMMERCIAL CLUB OF GILBERT MEETS

Officers Are Elected and Various Other Matters Considered.

Gilbert, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of Commercial club held last night the following officers were elected: President, D. T. Caine; first vice president, John N. Carlson; second vice president, Thomas S. Morrison; third vice president, William Markus; secretary, W. H. Radermacher; treasurer, George W. Everitt.

Several matters of interest to the citizens were brought up for discussion, among which were peddlers' and dogs' licenses, the question of stocking Ely lake with bass and the endeavor to ascertain from County Commissioner Pentilla the amount of work to be expected to be done this year on the road to the south of Gilbert and to assure him that every cent that could be appropriated for that purpose would be appreciated by the people of this section.

The committee that was appointed to investigate the feasibility of planting wild rice in the nearby lakes to assure the presence of ducks in the hunting season was Dr. Barrett, William Markus and Thomas Morrison; that on the bass question was William Markus, D. T. Caine and C. O. Welch and one to interview County Commissioner Penttila was John Carlson, Herman Bodas and Frank Bowman.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past year were received, the books were audited and both officers commended for their efficient work.

WORK STARTED ON FILTRATION PLANT

When Completed Gilbert Will Be Assured of Pure Water.

Gilbert, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the water filtration plant was begun yesterday by the Butler-Coons Contracting company and the force of men will be increased as conditions warrant.

The plant when completed will be very efficient and insure a pure water supply for the village. The work of cleaning up the streets and alleys is well along toward completion and many improvements have been made. It is expected that the work of repairing the sewage filtration plant will soon be started. The village hall is being repaired and painted.

TWO POUNDMASTERS.

Nashwauk Will Take No Chances of Stray Stock's Depredations.

Nashwauk, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a recent meeting of the village council, two men were appointed to serve as pound masters during the coming season. The two men have been instructed to act as herders and the council desires the cooperation of all owners of cattle in this matter.

The president, H. T. Reifel states that they can assist materially by driving their stock to the county road just east of the Crosby and La Rue mine spurs.

The herder will be ready to take care of the cattle from this point at 8 a. m. each morning and he will allow cattle to return at 6 p. m. After that hour, the owners are requested to keep the stock in an enclosed place, as all cattle found roaming streets after night will be impounded and a fee of $1 per head will be collected. The council is merely trying this as an experiment and with proper cooperation it should work. If it develops that the officer receives no support from cattle owners, he then will be instructed to remain in the village limits and impound each and every animal running at last at any and all times of the day.

TAKES ELY POSITION.

Archie Bonnier of Cloquet Now Has New Job.

Cloquet, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie Bonnier, who has been clerk at the union depot here for the past twelve years, resigned and left yesterday for Ely, where he will assume the duties of chief clerk for the Iron Range railroad at that place. Mrs. Bonnier and children will remain here for a time until arrangements can be made for her to join her husband.

LIGHTNING STRIKES WOODPILE AT ELY.

Ely, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first electrical storm this season broke Wednesday morning. About 5 a. m. lightning hit a woodpile and a tree in the yard of one of the residences in the Chandlier location. No further damage was done.

MAY HALT WORK ON COURTHOUSE.

Hibbing, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Council members are considering the advisability of staying construction work on the new Hibbing court quarters pending the passage or rejection of the bill in the senate, which would provide a county courthouse here.

Heretofore at the Hibbing term of district court the village hall has been used. The village has not received any compensation for the use of the building.

IF YOU ARE A DRINKING MAN

You had better stop at once or you'll lose your job. Every line of business is closing its doors to "Drinking" men. It may be your turn next. By the aid of ORRINE thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that ORRINE will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

DENIES STATEMENT AS TO HARRISON BILL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer hereof wishes to call your attention to an article appearing in the columns of your paper of Wednesday alleging that the reason why I am leaving Chisholm is due to the fact the Harrison per capita tax will work a hardship on the town and that there would be no use of my remaining as a resident of the range. I wish to state that your correspondent had no authority from me to make such an absurd statement; that I did not tell him I was leaving Chisholm because I saw that the enactment of the Harrison bill would put a crimp on business here. The article is totally without foundation. I feel I have been hurt to some extent by having such misleading statements charged up against me. As far as my welfare in Chisholm has been in the past, I wish to say that I know of no better place in which to do business. The mining companies here, as well as the business men in general, have shown considerable courtes ytoward me. I have no ill feeling against any one and wish to have the article corrected.

Very truly yours,
NICK KOVACEVIC.

Virginia, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Maki, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mako of the Lincoln location, died this morning of blood poisoning resulting from a severe scalding he sustained a few days ago. He was playing about the exhaust pipe at the Lincoln mine shaft when he fell into the tub and was badly burned about the leg. Blood poisoning set in and he could not be saved. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon. His father works at the Lincoln.

TWO ARE CONVICTED AND THEN PAROLED

Virginia, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Fabini and Anton Modic were both convicted in district court here yesterday afternoon, the former of assault in hitting a man named Mercetti on the head with a monkey wrench at the Kinney mine location, and the other of assault in using a knife on two men at Eveleth.

As both are young and contrite the court gave them indeterminate sentences in St. Cloud then paroled them.

A civil action is being tried today and court will adjourn this afternoon until Monday when the case against McCarthy, charged with blind pigging at Buyck will be taken up.

Three Women Arrested.

Ely, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three women were before Judge John Schaefer Wednesday afternoon charged with beating up a neighbor woman. The case was continued until April 19, at 2 p. m

FIRST BRAINERD WOMAN IS BURIED

Rites Held for Mrs. L. P. White Who Died in St. Paul.

Brainerd, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held here this afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal church for Mrs. L. P. White, aged 75, long a resident of this city, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. A. White at St. Paul.

With her husband, L. P. White, she came to Brainerd in the first days of the town.

Mr. White built the first house in 1870 and his wife was the first white woman in Brainerd. As agent of the Lake Superior & Puget Sound Lumber company, Mr. White was identified with the launching of Brainerd as a townsite and its subsequent development. Mr. White died about twelve years ago. Mrs. White made her home in Brainerd and would frequently visit her sister in St. Paul, and daughter, Mrs. H. H. Barber, at her home in Minneapolis. Mrs. White had two step-children, A. A. White of St. Paul, and W. H. White of Fargo, N. D. She was born in Rutland.

BOTH ACCEPT DARES.

Two Members of Minot Board of Education Quit Jobs.

Minot, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minot soon will elect an entire new board of education, because two members dared each other to resign—and both accepted the dares.

It is all over a $100 a month clerk, engaged by the board. J. O. Smallwood and Fred Truax, members of the board, had opposing views on the question of engaging such clerk, and at the last meeting neither was particularly delicate in dealing with the other.

The offers of resignations by both members, if the other would resign, were accepted—so both lembers laid down their duties—with a $100 a month clerk question still undecided.

Smallwood and Truax were the only members of the board whose terms do not regularly expire at this time.

CHARGE EXTRAVAGANCE IN WILLISTON PROJECT.

Williston, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is charged that extravagant methods were employed by the Federal government irrigation department in the construction of the Williston irrigation project.

Charges of the land owners involving these extravagances will be placed before the board of review which will meet here this spring.

The Williston Water Users association, which is backing the claims made by the owners of the unnecessary expenditures, has employed counsel to prosecute the case—the owners being hopeful of transferring the additional unnecessary debt.

Charges of extravagance involve several hundred thousands of dollars.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

CLOUDY

Some may have been deceived by the bright sunlight this morning and started to work without light wraps. If they did, they probably felt the effects before they had proceeded very far, for the morning was decidedly raw and cold. Such was the prediction, and Mr. Richardson is hitting it so often nowadays that it may be well to be guided by the local soothsayer.

A year ago today was warm. The sun rose this morning at 5:18 and will set this evening at 6:58, giving thirteen hours and forty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat cooler weather prevails in Manitoba, Western Ontario, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Temperatures are rising in Saskatchewan. Light frost occurred last night in Idaho. Rain fell during Thursday or last night in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Northeastern Iowa, Southeastern Montana, Western South Dakota, Wyoming, Northern Utah, New Mexico and Northeastern Texas. Heavy rain occurred at St. Paul, Minn., and Roswell, N. M."

General Forecasts.

For Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Here in America there is much suffering from catarrh and head noises. American people would do well to consider the method employed by the English to combat this insidious disease. Everyone knows how damp the English climate is and how dampness affects those suffering from catarrh. In England they treat catarrhal deafness and head noises as a constitutional disease and use an internal remedy for it that is really very efficacious.

Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they had their hearing restored by this English treatment to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven and eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be easily prepared at home for about 75c and is made as follows:

From your druggist obtain 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are usually remarkably quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.

ROLLS DOWN EMBANKMENT.

Express Messenger's Curiosity Nearly Costs His Life.

Walker, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the express agents had a very narrow escape from serious injury on last Saturday night's passenger train, just south of Bemidji. The man imagined he heard something dragging under the trucks, and in leaning out to see what it was he lost his balance and rolled down the embankment. He was seen by another train crew who immediately went to the spot, but outside of a few bruises he was practically uninjured.

LAKE BEMIDJI HOTEL NOW BEING ERECTED.

Bemidji, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The construction of the new $12,000 Cochran summer hotel, to be built at Birchmont Beach, at the head of Lake Bemidji in the Cochran birch forest, began Wednesday morning, under the supervision of Clarence Jackson of this city. It will be completed and ready to take care of the summer trade by June 1.

It will be one of the most modern and complete summer hotels in the state. The main building, three stories, will cover a ground space of 40x100 feet. The other buildings to be erected this summer will be a pavilion, 40x60 feet, a dining hall 30x50 feet in size and a pool and billiard hall and about 12 cottages.

BORDER CITY PLANNING TO HAVE PLAYGROUNDS

International Falls, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Civic league it was decided to obtain the use of a large number of vacant lots and blocks about the city and convert them into playgrounds for children.

Support to the idea is given by many business men and public officials and already an entire block has been obtained for the purpose. County Sheriff Thomas White has volunteered to have the jail crew do the work on the ground obtained and put it into shape for the youngsters to enjoy during the summer months. The establishing of these grounds will put a long-felt wan as formerly children had no place to go but on the streets and under arc lights in the evening, thus causing considerable annoyance.

EXCITED BY BALLOONS.

Fort Frances Excited Over Several Aerial Visitors.

International Falls, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable commotion was created in the neighboring city of Fort Frances last Monday night when several balloons appeared above the city sailing northward and shortly afterward several tremendous explosions that rocked the earth for miles around were heard. The report that the Rainier bridge had been blown up was spread, but later found to be untrue.

COUNTY OPTIONISTS TO MEET AT BRAINERD.

Brainerd, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—County option forces of Crow Wing county will gather at the Y. M. C. A. here next Wednesday. The officers of the county option organization are: President, B. J. Broady; secretary, R. R. Livingston, and treasurer, John Vanderwerker.

N. D. Fair Dates Announced.

Langdon, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fair dates for Cavalier and Pembina county so as not to conflict with each other, or with the state fair at Grand Forks, as was the case last year, are announced. Pembina county's fair will be held at Hamilton on July 14, 15 and 16. The state fair takes place at Grand Forks the following week, and the Cavalier county fair will be held in Langdon July 27, 28 and 29.

Woman Held Prisoner.

Noonsocket, R. I., April 16.—Miss Victoria Verhulst, who left here at the outbreak of the European war to join the French Red Cross, is being held a prisoner at the Lille military hospital according to a letter received from her yesterday by her father. Miss Vernulst's letter gave no details.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

DR. NED M'NULTY BOOSTED FOR BOXING COMMISSIONER

Duluth Follower of Game Has Wide Experience and Sound Ideas—Walter Johnson Got Away to a Good Start—Paragraphic Comment.

BY BRUCE.

SHOULD the Minnesota state boxing bill become a law, it is entirely likely that Northern Minnesota will be represented on the state boxing commission. Governor W. S. Hammond will, under the provision of the bill, have the appointment of three commissioners. Dr. Ned McNulty, according to the opinion of many of the followers of boxing, is one ideally fitted for the commission.

Dr. McNulty knows the boxing game in all of its complex phases. From the early days of the London prize ring rules to the more subtle and softer times of the Marquis of Queensberry regime, "Doc" has been a close and discriminating student of boxing.

If he were entrusted with two other commissioners in the handling of the game in Minnesota, followers of the sport could rest secure in the belief that he would impartially administer to its best interests.

Dr. McNulty has ever sharply differentiated between sport and brutality. The writer has seen him stop contests when they even began to border on the raw edge of brutality. Boxing in its better sense is not brutal, nor should it be allowed to degenerate into a contest that ceases to be a contest in the literal meaning of the word.

As one who understands boxing in all of its angles—who understands the game both from the boxers' and spectators' standpoint, and understands intuitively just what protection the sport stands in need of, it would require a long and arduous search to find in this section a man better qualified than the genial doctor for a place on the boxing commission.

Good Old Walter, Eh?

VERNAL venders of baseball praise were abroad in the land yesterday with bouquets for Walter Johnson. Last spring Johnson started in the same sensational getoff, hesitated in mid season, and then had engine trouble.

Here is one who hopes that Walter Johnson has the greatest season in his meteoric career—that Washington cops the rag, if for no other reason that it seems little less than a baseball crime that the bright span of Johnson's pitching years should [illegible]ed of the opportunity of working in a world's series combat.

And yet—stop, look and listen. One day is but one day and a baseball game but a baseball game. There are something like 154 of them in a season. Walter Johnson was invincible Wednesday. Let's all hope he has a great year—but wait awhile with the encomiums.

Red Sox 5; Athletics 3.

Philadelphia, April 16.—Clever work by Lewis at bat and on the bases, together with Speaker's fast running and a single by Hoblitzell in the ninth inning enabled Boston to defeat Philadelphia here yesterday, 5 to 3. Bush was taken out owing to wildness in the fifth inning and Collins was knocked off the rubber in six innings. Wyckoff and Mays finished the contest. Schang had his hand split by a wild pitch in the second inning. He will be out of the game for two or three weeks. Score: R. H. E.
Philadelphia 0 0 0 0 1 2 0 0 0—3 7 2
Batteries—Collins, Mays and Carrigan; Bush, Wyckoff and Schang, McAvoy. Umpires—Chill and Connolly.

Yankees 3; Nationals 1.

Washington, April 16.—Fisher passed eight men yesterday, but his good work in the pinches held Washington to one run and New York won a 3 to 1 victory. Three of Fisher's bases on balls, were given in the seventh inning, but a strike out and good fielding prevented Washington from scoring.

Harper, for Washington, was taken out in the first inning after he had passed three men and made a wild pitch. Ayers and Bentley finished the game. Score: R. H. E.

Rube "Comes Back."

New York, April 16.—Rube Marquard, who jumped to the Brooklyn Federals during the winter and then jumped back to New York, celebrated his return to organized baseball by pitching a no-hit game and shutting out the Brooklyn Nationals 2 to 0. Rucker, the veteran lefthander of the Brooklyns, opposed the New York pitcher and it was a great battle. Only three men reached first base on Marquard, two on bases on balls and one on an error by Fletcher. Only three balls were hit to the outfield.

WELL KNOWN DULUTH FOLLOWER OF BOXING

DR. N. B. M'NULTY.

Marquard also helped to win his own game by driving in the second run scored on Rucker.

Next to Marquard's pitching, Lobert's all-around work was a feature. Until he flied out to Wheat in the seventh inning, he had reached first base eight consecutive times, including Wednesday's game. Score: R. H. E.

Cardinals 4; Cubs 2.

Chicago, April 16.—St. Louis defeated Chicago in a listless game yesterday. Cheney's wildness in the third inning caused his retirement. In this inning three bases on balls, three wild pitches, a stolen base and a single each off Cheney and Standridge, the recruit pitcher obtained from San Francisco, gave St. Louis the game. Doak pitched in midseason form in the pinches. Score: R. H. E.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Pittfeds 3; Chifeds 1.

Chicago, April 16.—Poor fielding spoiled Mordecai Brown's chance of winning his first game with the Chicago Federals yesterday and, anyway, Dickson was master of every threatening situation, so that Pittsburg inflicted the locals' first defeat of the season, 3 to 1. Dickson struck out seven Chicagoans and played a clever fielding game. McConnell succeeded Brown when the latter retired in favor of a pinch hitter. Score: R. H. E.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Champions 6; Millers 4.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 16.—Timely hitting by Hughes and Lalross gave the champions a 6-to-4 victory over Minneapolis in the first game of the season yesterday, Hughes driving in four of the home club's six runs with a triple, double and a single. Hovlik pitched a steady game barring the third and the ninth, while M. Williams was hit hard through the game. The threatening weather kept the crowd down to 5,000. Scores: R. H. E.

FREDDY WELSH IS IN ST. PAUL

Lightweight Champion Arrives for Bout With Red Watson.

Hudson, Wis., April 16.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, accompanied by his manager, Harry Pollok, and a sparring partner arrived in the Twin Cities today and started active training for his 10-round bout with "Red" Corbett Watson, the California mixer, at Hudson Tuesday night.

Between workouts this afternoon Welsh will be the guest of C. E. Hamilton, British vice consul at St. Paul, Mayor Winn Powers of St. Paul and Mayor Nye of Minneapolis. Arrangements for the visits have been made and the Briton is assured a warm welcome in the Northwest.

Watson Active.

Watson finished his St. Paul workouts yesterday afternoon, stepping three rounds with Mike Gibbons at Wood's gymnasium. Wednesday afternoon his manager, Jack Kerns, was unable to find any sparring partners for his protege and Watson was forced to content himself with bag-punching, rope work and shadow boxing. Today he will resume his training at Cook's, in Minneapolis, using Fighting Billy Murray, a middleweight, and Joe Bonds, a heavyweight, as his sparring partners. Bonds, who is a protege of Jim Corbett, is a coast battler. He arrived yesterday from a winning trip through Montana.

TWO RECORDS GO.

National Swimming Championships Contest Results in New Marks.

Chicago, April 16.—Two world's records were lowered in the National Amateur Athletic union swimming championships last night. The 100-yard swim was won by A. C. Raithel of the Illinois A. C. in 54 2-5 seconds, clipping 1-5 of a second from the record established by Duke Kahanomoku in San Francisco, July 4, 1913.

Raithel, W. R. Vosburgh, H. J. Hedner and McGillivray won the 400-yard relay championship for the Illinois A. C., in 3 minutes 45 3-5 seconds, cutting 2-5 of a second from the record held by the club.

MANY RECRUITS SIGNED BY FOX

New Grand Forks Baseball Pilot Has Big Squad Line-up.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 16.—Billy Fox, playing manager of the Flickertail club of the Northern league, yesterday sent out notices to twenty-seven men ordering them to report in Grand Forks on April 20, to take up spring practice. While the local fans will take advantage of the opportunity of watching the players work out, they will be treated to a regular game between two teams composed of members of the squad five days after that date when Fox has scheduled a contest for Sunday, the 25th.

This will be the first real chance the Grand Forks people will have to get a line on the ability of the men signed up, but taking the playing manager's word for it at this time, they will see some real class displayed by several members of the squad.

He has ordered five men suspended who are holding out for larger salaries than offered and they are: McGraw, Ray Anderson, Pitcher Kernahan, Paul Morse and Mark Freer. He has ordered the following to report for duty:

Outfielders — J. Lesen, Wuzika, Wis.; Al McInert, LaCrosse, Wis.; P. Flaherty, Louge, W. Va.; C. W. Block, Neenah, Wis.; C. R. Pederson, Appleton, Minn.; Elsworth Massee, Appleton, Minn.; E. Carrigan, Sacramento, Cal.; S. Bloom, St. Paul, Minn.

Pitchers—B. Brenner, Minneapolis, W. B. Kerwin, Grand Forks; R. Ursella, Minneapolis; Nels Bue, Pekin, N. D.; J. C. Christianson, Forman, N. D.; A. Battdorf, Chicago.

Infielders—E. S. Tenchan, Providence, R. I.; R. W. Cooper, Webster, S. D.; Harry B. Carver, Portsmouth, Ind.; A. Anderson, Chicago; J. J. Fay, Chicago; Pete Morse, Hoffman, Minn.; M. J. McCarthy, Minneapolis; A. W. Benson, Minneapolis.

Catchers—O. Wolfe, Muncie, Ind.; E. B. Wightman, St. Louis Park, Minn.

UNHAPPY IS THE HEAD THAT WEARS A CROWN.

New York, April 16.—Champion Jess Willard filed a suit in the supreme court today for $100,000 damages and for an accounting from the Universal Film company. The complaint states that on Jan. 8, last, Willard signed an agreement with the defendant to appear in a film, for which he said he was to receive 25 per cent of all sums received by the film company from the sale or rental of the films and was to have a weekly accounting.

The complaint alleges that in violation of the agreement and in order to defeat his rights, the defendant has made sales of the films to concerns affiliated with it at fictitious prices, disproportionate to the value of the films.

GRAND FORKS GETS BLOCK.

National Board of Arbitration Awards Player to Northern Team.

Auburn, N. Y., April 16.—Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues yesterday gave out the following notices and decisions of the national board of arbitration relating to minor league baseball:

The Bi-State league, embracing the territory of Aurora, Freeport, Rockford, Streator and Ottawa, in Illinois, and Racine, Wis., has qualified for membership in Class C.

Services of players awarded: Charles Block to Grand Forks, N. D.

"PULFORD DOES NOT WORRY US," SAYS HARRY BLUME

Duluth Baseball Magnate Predicts Legal Win for Northern.

Big Squad of Rookies Will Report Here Next Tuesday.

H. A. Blum, local baseball magnate, returned early today from Minneapolis, where he was in conference with President John Burmeister. Optimism radiated from Mr. Blume, as he conversed of the league's little trouble with the handsome auctioneer, O. H. Pulford. "The lawyers tell us there's nothing to it," began Mr. Blume. "They say Pulford is beaten before he starts. The preliminary hearing comes up in the king's court on Saturday. At that time the lawyers for the contending sides will present their arguments. We anticipate no interference with the operation of the Northern league schedule."

While in Minneapolis Mr. Blume had a talk with Roy Patterson, former Duluth, Chicago White Six and Minneapolis American association pitcher. Patterson had little to say about the team be is signing for Winnipeg.

"Of course Patterson wanted to sign some of the men who played last season for Winnipeg, but John Burmeister told him to hold off," said Blume.

"We don't know at this time how the legal trouble will come out, though we are sure that we are going to win. But Pulford is claiming that the players of last year's Winnipeg club are part of his assets. At this time Burmeister believes it will be best to refrain from signing any of these players."

Duluth Has Kid Boley.

Little Boley, who pitched last season for Winnipeg, is among the players in the corral of Darby O'Brien. President Blume admitted today that he might have to release Boley.

White Sox recruits to the number of thirty are scheduled to arrive in Duluth on Tuesday. Some of the boys may come straggling in before that date. O'Brien, at the present time in Cleveland, is expected back on Monday or early Tuesday.

Tiling is being laid at Athletic park to drain off the water that laid in the low places after a rain. The cinders are being raked off the diamond and some thick sub-soil is being rolled on the infield.

Webb's Work Progressing.

Work on the new Winnipeg baseball park is progressing, according to the information carted home by Herr Blume. The contract held by Horace Webb calls for the completion of the Norwood-Cricket pasturage at a date that will permit the playing of the opening game there between the Franchise Grabbers and the White Sox—assuming that the opening game of the season is going to be played, A. H. Pulford to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Jimmy Collins is expected to report here, according to the information dropped by Magnate Blume. As has been stated on several different occasions, Collins, if he reports, will be played in the outfield.

Exhibition games between the rookies will start on April 25. Thus will the watchful eye of Darby O'Brien be given an opportunity to choose the baseball sheep from among the goats.

TRAP SHOOTERS WILL COMPETE

President's and Vice President's Event Scheduled for Central.

President E. G. Bush and Vice President Frank Brooks of the Central Gun club will choose teams tomorrow afternoon and hold a contest at the club's lodge on Minnesota point. The contest will be a fifty-bird one. The side having the largest number of total birds will be adjudged the winner. The members of the winning side will then shoot down for a box of cigars.

The contest is scheduled to start at 2:30 and Secretary Walter Harris urgently asks that every active member of the club be present. It is desired to make this early season contest one of the best of the year. Every shooter of the club is urged to come out and get his eye cleared a trifle.

MICHAELSON IS AFTER MATCH WITH KETONEN.

Martin Michaelson, the village blacksmith of Milltown, Wis., is in Duluth seeking a wrestling match with Waino Ketonen. The blacksmith declares he has money to wager on his chances against the little world's champion.

Michaelson held a conference with Promoter Tilt Lewis yesterday, but balked at the terms offered him.

Negotiations are on between Lewis and Joe Carr. If the Minneapolis grappler will agree to come in at 158 pounds ringside, articles will be signed for a finish contest between the little Finn and the husky Carr.

Patrick Henry:

"GIVE ME LIBERTY, OR GIVE ME DEATH!"

THE SULLY PORTRAIT OF PATRICK HENRY

Hailed as the Champion of Constitutional Liberty by the first Continental Congress, Patrick Henry stood in the forefront of the movement that ended in the independence of the United States.

The kind hearted assistance which he gave his father-in-law in his inn far from disqualifying him from becoming one of the leading statesmen of his time, aided him to that end. It was a fortunate opportunity for keeping in close touch with the feeling of the times, and for making friendships with the other patriots who gathered there. More than once in his bold fight for freedom he needed their backing.

It was in the Provincial Convention of Virginia of March, 1775, that he spoke those words that still blaze and thunder: "Is life so sweet or peace so dear as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty, or give me death!"

KIESELGUHR FILTRATION GREATEST ADVANCE IN THE HISTORY OF BREWING

Our innovation, the Kieselguhr filter, makes pasteurizing obsolete. As the superdreadnought supercedes the ancient ironclad, so Kieselguhr filtration makes pasteurization a thing of the past.

In the obsolete method for "keeping" bottled beer, the steaming, or pasteurizing, necessarily ruins the taste and natural character of the beer. To correct this defect, to make Fitger Natural Beer in bottles the identical natural beer as drawn fresh and fragrant from the wood, we have installed without regard to expense the first Kieselguhr filter of its kind in America.

Our Kieselguhr filter keeps Fitger Natural Beer very much better and longer than pasteurization keeps the bottled beer of other breweries.

CHAMPIONS WIN AT COURT TENNIS DOUBLES

Philadelphia, April 16.—Jay Gould and W. H. T. Huhn, court tennis doubles champions of the United States, representing the Racquet club of this city, yesterday defeated Lawrence Waterbury and J. Gordon Douglas of the Racquet and Tennis club, New York, 6-1, 6-2 and 6-0 in the opening round of the national tournament.

Payne Whitney and Charles E. Sands, New York, will meet Gould and Huhn in the semi-finals today, while Crane and Ferring will oppose Cutting and Roche.

HEAD OF LONDON FIRE DEPARTMENT RETIRES.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—After thirty-three years of service, William John May, head of the London fire department, is about to retire. He is one of the few high officials in the city government who has risen from the ranks. He entered the service in 1883 and became senior superintendent in 1913.

PEYTON SALESMEN MAKE FINE SHOWING

Management Announces Sales Increased 60 Per Cent During March.

The result of the remarkable selling campaign made by the Peyton Paper company is evidenced by the picture of the trainload, consisting of thirty-five cars of building and roofing paper, as shown in The Herald of last evening.

The management of the Peyton Paper company, when interviewed, stated their selling force made a special campaign during the month of March on straight cars of building and roofing paper, which resulted in a net increase of 60 per cent in sales, covering the building and roofing paper department, over the same period in 1914, and which remarkable increase is highly gratifying to the management, as it clearly shows that business can be secured if gone after systematically by "live-wire" salesmen.

The reason for this remarkable increase is due almost wholly to the excellent sales force, who are expounding the merits of the Peyton Paper company's goods in and about Duluth.

PROGRAM FOR THE SHRINERS

Entertainment Planned at Seattle for the Imperial Council.

Land and Water Junkets, Barbecue, Pageants and Mardi Gras.

Seattle, Wash., April 16.—A trip to the summit of Mount Rainier, junket to the Strait of Juan de Fuca on an ocean-going steamship, midsummer floral dream and an allegorical pageant, barbecue and monster Mardi Gras covering the entire downtown section will be the principal entertainment features of the forty-first annual session of the imperial council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, to be held here July 11 to 17 inclusive.

The official program will embrace four days of entertainment and three days devoted to the council meeting proper. Dancing each night for all Shriners, receptions and special trips for the wives of the Masonic delegates will be additional events.

Two Church Services.

On Sunday, July 11, the majority of the 150 special trains already scheduled will arrive in the city and the Shriners will worship at two church services, one presided over by Bishop Fredrick W. Keator, potentate of Afifi temple, Tacoma, and the other by Rev. Mark A. Matthews, delegate to the fortieth annual session at Atlanta, recently moderator of the Presbyterian church of America and now pastor of the largest Presbyterian church in the country.

On Monday the imperial special will arrive and Dr. Frederick R. Smith, imperial potentate, with his divan will be escorted through the streets to the imperial council headquarters. Band concerts will be given continuously throughout the day and evening, the governor of the state will hold an official reception, and several big entertainment events will take place.

Brilliant Pageant.

The imperial council meeting will begin Tuesday morning, following a brilliant pageant through the streets with all bands, patrols and marching bodies in line. During the afternoon a lawn fete will be given in Volunteer park for the wives of the nobles.

A side trip will be taken to the Puget Sound navy yard to permit the inspection of battleships and a monster dance with five bands providing the music will be held in the evening.

The second big parade of the week will come Wednesday when all bands, patrols and nobles will be reviewed by the imperial potentate and his divan. A strawberry festival will be held in the afternoon and the nobles and their wives will be entertained at Alki Point bathing beach. All commanding officers of bands and patrols will be honor guests at a luncheon on this day.

Barbecue and Field Sports.

On Thursday, when the council will close its deliberations, the bands and patrols of the order will be guests at a barbecue at Woodland park, at which field sports, regimental review, exhibition drills and massed band concert will be features. A water cruise along the entire Seattle water front will be another entertainment event for the Shriners and their wives.

Two special excursions, one to Mount Rainier and one to Puget Sound, will occupy all of Friday. The latter trip will extend almost to the Canadian border and will include visits at numerous cities, inspection of salmon canneries and a journey through the scenic San Juan islands.

The week will close Saturday with a decorated automobile and float parade during the afternoon and a second pageant in the evening, headed by the Tillikums of Elttaes, a booster order founded on the Indian legendry of the Northwest. This pageant will throw open the city to the Mardi Gras festivities, including dancing on the streets and masquerade features until a late hour.

PASSPORTS NOT NEEDED.

United States Citizens May Visit Canada Without Being Molested.

Passports are not required for citizens of the United States who wish to make a trip into Canada, according to a ruling handed down by government officials of the dominion.

The immigration department of the government has announced that its officers are interfering with tourist traffic in no way. Persons desiring to pass through the country or visit points of interest may do so under the same conditions as before the war.

In reply to numerous press articles which have appeared recently regarding passenger traffic between the United States and Canada, R. L. Fairbairn, general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern railway at Toronto, has stated that conditions remain unchanged despite the war.

MANY WILL ATTEND WOMEN'S CONGRESS

Germany, Great Britain and United States to Be Represented.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, March 30.—Many well-known women from Germany and the British Isles will meet at the International Congress of Women on April 28 notwithstanding that their countries are at war, and contrary to reports that German women had decided not to attend.

A list of German and British women who have expressed their intention of being present either as individual members or as delegates of societies contains the following names:

Germany—Fraulein Anna Edinger, Frankfort-on-Main; Frau Prof. Dr. Heidsieck, Coblence; Frau Dr. Lung Haesch Ernst, Ganting, near Munich; Frau Margarethe L. Selenka, Berlin; Frau Marie Wegner, Breslau, Frau Johana Birnbaum-Kadisch, Magdeburg; Dr. Anita Augspurg, Munich; Fraulein Lida Gustave Heymann, Munich; Frau Frida Perlen, Stuttgart, and Frau E. von Schlumberger, Stuttgart.

British Isles—Miss Mary E. O'Sullivan, London; Mrs. Elizabeth Mary Southey, Brighton; Miss E. Sylvia Pankhurst, London; Miss C. Drake, London; Miss L. Lind-af-Hageby, London; Miss Gore-Booth, Miss Esther G. Roper and Mrs. C. Despard, London; Mrs. Crossfield, Cambridge; Miss May Watson, Ararowan, Scotland; Miss Elizabeth Helen Ford, London; Miss Margaret Ashton, Manchester; Miss Sturge, Birmingham; Miss E. L. Voynich, Richmond, Surrey; Miss Marie C. Stopes, London; Miss Violet Vanburgh, London; Miss Frances E. Newton, London, with Syrian friend; Miss Norah L. Smyth, London; Miss Chrystal Macmillan, Miss Marshall, Miss Courtney, Miss Leaf, Mrs. Wilson Wilson and Miss Isabel Ford.

As far as is known here the United States is to be represented by a large contingent of women, among whom are Miss Jane Addams, and a number of members of the peace party.

There will be a few delegates from Austro-Hungary, and a few from Belgium. Among the neutral countries, Denmark, Italy and Switzerland will be well represented. The difficulties of French women getting to the congress are almost insuperable, and it is doubtful whether that country will be represented by more than two or three delegates.

One of the resolutions to be placed before the congress will demand that the governments of the world will no longer allow private ownership of armaments.

OLD LABOR MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT DIES.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—John Wilson, veteran Labor member of the house of commons, is dead at his home in Durham, aged 78. He started life as a pit-boy in the coal mines, and was self-educated. He founded the Miners' association in 1869, and had been one of the chief leaders of the trades unionists ever since, entering parliament in 1890 and serving continuously there up to the time of his death.

In his autobiography, published a few years ago, he told of his early trials and privations as the son of a preacher who, in constant dread of the law, never lived more than six months in one place. He told of feeling the call of the wild when 19 years old, of his wanderings in the United States, his return to his native heath, his unregenerate life, his conversion and introduction to lay preaching, and his advent as a trades union agitator.

Food for the Lean

For the reason that they are easily oxidized and converted into energy, sugars and starches in the diet tend to make one store up fat. Utilizing these more readily combustible fuels for immediate needs, the body is able to lay by fat for a rainy day, so to speak.

Leanness may be due to ill health and amenable only to suitable treatment for the individual ailment. Or it may be due to bad cooking, or a poorly balanced dietary, or to hasty eating, or over-work, or insufficient sleep, or insufficient drinking water, or to worry—or even to being in love.

A warm climate and a quiet country life favor increase of weight. Many people gain two or three pounds a week when they drop their work or mental strain and hie away to the mountains or seashore or woods for a vacation. This is probably attributable in large part to the longer hours of sleep and the better appetite from the open air.

Fattening Foods.

Oatmeal, home cooked, of course, is one of the most digestible of the starchy foods. The "skinny" person should let no morning pass without his dish of porridge, plentifully flavored with cream and sugar.

Bread and butter, the butter at least a quarter of an inch thick, with an equally brave layer of sugar on, is what makes fine fat youngsters and it just as fattening for lean adults.

If the digestion is good, food cooked in lard is advisable. One "shadow" gained about fifteen pounds in a winter by eating a peck, more or less, of popcorn every second or third evening, prepared by popping it in a kettle with lard smoking hot. Not only that, but it relieved constipation of years' standing.

Questions and Answers.

All Is Not Parasitic That Itches: I have a great deal of dandruff and am losing my hair. I am healthy, 24, and live a good physical culture life. I feel sure it must be a parasitic affection, the scalp itches so. Please advise me about it.

REPLY.

Ordinary dandruff may itch to beat the dickens, yet it is not parasitic, unless you call the bacteria usually present in the scalp parasites. Send stamped addressed envelope for suggestions.

* * *

Powdered Glass In the Diet: Would it be injurious to swallow small particles of glass from the edge of a jar in which food is preserved?

REPLY.

As a rare accident, probably not. If it occurred very often, serious trouble might ensue in the stomach or bowel.

* * *

Chicken and Uric Acid: Is white meat preferable to dark meat for one with chronic rheumatism? White meat is said to contain less uric acid.

REPLY.

This was an old theory evolved from the now defunct idea that "uric acid" caused joint disease. So far as joint trouble is concerned, one kind of meat is as good or bad as another.

* * *

The Fear of Surgery: I am 66 years of age, none too hale, and I have what I am told is an epithelioma or skin cancer on my cheek. It is the size of a split pea. Wouldn't it be possible to have it removed with a paste, rather than by an operation?

REPLY.

Yes, but at your age there would be great danger of blood poisoning from the paste treatment, and practically no danger from surgery. Moreover, surgery will be painless whereas caustics are always painful and often torturous.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

Hereafter the basis of adjustment will be:

In Ford sizes, plain tread, 6,000 miles; Kant Slip, 7,500 miles. All other sizes, plain tread, 5,000 miles; Kant Slip tread, 6,000 miles.

The word "adjust" is merely figurative, because in 1914 the total adjustment in Kelly-Springfield Tires for the whole United States was less than 1%. You get this unequalled service in uninterrupted mileage—not adjustment.

DULUTHIAN TRUER PHILANTHROPIST THAN CARNEGIE, SAYS "K. C. B."

Tribute Paid Memory of Late Rev. C. C. Salter By Writer In Seattle In Reply to Defense of Ironmaster.

Antony said at the side of Caesar's bier, when he addressed the Roman populace:

"The evil that men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones."

The reverence and esteem in which the memory of one man whose life benefited Duluth is held, would seem to be an undying refutation of at least the universal application of Antony's rule. That man wes Rev. C. C. Salter, generally called Dr. Salter, father of the Bethel, and often referred to as "Duluth's patron saint," who died years ago and was universally mourned. His death and the general grief felt concerning it are brought fresh to the memory of old Duluthians by a tribute paid, even at this late day, by "K. C. B.," who writes "Ye Towna Gossip" for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. "K. C. B." is K. C. Beaton, who in the old days was well known here, and is now the author of the department in the P. I., mentioned. This department, it is claimed, is generally about the first read when the P.-I is opened up. Several Duluthians on the coast have sent the clipping concerning Dr. Salter, to The Herald, and it is reproduced below. Dr. Salter was the father of Dr. W. H. Salter and F. I. Salter, both of Duluth.

All that Mr. Beaton writes concerning Dr. Salter, and of the classes of people who openly grieved over his death, will be vouched for by those who lived here then. The whole city was closed on the day Dr. Salter's body was laid away, and never in the history of Duluth was the anniversary of a birth of a national hero as closely observed as was the mourning over Duluth's best citizen. "K. C. B." lived here then. His tribute to the memory of Dr. Salter came about in answer to the following communication:

"Surely you must have a kind word to say of Andrew Carnegie for the great good he has done in the building of libraries in so many cities and towns of the country. If you are a patron of Seattle's public library, you owe to Mr. Carnegie a debt of gratitude. Aren't you unfair to him?"

"K. C. B." replied:

"The man who gives and doesn't feel, who gives and doesn't sacrifice, gives only gold that he can't use, and doesn't help except in that he feeds, or clothes, or educates; but he who gives until it hurts, gives that which makes ihm a better man, and makes the world a better place that he has lived. I'll not decry the good that Mr. Carnegie has done, the intellectual good that libraries bring; but somehow even there I strike a snag when I am told that, carved in stone on each of these, thename of Carnegie must stand in letters bold that all who come may know who bears the gift. I one time knew, back in Duluth, a minister who spent his days and nights among the poor and moral poor, who gave away his home and all he had, and when he died, the women came from brothels in the underworld and mingled, with the rich, their tears upon his bier; and liquor men closed their saloons and came, and in each heart that mourned that day there was engraved the name of him who was their friend. His was a life that needed not a stone engraved to say that such a man had lived."

POLES SAVED BY POTATO CROPS

Prohibition of Use of Vodka in Russia Prevented Starvation.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 2.—"The prohibition of the use of vodka in Russia saved the people of Poland from starvation by releasing for their use the enormous potato crops planted for the distilleries," in the opinion of Ernest P. Bicknell, who has just returned from Poland where he went on a tour of investigation for the Rockefeller Foundation war relief committee.

The greater part of the Russian potato crop was planted by the distillers for making vodka, and when the ukase of the Russian government put an end to this, it was predicted that the phenomenal potato output of this year would be a dead loss to the growers. The best potato land in Russia is in Poland, and the crop was being gathered when von Hindenburg began his rush on Warsaw, in the course of which the country was laid waste for miles. Fortunately for the Poles, the ravages of war did little harm to the great stores of potatoes safely stowed away in underground caches. This store now provides practically the staple food for the Poles, and those parts of Poland which raise no potatoes are being supplied by an effective system of distribution arranged by the Germans.

ENRAGED RHINOCEROS KILLS FOUR SOLDIERS.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Capetown, March 10.—Four soldiers of a small scouting contingent recently sent out against the Germans on the East African front were killed by an infuriated rhinoceros, according to the Weekly Cape Times.

The scouts had gone out in motor cars, and the leading car was attacked without warning by the animal, which overturned the automobile and killed four of the occupants. It took fifty men with knives to overcome the intruder, which put another car out of action before it was killed.

DEMAND FOR HORSE MEAT IS INCREASED.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Copenhagen, March 25.—A largely increased demand for horse meat to be sent to Germany is noted in the Danish markets, and prices paid are higher than ever known before.

This is a surprise to the horse butchers, as it had been supposed that the demand for horse flesh would be more than supplied by carcasses of animals killed in battle. But, according to the Danish butchers, the meat of horses killed in battle has been generally found unfit for consumption, and the carcasses are now burned or sold to soap manufacturers.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN FOR INDIGESTION—IT'S FINE!

In Five Minutes! No Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sourness, Gases, Heartburn or Stomach Misery—Stops Acidity and Food Fermentation—A Pleasant, Quick, Sure Stomach Relief.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you must not injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain, unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Scoop's Music Lacks the Charm That Soothes Savage Beasts — By "HOP"

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANY CLUBS DURING 1915

Polk County Boys to Be Encouraged in Various Growing Contests.

Corn, Potato, Pig Raising and Other Clubs Being Organized.

Crookston, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Polk county will have ten or twelve live Boys' Acre Corn Contest clubs, practically as many potato clubs and bread making clubs and nearly as many pig raising clubs in 1915. Corn clubs have already been organized at Angus, Roon, East Grand Forks, Climax, Beltrami, Erskine, Fosston and McIntosh and on Saturday large clubs will be organized at Crookston and Fertile.

Last year Polk county had forty-eight boys on the honor roll in the acre corn contest and this year both the size and the number of clubs will be greatly increased. Superintendent of Schools Thorson, County Agent Knutson and the agricultural men in the various high schools co-operating very effectively. The increase in enrollment is very marked. East Grand Forks had fifty-three enrolled last year, and this year has ninety-three the largest in the state, and the number will without doubt pass the 100 mark.

Division More Satisfactory.

Polk county belongs in the northern district which includes all counties north of the southern boundary of Norman county which is much more satisfactory than the old division of districts which placed Polk county and all the other northern counties in competition with counties located in the central part of the state which was unfair.

The boys competing will be given three sets of prizes, district prizes provided by the state amounting to $200, local club prizes ranging from $50 to $300 and Minnesota Red River Valley development prizes amounting to about $100 in addition being eligible to compete for about $3,000 worth of prizes offered by the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association's fifth annual farm crops show to be held next winter.

The work of the boys clubs has been eminently satisfactory and has worked wonders in the gradual development of corn raising in the Minnesota Red river valley.

BEMIDJI DISTRICT WILL OFFER BONDS

Proposes to Sell $12,000 to Retire Old Bonds.

Bemidji, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education Wednesday evening passed a resolution to bond the district for $12,000 to retire bonds that were issued to build a wing to the Central school building in 1900. While the board did not see its way clear to take care of the $12,000 bond at this time, this district is in good financial condition and another bond for $5,000, which comes due this fall, will be paid, the money being practically all available now, and up to this time all bonds have been taken care of promptly. $30,000 in bonds having been paid in the last five years. Besides taking care of these bonds many improvements have been paid in cash, among which is $20,000 in extras for the high school, $1,000 in the North school and other improvements, which included the purchase of the high school farm. The total bonded indebtedness of the district is now $53,000. Bids for the sale of the bonds will be opened at a special meeting on May 1.

The election of teachers for the coming year took place, and the old teachers to be retained follow: High school, Eliza Loe, Allene Sherwood, Alice Austin, Mabel Wagner, Zodna Hill, Julius Bestul, A. D. Bailey, Busford M. Gile; junior high school, Ethelyn Hall and Vera Backus; central school building, Dagny Grimsgard, Josephine Ostrem, Margaret McDonald, Clara Folkestad, Elsie Schmidt, Catherine Chance, Laura Welsh, Katheryn Budelman; North school, May Brunner; East Benidji school, Sadie Hill and Delia Skagerberg. All the other teachers of this year have declined their positions for the coming year.

The New Teachers.

The new teachers for the coming year to receive appointments are: Laura Mickler of Carleton college, English; Elizabeth Vermilye of the agricultural college at St. Paul, domestic science; for junior high school, Anna benda of Princeton, Minn., Helen Shannon of St. Cloud; Central school, Agnes Starnd of Sauk Center, Ruth Harding of Park Rapids, Beatrice Siltar of Little Falls and Winnifred Johnson of Lake Benton; North school, Elin Iaste of Moorhead. The other vacancies will be filled later. On account of the first grade being crowded for room, there will be no kindergarten during the coming year, and the room used for that purpose will now be used for the first grade and another first grade teacher employed.

SEEDING WORK IS VERY WELL ALONG

All Conditions in North Dakota Favorable for Grain Growers.

Fargo, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—By Saturday night wheat seeding will be practically completed in the many of the central counties of the state.

In the Red river valley the seeding has been later by the conditions were never more ideal. An unusual amount of fall plowing was done last year and the soil froze up last winter with a lot of moisture. Right in the valley there was a lot of snow during the winter which was slow in melting and nearly all the moisture went into the ground, slightly retarding the work, but storing away moisture for the crops. The farmers are now seeding as rapidly as possible. The land plowed last fall, when disked or dragged this spring, is as mellow as a garden spot and makes a perfect seed bed for the grain. It would be difficult to imagine more favorable conditions than exist in this part of the valley at the present time.

Some Places Want Rain.

Outside the valley, while the seeding has progressed much more rapidly, the moisture has not been so bounteous and in some of the central counties rain would be welcomed even now. The wheat in those counties has progressed so rapidly that some farmers are already through with their wheat seeding and a few have early oats already in the ground.

Winter wheat is a good stand all over the state. Winter wheat, outside the valley where the snowfall was heavy, is a poor stand and the crop is not a success this year.

The greater part of the land left unplowed last fall was for the purpose of either summer fallowing or planting in corn. Some acreage was left for spring plowing to be seeded later in barley.

Finished Seeding Early.

Dazey, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably in no section of the state has seeding progressed more rapidly than along the Sanborn-McHenry branch of the Northern Pacific. Two farmers in this vicinity finished seeding wheat yesterday, others will complete their work today and by tomorrow night practically all the wheat will be in the ground. The conditions were favorable for early work in the fields and the soil conditions have been practically perfect.

AITKIN NEWS NOTES.

Junior-Senior Banquet Will Be Held on Saturday Evening.

Aitkin, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Franklin Stewart and Miss Elma Lucile Turner, both of Rossburg, were married Wednesday noon at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. A. L. Richardson officiating. They were attended by Miss Belle Du Mars and Bert Turner. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will make their home in North Dakota.

Miss Hattie Hosford, daughter of A. L. Hosford of Little Pine, died at the family home Tuesday at the age of 19 years. The funeral was held Thursday with burial at Emily.

The junior-senior banquet of the high school will be held Saturday evening in the auditorium. The guests will include both classes and their parents, the board of education and the faculty. The banquets of a similar nature have been so elaborate in past years that by order of the school board the one given this year will be in two courses.

Bishop Morrison is expected here May 12 to confirm a class of sixteen in St. John's Episcopal church. Rev. W. E. Harmann of Duluth has been instructing the class and confirmation will take place the same day. Bishop McGolrick is expected here to confirm a class of 100 in the St. James Catholic church.

MORE COPPER COUNTRY MINES INCREASE WAGES

Calumet, Mich., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following the lead of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, the Wolverine and the Mohawk companies last night announced an advance in the wage scale of approximately 10 per cent in all departments, returning to the scale of 1914. Eight hundred Mohawk and 400 Wolverine men benefit from the raise.

GATES VILLAGE MARSHAL

Floodwood Officer Has Been Reappointed to Old Job.

Floodwood, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The newly elected village council at its first regular session appointed Charles Gates, the present village marshal, for another year. V. M. Michaelson was reappointed village attorney and Dr. Muirhead, M. W. Hingley and G. I. Idzorek members of the board of health. The salary of the recorder was increased from $10 per month to $12.50.

The new town board of Floodwood met here yesterday for the first time since the election and organized. Supervisors Baune, Stenback and Nissi were present, also Clerk C. B. Wilder. Several applications for construction of town roads were received and will be given attention at the next regular meeting to be held next month. The township of Floodwood has but recently separated from the village and it is for the first time in history that the farmers hold all the town offices.

IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT HOUGHTON EXERCISES

DR. JAMES F. KEMP.

Houghton, Mich., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Class day exercises for the Michigan College of Mines here were held last night. The feature of the program was an address by Dr. James Fryman Kemp of Columbia university, past president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers and a noted geologist and scientist.

BOY CONFESSES MURDER

Admits Premeditated Killing Near Hansboro, N. D., Dec. 10, 1913.

Cando, N. D., April 16.—Absolving everyone else from connection or knowledge of the crime, at the same time contradicting his former story in which he endeavored to implicate John Rod, Clarence Orton yesterday made a complete confession of the murder of John Scott near Hansboro on Dec. 10, 1913. In a statement to State's Attorney Kehoe the youth expressed a desire to plead guilty and begin a life sentence in the state penitentiary.

According to Orton's statement, the murder was premeditated.

DID NOT FEAR INDIANS.

Pioneer Woman Resident of Hutchinson Called at 84.

Hutchinson, Minn., April 16.—Harriet Elizabeth Sivright, wife of David S. Sivright, died yesterday, aged 84 years. Mrs. Sivright came to Hutchinson in 1857 when a bride of two years. Her only surviving child, W. W. Sivright, now a member of the state fair board of managers and former state senator, was a babe in her arms when the Indians attacked Hutchinson in September, 1862.

The first night in the stockade, which saved the settlers here from massacre, she allowed herself no sleep because near her on the ground lay Jesse Branham, one of the survivors of the Acton fight, who had been shot through the lungs. She remained awake to see that none of the soldiers disturbed or stepped on the wounded man in the darkness.

Nemadji Entertainment.

Moose Lake, Minn., April 16.—The Garden Flower Society of Nemadji will meet Saturday evening and a program will be rendered. The meeting will be held in the Central school building.

The Nemadji band will furnish music, and there will be recitations, tableaux and comedies, as well as songs and readings.

TRACES STOLEN CHICKENS.

Owner Nabs Thieves Selling His Fowl to Butcher at Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Mich., April 16.—William Penrose, who lost sixteen chickens by theft from his coop at his home at Cornishtown a few nights ago, did clever detective work on his own hook and caught the thieves as they were about to dispose of the chickens in an Ishpeming butcher shop. When Penrose notified Marshal Newcombe of the robbery, he was advised to ask the officers at Ishpeming to be on the lookout for the thieves, as they would likely go there to dispose of the stolen fowls. As Penrose was stepping off a street car at Ishpeming he saw two of his neighbors carrying a bag, entering a meat market. Penrose waited outside the shop until the men emptied the contents of the bag on the counter. When the merchant was about to pay for the chickens Penrose stepped in and demanded the money. The men were arrested and in court agreed to settle with Penrose if he would not prosecute them.

Hancock—Mrs. David Carney died April 14 at the family residence at Hardschabble. She was about 38 years of age and had been ailing for some time. She is survived by her husband and five children.

Ishpeming—The name of William Weslander, a member of the drill force of the Oliver Iron Mining company, is being mentioned in connection with the marshalship of Ishpeming. Marshal W. H. Trevarrow, who has held the office for six years, will seek reappointment.

Marquette—John O. Roy, an old resident, dropped dead April 14. Mr. Roy was for many years engaged in the meat business in Marquette and in Republic. He leaves his widow, Mrs. J. O. Roy, two step-daughters, Mrs. William Wiseman of this city and Mrs. Wilvert Bradley of Fort William, Ont., and a step-son, John Davis of Tacoma, Wash.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Albert S. Larson, defeated candidate for circuit judge in the Tenth district, filed a statement in the office of Secretary of State Donald, certifying that he expended $660.48 for political purposes in his campaign.

Waukesha—Miss Mary W. Broadhurst was married here Wednesday evening to Morgan R. Butler of this city. When the marriage ceremony was completed the bride's aunt, Mrs. I. M. White, presented her with a check for $20,000.

Eagle River—Fire destroyed the hotel and several cottages of the Hemlock resort, located about four miles east of here. Insurance amounting to $4,800 was carried. The owner, Herman Ulrich, will rebuild.

Manitowoc—Twenty-five years ago last Tuesday Arthur Reichert was made city clerk by a vote of the common council. Every subsequent council has reelected Mr. Reichert, except the present one, which elected John Kelley, a clerk in the light department and a brother-in-law to Mayor Stolze.

Sheboygan—Frederick Blanke, 35 years old, died Wednesday morning as the result of a scuffle with William Meyer, started following an argument over the war in Europe. The district attorney is investigating, but so far Meyer has not been arrested. He claims it was an accident.

Wausau—Matt Strachota, aged 26, is dead, of a broken neck as a result of an automobile turning turtle on Schofield road. John Gorski, driver, suffered a dislocated shoulder. Stanislaus Filkoski, a passenger, was badly bruised. Miss Helen Gorski was thrown over a wire fence and slightly injured.

Waukesha—Resthaven, Waukesha's $500,000 hotel, was sold at auction on Tuesday to Dr. L. D. Rogers of Chicago, for $88,250. Bidding started at $50,000. Dr. Rogers will operate the place as a hotel beginning with the summer season opening about June 1.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Kenmare, N. D.—Warrants issued by the Kenmare school district over a year ago, and on which the First National bank of Kenmare recently obtained a verdict against the board of education for over $18,000, are legal, according to a decision by Judge Coffey, in district court.

Hettinger, N. D.—Joe Foss is suffering from a bullet wound here inflicted by Agent Leach of the St. Paul railroad. Leach caught Foss breaking into a merchandise car in the St. Paul yards and attempted to arrest him. The latter ran and Leach fired. Foss was not seriously injured.

Fargo, N. D.—John Martin purchased the home of E. C. Gearey on Tenth street south for $3,700. The lot on which the house is located is 70 by 150 and the house is one of the nice residence locations in the city, having large trees and being on a paved street.

Minot, N. D.—William Chambers, aged 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Fenton, died Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's hospital. Young Chambers recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital.

Bismarck, N. D.—The state library commission has been placed on the mailing list of the commission for relief in Belgium and the state library will soon have on file copies of pamphlets giving in detail a complete history of the aims and activities of the relief commission.

Fargo, N. D.—Carl Bowman died at his residence, 705 First street north Tuesday night at 6 o'clock of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held from the Maple-Sheyenne church next Sunday afternoon and interment will be made in the Maple-Sheyenne cemetery. Rev. Kvellen of the Moorhead Swedish Lutheran church will officiate.

Bismarck, N. D.—The Civic league has elected these officers: President, Mrs. J. P. Dunn; first vice president, Mrs. J. S. Schultz; second vice president, Mrs. George Niles; secretary, Mrs. C. L. Young; treasurer, Miss Aldyth Ward.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Devils Lake District Medical association held a regular meeting Tuesday evening in this city. There were present twenty doctors and dentists, including a full representation from this city and others from towns in the district. A discussion on haemophilia was given by Dr. Fawcett of Starkweather, which was followed by informal talks.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Dilworth—Dilworth fans met for the purpose of organizing a ball club. A large number of men were present, and elected W. H. Kahler manager of the prospective club. Mr. Kahler went immediately to gather a good team.

St. Cloud—Wednesday was the twenty-ninth anniversary of the appalling St. Cloud-Sauk Rapids-Rice-Buckman cyclone of Wednesday, April 14, 1886, that in a few minutes converted the northwestern part of this city and all of Sauk Rapids into agonized desolation, destruction, death and suffering.

Crookston—The attractions for the Polk county and Norman county fairs to be held in the early part of July have not as yet been booked. The meeting held Tuesday in the Hotel Crookston lacked completeness.

Bemidji—It took a district court jury less than an hour to find the defendant Elizabeth Sexton, not guilty of slander in the case brought against her by Henry Seado. Seado asked damages to the extent of $2,000.

Brainerd—Dr. H. A. Beise, mayor-elect of Brainerd, who was called to Joplin, Mo., while the city election campaign was in progress, is on his way home to Brainerd. He was summoned to Mapleton because of the dangerous illness of his father.

Crookston—Dates for the Red River Valley Scandinavian Singing association sangerfest at Crookston have been changed. The concerts under the auspices of that organization will be held in Crookston on the evenings of June 23 and 24 at the new armory. The original dates fixed were July 12 and 13.

Ada—Louis L. Larson has sold his interest in the Security State bank of Borup to Messrs. Fosskett, Northrop and Kittilson. Mr. Larson with his family will go to Seattle, Wash., to live. The annual meeting of the directors was held Tuesday at Borup and the following officers were elected: President, L. D. Fosskett; vice president, J. A. Northrop; and cashier, Gilbert Kittilson.

Stillwater—At the meeting of the city board of education, Glenn E. Householder of Dawson, Minn., was chosen as the first instructor of the agricultural department of the city schools to be inaugurated next fall.

Little Falls—The Pine Tree Manufacturing company's sawmill will begin sawing Monday morning for the season. A crew of about 350 men, the same number that was employed last year, will go on at that time. The company has plenty of logs at the landing above the mill and enough have already been floated across the pond to the slip to begin work with.

Rochester—Clifton Brown, aged 30, manager of the Gamble-Robinson company's branch office here, committed suicide by hanging Wednesday. The reason for his act is not known.

Hinckley—W. H. Noble expects to commence work shortly on a new business building on his lot between the hardware store and the Gould and Mortenson building. The new building is to be one story, 20x60 feet.

Minneapolis—An estate of a probable value of $1,000,000, in the estimate of the executors, was left by the late James S. Bell, president of the Washburn-Crosby company, according to the will filed in probate court Wednesday. Mr. Bell died in Minneapolis, April 5.

Women Everywhere

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No woman who is suffering from the ills peculiar to her sex should rest until she has given this famous remedy a trial. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Crusen, of Bushnell, Ill.

BUSHNELL, ILL.—"I think all the trouble I have had since my marriage was caused by exposure when a young girl. My work has been housework of all kinds, and I have done milking in the cold and snow when I was too young to realize that it would hurt me. I have suffered very much with bearing down pains in my back and such miserable pains across me, and was very nervous and generally run down in health, but since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my back never hurts me, my nerves are stronger, and I am gaining in health every day. I thank you for the great help I have received from your medicine, and if my letter will benefit suffering women I will be glad for you to print it."—MRS. JAMES CRUSEN, Bushnell, Illinois.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODGDON, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

TWO HAYWOMEN ARE TALKED OUT OF COIN.

Ontonagon, Mich., April 16.—(Special to The Herald)—John Laine, a logging contractor, cleverly talked a couple of would-be highwaymen out of a nice haul when they held him up at Green. He had $400 in his pocket and told the men that he only had a little change which he gave them and he told them that he was in the same fix as they were and wanted to know if he could'nt cast his lot with them. They agreed and during the night while the holdup men slept, Mr. Laine made his escape.

FIELD PAVED WITH SKULLS

Ground West of Neuve Chapelle Covered With German Dead.

Vicinity of City Strewn With Wreckage and Debris.

Neuve Chapelle, Franch, April 16, via London.—The ground to the west of this now shattered town of Neuve Chapelle, from which the British drove the Germans in the middle of March with such terrible loss of life on both sides, is literally cobbled with German skulls. The dead lie buried in shallow graves everywhere and the vicinity is strewn with wreckage and debris.

The British have made it as tidy as they can, but beneath many of the trenches and dugouts six inches of bayonet will meet the resistance of cloth and human flesh, while in "no man's land," between the new British line and the German trenches to the east, bodies still lie thick.

Dare Not Remove Bodies.

Neither the Germans nor the British dare attempt to remove the corpses and unless some situation develops to alter the relative position of the opposing lines they are likely still to be there when summer comes. Many of the trenches and dugouts where the men live unwillingly harbor the bodies of thousands of men which were covered with earth after the British rush. Many have been buried by both the Germans and the British and white crosses today dot the landscape between the lines.

Advance Was Sudden.

So quickly did the British break through the German line that full details of the action are only now becoming known even to the men who participated. The suddenness of the advance was such that many of the men were so dazed that all they knew was that they got through. In fact the British staff officers laughingly assert that it was too quick for the best results, the German line giving away so suddenly that the British found themselves like a man who hits his opponent with all his might and encounters but slight resistence and is thereby thrown off his balance.

"If we had had a chance for it that day, I believe we could have taken Aubers also and perhaps Lille," said one officer with a smile. "At any rate we gave the Germans their worst drubbing of the war and the effect all along our front has been incalculable. Every man in the British army believes sincerely that we could break the German line if we wanted and that is a mighty comfortable feeling."

KARL LIEBKNECHT'S SOLITARY "NO"

The Anti-Military Position of the Popular German Socialist Leader.

By WILLIAM ENGLISH WALLING.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Karl Liebknecht gained the attention of the whole civilized world by his courageous "No" in the reichstag on Dec. 2, when the kaiser for a second time demanded popular support in financing the war.

When the Socialist reichstag group condemned him for his action on Dec. 2, he defended himself as follows:

"I voted against the war credits because according to my conviction they were sharply opposed not only to the interest of the proletariat, but to the program of the party and the resolutions of the international socialist congresses, and because the Socialist reichstag group has no right to demand a violation of the program and of party resolution."

A Conservative Radical.

In trying to suppress Liebknecht, the Socialist party machine will doubtless meet the same difficulties as has the German government, which has been persecuting him for years. Liebknecht as a conservative radical; a brilliant, but extremely systematic and cautious lawyer with a large practice among the people, and the highest reputation with friends and enemies alike. The government has persecuted him because he has been the most formidable leader and organizer of the anti-militarist movement; but it has only been able to imprison him once, and then only by the most extraordinary stretching even of the extremely severe German law.

Ever since his early youth Liebknecth has "specialized" on anti-militarism. He has made a study of militarism and the means to combat it, and he has become a master of the practical methods necessary for such work in semi-absolute Germany and absolute Prussia. His anti-militarism has been carried on largely through the organization of German youth for the purposes of general culture.

Having led in this difficult and dangerous work for twenty years, Karl Liebknecht is the ideal of the majority of the younger German Socialists. If a vote were taken there would be little question that he would get at least half of the suffrages of Socialists under middle age, though it is probable that his brilliant opponent, Frank, who was killed while a volonteer in the present war, might have divided the vote evenly with him.

Liebknecht first came before the world at the time of his prosecution for the publication of his pamphlet, "Anti-Militarismus." It need not be said that Liebknecht by no means indorses the insurrectionary militarism of Gustave Herve. He believes the general strike at the beginning of a war to be altogether the most costly and least promising method of fighting militarism.

A Year As Political Prisoner.

There can be no question that the real reason why he was forced to spend a year as a political prisoner was not because of the successful manner in which he had exposed the bloodthirsty intentions of the ruling classes to use the army to repress any republican or democratic movement. He quoted from the memoirs of some German of high position, a conversation between Bismarck and the present kaiser, approximately as follows: The kaiser had said that he intended to make no momentary concessions to democracy as his grandfather had made in 1848. Bismarck answered that if he did make any such concessions, it would be necessary to wade up to his knees in blood to put the popular movement down again.

The reader will want to know why Liebknecht has "specialized" in anti-militarism. Is it because the world is his country and he is more interested in all nations than in any one? Undoubtedly Liebknecht is a genuine and ardent internationalist, but it may be questioned if this is bottom of his thought. In fighting against militarism, Liebnecht is also fighting in the most effective way monarchy, nobility, bureaucracy, clericalism, landlordism—in a word, the whole social system of Germany.

I shall indicate only the leading points of Liebknecht's celebrated declaration on Dec. 2. He declared that Germany for many years has been "the accomplice of czarism and the model of political backwardness;" that the war was in no sense a war of defense, but was "mutually fostered by German and Austrian war parties in the darkness of semi-absolution and secret diplomacy in order to steal a march on the adversary."

Favors Immediate Peace.

It might appear, then, that Liebknecht takes the position of the Socialists of France and Belgium—that this is a war against German militarism. But this is not the case, for he specifically repudiates the view in his declaration and attributes the war on both sides to the desire of capitalists of all great nations for new markets and fields of investment. Moreover Liebknecht favors immediate peace, which would undoubtedly mean a return to the status quo, which existed before the war, another point on which the Socialists of France and Belgium would refuse to agree with him.

Liebknecht's tremendous "No" in the reichstag has gained the most currency abroad, but his work in the Prussian landtag has perhaps had even more influence in Germany. In the session of Oct. 22, 1914, he was able to carry only half of the ten members with him in his demonstrative protest against the government; but in the landtag meeting of Feb. 9, the ten Socialist members were unanimous in declaring: "We know that war is not desired by the people in any of the countries participating in it." And when the conservative leader said something about the unanimity of the German people, Liebknecht, in spite of the censor, right to speak in the name of the people, and the landtag almost broke into a riot.

In the session of the Prussian landtag on March 2 these scenes continued. Liebknecht declared: "Democratic control by the people would have prevented the war"—and it is well known that the Socialists were unanimously opposed to the declaration of war to the very end. On the following day, Vorwaerts repeated the statement of Liebknacht, in spite of the censor, using his very words: "Democratic control by the people would have prevented the war."

The importance of the stand taken by Liebknecht and the hundreds of thousands of German Socialists that support him and his associates, lies in their readiness to enter into an immediate life and death struggle with the German ruling class, taking full advantage of the critical moment. And in this position he has the support of the overwhelming majority of the Socialists of every country of the world—outside of Germany and Austria.

New Marquette Postmaster.

Marquette, Mich., April 16.—Announcement was made at Washington Wednesday that President Wilson had nominated M. C. Scully to be postmaster of Marquette in place of F. S. Byrne, recently resigned.

Loses Control of Auto.

Norway, Mich., April 16.—Walter Vantivelt, 19 years old, a son of Dan Vantivelt of Waucedah, while running his car at high speed, lost control of it and ran into a fence at a railroad crossing near Loretto. He died on the way to a hospital.

A LOYAL FRIEND.

International Conference for Peace Held in Berne Last Week.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, April 8.—News has just reached London of a secret international conference of Socialist women which was held in Berne, Switzerland, last week.

The conference was called by the international secretary of the Woman Socialists' organization, Mrs. Clara Zetkin, one of the leaders of the German Social Democratic party, to consider the policy to be adopted by the organization in regard to the present war. The delegates present represented Germany, England, France, Russia, Poland, Holland, Switzerland, Italy and Austria.

A general resolution was adopted after lengthy discussion, calling for a "speedy ending of the war by a peace which shall explate the wrong done to Belgium but not impose humiliating conditions on any nation, and recognize the right of all nationalities, large and small, to independence and self-government."

The resolutions referred in general terms to the capitalistic and imperialistic origin of the conflict, the menace of the armament interests, and their huge international organization and the extortions of contractors and food speculators.

Relations between the British and German delegates were entirely amicable, it is stated, and the cordial relations between the German delegates and those from France were equally marked.

No announcement of the conference was made in advance of the difficulty and danger attending the trips of the delegates from Germany and Austria, as well as those representatives of neutral countries who had to travel across Germany.

Old newspapers are used a great deal in China for wrapping silks and for other purposes.

MORE ARTISTIC STRUCTURE WANTED

New Council May Appropriate Money to Help Build New Armory.

Duluth's new commission, which will take office next Monday, will decide whether the city will appropriate $2,500 to pay for the culvert on the site of the new armory, the money to go in making a more ornamental structure out of the state building.

Prominent business men have started a movement to raise $7,500 to pay for making a more beautiful exterior than is now planned for the armory, and it is their plan to have the $2,500 nucleus of this money come from the city.

The claim is made that the city paid $15,000 for the site, but that $2,500 has since been spent in making the ground available for the building by the construction of a culvert over a large part of the property. If this money is appropriated by the council, the business men agree to donate the remaining $5,000, the entire fund to be turned over for the beautifying of the armory exterior.

Plans for the armory now provide for a plain exterior, and it is the aim of those behind this movement to have the original specifications changed to make the structure a credit to the city and state. A new drawing has been made, to show how the $7,500 will be expended in making the entrance more beautiful and give a better-appearing front to the building.

It was said at the city hall this morning that the request has been presented to the commissioners, but that action will be left to the new council.

WAITING FOR WORK IN THE "JUNGLE"

Homeless Men Looking Forward to Opening of Navigation.

The opening of navigation is being eagerly looked forward to by inhabitants of the "jungle" at the foot of the Sixth avenue dock. More than 200 unemployed men are now making their "home" on the bay front during the day and sleeping wherever they can find a sheltered spot at night.

While some of these men are regular "hoboes," who are not eager for work, there are, on the other hand, a large number who would be glad to take work of any kind if it were available. This being a quiet time of the year, no hope is held out to them of work for a time. Navigation, however, is about to open, and the steel plant, railroads and other lines of business enterprise will take care of most of the unemployed in the near future, it is believed.

HOSPITAL PLANNED FOR KOOCHICHING.

International Falls, Minn., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected that at the next meeting of the board of commissioners of Koochiching county steps toward the erection of a county hospital at the poor farm will be taken.

Start Gopher Extermination.

Garrison, N. D., April 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gopher extermination is now in progress in this county. U. S. Ebner, an A. C. graduate, now in the poison squad of the Federal government and working under the direction of the North Dakota experiment station, has arrived here to instruct the farmers in the best methods of using the formula discovered by Dr. W. B. Bell of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

NO LONGER "BAD" MAN.

Youth Starts for Pittsburgh Home After Week in Jail.

NO LONGER a "bad" man with dime-novel aspirations, Sam Panarde, age 14, started back to Pittsburgh, Pa., this morning after spending a week in jail here with James Haliburton, his "pal," also 14 years old.

Sam's father, after waiting until the boy became "good and homesick" as he wrote Chief C. H. Troyer, forwarded railroad fare last night and the youthful truant will start his long trip back.

Visions of a trip to the woodshed loomed larger than all the jails in the Northwest when Capt. A. G. Fiskett showed him the ticket and arranged the trip today.

Up to this time both boys had been having the time of their lives in the jail, but Sam doesn't want to go back and face the music unless Jimmie can come along. Jimmie's father is waiting for James to get tired of a life on the road, knowing that he is in safe hands, and Haliburton, Jr., probably has several days yet to spend in jail.

FELT THAT HE WAS BEING NEGLECTED.

"Nobody loves me, or pays any attention to me," exclaimed Joseph Sandoval, age 32, angrily, last night, and he ran out of the room, slamming the door so hard that the wall fairly shook.

This was the story told in municipal court this morning by witnesses in a case in which Sandoval, with George W. Roland, age 32, is charged with disorderly conduct.

Whenever Sandoval imbibes too freely he imagines himself neglected, and becomes very angry over it, according to witnesses, who lived in the house at Twenty-fourth avenue west and Superior street, where the two men were arrested by Officer Duff.

The door slamming episode was the first of a series of little demonstrations by Sandoval, and ended in a "mix" between the two men. The hearing was continued until this afternoon.

MEAL GAVE HIM COURAGE

Pat Moran Wanted Pay From Housewife Who Played Good Samaritan.

After offering to work for his dinner and eating the meal, Patrick Moran, age 55, thought better of his proposition and demanded that he be paid for his work yesterday afternoon at 229 Fourth avenue west.

The housewife telephoned police headquarters and Officer Seglem took Pat into custody for begging.

In addition to his meal, it developed that Pat had been given a pair of shoes as part payment for his work, but still he wasn't satisfied. He pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

SCRAMBLE AFTER COMMISSIONERSHIP

Seven West Duluth Men Want City Job to Care for Streets.

There is a grand scramble going on in West Duluth. The scramble is that of seven citizens of the district who seek the position of street commissioner, and each has now a petition containing the names of from 400 to 1,000 residents.

As one business man put it, "they are all deserving of recognition from the 'powers that be.' For that reason I signed every one of the petitions as fast as the applicants came to my office."

The position is now held by P. H. McGraw. Mr. McGraw has held the job for two years under the Murchison regime.

Among those who have petitions out are Morse La Fevere, Patrick Nicholson, John Holmes, John Mackay, George Gamache and Joseph Gauthier. Some of these men have had a little experience in road repair work and others are said to have had none. In addition to the men with the petitions, there are said to be several who expect to be able to land the job.

The job of street commissioner pays a salary of $100 a month. The district includes the greater part of the district west of the ore docks but not New Duluth or the other suburbs.

COMPLETE SEWERS IN WEST SUBURBS

Crews at New Duluth and Gary Paid at City Hall.

The construction of sewers in New Duluth and Gary was completed yesterday. This morning nearly 100 men, representing the crew that worked until the completion of the job, was paid off at the city hall.

The sewer drains nearly the entire suburb. It empties into the St. Louis river just above the steel plant. The work has given employment to a large number of men who were out of employment early in the winter. More than 300 men having been furnished in that manner with work.

The sewer work was done under the day work system, and according to estimates made by officials, will have cost the property owners considerably less than if it had been let under contract. The total cost of the sewer system is placed at about $50,000.

DIES AT ST. MARY'S.

Mrs. Jennie Blanchette Succumbs Following an Operation.

Mrs. Jennie Blanchette, age 38 years, wife of Nels Blanchette, 2318 West Eighth street, died at St. Mary's hospital this morning following an operation. She leaves beside her husband, a son 4 years old, four brothers and a mother living in Canada. The brothers are Samuel Poirier of Fort William, Can., William Poirier of Bonaventure, Can., Ambrose Poirier of Maple, Wis., and Simon Poirier of Eveleth, Minn.

The funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the French Catholic church, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

GRAND OFFICERS COMING

Will Help Initiate Class Into the Vasa Order.

Grand officers of the Vasa Order will be present this evening at the meeting of the Josta lodge, No. 243, Vasa Order, at Victor's hall, 5528 Grand avenue. A feature of the business session will be the initiation of a large class of new members. The work will be put on by officers of the United Sons of Sweden lodge.

Following the work addresses will be given by Andrew Horngren, grand master of the district, and Harry A. Lund, Minneapolis, vice grand master of the district. A program of music and other features is planned.

The members of the committee in charge of the social program are Fred Anderson, Miss Florence Matson, Gust Spitz, Miss Alice Winnerberg and Axel Mattson.

The members of the committee in charge of the social program are Fred Anderson, Miss Florence Mattson, Gust Spitz, Miss Alice Winnerberg and Axel Mattson.

WANT PAVING THIS YEAR.

Club Will Send in Request to the New Council.

The West Duluth Commercial club will take an active part in presenting a request to the new commissioners next week to have the paving of Oneota street, Jenswold street and Superior street, west of Thirtieth avenue, carried out this year as planned by the department under Commissioner Murchison. The subject will probably be taken up for discussion at the meeting of the club tonight.

The paving of this thoroughfare has been ordered by the commission. The only remaining detail to the work is that of preparing estimates and securing bids for the work. With the paving of the street as far west as Thirty-ninth avenue, only a short strip of the roadway between West Duluth and Duluth will remain unpaved.

The remaining seven blocks will probably be ordered paved next year. In that distance there is one large fill to be made, that one being now spanned by the Forty-third avenue bridge. It is expected that the dirt taken from the section, which it is proposed to pave, will be sufficient to make this fill.

Free Concert.

Prof F. A. Lundholm, assisted by some excellent amateur talent from Duluth and Superior, will give a concert tonight at Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street. It will be free and open to the public.

"GOD AND THE DEVIL HAVE JOINED FORCES"

Konkel Says Ministers Have Aligned Themselves With Dive Keepers.

"God and the devil have joined forces in their attempt to run me out of office," is the statement of Mayor J. S. Konkel in commenting on the work of the new committee on the recall movement of the mayor in Superior. "The ministers are aligned with the worst element, the worst saloons and evil resorts and together they expect to oust me out of office. I intend to fight them both, tooth and nail."

The signing of petitions for the recall is said to be going on at a rapid rate. A meeting of the recallers will be held again tomorrow evening at which the names will be checked up. Only about 1,200 names are needed but it is intended to secure about 2,000. Nearly half that number has already been secured, claim those back of the movement.

"Made in Superior."

Superior men will plan the structure and Superior material will be used in the construction of the proposed $75,000 municipal auditorium according to decision reached at a conference between city officials and representatives of various improvement clubs held yesterday afternoon. A site will be selected somewhere in the district bounded by Winter and Sixteenth street, Grand and Oakes avenues. The city will advertise for the site at once.

FIRE FROM HEATED STOVE.

Cook Residence on Second Street Is Slightly Damaged.

A pile of wood behind the kitchen range caught fire yesterday afternoon when Mrs. J. Cook, 301 East Second street, was baking some pies for dinner, and the stove became overheated. Damage to the residence was estimated at between $500 and $600.

The house, a story and a half frame structure, was damaged mostly by smoke and water. Apparatus from engine companies No. 1 and No. 3, with Assistant Chief Wilson, responded to the alarm.

VILLA'S ARMY DISORGANIZED

So Says Report From Carranza Received at Washington.

Another Report Says Villa Has Advantage at Celaya.

Washington, April 16.—Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz cabled the state department today a summary of the Carranza reports of a victory by Gen. Obregon over the Villa forces near Celaya. Rout of the Villa army with the capture of thirty pieces of artillery and many prisoners was claimed.

Department officials were awaiting detailed reports from both sides before accepting as definite the result claimed by either.

Later the department received advices from Irapuato saying hostilities at Celaya were still in progress with slight advantages on the side of the Villaistas, who, the department announced, have completely surrounded the city and cut the railroad behind the Carranzistas.

The Carranza agency made public a telegram from Gen. Carranza, quoting Gen. Obregon's report on thirty-six hours of fighting at Celaya. Obregon announced a complete victory over Villa, who, he said, attacked Celaya Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock with forty-two of his generals and 30,000 men in three armies.

After describing his defensive measures followed by charges and an advance of sharpshooters, the Obregon report said:

Enemy Disorganized.

"As soon as this movement was begun, the enemy showed signs of dismay and complete disorganization. Our cavalry charges on the enemy's flank and the attacks of our infantry, which was advancing against the enemy's flank and front, determined its defeat and at 1:15 p. m. (April 15), the retreat in great disorder began. Our soldiers were then in their trenches, causing the enemy a terrible loss of life.

"We have picked up from the field over thirty cannon in perfect condition, with all their ammunition and beasts of burden; over 6,000 mauser rifles, and have taken more than 8,000 prisoners and a large number of horses, saddles and other war materials.

"Our cavalry column is pursuing what is left of the enemy and I am hopeful that the enemy's train and such accoutrements as it carried with it on its retreat, may be captured.

"At this time, I calculate that the enemy's losses exceed 14,000 men, between dead, wounded and prisoners. Our losses do not exceed 200 men dead and wounded, among the latter being a colonel and an officer of my staff."

MARKET HAS FRESH BULGE

Wheat Strong on Renewed Export Inquiry and Light Offerings.

Crushers' Bidding Sends Flaxseed Up—Supplies Reported Limited.

Duluth Board of Trade, April 16.—Wheat was easier at the close on freer offerings, and the bulge was largely lost.

May wheat closed ⅛c up, July 2½c up and September 1⅜c up.

May durum closed unchanged and July 3½c off.

Oats closed ⅜c up at 55½@56c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.08@1.09, and barley, 5c up at from 65@76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅜c up at 65⅝c, and July ⅜c up at 65⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.52, and calls at $1.57¾.

Wheat was strong again in today's market, and new high prices for the year were recorded. The underlying strength in wheat is attributed largely to a growing realization of the tight supply situation that is likely to develop after outstanding export contracts have been filled. It is thought that remaining stocks will be so limited that difficulty will be experienced by millers in covering their requirements up till the marketing of the new crop.

While nothing in the way of foreign trade was put through locally today, further buying by foreigners was reported at Winnipeg. Seaboard exporters advised a good export inquiry, and at Chicago and Minneapolis it was intimated that the Belgian relief committee was in the market for 60,000 barrels of flour, and that inquiry supposedly for French account was in evidence.

At Paris today the market was up 6c, with heavy bidding for cargoes afloat. Other European countries besides England were reported to be again turning their attention to this country for supplies.

Argentine shipments were heavy this week, being reported at 5,752,000 bu, against only 848,000 bu in the same period last year. Clearances from American ports for the day were liberal, amounting to 1,451,000 bu of wheat and flour, while primary receipts were only 369,000 bu. This is regarded as telling the tale of continual contraction in supplies.

May wheat opened ⅝c up at $1.58¾, and it advanced ⅝c more up to the noon hour on steady bidding. July was strong, opening ½c up at $1.54, and advancing 1⅝c more. An advance of 3c in the September future to $1.20 was regarded as affording evidence of good buying in the new crop grain.

The effervescence was off the durum wheat, and trading in it was limited. The May future opened unchanged at $1.73, and it weakened 2½c; July opened ½c off at $1.63, and declined 3½c more.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed continued its upward course on persistent bidding by crushers while offerings were limited. Further rains in Argentina, increasing the probability of damage to seed still unthreshed in the fields, exerted a strengthening influence. The comparatively small arrivals of Argentine seed at the Atlantic seaboard is reported to be causing some concern, and is forcing crushers to come into the market more freely for supplies.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.98, and closed ¼c up at $1.99 asked. July opened ¼c up at $2.01, and closed 1¼c up at $2.02. September opened unchanged at $2.03, and closed ¾c up at $2.03¾ asked.

At Buenos Aires, April flax closed 1¾c at $1.16¾ and at London it closed 1¾c at $1.88¾.

At Winnipeg May flax closed 1¼c up at $1.79⅛, and July 1½c up at $1.82⅛ asked.

At Minneapolis there was a good cash demand. No. 1 northern blue steam at 4c to 5½c over May and velvet chaff at 1½c to 2½c over May. Choice blue stem sold at 6c over May. Some fair flour sales were reported. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.56½ to $1.60½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.52 to $1.57½. Stocks of wheat in Minneapolis elevators decreased 850,000 bu in the week.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Undertone was strong but the market queter. Strength in Buenos Aires and increased outside demand held prices steady. Winters and Plates were easier at 1½d decline with millers' demand less urgent. Cargoes were in good demand by importing countries with Italy bidding freely and France taking liberally. Paris spot was strong. Spot market was irregular, ½d lower to ½d higher.

"Corn was strong with strength in Buneos Aires, light Argentine shipments and scarcity of Plate offers. Cargo market in wheat was easier at 1½d lower, corn was strong at 6@9d advance paid."

Le Count wired this morning from Frankfort, Kan., as follows: "Condition of wheat in this territory is uniformly good and crop accounts are generally good. Plant is fine, healthy and the stand is good. Weather is clear and favorable and wheat is growing rapidly."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "Looks as if we would have an enormous demand for our new crop of wheat, which at present is of unknown quantity. Russian advices claim a decrease of 20 per cent in acreage. Argentine crop is practically all sold and shipments from there at the rate of 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 bu a week will quickly deplete their surplus of 100,000,000 bu."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Unprecedented Demand From Buenos Aires Gives Wheat an Upward Swing.

Chicago, April 16.—Unprecedented demand from exporters at Buenos Aires today gave the wheat market here an upward swing. It was said Italy, Greece and Portugal were bidding freely for the remnants of the Argentine surplus and that, in addition, France was buying on a large scale in Liverpool. There were advices also that a good foreign demand was in evidence at the United States seaboard.

Opening prices, which varied from ⅛c off to 1⅛c advance, were followed by decided gains all around, and then a moderate setback.

Announcement of large export clearances led afterward to fresh upturns. There were said to be signs also of an increased demand for flour. Owing, however, to profit taking and to reports of flattering crop prospects in Kansas and Oklahoma, the close was unsettled, ⅛c off to 3⅛c up, compared with last night.

Sharply higher prices for corn at Liverpool tended to lift the value of the cereal in Chicago. Wheat strength further aided the bulls. After opening ¼@⅜c to ½@⅝c up, the market continued to climb.

Improved call for spot delivery resulted later in additional gains. The close was firm at 1⅜@1½c to 1⅝c net advance.

Offerings of oats proved light and shorts appeared anxious to cover. The principal reason given was the bulge in other grain.

Provisions hardened owing chiefly to the smallness of the increase in packing house stocks and because of higher prices for hogs. Trade, though, lacked volume.

INDUSTRIALS ARE FEATURE

Market Resolves Itself Into Contest Between Various Pools.

Standard Stocks at Lowest Prices in the Final Hour.

New York, April 16.—"War" specialties rose buoyantly at the opening of today's stock market. Shares of the American Locomotive company, New York Airbrake company and Westinghouse Electric company, all of which are said to have received large orders of supplies from foreign governments, rose from 7 to 20 points at the outset of the day's trading. Never in the history of the stock exchange have securities of these classes registered such extraordinary advances.

American Locomotive opened with a block of 3,500 shares at 60 to 68, against yesterday's close of 49½. Airbrake opened at 87, a 9 point advance, which it soon increased to 11⅛ points and Westinghouse rose 7 points to 89. All of these stocks soon fell back, however, Locomotive yielding 12 points of its gain.

Bethlehem Steel opened 4 points higher and among the leaders, Reading, Great Northern and United States Steel rose to a point or more. New Haven was the strongest of the railroad stocks at a 3-point gain. Many specialties other than those already named, were up 1 to 2 points.

Standard stocks reacted from 1 to 2 points in the course of this morning's trading, some declining to or under yesterday's close, while the specialties fell back 3 to 12. Locomotive and Westinghouse failed to recover their top prices of the morning, but Airbrake added 5 points to its early figures. Throughtout the morning session, there were indications of further profit-taking by substantial interests. Although exact data was not abailable, it was generally believed that Europe was again extremely active on the selling side. Trading in the first two hours approached the recent high record. Bonds were firm.

The less conspicuous specialties, particularly those forming the steel group, were advanced in the afternoon. Republic Steel, Railway Steel Spring, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Pressed Steel car, as well as the sugar shares, rose 3 to 8 points over yesterday.

Today's market resolved itself into a contest between various pools in industrials, which rose in a sensational manner and further selling of standard stocks by substantial interests. Cloing prices reflected some confusion.

Standard stocks fell to lowest prices of the day in the final hour, but made partial recovery from that level. The closing was irregular.

Chicago Livestock.

Chicago, April 16.—Hogs scored an advance in price today to the highest figures since December, 1914. The rise was in consequence of receipts being much less plentiful than expected. Cattle, too, were scarce, and so also were sheep and lambs. Record prices here were paid for the best lambs.

Hogs—Receipts, 10,000; slow, generally 5c above yesterday's average; bulk, $7.25@7.45; light, $7.20@7.65; mixed, $7.15@7.65; heavy, $6.85@7.50; rough, $6.85@7.05; pigs, $6.00@7.00.

Cattle—Receipts, 1,000; strong; native beef steers, $6.20@8.55; western steers, $5.65@7.50; cows and heifers, $2.90@8.20; calves, $5.75@8.25.

Sheep—Receipts, 8,000; steady; sheep, $7.50@8.60; lambs, $8.00@10.65.

New York Money.

New York, April 16.—Mercantile paper, 3½@3¾ per cent; sterling exchange easy; 60-day bills, $4.7650; for cables, $4.7950; for demand, $4.7915. Bar silver, 49⅞c; Mexican dollars, 38c; government bonds firm; railroad bonds firm.

Time loans strong; 60 and 90 days, 2¾@3 per cent; six months, 3½@3¾ per cent.

Call money easier; high, 2 per cent; low, 2 per cent; ruling rate, 2 per cent; last loan, 2 per cent; closing bid, 2 per cent; offered at 2 per cent.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—Hogs—Receipts, 89,000; 15c higher; range, $6.75@7.30; bulk, $7.25. Cattle—Receipts, 2,000; killers steady; steers, $4.50@7.60; cows and heifers, $4.50@6.50; calves, steady, $3.75@7.50; stockers and feeders, steady, $4.50@7.25. Sheep—Receipts, 100; strong to 25c higher; lambs, $4.00@9.75; wethers, $5.25@7.75; ewes, $3.00@7.50.

New York Cotton.

New York, April 16.—Cotton: Futures closed unsettled; May, 10.02; July 10.29; October, 10.70; December, 10.88; January, 10.90. Spot steady; middling, 10.30; no sales.

HEAVY REALIZING IN MINING STOCKS

Most Issues Break at Close After Sharp Early Advances.

Another big day's trading developed in mining stocks at Boston, and new high prices on the movement were recorded in many issues. Quotations declined towards the close on realizing sales.

Butte & Superior absorbed a large volume of business. It sold up to $55, its record figure of yesterday, and closed 25 cents off at $53.50.

Alaska Gold closed 25 cents up at $37.50; Calumet & Arizona 50 cents off at $65; Copper Range $1 up at $54.75; Granby 25 cents off at $78.50; Greene-Cananea 25 cents up at $32; North Butte $1.25 off at $32.50; Mohawk $1.25 up at $69.25; Osceola 50 cents up at $79; Quincy $1 up at $79, and Shattuck 62 cents up at $28.25.

At New York, Amalgamated Copper closed $1.12 up at $75.38, and Anaconda a shade off at $36.

In the Boston curb list as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Bohemia sold at $52.50; Calumet & Corbin at 14c; South Lake at $8; Chief Cons. at 99c; Davis-Daly at $1.67; New Baltic at $2.25@2.38; Ohio Copper at 29c; Oneco at $1.50@1.44; Calaveras at $2; Jumbo Extension at $1.75@1.87; First National Copper at $2.38; United Verde Extension at $3.00@3.12.

Orders have been given to get ready to unwater the Lake mine and resume operations.

* * *

At St. Louis—Spelter closed firm at $9.50@9.62½ cents, and lead quiet at 4.12½ cents bid.

Champion declared $1 dividend yesterday. This makes $6 paid this year.

* * *

A Boston wire said: "Calumet & Hecla has advanced its asking price for lake copper to 19 cents and sales have been made there."

* * *

Electrolytic copper is now quoted at 17 cents at New York.

Sales of lake copper were reported by the Calumet & Hecla company yesterday at 17¾ cents a pound, the highest figure in several years. The demand for that grade of copper is exceptionally strong on account of its adaptability for the manufacture of war munitions. Electrolytic copper is also showing an advancing tendency, sales of it at 16¾ cents having been reported this week.

The annual meeting of the North Butte Mining company will be held at its offices here next Monday. Expectations that some interesting announcement regarding mining plans and dividend proposals will be made at the meeting have been responsible for the recent strength in the company's stock.

GENERAL TONE NOW OPTIMISTIC

Leading Financiers Climbing on Prosperity Band Wagon.

Optimistic expressions by leading financial and business men are now general. It is conceded that improvement has taken place in every line of business and that the ratio of unemployment in the industrial centers is decreasing.

JuliusKruttshnitt, chairman of Southern Pacific railroad's executive committee, said in course of an interview given out at New York after a six weeks' trip over the line: "In the first half of my trip there were no visible rays of encouragement, but during the latter part of my stay in California there were good signs of improvement. Copper traffic which forms a considerable item in our tonnage is looking much improved, many smelters which were closed having been opened and others increasing their operations.

"The crops have been good, fundamental conditions are good and in California the two fairs are producing great activity, the attendance at the San Francisco exposition being marvelously good, showing a greater aggregate for the same number of days than either Chicago or St. Louis."

Steel Trade.

Referring to the steel trade the Pittsburgh correspondent of the New York Times said: "A canvass of a score of steel and iron concerns disclosed the fact that in each instance improvement has been noted every month since last November. The increase has been gradual. The most cheerful aspect is that there appears to be buying from all sources. Reports also indicate that stocks in the hands of jobbers and retailers are small. This will have a tendency to swamp manufacturers when heavy buying begins.

"Prices are also being advanced gradually. Much of the work manufactured now is low-priced, having been booked earlier in the year. Buying for future delivery is being done on an advance of from $1 to $3 a ton over that which obtained with the beginning of the year.

"Export orders show an enormous increase, especially in crude steel.

"Two additional steamers have been contracted for along the Atlantic coast, making twenty-six vessels building for the domestic marine service. A large number of lake vessels have been sent to the Atlantic coast for service."

INSIDERS BUYING ORE CERTIFICATES

Important Announcement Regarding Great Northern Properties Expected.

Operators have been interested in the strength shown by Great Northern Ore certificates on the Wall street market of late. Trading in them has been in larger proportions than at any time in more than a year back, and their quotation has advanced to around $40.

Rumors are current that an important announcement is pending regarding a large contract for ore, and that insiders have been picking up the certificates on that account. Since the cancelation of the United States Steel corporation's lease some of the smaller properties of the Great Northern Ore have been leased to mining companies on a royalty basis, but there has so far been no definite statement regarding any of the big tonnage mines.

During the last few days the large holdings of certificates of the Lord Strathcona estate estimated to aggregate 60,000 shares, has been liquidated and with that pressure removed it is thought the market in them is due for an advance.

The annual report of the trustees is expected to be issued next month.

DECREASE IN IDLE CARS SHOWN

For First Time in Several Months Report Is Favorable.

For the first time in several months the American Railway association has been able to show a decrease in the surplus of idle freight cars.

The number of idle cars on April 1 stood at 313,073 as compared with 321,747 on March 1, a decrease of 8,674 cars in the month. While the reduction is small, it is thought satisfactory by officials in indicating that the turn has come in the long record of earnings decreases, and improvement is regarded as foreshadowed from now on.

Roads operating in the Northwest are thought to be in a much improved position and predictions are made that they will handle a greatly increased tonnage in general commodities during the balance of the year. As a result of the favorable weather conditions, it is thought that the net revenue returns for March by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines will be favorable.

DOMESTIC ORDERS FOR STEEL GROW

Iron and Steel Plants Will Increase Ratio of Activity.

Present indications are said to point to a further increase in the operating ratio of iron and steel plants during the next few weeks. Manufacturers say that domestic orders are increasing, and that there are no signs of any letup in orders for war supplies from the European belligerents.

Prices in all lines are holding well and further advances are expected. The United States Steel corporation has announced an advance of 10 cents per 10 pounds on bars, plates and shapes for the second half of the year delivery, making the quotation $1.25. Structural steel orders are said to be good, and it is considered that pig iron has taken a turn for the better in tonnage, although prices are low.

An interesting development in the structural steel trade is the statement that material for six bridges to be put up at points along the Rhine in Germany has been ordered by the British government from the Bethlehem Steel company. This is said to be one of the largest orders in point of tonnage ever given to a steel concern. It involves many hundred thousand of tons of steel and a large sum of money.

Independent steel companies are conceded to be depending a great deal upon European orders. Good prices are being obtained upon steel sold over there and complaints are now heard that domestic orders are being sidetracked whenever there is any question of preference.

COTTON CONDITION IS MUCH IMPROVED

As a result of large export shipments and better domestic buying, cotton prices have been advanced to new high levels for the year. Quotations are now $8 a bale higher than they were on March 1.

Further advances in quotations are expected as they are said to be still only slightly over the cost of production in the South. The heavy sales of the product made during the last two months has brought relief to the financial strain at the leading centers in the Southern states, and indications now point to a larger area being planted to cotton than had been expected a few weeks ago.

There will, however, be a large reduction in the area seeded to it in all the states, while the acreage put in foodstuffs will be correspondingly increased.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Plat Commission of St. Louis county held in the office of the County Surveyor, Tuesday, the 20th day of April, 1915, 10 a. m., to approve plat of Dickham Point, lot 3, section 35, township 63 north, range 17.

(which in the Chippewa means East Portage) is located in a sheltered bay on Pine island at Lake Vermilion.

Our choice has been approved by men from the banker to the woodsman who enjoy and know the real beauty of nature. Lake Vermilion (well named the Playground of Minnesota) is attracting more attention this year than ever before. Our advertisements in national outing magazines has sold many tracts to people in the east who have never seen Ne-na Mik-ka-ta, and probably won't until this summer.

Our Money Back Guarantee plan allows one to safely do this. Ask us about it. Prices range from $35 a lot up according to size, location, etc. On easy terms if desired.

Let us send you illustrated literature describing Ne-na Mik-ka-ta together with price list and many names of buyers.

Ne-na Mik-ka-ta as a summer resort has many advantages over the ordinary summer resort, which becomes very apparent upon investigation.

PRE-PRIMARY PARTY CONVENTION SYSTEM IS KILLED BY HOUSE

Final Action By Senate on Boxing Bill Is Postponed.

Another Hour Killed By House on Board of Control Bill.

House Passes Bill for Education of Deaf in Public Schools.

St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate passed the house bill by Hendixen, Searls and Murphy authorizing the state auditor to lease state lands for taking sand, gravel or black dirt therefrom and for use as home or garden sites.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning decisively killed the attempt to establish a pre-primary party convention system to choose party candidates for the primary elections, when by a vote of 68 to 29 it adopted an amendment to the bill offered by Representative Gunnar Bjornson of Minneota, chairman of the Republican state central committee, striking out the provision for the indorsement of party candidates for the primaries. This would have left simply party conventions to frame platforms. Immediately upon the announcement of the vote, Representative Gordon moved that the bill as amended be killed, and his motion prevailed by a unanimous vote. The bill has passed the senate by a large vote.

Boxing Bill Postponed.

Postponement until next Monday of final action on the house boxing bill was forced in the state senate this afternoon, when the point was raised that as the measure carries an appropriation, it would have to be passed on by the senate finance committee. The measure was up for consideration as a special order, but friends of the bill, fearing an attack on its constitutionality if passed without reference to the finance committee, agreed that the measure should be sent to that committee and the special order of the day be continued until next Monday at 2 p. m.

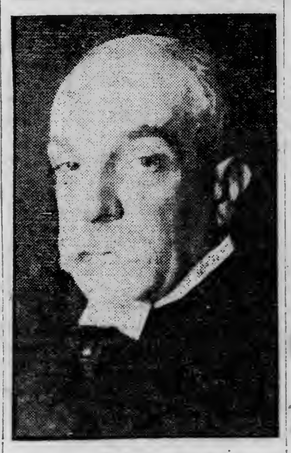
ATTACK ON ITALY MAY BE MADE BY AUSTRIA.

Paris, April 17.—The belief is becoming general in Rome that Austria will make a sudden attack upon Italy as soon as she becomes convinced that the latter country has determined to intervene in the war, according to a dispatch to the Matin from its correspondent in the Italian capital. This prospect is said to be causing no alarm, however, because of the concentration of large forces of Italian troops on the Austrian frontier.

CAMPAIGN TO BE ABANDONED

Villa to Postpone His Attack on Town of Matamoros.

Gen. Funston Prepares to Leave Brownsville for San Antonio.



Brownsville, Tex., April 17.—The danger to Brownsville through a battle at Matamoros apparently was postponed indefinitely today.

Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston, who has been here awaiting the Villa assault upon Matamoros, made preparations to return to San Antonio as soon as the movements of the Villa troops confirm the correctness of their announcement last night that they intend to abandon the Matamoros campaign.

Desultory Firing.

Washington, April 17.—Maj.-Gen. Funston at Brownsville, Tex., telegraphed the war department today that desultory firing was being kept up by the contending Mexican factions across the river at Matamoros and that many bullets continued to fall upon American soil. So far no one has been injured on the American side of the line.

SPENDS TWO DAYS ON BILL

House Finally Ends Consideration of the Departmental Measure.

Appropriation for Fish Hatchery for Tower Is Provided.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—After rising to the climax of its possibilities of waste motion through four sessions, the house finally struggled along late yesterday afternoon to a point where it could pass the first of the four appropriation bills it must consider—the departmental bill.

Then it took up the state institutions bill, and for a moment it looked like the house was going to rush the bill through in about fifteen minutes. It was nearly 6 o'clock, the members were hungry, the bill showed a pretty good reduction from two years ago, and the disposition was to put it through at once.

Then, in discussing the diversion of funds from the prison revolving fund, created out of twine plant profits, to the construction of a woman's prison and other buildings and the payment of the maintenance account, Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin raised an issue that diverted the house from its path and plunged it into an hour's discussion. Then somebody remembered that an absent member wanted to offer an

TURKISH SULTAN WOULD ABDICATE

Desires to See His Son, Prince Yussof, on the Throne.

Paris, April 17.—The Dedeaghatch, Bulgaria, correspondent of the Temps, sends the following dispatch regarding a Turkish imperial council held in Constantinople.

An imperial council over which the sultan presided, was held at Constantinople. The possibility of the transfer of the capital was discussed.

"Crown Prince Yussof Izzeddin severely criticised the policy of Enver Pasha and the Young Turks and their actions shortly before the war. The sultan was greatly dejected. He said he owed to the Young Turks and their revolution his accession to the throne and would rather not have reigned than see the country go to ruins.

"The sultan declared he had decided to abdicate in case a transfer of the capital became necessary, in fact preferred now to be relieved of power and would be happy if Prince Izzeddin could succeed him immediately.

"Other members of the dynasty expressed the opinion that the present time was unfavorable for a change as the accession of the prince who was hostile to the policy of Enver Pasha, would provoke grave international

CRUISER TO INVESTIGATE

New Orleans Sent to Turtle Bay to Look Over Japs.

Commander Irwin Will Report on Rumors of Activities There.

Washington, April 17.—Admiral Howard, commanding the Pacific fleet off the west coast of Mexico reported to the navy department today that he had ordered Commander Noble E. Irwin, on the cruiser New Orleans to proceed at once to Turtle bay, Lower California, and report on the activities of Japanese naval forces there.

The New Orleans was due to reach Turtle bay today and Commander Irwin is expected to report the result of his inquiry by wireless.

Secretary Daniels had telegraphed Admiral Howard a summary of reports alleging that while the ostensible purpose of Japanese activities in Turtle bay is to salvage the grounded cruiser Asama, the real object of the operations is to occupy the bay and adjoining shores as a base of operations.

PRZEMYSL REPORTS WERE MISLEADING

Austrian Official Says There Were But 34,000 Men in Garrison.

New York, April 17.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, ambassador from Austria-Hungary to the United States, today issued the following statement at the Austro-Hungarian consulate general here:

"The majority of the American press comment concerning the fall of Przemsyl is based upon the Russian official reports which represent the stronghold's garrison as having numbered 125,000 men. This and other statements from Russian sources are thoroughly misleading.

"According to the Austro-Hungarian official report, the last sortie of the defenders cost the latter a loss of 5,000 in killed and 5,000 in wounded. The garrison of Przemysl which surrendered consisted of 34,000 combatants of all ranks; the population of the city comprised 45,000 civilians and 25,000 sick and wounded in hospitals. The armament, which consisted of 150 guns, mainly of old types, was, together with the forts, ammunition and all government property, destroyed before the fall of the fortress. Gen. Kusmanek was osting undtr orders of the commander-in-chief when he agreed to surrender.

"As to the number of Russian troops released after the fall of Przemysl, the failure of the Russians so far to force their way across the Carpathians indicates that the importance of the reinforcements drawn from the besieging forces has been grossly exaggerated."

GRAND DUKE SHOT BY RUSS GENERAL

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS.

Berlin, April 17, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The General Anzeiger of Duisberg, Rhenish Prussia, says it learns "from an absolutely unimpeachable source" that the reported sickness of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, was due to a shot in the abdomen fired by the late Gen. Baron Sievers of the defeated Russian tenth army.

The General Anzeiger says Gen. Sievers was summoned by the grand duke to explain the defeat of the Russian Tenth army. A heated colloquy took place, the newspaper says, and the grand duke gave Gen. Sievers a box on the ears. The latter thereupon drew a revolver and wounded the grand duke, subsequently turning the weapon upon himself.

The fact that Gen. Sievers had committed suicide, the General Anzeiger continues, was learned at the time of his funeral, but the news that Grand Duke Nicholas had been wounded has only just become known.

FRENCH WARSHIP BOMBARDS EL-ARISH.

Paris, April 17.—The ministry of marine today gave out an official communication reading:

"During the day of April 16 a French cruiser, supporting a reconnoissance made by aeroplanes, effectively bombarded the fortifications of El-Arish, a fortified town in Egypt near the boundary of Egypt and Palestine, as well as certain detachments of Turkish troops which had concentrated near El-Arish."

Government Buys Yacht.

New York, April 17.—The steam yacht Isis, formerly owned by Spaulding Brothers of Boston, has been purchased by the United States geodetic survey for survey work on the Atlantic coast. The Isis is of 377 tons register, is 200 feet long and has a speed of 17 knots. She carries a crew of 45 men.

REPORTS OF AIR RAIDS OVER ENGLAND DIFFER AS TO THE DAMAGE DONE

Germans Say Much Transport and Equipment Were Destroyed.

Defenders Report Only Slight Injury to Civilians and Property.

People of England Are Looking for Repetition of the Raid.

London, April 17.—The allies on one side and Germany on the other are today taking inventories of the injuries inflicted by the recent aerial operations, and with the usual contradictory results. The attackers claim that their assaults from the air have resulted in the destruction of military transport and equipment, while the defenders report that the only tangible effects of these operations have been casualties to civilians and slight damage to property.

The people of England, under the influence of their experiences, are today looking for a repetition of an aerial attack from German Zeppelin or Taube machines. Up to noon no fresh occurrence had been reported.

GERMANS HAVE BEGUN REPRISAL MEASURES

Ten British Officers, Prisoners, Placed in Solitary Confinement.

Halle-on-the Salle, Germany, April 17, via London.—Ten British officers, prisoners of the Germans' have been taken from the local camp of prisoners of war and placed in solitary confinement in Madgeburg. This is a measure of reprisal for the treatment by Great Britain of the crews of German submarines held prisoners in England.

The ten officers referred to include the son of a former British ambassador in Berlin. The name of this officer, however, is not given.

EXPECTS HOSTILITIES TO END THROUGH EXHAUSTION

COUNT OKUMA.

Tokio, April 17.—Count Okuma, Japanese premier, speaking today to a number of journalists on the European war, expressed the opinion that hostilities soon would have to come to an end, owing to the exhaustion of the belligerents.

TWO MILLION TO CHARITIES

Will of Late Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Filed in Court.

Leaves Bequests of About $500,000 to Relatives and Friends.

New York, April 17.—The will of the late Mrs. John D. Rockefeller was filed in the surrogate court today. She leaves bequests in the neighborhood of $500,000 and valuable articles of jewelry to friends and relatives. The rest of her estate which is estimated in all at about $2,000,000 is bequeathed to charitable institutions.

The charitable bequests are to be distributed at the discretion of her executors, who are her husband, her son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and her daughter, Alta Rockefeller Prentice, wife of E. Parmalee Prentice. The will is dated March 6, 1913.

Bequest to Children.

Sums of $100,000 each are left to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. Prentice and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, her other other daughter, wife of Harold F. McCormick, and $50,000 to Miss Lucy M. Spellman, Mrs. Rockefeller's sister.

To her granddaughter, Margaret Strong, daughter of Bessie Rockefeller Strong, deceased, $100,000 is left in

GENERAL MASSACRE IS EXPECTED SOON

Christians in Turkish Armenia Believed to Be in Danger.

Tabriz, Persia, Friday, April 16, via Petrograd and London, April 17.—Engagements between Armenians and Kurds are frequent in the vicinity of Van, in Turkish Armenia, according to reliable information reaching Tabriz and a general massacre of Christians is expected in the province of Bashkala. The Armenians of Van are hurriedly trying to raise volunteers in Azerbaijan province, Persia, to help them against the Turks and the Kurds.

After several stubborn engagements between Russians and Turks to the north of Dilman, in Persia, the Turks retreated to the south of Dilman. From the district of the Choruk, the Turks retreated beyond Archava, where they have occupied fortified heights from which they are making sorties. There is said to be growing hostility between the Turks and the Kurds, the former deprecating the inhumanity of the latter. In cases where Turks and Kurds are serving together this disaffection has at times approached the mutinous stage. There are several instances of Turkish soldiers having lynched Kurds guilty of unusual atrocities.

LITTLE NEWS PERMITTED TO PASS CENSOR

Russian Advance Into Hungary Is Checked Definitely.

Russ Losses of All Kinds Placed at More Than 500,000.

Bad Condition of Roads Is Now Hindering Military Operations.

From such scattering reports as are permitted from the eastern front it is becoming gradually apparent that the greatest battle of the war, at least, so far as concerns the number of men engaged, is being fought in the Carpathians, along the 115-mile front from Bartfeld, in Northern Hungary, to Stry in Eastern Galicia. This line roughly parallels the boundary between Hungary and Galicia, running through a difficult mountain region through which the Russians hope to break a way into the heart of Hungary.

German war correspondents style this battle the greatest in the history of the world, and it is estimated that 3,500,000 men are taking part. According to the German reports, the Russian advance, which a week ago seemed to be threatening the integrity of Hungary, has now been checked definitely. It is said that the Russian losses, in killed, wounded, sick and prisoners are 500,000.

TEMPORARY CHECK.

Russian reports throw little light on the situation. It appears probable, however, that the Russians have sustained at least a temporary check. This is indicated by the statement in the latest official Petrograd report concerning the bad condition of the

ALLIES TO OCCUPY MITYLENE ISLAND

Long Talked of Movement Expected to Be Made Soon.

London, April 17.—Cabling from Mitylene, island of Lesbos, unedr date of Thursday, April 15, a correspondent of the Times says that on Wednesday and Thursday the weather in the Dardanelles was good and favorable for operations.

It is reported here from the island of Imbros that ten battleships recently approached the port of Enos, on the north side of the gulf of Saros. Two of them entered the bay and shelled and destroyed a Turkish camp.

The long-talked-of occupation by the allies of the Mitylene island was said to be imminent. Spotted typhus has reached here, two cases already having been reported.

OFFERS ARE WITHDRAWN

Chicago Contractors Will Not Give Wage Increases Offered.

Lockout in Windy City Is Rapidly Assuming Serious Proportions.

Chicago, April 17.—The lockout of 16,000 union carpenters assumed serious proportions today, tieing up operations valued at more than $30,000,000 on 4,000 buildings in Chicago, and throwing out of employment 125,000 wage-earners, thousands of whom had no connection with the building industry itself.

Union leaders and officials of the Building Construction Employers' association, which declared the lockout, asserted that they expect little assistance from the conference of the state board of arbitration which will meet on Monday to offer its service in the interest of industrial peace. Neither side, it was said, was willing at this time to make concessions.

The board of arbitration was ordered to meet by Governor Edward F. Dunne. The board does not have the authority to settle labor disputes, but is empowered to investigate and make public its findings.

Offer Withdrawn.

EXPERTS DO NOT AGREE

Duluth and Minneapolis Traffic Men Differ on Cashman Amendments.

Will Nullify Law, Says Trichett; No New Powers, Says Hall.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, and W. P. Trickett, traffic director of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association, have failed to agree on many things connected with railroad rates and the like, and they once more find something to disagree on. So far, before the interstate commerce commission and the state railroad and warehouse commission, Mr. Hall's end of the disagreement has been accepted, as is shown in various decisions handed down, and the question now centers on which of these traffic experts is correct concerning the effect of proposed amendments to the Cashman distance tariff law, now being considered by the state legislature. The Minneapolis traffic chief says that one sentence included in an amendment will nullify the law; Mr. Hall says it will not. That sentence follows:

"The commission may fix different schedules of class or commodity rates for railroads of the same class."

Old Interpretation.

Mr. Hall contends that the clause quoted simply modifies the law so that the state railroad and warehouse commission may adjust rates according to conditions. Heretofore the interpetation of the law by the commission has been, that under the clause giving the commission power to fix the maximum freight rates in the state according to the classes—first, second or third—it was taken as meaning that any regulation of rates for any distance on any road would affect the other roads of that class throughout the state.

Some dissatisfaction has been expressed with the stand taken by the state commission in regard to the Cashman law. The charge has been voiced that the commission has not interpreted the law as it is claimed it should be interpreted. Mr. Hall, while admitting that for a time the real meaning of the Cashman act was somewhat clouded, is one of those who believes that the state railroad and warehouse commission has not exercised its power in administering the act.

Has Plenty of Power.

"The act prescribes that the power of the commission to regulate rates within the state shall not be interfered with, and gives it the power to fix maximum rates," he said. "The commission has taken the stand that the 'power to fix the maximum rates' means that when that rate is fixed the roads can go ahead and charge the limit. Such an interpretation, to my mind, is absurd. As has been said, the commission's power to 'regulate' has not been interfered with, and even Judge Dickinson, in a recent decision, admits that he does not know how the commission can be given any more power than it has: that in the matter of railroad rates within the state, it is supreme.

"But under the commission's interpretation of the maximum rates clause, it is working backwards, by regulating the people and not the railroads. Different conditions exist in as many localities, and under its power of regulation, the commission can, under the law as it stands now, do just what it seeks to be empowered to do in the amendment mentioned. That proposed amendment does not nullify the law, Mr. Trickett to the contrary notwithstanding, but gives specific power of regulation to the commission, which is not necessary, for it is giving the commission only what it already possesses."

BOY DROWNS IN CANAL; BODY NOT YET RECOVERED

Dale Guith, 5 years old, was accidentally drowned in the ship canal about 7 o'clock last night. The body has not yet been found.

The youngster, with two playmates, was running along the south pier and while standing on the steps leading into the water, lost his balance and fell in. His playmates notified Joseph Payer, assistant lighthouse keeper, and the latter helped organize a volunteer crew, but all efforts to recover the body failed.

The government life saving station did not open until midnight last night and during the early part of the evening the volunteer crew, consisting of several members of the rowing squad, endeavored to find the body. At midnight, Capt. McLennan and his men dragged the waters in the canal, but it is believed that the heavy current carried it out into the lake.

Dale had been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Brown, 905 Lake avenue south, for the past year. His father is in Duluth and his mother is now living in Minneapolis.

MARRIAGE VOW HELD LIGHTLY

Husband Arrested for Desertion May Face Bigamy and Perjury Charges.

When Frank T. Grummitt, 35, held a prisoner at the county jail on a charge of wife abandonment, gets out of his present trouble he probably will have had impressed upon him the fact that marriage vows have a sanctity that demands respect and that they are not things to be trifled with.

Grummitt's alleged disregard for solemnity of marriage ceremonies have made him liable to prosecution not only for wife desertion, but also for bigamy and perjury. Local authorities have learned that Grummitt is a man with more than one wife and as a result he may be called to account for his Solmonesque tendencies.

Wife No. 1 is alleged to be Mrs. Frank T. Grummitt of Proctor and mother of an 18-months-old baby. She was married to Grummitt at Minneapolis on June 30, 1913 and was formerly Miss Anna E. Wise.

Grumitt left Wife No. 1 at Proctor in May, 1913, and was married a month later to Wife No. 2, it is said. He lived with his second wife a short time and then deserted her, it is alleged.

A short time ago, a Duluth merchant received a letter from Mrs. Grumnaitt, No. 2, concerning a bill which he said Grummitt owed. The merchant advised Wife No. 1 in Proctor as to the letter, and she placed the matter in the hands of R. D. Belescher, humane agent, who secured a warrant for Grummitt's arrest for wife desertion.

When Mr. McKercher arrived in Farmington about March 4 last, he looked up Mrs. Grummitt, No. 2, and after showing him the picture of her supposed husband and his first wife, learned from her that Grummitt had also deserted her, and that she had started suit for divorce against him on that ground. She advised Agent McKercher that Grummitt had gone to Cleveland where he was making his home with a sister. Mrs. Grummitt, No. 2, is employed as a nurse in a hospital at Farmington.

The humane agent notified the local authorities, and a deputy sheriff was sent to Cleveland to arrest Grummitt and bring him back to Duluth to answer to the charge of wife desertion. It is not known whether he will be held for the authorities of Dakota county on a bigamy charge or not. In Minneapolis, he secured a marriage license to wed his second wife, and it is claimed, is answerable to the authorities of Hennepin county on a charge of perjury.

Grummitt has advised the county attorney's office that he is willing to plead guilty to the desertion charge.

RAN AWAY WITH BROTHER-IN-LAW

A story of how his brother had stolen his wife's affections and had eloped with her was related to Judge Dancer in district court this morning by Angus Rabideau, 41, an Indian of the Fond du Lac reservation. The court granted him a divorce from Elizabeth Rabideau, 40, on the grounds of desertion and adultery.

The Rabideaus were married by a Catholic priest on the reservation some time during the spring of 1898 and lived together until the winter of 1911-12. That winter, Rabideau went to the woods. His brother, Joseph Rabideau, had been living with them and when Angus returned a few months later, his wife repudiated him and later eloped with the brother.

Rabideau told the court this morning that he expected to get married again himself. The court advised him to wait until six months had elapsed if he wanted to live within the law and keep but of trouble. Rabideau assured the court that he would wait.

The Rabideaus are parents of three children, the oldest a girl of 15. The children are living with their mother, but as the father had no home for them, the court refused to make any order giving him the custody of them.

MOVING DAY AT CITY HALL

Today is moving day at the city hall.

Commissioners Hicken and Murchison, who go out of office at noon Monday, packed all their belongings during the morning and when Commissioners-elect Silberstein and Farrell assume their duties on Monday morning, their offices will be cleaned and ready for their use.

Mr. Silberstein will occupy the office used by Commissioner Hicken, that adjoining the mayor's chambers, and Mr. Farrell will be in the public works department on the first floor.

LOW BIDDER WOULD CINCH OIL CONTRACT

M. C. Voorhees of the Pure Oil company of Minneapolis, who was low bidder on furnishing the city with 200,000 gallons of road oil, announced today that he will start suit to restrain the city from granting the contract to the Standard Oil company on its bid of 3½ cents. He arrived in Duluth this morning.

Mr. Voorhees made a bid of $.0342 per gallon and claims that he should be given the contract. He plans to obtain an injunction before Monday afternoon, when the resolution awarding the contract to the Standard Oil company comes up for action.

Commissioner Murchison, who recommended the awarding of the contract to the Standard Oil company, says that the Pure Oil company's samples did not come up to the specifications of his engineers and that as result the contract was ordered awarded to the Standard company, the next lowest bidder.

WILL RENEW FOUR SALOON LICENSES

Commissioner-elect Silberstein's first resolution will be introduced at the council meeting Monday afternoon, when he will authorize the renewal of four saloon licenses.

This morning Mr. Silberstein went over the applications to come up for action Monday and after a conference with Commissioner Hicken, ordered the resolution prepared.

License renewals will be awarded to Frank and George Gardner, 113 West First street; R. W. Armstrong, 205 West Michigan street, and Peter Beschenbossel, 415 East Fourth street. A. L. Stevenson will be granted a transfer of Gust Carlson's license at 16 North Fourth avenue west to the same address.

PROTEST PAVING WEST FIRST STREET

Property owners along First street, between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues west, yesterday afternoon filed a petition protesting against the paving of that thoroughfare during this year.

The pavement was ordered some time ago by the council at the request of 25 per cent of the owners and it is not likely that the action of the commission will be rescinded. However, the petition, signed by eighty-six owners, will be presented to the commissioners at the meeting Monday afternoon.

This petition is the sixth filed this spring by property owners throughout the city protesting against the laying of pavements. As a result, plans for three proposed pavements along East Superior street, Grand avenue and Second street have been abandoned by the council, while the paving of Commonwealth avenue, East Ninth street and West First street is still unsettled.

The West First street owners say that business conditions at the present time do not warrant a pavement on that thoroughfare. They state that they would rather wait another year or two before ordering the improvement.

Those who signed the petition for the paving of West First street and East Ninth street want the improvement and will insist on the carrying out of the general program, it was reported this morning. There is still some doubt about the validity of the Commonwealth avenue protest and indications are that the 66-foot pavement will be laid there this summer.

JUDGES WILL SIT EN BANC

Cant, Dancer and Fesler Will Hear Windom's Mandamus Suit.

Judges Cant, Dancer and Fesler of the district court will sit en banc this afternoon and decide whether or not there is merit to the contest of William L. Windom, defeated candidate for re-election as municipal judge, who has attacked the preferential system of balloting as applied to that office, and who seeks to be declared elected by reason of the fact that he received a plurality of the first choice votes cast.

Instead of instituting an election contest proceeding in the usual way, by bringing an action against the successful candidate, disputing his title to the office, Judge Windom sued out an alternative writ of mandamus against the city officials, requiring the city council to issue a certificate of election to him or come into court today and show cause why they should not do so.

Capt. W. H. Smallwood, successful candidate at the municipal election on April 6, was not made a party to the suit started by Judge Windom, although he will be affected by its outcome and will be represented by counsel when the arguments are made today.

First Choice Votes.

Judge Windom received a plurality of the first choice votes cast. The second choice votes made him second man, and with the third choice votes counted put him in third place, John H. Norton being second. Judge Windom claims to have been elected by a plurality of 916 votes over Capt. Smallwood. But by counting all choices, Capt. Smallwood is elected by a plurality over him of 1,711 votes.

The city, which is named as a respondent in the mandamus proceeding, will be represented at the hearing this afternoon by City Attorney Clapp and H. H. Phelps, counsel for Capt. Smallwood, and Judge Windom will be represented by H. C. Fulton of the firm of Fryberger, Fryberger & Fulton.

The city has demurred to the mandamus suit on several technical grounds. Among other objections raised is that proceeding by mandamus is not a proper way of determining the title to an office and that Capt. Smallwood, whose title to the office has been attacked, has not been made a party to the action.

The contention of Judge Windom is briefly that the office of municipal judge is one which was created by an act of the state legislature and is therefore a state office. Being a state office, he claims, it does not come under the head of municipal offices to which the preferential system of voting provided for in the Duluth charter applies.

Judge Windom asserts that the first choice votes only should be counted, and that the preferential system of voting cannot be applied to a state office under our present statutes.

Will Finance Suit.

Friends of Capt. Smallwood will finance his end of lawsuit. It was announced this morning that the entire cost of Capt. Smallwood's end of the suit will be borne by his friends and that the money is now being subscribed in a number of small amounts which have been offered without solicitation. H. H. Phelps, chairman of the charter commission, has been retained to argue for Capt. Smallwood and the attorney's fees and incidental expenses connected with the suit will all come out of this subscription fund, it was said.

MEMBERS OF D. A. R. REACH WASHINGTON

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 17.—Minnesota members of the Daughters of the American Revolution are gathering here for the annual congress of the society, which begins Monday. Among those already in Washington are: Mrs. George C. Squires of St. Paul, the state regent; Mrs. W. J. Morehart of Mankato, state vice regent; Mrs. H. F. Davis and Mrs. Chance of Duluth; Mrs. C. R. Davis of St. Peter, now vice president general; Mrs. L. C. Jefferson and Mrs. Louise Griggs of St. Paul; Mrs. F. A. Rising, former state regent, and Miss Rising of Winona, and Mrs. James T. Morris and Mrs. C. E. Lyford of Minneapolis.

Minnesota delegates will give a dinner at the new Willard tomorrow night and the state meeting will be held Tuesday at which the selection of state officers will be ratified. The Minnesota delegates will vote for Mrs. William Cummings Story for president general, and are confident she will win.

SEEK LOST RELATIVES.

Mayor Prince Gets Two Requests for Aid in Search.

Two requests for lost persons were received by Mayor Prince this morning.

One is from Mrs. Charles Dowling of Zion City, Ill., who asks the city executive to help find her son, William Dowling, 24 years old, whom she has not seen for many years. The other is from Miss Elizabeth Hardy of Chatsworth, Ont., asking the authorities to locate her brother, Nelson Hardy, 60 years old, who has also been missing for a number of years. She state that he is believed to have lived in Duluth about three years ago.

An Expert from the Hall-Borchert Dress Form Factory Will Be Here Monday and Tuesday

Mr. Allan L. Elzas is a well known dressmaking economist and home sewing lecturer, and will be here to show the simplicity and ease with which errors in cutting, draping and fitting can always be avoided.

His talk will be interesting and severely practical.

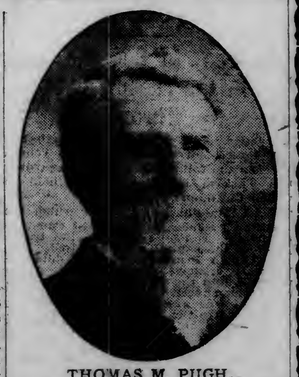
In connection with his visit the factory has given permission to make some special prices on 4 styles of the Hall-Borchert forms.

We will also form another Dress Form Club and repeat our offer of Club Plan terms of $2.00 down and $1.00 per week.

This is in no sense an installment offer as goods are sold at the standard cash prices, and in some instances by factory concessions at special prices.

Come Monday and benefit by this factory demonstration.

SENATOR THOMAS M. PUGH SIXTY YEARS A MINNESOTAN



Tomorrow will be the sixtieth anniversary of the arrival of Former State Senator Thomas M. Pugh in Minnesota.

Last evening there appeared in The Herald a statement to the effect that yesterday Judge J. D. Ensign, dean of the Duluth bench and bar, began his twenty-seventh year as judge of the district court, and Senator Pugh read it with interest. Today he met the judge and asked him how long he has been in the state.

"Forty-five years," said Judge Ensign.

"Aw, go on," said Senator Pugh, "you're just a kid."

Senator Pugh arrived in St. Paul on April 18, 1855, coming up the Mississippi river from Galena, Ill. He reached St. Paul at 11 o'clock that morning just in time to take dinner at the Merchants hotel, then a log building. His dinner was interrupted by a fight between a white boy and an Indian, and this being the first Indian that Mr. Pugh had ever seen, he was much alarmed for he had heard much of their savagery. The white boy was under the red, and Mr. Pugh rushed out, leaving his dinner, placed the white boy on top, and then resuming his meal. A few days later, Mr. Pugh went to Mankato, where he settled, and lived there until 1874, his residence being interrupted in the meantime twice, during which he was in service in the Indian wars of 1857 and 1862. In 1874, he was appointed receiver of the United States land office at Fargo, and remained in that office until 1885, when he was elected to the territorial legislature of Dakota, serving two years.

THOMAS M. PUGH.

Mr. Pugh came to Duluth in 1892 and has resided here ever since. Since coming here he has spent eighteen years in the Minnesota legislature from this city, being defeated for re-election to the state senate by a few votes last fall. He served three two-year terms in the house and three four-year terms in the senate.

PLAN TO ENTERTAIN STATE OFFICIALS

Hammond and Preus Will Be in Duluth for Club Banquet.

At a meeting tonight of the general committee of the West Duluth Commercial club, which has charge of the annual banquet to be held on Thursday evening, April 29, at the Great Eastern hall, plans for the entertainment of Governor Winfield Scott Hammond, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, and John Dwan of Two Harbors, who will be the principal speakers, will be made. The governor and state auditor are expected to arrive in the morning and will be entertained during the day by the committee.

As in former years it will be planned to have the governor visit the schools of this end of the city. Automobiles will be provided to take the party to the various institutions during the forenoon, and it is probable that a visit to the steel plant will be made. The question of being able to gain admission to the plant will be taken up by members of the committee with officials of the company.

A reception committee will be appointed at the meeting tonight. This committee will meet the governor as he arrives in the city and will remain with him while he is in the city.

The final details of the program have been arranged. It was definitely known today that Congressman C. B. Miller will be unable to attend the meeting. L. A. Barnes, chairman of the speakers' committee, announced this morning that Mr. Dwan of Two Harbors will speak on "National Affairs."

ONE TEAM FOR SUBURBS.

Gary and New Duluth Baseball Players Will Join Forces.

At a meeting of baseball fans interested in organizing a fast team to represent the western suburbs of the city to be held Monday evening at New Duluth, plans for the summer season will be made. It is expected that only one team will be organized to represent New Duluth and Gary this summer. The meeting will be held at U. C. Tower's store.

According to promoters of the sport it is intended to support one good team instead of having two poor ones. The best material available in this end of the city will be enlisted in the make up of the team. The election of a manager will be one of the features of the meeting.

West Duluth Study Class.

Mrs. I. P. Swangie is in charge of the program on Italy that will be given at the meeting of the West Duluth study class of the Twentieth Century class that will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the clubroom of the West Duluth library. This program was postponed from April 13.

Attilio Castigliano, the Italian consul, will speak on Italy and a talk will be given by Rev. John Zarilli. Miss Mary Berini will give as a piano number the royal Italian march, Miss Mary Rossi will give several vocal numbers by Verdi and Miss Madge Buell will sing "The Summer Rain." There will be a report on current events.

LEAVES CITY HALL TO BECOME FARMER

C. G. Futter Will Plow and Seed for Several Weeks This Spring.

Charles G. Futter, secretary to Commissioner Murchison during the last two years, will become a farmer after next Monday.

Commissioner-elect Farrell has announced that he will appoint Ned Culver to the secretaryship, and Mr. Futter has already arranged to go to his farm the latter part of next week and spend several weeks at plowing and spring seeding.

Mr. Futter's farm is situated about a mile from Fairbanks on the D. & I. R. line. Should his land prove fruitful during the next year or two, he may settle there for the rest of his life, he said this morning.

During the last two years Mr. Futter has made a good record as secretary to Commissioner Murchison. Mr. Futter came to West Duluth eight years ago and for the last four years has been treasurer of the West Duluth Commercial club.

BEGIN STREET WORK AT MORGAN PARK

Season's Paving Will Get Early Start at Suburb.

Grading work on some of the streets in Morgan Park will begin on Monday, according to announcement made by Manager Beelan of the Butler-Coons Construction company, which has the contract. A crew of men will be put to work on the job at once. Nearly 100 men will be given employment.

Several streets in the suburb are still unpaved. It is expected to have practically all of these completed before fall. Some of the principal streets of the park were paved last year, as well as a large strip of the highway which will ultimately connect with Commonwealth avenue near Smithville.

A crew of ten men has been put on during the past few days at the park for the purpose of planting trees and shrubbery along the streets. The work is being done principally along the paved thoroughfares. This crew will have work for several weeks, it is said.

FEW FARMERS WILL PATRONIZE MARKETS

West End and West Duluth Offer Fewer Advantages Than Armory Market.

Farmers coming to the West Duluth public market with green vegetables this coming summer promise to be few and far between, according to reliable information given out by residents of Hermantown. Gardeners, in the last three years, since the establishment of the West Duluth market place, have come from that locality principally.

Some of the farmers instead of raising vebetables, are going to devote their time almost exclusively to dairying, while those who will have some vegetables to offer, have intimated that they intend going to the armory.

While the West Duluth market was established principally to accommodate farmers from Midway as well as Hermantown, it is the farmers from the latter place that have attended the most regularly. Only on a few occasions have the gardeners from Midway been at the market.

The market place at the West end, also, promises to be deserted this summer. With the exception of a few small gardeners near the city, very few farmers will bring produce there, according to present indications. The plan appears to be to attend the uptown market because of better prices and quicker results.

"The trouble appears to be that the farmers have to spend too much time at the market," said one of the farmers this morning. "Most of those who have taken produce to the markets in the western end of the city, have had to spend the entire forenoon and sometimes a part of the afternoon to dispose of their produce. If the market place was patronized by more farmers and enough produce could be brought there early in the morning to make it an object for the grocers as well as the housewife, to visit the place, the sales would then be faster and the gardeners could get away sooner. But with a half dozen farmers at the place, each with only a small load, the inducement for the grocers to turn out is small. The result is correspondingly smaller sales, although slightly higher prices, but this takes much longer time."

It is believed that the announced intention of the farmers to disregard coming to West Duluth or the West end markets will give a big impetus to gardening in this end of the city. Many of the residents who have vacant lots or considerable garden space, will put in gardens for the raising of the smaller vegetables. Several residents of this end of the city who own acreage lots on the hillside, have already planned to use all their available ground as a garden.

Surprised By Friends.

Mrs. Thomas W. Brain, 4317 West Eighth street was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends at her home yesterday afternoon. Cards followed by luncheon featured the entertainment. The guests were: Mrs. E. J. Zauft, Mrs. Louis Oreck, Mrs. E. W. F. Boerner, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. Elliott J. Aman, Mrs. H. L. Liberty, Mrs. Louis Bennett, Mrs. George L. Hise, Mrs. Henry L. ORGANIZING NEW COUNCIL

Program for First Meeting on Monday Is Outlined.

Voss Will Be President—Only Routine Business Scheduled.

When the new council meets at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon, Mayor Prince will introduce a resolution assigning the city departments in the following manner:

James A. Farrell, public works.
Leonidas Merritt, utilities.
Bernard Silberstein, safety.
Fred J. Voss, finance.
Mayor W. I. Prince, public affairs.

The mayor announced this morning that the above program will go through, all the commissioners having agreed to the division of the departments in that manner.

Immediately after the divisions are assigned, the bonds of Commissioners-elect Silberstein and Farrell will be formally approved and a president of the council will then be elected to fill the vacancy left by Commissioner Hicken, who goes out of office at noon Monday. It is generally admitted that Commissioner Voss will be elected to this office.

After the president of the council is selected, the commissioners will appoint a city clerk, attorney, assessor and auditor, it being generally admitted that all the present officials, with the exception of the city attorney, will be reappointed. These are: Charles S. Palmer, clerk; B. J. Campbell, auditor, and J. A. Scott, assessor. Henry F. Greene will be appointed city attorney for two years.

With this work completed, the commissioners will then proceed with the regular routine of a council meeting. Nothing of any special importance is scheduled to come up, City Clerk Palmer said this morning. Contracts for furnishing the city with 200,000 gallons of road oil will be awarded to the Standard Oil company on its bid of 3½ cents a gallon, and for laying the pavement in Fifth alley, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues east, to August Bodin on his low bid of $1,336.30.

The ordinance appropriating $2,000 for the hauling of pipes from the docks to the localities where improvements are to be made throughout this year, will be passed. Second reading will be given the ordinance by Commissioner Murchison, naming the roadway between the boulevard and Clay street, near Seventy-third avenue west, as Breidablik place, and the one by Commissioner Voss appropriating $570 to renew the bond of City Treasurer McLean.

MERRITT REPLIES TO JUDGE FESLER'S SPEECH

Emphatic exception to statements made by Judge Bert Fesler before a citizens' mass meeting at Virginia last night was taken this morning by Commissioner Merritt, head of the utilities division.

Mr. Merritt declared that no arbitrary power was exercised when the present water rates were established over a year ago, and that the entire council voted on the matter, after considerable deliberation and a mass meeting of the interested citizens had been held. Judge Fesler was reported as saying that the action on the water rates was arbitrary and the result of a one-man power.

"When I took charge of the water and light department," said Commissioner Merritt this morning, "my hope was to furnish water to the citizens of Duluth at cost. There were to be no profits at any time and neither were the many to pay for a few privileged users.

"As a result of this decision I immediately secured the services of Manager Reed and other engineers and with their aid we found out just what rates could be charged and what system was the best for our department to follow. With this knowledge, I went before the council and explained my plan. Mass meetings of citizens were held in the council chamber on several occasions and not until then was the rate schedule changed.

"Judge Fesler knows that no arbitrary action was taken and any such statement is ridiculous on the face of it."

Judge Fesler's address was a feature of the meeting held by Virginia citizens in connection with the proposed commission government program that will shortly be voted on in the range city.

PANAMA "EXPO" STAMPS READY

Commemorative Souvenirs Will Soon Be Available at Postoffice.

The Panama exposition stamp will soon be available at the Duluth postoffice. Numerous requests for such souvenirs have come in at the postoffice, and Postmaster McElwen will try to keep the public supplied.

The stamps come in 1, 2, 5 and 10-cent denominations, and are obtainable from the third postmaster general of the United States. The postmaster at San Francisco has issued a statement in which he says that postmasters should not send to him for the souvenirs as they must be obtained from the department at Washington, D. C.

South Pacific Safe.

New York, April 17.—The steamer South Pacific, from Glasgow for New York, which was reported in London dispatches of March 31 to have been sunk on the previous night in a collision with an unidentified vessel off the west coast of Scotland, unexpectedly arrived here last night. Capt. Merry was unable to account for the origin of the report that his ship had gone down.

LACK OF RAIN HOLDS LOGS

Huge Drives in Northern Minnesota Cannot Be Floated.

Duluth Company Says Conditions Are Without Precedent.

The lack of rain in Northern Minnesota is delaying the big log drives, which have been in readiness for the last two weeks or more. Millions of feet of timber are being held up, and logging men say that if rains do not come soon the work may be delayed until next season.

"Conditions have been different this spring than ever before," said a logging man today. "The warm weather during March was steady and the snows were evaporated and there was little precipitation. Some of the large streams have not risen more than one inch, and it is impossible to start the drives until heavy rains have fallen. Virtually no rain has fallen so far during April, and the drives will necessarily start late."

Several large Duluth logging concerns have vast quantities of timber ready to start for the father of waters. Thomas Kisell has about 40,000,000 feet of logs near Swan Lake and the Swan River Logging company has about 10,000,000 feet. All this timber is being held in readiness as soon as rains swell the Swan river. Most of the timber will be driven down the Mississippi to Minneapolis for the Weyerhaeusers.

There is a good supply of logs at the Head of the Lakes which have been shipped by rail, and all the sawmills here will undoubtedly be steadily operating until next winter, the cut of lumber this year is expected to be larger than for several seasons.

ENORMOUS BULGES IN STOCK PRICES

Week's Review Shows Big Gains—Copper Metal Still Moves Up.

C. E. Lewis & Co., had the following bullish review of the stock market durthe week from Finley, Barrell & Co., at New York today:

"Years have passed since anything like this week's market has been on the stock exchange. Sales for the five full sessions have been 1,108,400 shares a day. While the greatest interest has centered in specialties benefited by war business, the four leaders, Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and Amalgamated Copper have shown on the average a gross advance of 8¾ points and a net advance of 7½ points. This result in the face of sensational gains of 10 to 30 points in various stocks in a single session has demonstrated that the general market possesses wonderful inherent strength. If anything the confidence of the public more than that of Wall street is responsible for the big strong market. Professional traders have worked for a reaction from time to time, and profit taking sales have been heavy, but reactions under the circumstances have been moderate indeed. Fears caused by the attitude of Bethlehem Steel's rise have been gained by application of thought to a situation dealing with a stock of such limited issue, more than half of which is locked up for control, and a great portion of the balance of which is held by individuals who appreciate highly the possibilities for it. Such ownership left a very small floating supply of the stock of a company whose wonderfully large war profits have become a matter of public knowledge and have created desire for ownership of the shares in the minds of thousands of people.

"An advance of more than 100 per cent in the market value of the American Locomotive company was based on the closing of a contract for approximately $65,000,000 of shrapnel and other munitions of war ordered by the European allies. It is estimated roundly that a profit of $1,000,000 will be made on the execution of these orders.

"Copper metal rose nearly 1 cent a pound this week to 17@17¼c for electrolytic. Greatness of the foreign demand for copper may be appreciated by observing the premiums at which Lake is selling. An advance of $1 per ton to $1.25 per hundred weight for third-quarter delivery, Pittsburgh, on plates, shapes and bars, was announced and steel men are of the opinion that as high as $1.35 will be obtained for a part of the fourth-quarter delivery of these articles. The foreign demand for steel is big and promises to be much larger than it now is. Up to this the reactions have been moderate and have been disappointing to professional traders who have looked for breaks to buy on.

"We believe this will continue to be the case for some time and purchase on moderate recessions should be made."

MIRAGE OVER LAKE SHOWS DISTANT ISLANDS

Weather Forecaster Richardson Reports One of Clearest Phenomena of Kind He Has Ever Seen.

The first reported mirage of the season occurred yesterday, and from the Duluth hill, mysterious islands, and once or twice, what looked like a grain elevator, could be seen, all inverted, of course, as is the habit with mirages.

H. W. Richardson, weather forecaster, said this morning that the mirage was seen at different times during the day, even early in the morning, but it was at its clearest, and was very distinct, about 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

"The mirage," said Mr. Richardson, "was over the lake, toward Ashland, and pretty well across the lake. We could see islands—a lot of them—and, on one or two occasions, caught a brief glimpse of what looked like a grain elevator. At 4:30 the picture in the sky was very distinct. What was reflected, is hard to say. I do not think it was the Apostic group of islands, and it may have been a reflection of islands far away for all we know, for the mirage plays curious tricks.

"A mirage is caused by a combination of different layers of air and density which acts as a mirror and often shows localities hundreds of miles away. Yesterday's was one of the clearest I have ever seen."

LARGE BACK ALIMONY

Must Be Paid By Wisconsin Man Who Eluded Divorced Wife.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—After posing as a brother of her missing husband for twenty-seven years, Orville E. Collins was ordered to appear before Judge Eschweiler and show cause why he should not pay back alimony for the twenty years that he has been divorced from the woman. The alimony amounts to $6,480, having been set at $20 a month at the time the divorce was granted.

In 1888, Mrs. Collins sued for divorce and alimony and was granted $20 a month, but when she attempted to collect the money her husband was not to be found. She then moved from the city to St. Joseph, Mo., where she conducted a store for a number of years, during which time she received many letters from a man who represented himself as the brother of her missing husband. Finally she returned to Milwaukee and while walking along the street recently she was accosted by a man who said that he knew her and that he was a brother of her supposedly dead husband. Upon investigation it was found that he was the long missing man and action has been started against him to collect the past due alimony.

Lights and Shadows of Police Court

HAD $20 BILL HIDDEN.

Boy "Bad Man" "Put One Over" on Police Officer.

NATIONALLY known pickpockets, second story men, and gentlemen burglars have been searched by Jailer Andrew Wanvick, at police headquarters, but it remained for Sam Panaride, age 14, "bad man," to "put one over."

Sam left for his home in Bruceton, near Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday, after his father had forwarded money for transportation. When he had left his "pal," Jimmie Halliburton, also 14, laughingly told police that Sammy had had a $20 bill in his belt all the time.

The boys were arrested at the union station April 8, and have been held in jail since that time. When their fathers were informed that the boys were "broke" they evinced surprise, but said: "Let them get good and homesick and then we'll send money for their fare home."

The boys have been a week getting homesick. Sammy left yesterday and Jimmie is going today. They ran away from home April 7, and armed with two large revolvers, started out to see the world.

SPENT $25 IN AN HOUR.

Stolen "Roll" of $140 Rapidly Melting When Police Arrive.

I'll give the money back and promise not to do anything like that again," said Jaakko Kivinen, age 31, to police this morning. "Will that be all right?"

Kivinen was arrested by Detectives F. A. Schulte and Donald Irvine twenty minutes after Herman Salo reported that $140 had been stolen from him. When taken into custody Kivinen had $115.65 in his pocket, and admitted the theft.

Kivinen and Salo took an afternoon nap at the Main hotel, Lake avenue south, yesterday, and shortly before supper time Salo woke up to find his partner gone and the $140 missing. Kivinen refused to explain how he had spent $25 in an hour, but appeared to be having a good time when arrested.

Appearing before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this morning, he waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under $300 bail.

POLICE MEET TRAIN.

Spooner Woman, Wanted for Larceny, Arrested on Reaching Duluth.

When Mrs. Lucy Sobczak, age 20, of Spooner, Wis., stepped from an Omaha passenger train this morning, she was arrested by Detectives Herman Toewe and J. L. Bradley as a fugitive. She will be taken back to Spooner to face a larceny charge.

Mrs. Sobczak, who was employed in a hotel at Spooner, is alleged to have stolen a new spring coat from a girl with whom she worked. She was on her way to Moose Lake when arrested, she told the police.

WIFE FEARED FOR LIFE.

Clad in Night Clothes, She Runs to Police Station for Help.

Six months in jail may be the penalty Jesse Wilkerson, age 26, colored, will have to pay for abusing his spouse. Frightened by threats that he would kill her, Mrs. Wilkerson, clad in a nightgown and slippers, slipped on an overcoat this morning and ran to headquarters with her story.

Wilkerson was charged with attempted breach of the peace and placed under bonds of $250. In default of his bond, he will be sent to the county jail for not more than six months.

WANTED SIXTY DAYS.

Thomas Sullivan Would Just as Soon Go to Work Farm.

"You can make it sixty days if you want to, judge," said Thomas Sullivan in municipal court this morning. The judge did.

Sullivan first pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness, second offense, and persisted that the demon rum had not "got the best of him." Later on, after he had talked it over, Sullivan decided that he "guessed it would be all right at the work farm anyway," and that "he would just as soon go."

Sixty days is the maximum for second offense, but the judge proved very accommodating.

DIDN'T STOP TO ARGUE.

Burglar Chats Casually as Housewife Interrogates Him.

"Silence is golden," "Discretion is the better part of valor," and other old saws were utilized last night by a burglar who didn't stop to argue when intercepted by Mrs. Clara L. Meining, 217 Second avenue east.

He was just leaving the house when Mrs. Meining saw him. "Who do you want?" she asked.

"I'm looking for Miss Bingham," was the reply.

"There is no Miss Bingham here," said Mrs. Meining, "who are you?"

"My name is Swanson," said the burglar, moving rapidly toward the sidewalk.

Mrs. Meining found that the contents of a purse belonging to Miss Clara Mattscn had been taken by the visitor.

JITNEYS FRACTIOUS AGAIN.

Driver Pays $7 Fine for Breaking Traffic Laws.

After two days of good behavior jitneys came into the limelight again yesterday, one accident and one arrest for traffic law violation being reported.

"It's all my fault," said an unidentified woman who was struck by a jitney while crossing the street at Thirteenth avenue west and Superior street.

R. E. Ward, 321 West First street, was driving the car, which is one of several operated by the J. O. Renning Bus company. He took the woman, who was slightly injured, to her home at 2713 West Third street. She refused to give her name. Clint F. Strong, 322 North Twenty-first avenue west, was a passenger at the time of the accident.

Adolph Carlson, 216 East Fifth street, paid a $7 fine in municipal court this morning for running by a street car gate while they were open. This is the fifth violation of the one gate ordinance that has been prosecuted by police since the jitney bus became a habit in this city. Carlson was arrested by Traffic Officer Wood, at Third avenue west and Superior street.

POLES TO AID COUNTRYMEN

Funds for Flag Day Celebration to Help Relieve War Victims.

About 2,000,000 Poles in America Will Join in Work.

Members of Duluth's Polish colony will meet at St. Peter's and St. Paul's Polish Catholic churches Sunday night to make arrangements for Poland's flag day celebration. A. Grabarkiewicz, 6 West Seventh street, will be in charge of the meeting.

May 3, 1791 is a date dear to every Pole, for on that day one of the most noted constitutions in history was adopted by the Kingdom of Poland. From this has grown the custom of celebrating May 3, as the Americans would celebrate July Fourth.

This year, instead of the usual celebration, 2,000,000 Poles now in America will work to gather funds for the relief of the 15,000,000 persons in the stricken eastern war arena. Poland now is the cockpit for the bloodiest struggle in the world's history, and the country is being devastated while the inhabitants starve.

The American Polish Relief committee, 14 East Forty-seventh street, New York, has already started work of arranging the gala day. Polish flags of all sizes from tiny silk ones for buttonholes to very large ones, will be sold and the proceeds will be turned into the general relief fund.

In order to assume their share of the work, Duluth Poles are planning a celebration at the Head of the Lakes that will rank with that of any of the larger cities of the country.

A Valuable Man

It makes no difference whether you work in the labor gang or sit in the manager's chair, you are paid for the efficiency with which you do your work.

System is the first law of efficiency. Until you systematize your work, time, thoughts and observations, you will not be a valuable man to your employer. And until you systematize the saving of the money you earn, you will not be a valuable man to yourself. Don't forget this: A savings account at the First National Bank is an efficiency measure in the strictest sense of the word.

MINES ARE BUOYS; CAMPS, FISHERMEN

Mexican Governor Reports on Alleged Jap Activities in Lower California.

New York, April 17.—Gen. Estevan Santu, military governor of Lower California, sent a telegram to Francisco Urquidi, consul general here for the Villa provisional government, giving the result of his investigation of reports that Mexican neutrality is being violated by the operations of Japanese naval forces in Turtle Bay, Lower California. The telegram follows:

"According to information received, the Japanese ships are in St. Bartolome, engaged to save the grounded cruiser Asama. The reported mines are nothing but small buoys showing the place of anchors and works of flotation. The encampments reported by the press are fishing camps."

Will Investigate.

Washington, April 17.—While disinclined to credit reports that Japan had established a naval base at Turtle Bay, Lower California, United States officials yesterday instituted an investigation with the idea of learning exactly what use the belligerent warships were making of Mexican territorial waters.

Secretary Daniels telegraphed Rear Admiral Howard of the Pacific fleet the substance of the published stories and asked him to ascertain whether there was any foundation for them. Secretary Bryan has received no information from the American consuls in Lower California to the effect that the Japanese intend to establish a naval base there; but it is understood he will communicate the press reports to them with a request for any facts that may bear on the subject.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of Villa, telegraphed to Estevan Canto, military governor of Lower California, which is controlled by the Villa faction, to make an investigation of the situation. The published reports, however, attracted wide attention among diplomats and officials. The fact that British soldiers were assisting the Japanese warships convinced high officials that there could be no foundation for the idea that any movement was afoot to establish a permanent base.

RAILROAD TO PLACE A $20,000,000 ORDER.

Philadelphia, April 17.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company will go into the market today for approximately $20,000,000 worth of new equipment and for new material for cars and locomotives, which it will build in its own shops.

THREATENED TO KILL V. ASTOR, ARRESTED.

New York, April 17.—Accused of threatening to kill Vincent Astor if he should refuse a demand for $500, John Meriella, a youth of 19, was arrested at the Grand Central terminal yesterday on complaint of Mr. Astor's business agent, William A. Dobbyn.

Meriella was taken to police headquarters, where it was said he admitted having sent two letters to the young millionaire containing death threats and demands for money. He admitted, according to the police that if he had not been arrested, he would have attempted to carry out his threats.

In addition to a charge of attempted extortion, a charge of violating the Sullivan law forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons, was made against him.

WILL TAKE TIME TO RAISE SUBMARINE F-4.

Honolulu, April 17.—Naval officers in charge of the work of raising the submarine F-4 from the ocean floor outside the harbor said yesterday it would be several weeks before the hull, which is believed to contain the bodies of twenty-one men, could be brought to the surface.

A line that had hooked the conning tower was cleared and made fast to the vessel. There are now three lines attached to the craft and another must be hooked on before pontoon scows are employed to begin lifting operations.

COMMISSIONERS-ELECT HAVE MANY CALLERS.

Nearly 2,500 men have called on Commissioners-elect Silberstein and Farrell since the election a week ago Tuesday.

Both officials have kept close tab on the number of men who have called on them, their motives being either to obtain a position, find fault with the present administration, give advice on how the city should be run in the future, or merely to offer congratulations.

Mr. Silberstein estimates that about 1,000 have called on him, while Mr. Farrell places his list at 1,500.

ONE MORE DAY TO RAISE FUND

Architect Says Armory Work Cannot Be Delayed Later Than Tuesday.

But one more day will be given to raise subscriptions amounting to about $8,000, which is planned to be used in ornamentation for the new armory building. Architect Clyde W. Kelly, who has been working out the design for the new structure, said today that part of the plans should have been in the hands of the contractors sometime ago, and that it would be impossible to wait longer than until Tuesday to make a decision as to the final design for the building.

Mr. Kelly has had the plans drawn for some time, and it was arranged that these should go to the contractors, but later it was decided that the proposed structure was too plain and needed ornamentation on the exterior. About $8,000 was thought necessary to provide for this additional work. The city council has under consideration an appropriation of $2,500 for the work and action is expected to be taken next Monday. The remainder of the $8,000 must be raised by private subscription. It is not thought possible at this late date that the money can be raised in time.

NEW CARLTON SCHOOL.

Bonds Voted, Plans Accepted and Work Will Soon Start.

Carlton, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The voters of this school district having, at the special election held Wednesday, approved the issue of $15,000 bonds to be used with the insurance obtained on the high school burned several months ago in building a new school, work will soon be started. Architect Broomhall's plans have been accepted and the contract will be let in a few days assuring the starting of actual work about May 10. The district has $37,000 to spend on the building and furnishings.

MANY SETTLERS COMING.

State Immigration Inspector Cheerful Over Prospects for Minnesota.

"Many Iowa, Illinois and Indiana families are planning to come to Minnesota to settle this year," declared Fred D. Sherman, state immigration commissioner, in a recent report. "I have received many letters from families of this kind, and the prospect for a big influx of settlers in excellent."

The Minnesota Transfer Railway company handled traffic through the Twin Cities' terminal, reports that 851 cars of immigrants' household goods were unloaded at different points throughout the state during the month of March.

ALL ENEMIES OF ALLIES TO BE HELD.

Seattle, April 17.—American steamship companies operating between Seattle and Alaska ports and Seattle and San Francisco, were notified by the British admiralty yesterday that all German, Austrian or Turkish passengers or members of the crews, would be removed from any vessel calling at a Canadian port, and held as prisoners of war. As a result of the order, the Pacific Coast Steamship company immediately discharged ten German members of the crew of the steamship President, which sailed yesterday for San Francisco.

NATIONAL MARKETING COMMISSION PROPOSED.

Washington, April 17.—The administration has under consideration, it was learned last night, a proposal for the creation of a national marketing commission to devise a better system for the distribution of agricultural products; investigate conditions of warehousing throughout the country and to work out all problems affecting the nation's food supply and demand.

While no definite plan of action has been reached, several members of congress and officials of the department of agriculture, are co-operating in a movement, looking to the establishment of such a committee.

ALGER COUNTY IS "WET" BY TWO VOTES.

Munising, Mich., April 17.—An official recount completed of the votes cast in Alger county April 5, on the question of local option, shows a majority of two votes for the "wets."

Unofficial figures had given the "drys" a majority of one.

KILLS MICHIGAN PROHIBITION BILL.

Lansing, Mich., April 17.—A bill providing for the submission of state-wide prohibition to the voters at the April election in 1917, was killed in the senate Friday. The bill had passed in the house, but when it reached the senate, several amendments were attached to the measure which in the opinion of the "drys" defeated its purpose and they voted solidly with the "wets" against it.

Flood Crest Passes.

Holbrook, Ariz., April 17.—With the Destruction of three bridges, the Little Colorado flood, which washed away three reservoir dams and drowned eight persons near St. Johns, passed this point last night. No further damage was reported and proffers of aid from Phoenix, the state capital, elicited the response that so far as known, none of the 3,000 residents of the flood-swept area, is in actual distress because of a lack of food or clothing.

One Provision Nullified.

Lincoln, Neb., April 17.—The Nebraska supreme court yesterday in effect nullified one of the chief provisions of the Gibson saloon law, which makes it unlawful for an owner to rent his property for saloon purposes. The court says it is not the duty of a licensing board to inquire into the title of property and that the law makes no provision of that kind. It declares inquiries of this kind are open to courts only.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

SENIOR PLAY BIG SUCCESS

Large Audience and Excellent Acting Feature Central School Production.

Several Players Surprise Friends; One More Performance.

Before an audience that filled the Central high school auditorium last evening, the members of the school senior play cast successfully presented Oliver Goldsmith's famous comedy classic, "She Stoops to Conquer," far surpassing general expectations. According to general opinion the play was from all standpoints, the most successful affair of its kind ever attempted at Central high school. In former years some excellent plays have been produced, and heightened by unusually good acting, the results obtained were especially gratifying. Despite this fact, it is doubtless if any of the plays of former senior actors could be classed with the production of the 1915 seniors.

Results a Surprise.

The excellent acting by young high school students surprised even the most critical. Attempting such a difficult play was expected by outsiders to bring out the faults of the young Thespians; but when they saw the affair "run off" with such smooth regularity and such creditable performing, the skeptical were forced to admit that nothing to approach it had ever been attempted at Central. The second and final performance will be given this evening, and with the corrections of a few unavoidable mistakes of the first appearance, the success should be even greater tonight.

A large part of the credit for the success of the play is due to L. C. Rasey of the school English department. For more than a month the cast has been rehearsing diligently every afternoon and many evenings in preparation for the affair, one of the most important of the year's social events at Central.

The clever acting of the leading players stirred the audience to a realization of what had been accomplished by many hours of grinding work on the part of the participants. Of the seven more prominent characters it would be exceedingly difficult to select the "star." The audience was delighted with Miss Muriel Smith, who played in the leading role of Miss Hardcastle. As an appreciation of her excellent work she was presented with a large bouquet of roses. Playing opposite Miss Smith, in the role of Young Marlowe, Robert Zuger made a decided "hit." The audience was greatly surprised by Zuger's clever work as a bashful and reserved young lover, though high spirited and jovial in the presence of intimate friends or questionable company. "Tony" Lumpkin, the original rustic "booby," supplied the greater part of the life of the play. His actions more than once set the house in an uproar. Reginald Reed starred in his difficult role of Old Mr. Hardcastle, the perfect personification of the old-fashioned English country gentleman, ordinarily kind and hospitable, but quick to anger when insulted in his own home. Impersonating a vain, quick-tempered old mother of an awkward, uncouth son, Vina Walz, as Mrs. Hardcastle, was a "sensation." The clever acting of Margaret Johnson as Miss Neville and of Harold Baker as Hastings was one of the decided features of the play. Connecting the development of the plot, the antics of the ale-house loafers and awkward servants brought down the house in a storm. Those who performed the lesser roles were: Sir Charles Marlowe, Julian Hagberg; maid, Evangeline Trolander; Diggery, Horace Craig; Slingo, Edward Scriviens; Jeremy, William Harrison; servants and ale-house frequenters, Albert Armstrong, Harold Coe, Stanley Laskey, Harold Heim, Robert Kerr, Elton Guyer, Ralph McCarthy, Lawrence Moore.

Most Prominent Feature.

The three most noticeable features of the production, aside from the acting, were the costumes, stage scenery and stage settings. The costumes were rented from a Minneapolis firm and proved especially appropriate for the play. The scenery, undoubtedly the best that has ever been used at school, was courteously loaned by the Lyceum management. Furnishings were supplied by the Kelly Furniture company. The great success of the stage work is due to Ben Wood, stage manager. He had worked hard and had not even been able to attend classes for some time because of this. Assisted by Chauncey Peterson, Lawrence Nelson, Locklyn Taylor and an expert from the Lyceum, the scene shifting was done very quickly.

Not the least important feature of the evening was the music. Composed of several high school students, as well as faculty players, together with some outside artists, the orchestra more than came up to expectations. The orchestra music was well arranged for the occasion. The first public appearance of the D. C. H. S. Boys' Glee club was well received by the audience. Their excellent singing resulted in the audience demanding their return for several encores. The boys have been trained by Mrs. Dixon, head of Central's music department.

Proceeds to Zenith.

The proceeds derived from the sale of tickets for the play are used to defray, in part, the expenses of the publication of the Zenith, the high school annual. As much money was taken in last evening as was received for both performances of last year's play, Editor Coe of the Zenith will now have no cause to worry over the financial conditions of the book.

MISSING MAN HAD $400 IN POCKETS

Italian Who Disappeared Two Years Ago May Have Been Murdered.

Two or three years ago an Italian laborer, Anthony Sorda, disappeared from a camp near the Allouez docks with $400, and today a letter was received from the mayor of his home town in Italy, asking that a search for him be instituted.

Attilio Castiglinno, consular agent, who received the communication from the head executive of Fragneto-Montforte in the province of Benevento, will try to find out whether Sorda was murdered for his money, or committed suicide, or whether he still is living, so that his mother and father at home may know.

Two years ago, it was learned today, Sorda was a member of a gang of about twenty Italians working on the ore docks and living in box cars nearby.

On the evening of Jan. 7, two years ago, one of the men in the car, Manfredi by name, sent Sorda to a nearby saloon for some beer. When Sorda returned Manfredi and two others went to a car further up the track, leaving him alone.

He was never seen after that time, and police were unable to find any trace of him. Manfredi and his friends persisted in the story of their ignorance but said that two strange Italians had been around with Sorda that day, and that he was known to have a lot of money in his belt.

After waiting two years, Sorda's mother wants to know whether her son is alive or not, and so the mayor has started a search which will extend to all corners of the United States.

Thaw Ordered Back to Matteawan By Decision Upholding Judge Page.

New York, April 17.—Harry Kendall Thaw was yesterday ordered back to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan by the appellate division of the New York supreme court. In an opinion concurred in by all the justices, the court affirmed the denial by Supreme Court Justice Page of a motion to return Thaw to the jurisdiction of the state of New Hampshire, whence he was extradited to stand trial for conspiring to escape from Matteawan asylum, and ruled that the original order committing him to the institution was still valid. Plans are now being formulated to take the case to the state court of appeals.

A decision adverse to Thaw came as a great surprise to his counsel. The court held that in returning involuntarily to this jurisdiction, Thaw was subject to no promise or inducement and that New Hampshire had only done the duty expected of it when it returned him to New York to answer for a crime for which he had been indicted.

The order carried with it the provision that Thaw could not be taken from New York county until five days had elapsed.

The writ of habeas corpus sworn out in Thaw's behalf after he was acquitted on the charge of conspiracy is finally returnable Monday. At that time council will present arguments urging that their client be granted permission to have a jury determine his present mental condition.

Should a decision unfavorable to Thaw be forthcoming by Wednesday, the state will have the right to return him to Matteawan forthwith, providing his counsel shall have not secured a stay of execution in the order committing him to Matteawan, pending appeal.

Thaw himself refused to comment on the action of the court.

The opinion of the appellate division was written by Justice Hotchkiss and Scott. Justices McLaughlin, Clarke and Ingraham concurred. All things considered, that part of the opinion written by Justice Scott asserts, the fact remains that Thaw is now in this state and there is a valid ...stment against him for his restraint as a person of unsound mind.

OFFERS ARE WITHDRAWN

have withdrawn their previous offer of a wage increase, and if the carpenters return to work it would be at the old rate of 65 cents an hour. The carpenters demand 70 cents. The contractors offered a 2½-cent increase for the last eighteen months of the proposed three-year agreement.

"Carpenters in Chicago are paid a higher wage scale than any other city in the United States," said E. M. Craig of the Building Construction Employers' association. "The contractors cannot afford to pay high wages at present, but figured they could pay a 2½-cent increase as was offered. The scale here is 2½ cents higher than in New York or St. Louis, in which cities the men receive 62½ cents per hour."

Lumber dealers of Chicago began laying off teamsters and laborers today as a result of the industrial war. Brick yards in Chicago and surrounding territory also gave evidence of an approaching cessation of work when announcements were posted that hundreds of employes of those establishments would have to be taken off the payrolls until the demand for building materials is resumed.

The Lumber Dealers' association announced that 5,000 men would be discharged pending a settlement of the strikes and lockouts.

roads which hinders military operations.

A Paris despatch from Rome says the belief is general in the Italian capital that Austria will attack Italy, should that country's determination to end the war become evident. It is added that this possibility is viewed complacently, on account of the strong concentration of Italian troops along the border.

England is expecting another raid by German airships, following three attacks in rapid succession. The German aerial attack yesterday on Amiens, France, resulted in the killing of seven persons and wounding of eight.

A report is published by a Prussian newspaper that Grand Duke Nicholas, Russian commander-in-chief, has been shot in the abdomen by Gen. Baron Sievers, commander of the Russian Tenth army, which was defeated and driven from East Prussia last February. The general is said to have committed suicide. There is no confirmation of this report, officially or otherwise.

The official German statement of today, evidently referring to yesterday's raid over England by a German aeroplane, says shells were dropped on Greenwich, in the metropolitan district of London. Dispatches from London yesterday said the aeroplane approached no nearer than thirty miles from the city.

The French ministry of marine announces further naval operations against the Turkish forces which proceeded against Egypt. It is said a French battleship shelled a Turkish position near the Egyptian city of El-Arish, which is close to the border of Palestine.

There were no important engagements in France yesterday and in the east operations are being delayed by the spring thaw.

German Statement.

Berlin, April 17, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The statement today from army headquarters is as follows:

"French attacks near Flirey were repulsed.

"East of Ypres the British yesterday used grenades and bombs which developed an asphyxiating gas.

"On the south slope of Lorette heights, northwest of Arras, a small German point of support sixty yards long and fifty yards deep was lost.

"In Champagne, northwest of Perthes, a group of French fortifications were stormed. A French counter-attack failed.

"The Germans conquered a French position northwest of Urbeis in the Vosges. They captured French chasseurs and then evacuated the position because of its disadvantageous situation.

"A French airship destroyed window glass at Strassburg and wounded civilians. A German aviator shelled Greenwich, near London.

"On the eastern front the situation is unchanged."

Greenwich, which the German war office says was shelled, is in the metropolitan district of London, being situated on the Thames, five miles below London bridge. The German statement evidently refers to the raid made yesterday by a German aeroplane. London dispatches concerning this raid said that the nearest approach of the airship to the city was its appearance over Faversham and Sittingbourne, thirty miles distant.

French Statement.

Paris, April 17, via London, 2:55 p. m.—The report on the progress of hostilities issued this afternoon by the French war office contains nothing that was not set forth in the communication given out last night.

The following statement regarding the progress of the fighting in the western theater of the war was given out last night:

"At Notre Dame De Lorette, the Germans delivered three counter attacks, each of which was preceded by a violent bombardment. They were all stopped short at the outset. They also failed in a counter attack at Les Eparges last night.

"At Bois De Montmare, there was an artillery duel. We silenced three batteries and blew up an ammunition depot.

"Our aviators were very active. Ten bombs were thrown on the workshops of the railway station of Lopoldshoeh east of Metz, which were being used for the manufacture of shells. Ten bombs were dropped on the powder magazine at Rothwell. Six struck the mark and a huge red flame shot up, surrounded by a dense smoke. The aeroplanes were struck by shell splinters, but returned safe and sound.

"Forty bombs, most of which struck their mark, were dropped on the central electric station of Maizieres Les Metz, 15 kilometers (above ten miles) north of Metz. This station supplies the town and forts of Metz with power and light. Much smoke rose from the central building. On their return, our aviators encountered three aviators to whom they gave chase, forcing them to land. Our squadron suffered no mishaps, although subjected to a violent cannonade from the Metz forts."

REPORTS OF AIR RAIDS OVER ENGLAND DIFFER AS TO THE DAMGE DONE

with the Austrian forces reviewing the situation, declares that the Russian offensive was checked after debouching on the plains on the Hungarian side of Lupkow pass and straightening out the Austrian wedge which had been driven into the Russian line near Uzsok pass. The claim is made that the Russians suffered losses in making their supreme effort to gain the Hungarian plains, the casualties being particularly heavy among the noble-born officers of crack regiments. In any event, it is the opinion of British observers that whatever else may be retarding the Russians, flooded streams and impassable roads in the Carpathians are ample proof for the present delay.

Greece May Modify Policy.

With news of the resumption of activity by the allied fleet off the Dardanelles comes a report that the Grecian press is given the impression of a possible modification of the present policy of Greece.

The British colonial office has issued an official report claiming victory for an invading British Indian force over the Turks in Mesopotamia. On the western front signs are growing that the Germans may anticipate the long predicted general allied offensive, but actual operation seems to have relapsed into the status of mid-winter quiet.

Serious Damage Reported.

Berlin, April 17, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—Included in the items given out today by the Overseas News Agency is the following:

"Private telegrams received here from England by way of Holland says serious damage was done by the Zeppelins which recently flew over England. Bombs from the airships killed or wounded the officers and crew of patrol boats protecting shipyards, a fact which indicates that the bombs fell near the docks. The British censor prevented transmission of further details.

Strassburg Bombarded.

Amsterdam, Holland, April 17, via London, 3:37 p. m.—A hostile airship at half past 1 o'clock this morning dropped twelve bombs on the city of Strassourg, capital of Alsace-Lorraine. Searchlights showed it disappearing in a northerly direction, under bombardment of anti-aircraft guns.

Two persons in Strassburg were slightly wounded; otherwise no damage was done by the bombs from the airship.

Seven Killed at Amiens.

Amiens, France, April 17.—Seven persons were killed and eight were wounded by bombs dropped by two German aeroplanes which flew over this city yesterday, one in the morning and one in the evening. The cathedral was the target for the missiles but it was not damaged.

The first aircraft appeared at 6:15 a. m. and dropped five bombs. The explosions of the projectiles were fatal to four women and two men while seven other persons were wounded, including two soldiers guarding the railroad station. The property damage was trivial.

The second aeroplane appeared over the city at 5 p. m. One of the bombs dropped from it demolished a house, decapitating a woman seated in the parlor and injuring another woman.

trust, but with the provision that until she shall arrive at the age of 35, the executors shall pay her such parts, or the whole of the fund as they may deem wist in their "absolute and unrestricted discretion," for her actual, personal and beneficial use. Any portion of the fund which shall not have been paid at that time reverts to the residuary estate.

$1,000 Income for Friend.

A sum sufficient to produce a net income of $1,000 is left to Mrs. Rockefeller's friend, Caroline P. Aked.

The charitable institutions named as beneficiaries of the residuary estate are the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, Cleveland, Ohio; the Baptist Home of Northern Ohio, Women's Baptist Home Missionary society, Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary society, Spellman seminary, Atlanta, Ga., and the Bureau of Social Hygiene. The trustees are empowered to divide the money alloted to these institutions as they see fit.

Jewels to Relatives.

With the exception of a few bequests to friends the will gives Mrs. Rockefeller's jewels to relatives. To John D. Rockefeller is left a ruby and diamond ring, while John D. Rockefeller, Jr., inherits his mother's wedding ring and an emerald and diamond ring. Her daughters, daughter-in-law, sister, granddaughters and nieces also are remembered with gifts of jewels.

Mrs. Rockefeller's dresses, books and other personal belongings are bequeathed to her sister and her two daughters to dispose of as they shall see fit. Broad powers are given to the executors.

"In making investments and re-investments," the testament says, "said executors and trustees are expressly authorized in their absolute and unrestricted discretion without leave and approval of any court and at the risk of my estate and without liability to them for losses incurred as a result thereof, to make investments of all or any part of my estate or of the trust estates created by this will."

SPENDS TWO DAYS ON BILL

amendment to the bill, and it was laid over to this morning.

The fight on the departmental bill—which did not result in any very material changes—began Thursday, raged all day and during the evening, continued during yesterday and up to 6 o'clock last evening.

Spooner Wins Victory.

Representative L. C. Spooner, chairman of the appropriations committee, won a victory in the face of vigorous opposition which developed into a lively fight when he succeeded in obtaining approval of two items, considered his "pet" measures. He also obtained approval by one vote of the appropriation of $15,000 for the expenses of the proposed interim committee to make a further investigation with a view to reorganization of the state's civil administration.

When the items appropriating $5,000 for thoroughbred cows for the school of agriculture at Morris, and the one carrying $40,000 for construction of a farm engineering building, were reached, Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls moved that these, together with a $50,000 appropriation for the Crookston Agricultural school, be stricken from the bill. He raised the point of order that under the rules these items should be in the educational bill.

Mr. Adams was charged with making the motion because of a bitter personal feeling toward Mr. Spooner.

"If Mr. Adams is on the square (and I doubt very much that he is), why doesn't he say that these items be placed on the educational bill, since he argues they are on the wrong bill?" said Representative G. B. Bjornson. "Instead, he wishes to strike them out entirely. His motive is nothing but a personal one and a continuation of his smart play that has been in progress since the session began."

"As the statements are ungentlemanly and unparliamentary, I do not care to answer them," said Mr. Adams. "It is very evident that these appropriations should not be here, and my motion was fair."

Motion Voted Down.

The Adams motion then was voted down overwhelmingly. Representative Knud Wefald also declared that "an underlying motive of revenge" prompted Mr. Adams' motion.

After the items had been approved, Mr. Spooner then moved that the $40,000 appropriation for the construction of a farm engineering building at Morris, be trimmed to $35,000. This action prevailed under protest.

The resolution placed in the records yesterday morning, prohibiting the use of "profane, vulgar and unseemly language" during debate on the floor was shattered several times.

An amendment by Representative Robert Carmichael, striking out the $15,000 appropriation for the State Agricultural society for building repairs, was adopted, but a motion to trim the State Historical society's maintenance fund from $20,000 to $15,000, was lost, as also was a motion to eliminate the farmers' institutes maintenance appropriation of $23,000.

Representative P. H. Five offered an amendment, which was adopted, cutting in half the $30,000 appropriation for county agricultural agents, and Representative Spooner offered an amendment, which was adopted, increasing from $40,000 to $130,000 the appropriation for inheritance tax payments to counties.

For Efficiency Committee.

Sharp opposition flared up when the motion was made to eliminate the appropriation for the interim efficiency and economy committee. Those behind the move declared the resolution for the committee did not make it incumbent upon the appropriations committee to insert the appropriations. Representative Spooner urged that it be passed and pointed out that the matter could be adjusted, if necessary, by a conference committee, in case the senate provided an appropriation for carrying out the work. By a standing vote, the action was approved, but only after the speaker had cast his vote with friends of the efficiency and economy bill.

To clear the situation in case the senate provides an appropriation, Representative Wefald offered an amendment, which was adopted, stating the money can be used by a joint interim commission if one is created by the adoption of the Carley resolution, which has passed the senate and will soon come up in the house.

Board of Control Bill.

The next on the special order was the board of control bill providing for state institutions. This bill carries a total of $4,783,633 for the two years, as compared with $5,423,600 two years ago, a reduction of $640,067. The board of control this year asked for $6,384,648.

Mr. Spooner, who had charge of the bill, had a number of amendments, mostly technical corrections, and some of the members wanted to adopt them in a body and pass the bill.

The amendments were taken up separately, however, and when the one was reached which provides for taking the cost of prison maintenance out of the fund of $2,600,000 accumulated out of twine plant profits, it proved a stumbling block.

Representative Warner inquired about this amendment, and the policy back of it.

Mr. Spooner said that it was deemed better to do this than to take the money out of the tax fund. "The prison should run itself," he said.

"Then the farmers are paying the bill," said Mr. Warner.

"You might put it that way," replied Mr. Spooner.

"Why not sell twine cheaper?" asked Representative Bendixen.

"That is fixed by the board of control," responded Mr. Spooner.

Other members pointed out that the farmers are now getting a great benefit through cheaper twine, and that it might be as well to use the profits to run the prison and save tax levies as to let the money rust in a bank.

The discussion led afar, and when it was proposed, an hour later, to lay the bill over to this morning, the house grasped at the idea eagerly.

The departmental bill which passed the house yesterday carries an appropriation of $2,500 for a fish hatchery at Tower, the work of Representatives Charles T. Murphy of Aurora and John H. Gill of Virginia. Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia has brought about a similar item in the senate bill.

The senate yesterday afternoon in less than half an hour passed its second appropriation bill, that which the house laid over to this morning. It carries $4,722,533, compared with $4,783,633, the amount in the house bill.

The Compensation Act.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the two house bills by Representative Tom J. McGrath relating to the railroad men's and railroad men's to the workingmen's compensation law. One definitely takes railroad employes out from the provisions of the compensation act, and the other puts them on the same basis as they are under the Federal law by depriving railroads of the old common law defenses of assumption of risk, contributory negligence and the fellow servant rule.

* * *

The bill allowing St. Louis county to have a women's work farm, which was sent back by the governor for correction, was corrected and repassed by the senate yesterday afternoon on motion of Senator Adams.

* * *

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the bill by the house committee on education, systematizing the distribution of state aid to public schools. The bill reduces the amount of state aid to rural schools slightly, but the senate defeated an amendment offered by Senator Bonnilwell which would have restored them to the old rate.

* * *

Representative H. J. Miner's bill allowing Koochiching county to issue bonds to meet the interest on its ditch bonds was passed by the senate yesterday afternoon.

ment striking out the word gloves and substituting the word featherdusters, which amendment was lost, 23 to 38. The friends of the bill accepted an amendment by Senator C. E. Adams of Duluth limiting the number of contests in any city to twelve a year.

Senator Richard Jones of Duluth proposed an amendment prohibiting sporting editors from being financially interested in boxing bouts, but it was lost, 18 to 34.

Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia offered an amendment to make the bill applicable to the three large counties instead of the three large cities, so as to take in the iron range communities, but the friends of the bill were fearful of the constitutionality of the provision so Griggs withdrew it rather than jeopardize the bill. Debate on the bill ran past the noon hour.

Board of Control Bill.

The house managed to kill another hour this morning on the board of control appropriations bill before it passed it. It adopted amendments offered by Frank Minette giving the girls' home school at Sauk Center $15,000 for an additional cottage and $10,000 to buy more land.

Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin then reamed his criticism of the policy of taking money out of the twine plant profits for permanent improvements at the state prison, which he characterized as "soaking the farmer."

"Are you a farmer?" asked Representative Spooner. Mr. Warner said he was. "You are farming the farmer, more likely," declared Mr. Spooner. "I am farming the farmer no more than the gentleman from Stevens is," responded Mr. Warner hotly.

Education of the Deaf.

The senate this morning by a unanimous vote passed the bill by Representatives W. J. North of Duluth and P. H. Konzen of Hallock providing for special education in the public schools for deaf, blind and mentally sub-normal children and children of defective speech and granting state aid therefor.

* * *

The bill by Senators Adams and Peterson of Duluth, extending the time in which the city of Duluth must build a public dock on the old state elevator site at Duluth as a preliminary to getting a state lease on it passed the senate this morning.

* * *

The house bill by Representative Christianson, fixing insurance brokers' fees at $25 in first class cities, $10 in second class cities and $2 elsewhere, was passed by the senate.

Game Bag Limits.

The senate passed the house bill changing the game bag limits as follows: For upland birds, 10 a day and 20 in possession instead of 15 and 45; ducks, 15 a day and 45 in possession instead of 15 and 50.

* * *

The senate took up the Larson house bill, providing for the dissolution of villages having less than fifty inhabitants, but laid it over to afternoon after a brief session. The purpose of the bill is to rid Sandstone, which is dry, of a saloon in the tiny village of Banning, half a mile away.

* * *

The attorney general's office sent to the legislature today a formal opinion that Wednesday is the last day for passing bills and that the final adjournment will be at noon Thursday.

* * *

The house started in this morning on the long list of special orders under the Wefald resolution, crowding out the calendar.

* * *

A bill by Senator Rockne, prepared by the Sheriffs' association to readjust sheriffs' salaries, was killed because it provided some increases.

The house bill allowing banks to do a trust business failed of passage, 64 to 35, two votes less than needed.

KAISER ORDERS WAR CONFERENCE

Will Meet Generals to Discuss the Summer Campaign.

Geneva, via Paris, April 17.—According to reports which reached Basel from Berlin and Vienna, Emperor William has ordered the principal German generals and also some of the Austrian commanders to meet him in a general conference in order to discuss the coming summer campaign.

The meeting, it is said, will be held within the next few days, either at Cologne or Berlin. Two Austrian archdukes will attend. One of the chief questions will be that of stopping the Russian army from entering Budapest. The situation in Austria is said to be considered serious.

Other reports reaching Basel are that the Serbian campaign has been abandoned and that both Germany and Austria have refused to send Turkey further military aid, especially in heavy guns, ammunition and officers, saying that they were required at home.

* * *

Many Americans, it is asserted, are leaving Germany, especially women and children. Those who have arrived here say they were impelled to depart because they were mistaken for English persons and insulted.

VERDICT FOR DEFENSE IN DAMAGE ACTION.

It took a jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court only thirty minutes yesterday afternoon to decide that Mabel Cherry was not entitled to recover $5,000 or any other sum from the Mesaba Electric Railway company for injuries alleged to have been sustained when an electric car on which she was riding was derailed between Buhl and Mountain Iron.

Mrs. Cherry was riding on the front end of the car with the conductor. She declared that the motorman allowed the conductor to run the car and that as a result of his inexperience, the accident occurred.

Evidence was adduced on the part of the defense that the claim was settled by the company several days after the accident and that Mrs. Cherry received $200 in full settlement of her claim. A release signed by her was exhibited in court.

LOSS OF APPETITE

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious.

It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get from your druggist today. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich red blood the digestive organs need.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When your fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. "Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The weak spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only know how, this trouble can be obviated.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would any pill, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and throw off the poisons which are making you old before your time. They will quickly relieve those stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall-stones, gravel, "brick-dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept no substitutes.

CATHOLIC CHURCH WILL TRY TO CHECK SPREAD OF IRRELIGION WITH NOON MEETINGS AT THE LYCEUM THEATER

REV. EDWARD J. MULLALY.

The noted Paulist missionary, Rev. Edward J. Mullaly of Chicago, will give a series of noon-day lectures at the Lyceum theater the coming week from Monday, April 19, until Saturday, April 24, on religion in general and the beliefs and teachings of the Catholic church in particular. Duluth people will remember with pleasure the three weeks mission given last fall by Fathers Mullaly and McGrath, one week of which was devoted to lectures for non-Catholics.

Recently Father Mullaly closed a month's mission in one of the prominent churches of Chicago. During the last week he has been giving a series of lectures for non-Catholics at the Sacred Heart auditorium in Superior and during the coming week will also conduct a mission for the English-speaking Italian people of the city in their church at Twelfth avenue west and First street.

The Catholic laymen of the city appreciating the earnest work to revive faith among men started by Dr. M. S. Rice and Rev. J. W. Hoffman of the First M. E. church in their public lectures have seized upon the occasion of Father Mullaly's return to Duluth, to assist this work in their turn and at the same time afford many fair-minded and earnest people an opportunity of correcting any misunderstandings of Catholic teaching which they may entertain.

During the last few years so much literature antagonistic to the Catholic church has been circulated throughout the country that it has seemed to them a duty of Christian charity to present to the people of Duluth authoritative statements regarding what the church is and what it believes and practices.

All of the lectures will be explanatory and not controversial. The most prominent Catholic laymen in the city are sponsors for this movement, which they have undertaken only in a spirit of Christian charity. Rt. Rev. James McGolrick has given his hearty sanction to this movement and will preside at the meetings.

In speaking of the lectures, Bishop McGolrick said:

"So many sincere and fair-minded people have been given erroneous impressions of the Catholic church during the last few years, and irreligion is growing so prevalent among men, that I am very glad to sanction this opportunity which the Catholic laymen of the city have taken to correct these misunderstandings and to combat the current indifference in regard to religious matters. Indeed it seems to me to be a duty which we owe to our fellow citizens to explain to them our beliefs and to show them that the church instead of being a menace to American institutions is really the firmest support of civilization and free institutions. I heartily sanction this movement and hope that the lectures will be largely attended."

The lectures will be as follows:

Monday—"Reason and Religion."
Tuesday—"The Divinity of Christ."
Wednesday—"The Catholic Church."
Thursday—"Religious Intolerance."
Friday—"Confession and the Confessional."
Saturday—"Why I am a Catholic."

Musical numbers preceding the lecture will begin at 12:10 p. m. and the lecture will close at 12:50 p. m. sharp.

HANDSOME RESIDENCE IN BRICK

The design presented to The Herald readers this week is a little different than the ordinary homes erected in this city. The interior is well arranged, making it a very convenient home to live in. The exterior, which is carried up in brick, presents a beautiful appearance, with its sloping roof, and the columns distributed around the porches. This house would cost about $8,000 to build.

If You Want a Home

AND HE SAYS HE "PAID."

Four years ago there was one man in Chicago whose name was considered synonymous with the combination of the words "ambitious, honest, industrious and successful." He had saved and worked and sacrificed to get the chance to study law. He made that chance finally, and made good; was admitted to the Illinois bar; went through the first hardships of the young attorney, and got to the place where he could point confidently to a growing clientele.

His name was Ignatius J. Chileski, and he "was the kind of man other men—especially working men—trust," says the Chicago News, which also quotes public opinion of that time to the effect that "his success was due to his industry, his good habits and his temperance."

Other men trusted him so implicitly that they brought their money to him to keep for them, and these deposits got so numerous that he finally opened a private bank in which to handle them. Then they grew more rapidly, and by 1911 he had something like a hundred thousand dollars on deposit in his bank, and he gained wider and wider recognition as a man of unusual capabilities and absolute trustworthiness.

One day he was missing, and the bank closed. Search for Chileski was vain, but it wasn't necessary to search for creditors of the bank. They came forward without hesitation, and the books finally showed that the whole hundred thousand had been wiped out by race track and grain market gambling. It was all gone, both his own money and that he had held in trust for others.

Chileski was traced to South America and lost. Later the trail was picked up and followed to Africa, where it was again lost until chance led to its rediscovery where it led into Asia. There the search was kept up until it was reported that the fugitive, fearing capture, had killed himself, and then both the police and his family gave up trying to find him.

The suicide report was wrong, and Chileski finally managed to get back to Chicago, where he went under the name of Joseph Wagner. He tried by one means and another to regain his lost wealth, but one expedient after another failed and finally he fell a victim to tuberculosis. It was when he lay dying in the Cook county hospital that he told who he was, and added:

> Tell my old friends that I paid for my folly with my life. * * * Gambling did it all.

He did not "pay," no matter what bitterness may have come to him in the years of his wandering and fear of capture. He did not pay in the failure of his schemes for rehabilitation after his secret return. He did not pay in the slow death from a dread disease, nor in the knowledge that while he lay helpless, those whom he loved were not far away, and would have hastened to him had they only known.

What was there to pay for? A few dollars misused? No! The things to be paid for were the violated confidences of men who trusted him with their entire substance; the distress, mental and material, that came from the wiping out of their savings; the blow to characters that came from his betrayal of unqualified faith in him. Could his lone sufferings make up for those of even one family of father and mother and children robbed by his selfish act? Absurd!

Chileski suffered both mentally and physically. He lost friends, reputation, family, health, wealth—everything. And he says he "paid."

He did not pay. Perhaps there is some expiation for him still to make, though human thought cannot conceive of anything that would seem adequate in such a case as his. But he thought he paid, and in that thought is revealed something of the suffering he went through. And that should be an effective warning to others who may be tempted to follow his example in the betrayal of trust.

T. R. must be getting foolish in his old age. Here he is sneering at the women's peace efforts. Doesn't he realize that the women back of that movement will be voting in a few years?

SWATTING FLIES.

What's the use of swatting flies? You hit one over the head and he keels over, kicks once or twice, and lies still. And by the time you have made sure of the effectiveness of that swat there are two other flies on the wall or the ceiling or the table, and in a vain effort to get them both at one smash you don't get either of them, and from then on they are wise to your game and you can't get within reach of them.

If you stop your calculations right there, the swatting business looks like a poor speculation. But if you persist in the swatting for a few minutes and then look, not at the number of flies left, but at those that have crossed the great divide, you can see some advantage in the swatting.

But there is something better than swatting flies, and that is to swat the places where the flies breed. Old piles of refuse of any kind are fly incubators, and they work without any of the fuss that is needed to make a success out of the conduct of an ordinary chicken incubator. And every time you swat a refuse pile out of existence you make certain that there will be about a billion less flies in that neighborhood this year than there would have been if the refuse had stayed there.

If you don't know anything about the things a fly can do in the way of carrying filth and dirt and disease, ask the first few people you meet about it, and they will probably be able to give you some facts of interest. The anti-fly propaganda has been pushed hard in the last few years, and is being pushed hard today. But there is always the element of human forgetfulness and indifference to contend with, and so by asking your neighbor about flies you may not only get much new information yourself, but you'll stir his memory and maybe get him into action.

It's a little early to swat flies yet, but this is just the time to swat the fly incubators, and the wise person will get action in that respect right off. It's an interesting and profitable way to get rid of the pests by millions and billions instead of in the old, expensive, retail sort of way.

Sort o' sultry in Elba these days.

WOMEN, POLITICS AND PEANUTS.

Day after day brings new signs of the progress of the cause of suffrage. From being a vain dream of the "advanced" class of women, it has grown into "the cause" of several million women the world over, and even the swarthy belles of Hawaii are now said to be ringing the changes on the subject.

With this steady progress come also fresh signs of the fitness of women for the extension of the franchise. Chicago furnishes the latest example, in the effort of Mrs. Etta Moe Free to roll a peanut around the city hall as the result of an election bet. She finally had to give it up because the onlookers crowded around so close that she couldn't get room, and besides they got her nervous for fear, she said, somebody might step on the peanut.

It has been supposed that men were not in danger of losing the prerogative of making fool election bets, but it appears that notion was a mistake. Mrs. Free was so confident that Schweitzer would be elected mayor that she made the peanut-rolling proposition, and other women may easily become just as positive regarding other matters. Of course it isn't likely they'll vow not to shave or not to have their hair cut in case of losing, but there are plenty of things they could do; and if they run short of fool ideas they can trust the men to supply some.

Of course there are a lot of folks who will see in Mrs. Free's appearance at the Chicago city hall, wearing her white sombrero, white coat and skirt and white Russian boots with red trimmings, and carrying the regulation peanut, a mighty argument against suffrage. They should remember that men who pay fool bets don't often present even as attractive an appearance as that. And if woman's entrance into politics is to bring about even a little improvement in the fool bet business, then the sooner she makes that entrance, the better.

Billy Sunday is warning his hearers against the dangers of kissing. It's a piece of advice that doesn't come creditably from a married man.

THE SERBIAN PLAGUE.

It ought not to need the exhortations of scientists to arouse all America to the need of helping to the utmost in the fight against typhus fever in Serbia. Even with the little communication now existing between that and other countries, there is opportunity for the transmission of the disease; and the great transmissive power of the epidemic, combined with its fearfully high percentage of fatality, makes it a world menace.

Little is seen of typhus fever in this country—and we want to know nothing at all about it from actual experience. The dictionary defines it as "a contagious continued fever lasting from two to three weeks, attended with great prostration and cerebral disorder, and marked by a copious eruption of red spots on the body. Also called jail fever, famine fever, putrid fever, spotted fever, etc."

More extended accounts of it tell of the tissue-destroying power of the continuing high temperature of the body; the physical helplessness at certain stages, and the maniacal delirium at others. Organic troubles of serious nature are said to be natural heritages of survivors of typhus fever, and it is reported that even in cases where the patient seemed to be well on the road to recovery, the fever has been found to lead to other deadly sicknesses. The fact that the death rate in the city of Nish alone, with a population of only a little over twenty-four thousand, reached more than four hundred a day, illustrates the fearful mortality of the fever.

We don't want any typhus fever on this side the Atlantic, and there is no better way to make sure that it doesn't get over here than to stop it where it is. American doctors and nurses already are making the greatest personal sacrifices in the work, and others are needed, and are responding to the need. But these alone cannot accomplish the immense task. It calls for supplies, and supplies cost money. Americans who can spare funds to aid in this work could hardly put the money to better use than to help check this fearful scourge where it is. Such efforts are not only humane, but are an act of self protection as well.

Probably there is no real neutrality in baseball.

HELP THE POULTRY SHOWS.

It is to be hoped that the annual poultry show appropriations will not be allowed to go by default by the legislature, as has seemed possible. These appropriations are not large, and there can be no doubt of the fact that the money goes to help a good cause.

Poultry and eggs form an important part of the food supply of the people, and every legitimate means should be taken to encourage work along the lines of this production. One of the best of these means is the conducting of well arranged and well managed poultry exhibitions in the different parts of the state, and it is to help these exhibitions that the appropriations have always been made. There is considerably more work and expense involved in exhibits of this kind than in those in which inanimate objects are displayed, and so it is essential to the continuance of such exhibitions that there be some financial aid for them, and the state is looked to for that aid.

One caution might be given to the poultry show managers, however, and that is to guard against giving space and attention too largely to fanciers who consider "perfect coloring" and "standard" shapes above utility features. Fanciers breed more attractive appearing birds than do most other people, to be sure; but there is a value in the purely utility flock that ought to be generously recognized.

How would it suit those thirty-three thousand British women who volunteered for emergency work if they were to be set to washing dishes?

A LITERARY PREDICTION.

It seems like a reasonably safe prediction that when the fiction based on the present war shall have been written, some of the best of it, and some of the best sellers, too, will have to do with the thus far insignificant war on the sea.

To the person of imagination there has been a mass of material for interesting speculation as to details, in spite of the lack of great and thrilling engagements of war craft. Indeed, this lack has been one of the most effective stimulants for such mental exercise, for it has afforded the picture of great fleets or small squadrons cruising day after day and even month after month, sometimes almost within touch of an enemy, but either avoiding contact or foiled in efforts to reach the foe.

Then there were the raids and counter raids, against the perils of air ships and submarines, and the running of blockades of protecting craft.

But most prolific of all, probably, will be the exploits of such craft as the Emden, the Prinz Eitel Friedrich and the Kronprinz Wilhelm, this latter but a day or two in port for the first time in 255 days.

Of the three, the story of the Kronprinz Wilhelm tickles the imagination the most, for while the others were more adapted to the species of warfare they carried on, this vessel was really a merchant ship when she left port, and was reborn into a ship of war while actually at sea. Two three-inch guns she obtained from a German cruiser, but her two four-inch guns were taken by force from the enemy, and her crew were compelled to manufacture the ammunition for them.

The enemy, too, furnished the Kronprinz Wilhelm with coal—she got twenty thousand tons from captured ships during her voyage, we are told. And there is the matter of the uniforms. As the vessel entered an American port her crew were found outfitted with neat, blue-gray uniforms—an odd color for Germans to be wearing. But the matter was explained when it was found that among the ships captured and sunk was a French vessel with a cargo of that sort of cloth. And from this cargo the men on the German ship made a new outfit for all on board. Shoes, leather and other things also were found on the French ship.

Fourteen ships in all were sunk by the Kronprinz Wilhelm in her 255 days at sea without entering any port. Some were shot through and through and went down; some were blown up by bombs and there were even cases when it was found necessary to ram the ships—the reason why is not explained in the early stories.

At the very last comes another thrill: The Kronprinz Wilhelm was told by wireless of the Prinz Eitel's entrance to an American port, and stood off the coast awaiting the outcome. There were four hostile warships in the neighborhood, but the German evaded them all, though for a time "they were so close that the sputtering of the wireless on the British and French warships could be heard, about 3 o'clock in the morning." Then came the order to go into port, and the long, strange cruise was over.

Watch the fiction writers. They will never overlook a bet like this.

The fishing fever may hit harder than the garden fever, but it doesn't pay as well.

ALL ABOARD!

Come on, everybody, young and old, fat and thin, slow and spry, big and little; unlimber your artillery and put on your old gray bonnets; jump into the tonneau or hang onto the outriggers, and let's get started for the fishing grounds while the season is yet young.

Pity good old Ike Walton isn't along. Not that he could give us any pointers on the game. Oh no, nothing like that! But it would be sort of fun to see the old chap working with the modern tackle, that's all. Ten to one he'd foozle his putt before he managed even to steal second, and would be caught napping between bases half the time if he ever did manage to tap out a daisy-cutter to the suburban corners. Or he might even lose his stroke half down the course.

But Ike isn't here, and we've got the way all our own. There may be a few bad looking hazards on the gridiron, but we should worry about those. Our little rig will ramble right along from one pool to another, and every time one of us yells "Fore!" the rest will know he's worked either a lawford or an in-shoot for another little slumber hook to the jaw.

Really, there isn't anything like this fishing game for getting a fellow out in the fresh air and close to nature. You ship the caddy ahead with the lunch and a fresh library of flies, and the rest of the time is your own. A good drive that drops the shiny thing fair on the course gives the day a fine start, and by the time it's really sun-up you are driving them across the net with the regularity of a well-oiled jitney, and not caring whether the next stone has to be swept in or not.

And when you finish the set, with a safe score and the pennant cinched, you can light your brier while the other fellows clean the catch and get supper ready, and you won't care a hang whether the tip is on the cue or the ponies.

Of course there are tough days, too, when the decisions all go against you and the ball insists on being sideswiped so as to draw off into the bleachers instead of the pool. But a real good sport isn't worried by such trifles, and even if the tire goes flat in the stretch and he has to pound around the last turn with a pebble in one shoe and a loosened spike sticking through the other, he'll do his best to cross the goal line in creditable shape and in time to yell "Muggins" before the final frame.

A Chicago zoo keeper, fearing a pet snake would die because of its refusal to eat, pumped forty pounds of hamburger into the reptile. And here we thought the days of grub-steaking were over and gone.

SOME SPARE TIME OCCUPATIONS.

A little cleaning—painting, too—will make a place look good as new. And it doesn't take such a lot of time, you know, if you just do it in odd moments. Take half an hour while you are waiting for your evening meal, and you can clean up a space maybe ten feet square, and never feel the exertion at all. Then, when you look at that and then at the rest of the yard, you will be perfectly willing to spend another half hour or maybe three-quarters of an hour in the same kind of work, after you have eaten.

And painting—of course it is a good deal of a job to paint a house. But did it ever occur to you that you don't have to do it all at once? That all you have to do at a time is a space maybe three feet long and as wide as a paint brush? And that, you know, is no job at all.

It's hard to get started at these things, to be sure, and that is what keeps a lot of folks from doing them. But if you make it a spare time job, and figure it out on that basis, you can work up a computation that will make you eager to get at it. For instance, say you can do five streaks a minute with a brush, then you can easily figure out the size of the streaks, and the number of them it would take for one side of the house, and how many spare minutes you could put in at it if you would, and get at a nice little calcualtion that way.

Foolish? Not a bit. Just compare it with the way some of these fishing fiends figure out what they can do with one fly, or the way a golf enthusiast will work over a theory to put a crimp in the bogey, or the way a poultry amateur will estimate the egg production and count his chickens, not only before they're hatched, but before the hens have begun to lay.

But the proof of the pudding is in the eating, and while we wouldn't for a minute suggest that you eat paint, we would throw out a hint to the effect that if you will just cultivate this painting bug a little bit you will find yourself getting real enthusiastic over it. Maybe you'll like it so well that you'll get to changing the color of your house a couple of times a season, just because you like to put the stuff on. Who can tell?

What would really surprise people would be a statement from Taft that he would support anybody but Roosevelt.

OF COURSE IT PAYS.

There aren't many people in this enlightened age who will even try to dispute the proposition that advertising pays. But once in a while you come across an incident that emphasizes the fact strikingly. For instance, the Brooklyn Eagle publishes a report that, by spending six hundred dollars in newspaper advertising, the churches of Newburgh, N. Y., developed an increase of fifteen hundred dollars in collections.

Apparently people who were accustomed to seeing and forgetting the regular Sunday service notices, got the impression that churches that got away from the old form and adopted up-to-date methods were live enough to be worth going to and supporting.

Advertising pay? Of course it does.

Mayor Konkel of Superior says the saloons and churches have combined forces to get him out of office. Must be Silver Joe has been trying to be neutral.

SOWING HISTORICAL WHIRLWINDS.

On another page of this paper will be found an article by Mr. F. W. Fitzpatrick, entitled "Peace," and in which Mr. Fitzpatrick takes a substantial fall out of the system by which we din into the ears of youth the glory and fame of warlike deeds, only to decry later the natural tendencies of such training as wicked or immoral.

Mr. Fitzpatrick has a way of seeing through things that others accept as established facts, and this time he makes his vision strikingly clear. He would have us, for example, stop emphasizing war in our teaching of history, and put the emphasis on examples more worthy of emulation. To quote a part of one of his paragraphs:

> If it happens that someone in your family has committed a crime, you may not be able to hush it up, you may have to admit the facts, but you'll not swell out your chest and proudly proclaim that shameful story from the housetop. Keep that fact in mind and re-write your histories in the same spirit. Humbly acknowledge that war is a crime, a loathsome crime, admit that you had wars, that in other and less civilized times you unfortunately had to resort to arms. It was too bad. It was a shame. You are sorry it was so. But treat the subject as you would treat a record you had to write of that other crime; get through with the recital as quickly as possible and dwell at greater length upon pleasanter subjects.

Why isn't that idea right? Aren't we making a mistake in subordinating the arts of peace to the arts of war in our teaching of the story of human and national progress? To be sure the book of Judges follows the war-record system, but that does not make it necessary that we do the same. Would it not be better for our children and our country if we emphasized the sane and wholesome features instead of the sanguinary and destructive ones?

Mr. Fitzpatrick asks that the people think about this suggestion. It is well worth thinking about—and acting upon. It would revolutionize history teaching, and it might go a long way toward revolutionizing national ideals and policies.

Informed the "Stranger."

Los Angeles Times: An old Irish woman who kept a small fruit stand in Dublin was displaying for sale a few watermelons which had been given her. A smart fellow, wishing to take a rise out of her, took up one of the lot, observing: "These are tarnation small apples you grow over here—now in America we have them twice this size."

The woman slowly removed the dhudeen she was smoking from between her lips and coolly surveyed her inquirer from head to foot for a second or two. Then in a tone of pity she exclaimed:

"Be jabbers, sorr, ye must be a sthranger in Oireland and know virry little about the fruit av our counthry when ye can't tell apples from gooseberries."

Seeing America First

By Fred C. Kelly.

Still more from diary:

Los Angeles is the most perplexing city in America—simply because it is the hotbed of the moving picture industry. Most of the moving pictures you see were made in or near Los Angeles. The consequence of this is that the visitor never knows whether he is looking at the sure-enough or the make-believe. It may be the real thing and then again it may be only the reel thing. Yesterday I saw a squadron of fire engines and ladder wagons dash down the street. But I did not bother to go to the fire. For how was I to know that it was not just a moving picture outfit?

No matter what direction you turn, in roaming about Los Angeles, you come upon clumps of actor folk depicting weird scenes. Twice within an hour, one afternoon, I thumped my chest and declared my intention of leaping from the automobile and rushing to the rescue of beautiful maidens in distress. But each time I was assured that the villains pursuing these flaxen-headed maidens along the roadside were merely the Jack Daltons of the films.

In the course of a short automobile ride through a stretch of country within ten miles of Los Angeles I was an eye-witness to the following astonishing sights:

A young girl bossing a gang of workmen building a stretch of highway.

A seven-passenger touring car filled with rather attractive women wearing tights—the way people do in the automobile advertisements in some magazines.

Two cowboys delivering a handcuffed Indian to a farmer.

A sultan, accompanied by a bunch of slaves, en route to a tiger hunt.

It requires a week or two in Los Angeles to grow accustomed to seeing each day dozens of occurrences, any one of which would doubtless cause a riot anywhere else. At the railway station one morning I saw two men, one in evening dress and the other in modified clown costume, struggling for the possession of an ordinary paving brick. Yet they attracted comparatively little attention. It seemed to be generally understood by all bystanders that the two were merely movie persons. Even regular residents of Los Angeles say, however, that they do not become entirely immune to shocks. Every now and then they are about to yell police, when they stop to think that what appears to be a murder or a burglary is simply a scene from a two-reel thriller.

It is said that more than 15,000 persons, actors, directors and other employes are engaged in the moving picture industry about Los Angeles. There are more than a score of producing studios in the city and immediate locality—all attracted by the ten months of clear sky.

* * *

I have heard so many favorable reports in Los Angeles about the Los Angeles summer climate, that I am half inclined to believe they may be true—some of them. After going through a rather hot day in March, I inquired:

"What will it be in August?"

Whereupon I was assured that either last year or the year before, I forget now which, the hottest day of the year occurred in March. On further inquiry I satisfied myself that this was true. Thus it appears that one must not be too incredulous of things people have to say about the weather.

I even believe a Los Angeles man when he tells me the nights are always cool—sleep under blankets. I have heard men and women complaining of the heat an hour before sunset and of the cold an hour afterward.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintus, the Sunshine Man.

O rare, sweet autumn days that linger still,
And softly pass, with slow, regretful tread,
The while my awakened vision heavenward turns:
Such uttermost content breathes in the air,
As though the golden gates had flown ajar,
And blessedness, and light, and love come through!
As though once more the earth her Sabbath kept,
And God, who saw, called all things "very good."

"And the manna ceased on the morrow after they had eaten of the old corn of the land."—Josh. v, 12.

My God, Thou dost not send to me as to Elijah celestial messengers of sustenance, but terrestrial messengers. Thou sendest the revolving seasons of nature, the love of human hearts, the influence of vanished lives. Thou wilt not feed my weak brother with streams of miraculous manna, lest thereby Thou shouldst take from me the nourishment of being his keeper. The supernatural manna has failed, so that through the helpfulness of the human heart, Thy love, O Father, now distributes the old corn of the land.—From "Day Unto Day."

The little sharp vexations,
And the briars that catch and fret,
Why not take all to the Helper
Who has never failed us yet?
Tell Him about the heartache,
And tell Him the longings, too;
Tell Him the baffled purpose
When we scarce know what to do;
Then, leaving all our weakness
With the One divinely strong,
Forget that we bore the burden,
And carry away the song.
—Phillips Brooks.

Dayton, Ohio.

Chesterfieldian Baseballist.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: "Safe," remarked the umpire.

"I beg your parion, sir," remonstrated the player. The nine walked where the umpire was standing.

"Pardon our protest," they said gently, "but perforce, we must disagree with you. In our humble judgment, the ball was in the hands of the baseman one-fifth of a second before the player reached base."

"I regret that I must disagree with you, gentleman," said the umpire. "I must accept the evidence of my own senses, but I assure you that only a stern sense of duty compels me to refuse your courteous request for a change in my decision."

Of course, this never happened, but as the product of a highly sensitized imagination, it certainly ranks in the fore front.

Her Method.

Washington Star: "Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Terkins, "what is the initiative and referendum?"

"Why, it would take me half an hour to explain it."

"Well, maybe you won't have to explain it all. But baby is so restless, and he always quiets down when you get to talking."

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

A deal has been closed in New York within the last two weeks which means the expenditure of about $12,000,000 in the neighborhood of Duluth. A number of New York capitalists have agreed to finance the Minnesota Canal company, taking its bonds for the amount furnished. The company, of which Henry Curtis Spalding, an engineer of wide experience, is president, proposes to build a canal to bring the waters of the St. Louis river to Duluth for the consumption of the city and for power, and also to build another canal to the east, taking in all the streams which feed Lake Superior and bringing them in the waterway to Duluth. Expert engineers, after examining the plans, have reported favorably, and as a result the money needed will be forthcoming. Power here now costs at least $25 per horse power per year. The Minnesota Canal company is under contract to furnish it for $15, cheaper than it can be obtained anywhere else.

A suit to annul the franchise of the Ashland, Wis., water company has been taken to the supreme court by Dr. W. T. Rhinehart, city health commissioner, on the ground that the company is furnishing insufficient and impure water at exorbitant rates. The water company values the plant at $200,000, and the annual income from water rates is about $50,000.

Mayor Starkweather of Superior took his office yesterday and nominated John A. Kelly for city clerk and Myron Reed for city attorney. Both were confirmed by the council and Mr. Reed appointed P. H. Perkins as assistant attorney.

The tailors in Duluth are out on a strike. The scale of wages paid has been from $6.50 to $12.50 for coats and from $1.50 to $1.75 for trousers. The men demand from $7.40 to $14.65 for coats and from $2.10 to $2.35 for trousers. The increase is refused by the employers.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 38; maximum yesterday, 44; minimum yesterday, 36.

The bill abolishing the West Duluth municipal court passed both branches of the legislature yesterday and now awaits the governor's signature, which is certain to be given.

Gen. Henry Capehart of Fargo, N. D., died yesterday after a brief illness. He was the father of Mrs. J. C. Robinson of Duluth, who has been with him for four or five weeks. Gen. Capehart was born in Pennsylvania and was a classmate of James G. Blaine. He was a brigadier-general in command of a cavalry division at Appomattox when Gen. Lee surrendered, and he owned the chair on which Gen. Grant sat when he signed the terms of peace.

Arthur G. Drake of Westfield, N. J., has been engaged as organist and director of music at Pilgrim Congregational church. It is the intention to have a large choir, probably of forty voices.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

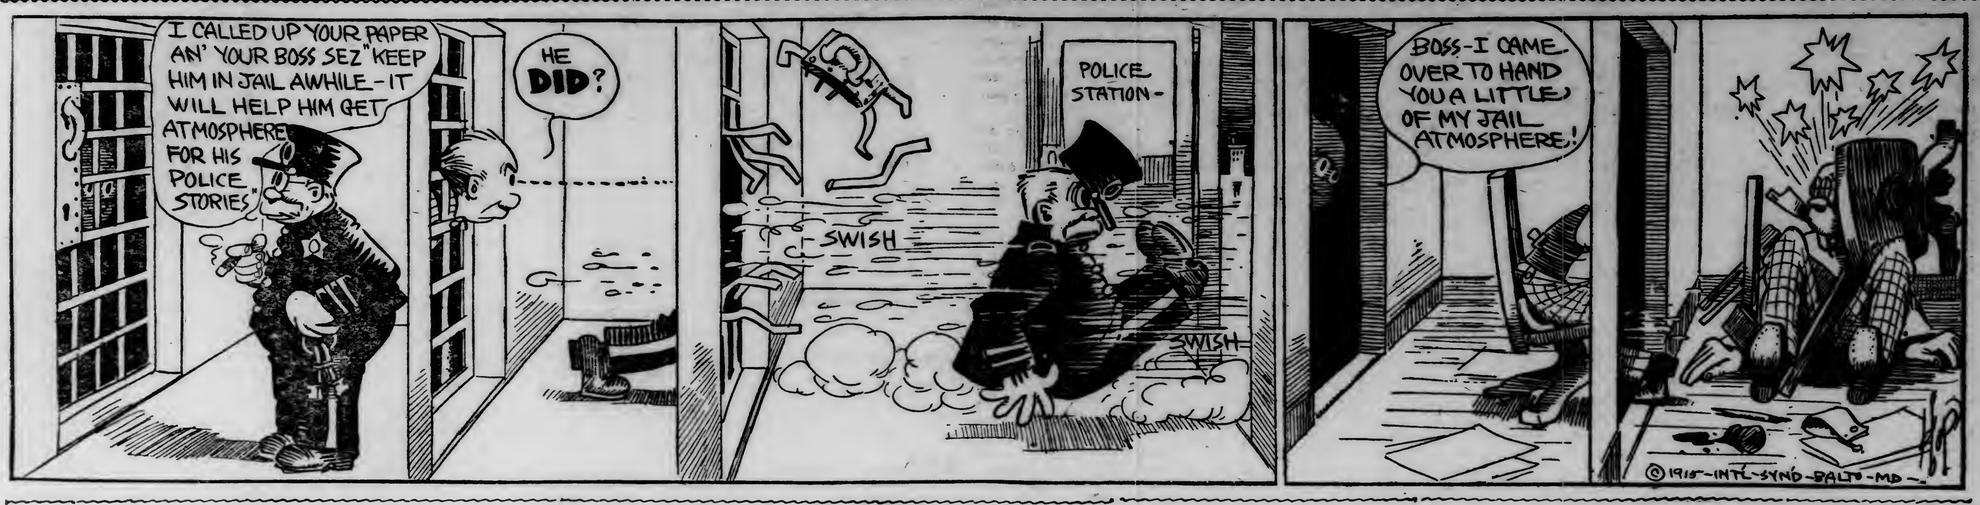
The Law of Compensation.

It is related of Phillips Brooks that, sitting in his study one day and seeing a laborer pass, swinging his dinner pail, the great preacher remarked: "I suppose that fellow thinks I have a very easy time in here; but I confess on my part that I often envy him his freedom from care." One man had a small wage, hard work in rain or sunshine, long hours, and few social responsibilities. The other had a comfortable salary, a spacious house, books, culture, and the constant care of a great parish. Each might have picked out attractions in the situation of the other.

If we look carefully at the lots of men the law of compensation will be apparent. No one of us has all that is difficult or all that is desirable. There are in our environment hard and galling facts of which our neighbor has no experience—but we have joys of which likewise he is ignorant. We look with envy at certain evident advantages that our neighbor enjoys, but if we could see other hidden disadvantages it may be that we should recoil at the prospect.

A rich man may have a heavily stocked larder, but it is by no means certain that he has appetite or digestion to match. A crust of bread and real hunger is a better combination than stalled ox and satiety. A sheltered and easy life is to be discounted if accompanied by insomnia. Few people covet laborious days, but at least the sleep of a laboring man is sweet.

As a matter of fact the materials of happiness are much less unevenly distributed in this world than we imagine. A sort of evening up process is at work balancing the elements of pain and pleasure among the sons of men. If the grass grows a little thicker and greener in the next field the chances are that it is not so sweet there.



There is a great difference in people as to their power to enjoy. One has many things and another only a few, but the second man may have greater spiritual resources, greater power of enjoyment. One bee must roam the whole field for honey that another can extract from a single flower. Little Jimmy Sudds, with a few spools and a piece of string, may have a better time than little Percy Rocks, with many costly products of the toy shop about him. In this regard men are but children of a larger growth. There is a kindly provision of nature by which the balance of happiness is preserved. More generally than we think this distribution of the bane and the blessing of life reduces to the familiar but philosophical formula, "Six of one and half a dozen of the other."

If compensation is a law of life it is well for us to recognize it. Let us cease groaning over the dark spots and pick out the bright ones. If the balance seems to have swung against us let us seek those elements that even the matter up. Let us not depreciate or underestimate the other fellow's blessings, but let us appreciate and exalt our own. If our good things are few let us make the most and the best of them. Intensive methods may be applied to other pursuits than farming.

"I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content," declares the Apostle. There is always something to be thankful for in the most dismal situation. The vacuum of lack or loss may be filled if the tide gates of life are not kept shut and bolted. The divine purpose is not to give us poverty and death, but to give us life, and that abundantly.

CANDIDATE KNOX

By SAVOYARD

Washington, April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Boies Penrose first proclaimed "a business administration" a la Aldrich-Hanna. Elihu Root echoed him and here comes Philander C. Knox who says "ditto" to Root. Knox and Root are eminent corporation lawyers and Penrose is a powerful political boss. It is notorious that Mr. Knox is a candidate for president, and Mr. Root is acting like a man with the presidential bee buzzing in his bonnet. Root cannot run without the assent of Boss Penrose, and Knox would fade away under the frown of Boss Penrose. Knox has been a receptive candidate for president ever since 1901, when Mark Hanna drafted him from the service of the corporations in Pennsylvania to be attorney general in McKinley's cabinet.

But there is another candidate in Pennsylvania for the Republican nomination for president—Governor Brumbaugh—and it is the first time the Keystone state ever had two candidates for the Republican nomination. You see a boss has need for but one candidate in a national convention from his own state. Since the creation of the Republican party Pennsylvania has had four political bosses—Simon Cameron, Don Cameron, Matt Quay and Boies Penrose.

And here is how they generally managed it. Where there was a real contest in the national convention Pennsylvania always had a favorite son who got her vote till the boss saw which way the cat was going to jump. Thus in 1860 Pennsylvania "presented" old Simon Cameron and voted for him until Lincoln got the upper hand, when Pennsylvania cast her vote solidly for the victor. In 1864, 1868 and 1872 there was no contest in the Republican national conventions.

But in 1876 Don Cameron, who had succeeded his daddy as boss, played about as slick a game as was ever pulled off in American tricky politics and by it defeated Blaine for the nomination. At least 70 per cent of the Republican party was for Blaine, and he was very nearly as strong in Pennsylvania, his native state, as in Maine, where he lived. But Cameron had a governor, a Gen. Hartranft, and he insisted on casting the vote of the state for that favorite son, and it was accordingly done. A majority of the delegation wanted to vote for Blaine and notified the boss that they would do so; but Cameron extorted a pledge from them to stand by Hartranft till his vote declined. So he went to the enemies of Blaine, explained the situation, and they loaned him votes to steadily augment the vote of Hartranft, whose strength gradually increased. It started with fifty-eight votes on the first ballot and reached seventy-one on the fourth. By this time the work had been done and Hayes was nominated on the seventh.

We may be sure of one thing—Boss Barnes and Boss Penrose will head their respective delegations in the next Republican convention. There will be a perfect understanding between them. They will coalesce as closely and as cordially as ever did Boss Platt and Boss Quay, who nominated Ben Harrison for president in 1888 in a convention that was on its head to nominate Blaine. They would have nominated Chauncey Depew had they dared. Finally they selected Harrison after a minute inspection of Gresham and Allison.

In 1916 Boss Barnes will have a favorite son, Root most likely, Wadsworth possibly, to whom he will throw the vote of New York. Penrose will have another favorite son; it may be Knox and it may be Brumbaugh to whom he will throw the vote of Pennsylvania. And so they will ballot until trades are made and the stampede ordered. Then the votes of New York and Pennsylvania will be cast solidly for the one agreed upon. It will not be Knox, it will not be Brumbaugh. But for his age I would bet on Root. Burton is too able and too respectable for the bosses, and so is Mann. They may take Herrick; Willis is too impossible. They may take Fairbanks; Watson is even more impossible than Willis. Yet what if the impossible should happen and Roosevelt should sweep the platter! Stranger things have happened and if he should have the Progressive and Prohibition nominations with their 3,000,000 votes already secured, he will be an awful dangerous man in the Republican national convention of 1916, and don't you forget it.

If it were a decent party there would be but one name before the convention—William Howard Taft.

In view of the lawsuit between Roosevelt and Barnes and the cussing Teddy gave Penrose in all his orations of last year, it appears strange that a same man would think of Roosevelt as the leader of the Republicans in 1916. But your boss accepts the philosophy of Talleyrand—"treat your friends as though they must some day be your enemies and treat your enemies as though they would some day be your friends." And Col. Roosevelt has never hesitated to make up with an enemy when it promised to fetch grist to his mill.

Mr. Whitman, of whom so much was said in eulogy last fall, seems to have shot his bolt. He is a hopeless failure as governor of New York and no longer considered as a formidable factor in national politics. Mr. Weeks of Massachusetts appears to have his lightning rod up, but as it now looks it is Root or Teddy.

Cummins and Borah will have to renew their faith at the mourners' bench and there bring forth fruits meet for repentance. La Follette will likely be in the Democratic ranks where he belongs.

PEACE

By F. W. Fitzpatrick.

We believed that civilization and high ideals and commercial interdependence had progressed so far that any really serious misunderstanding was next to impossible; some nations built up such vast armaments and armies that there were those of us who believed no one would dare to put that terrific machinery in motion; some of us placed our dependence upon arbitration at The Hague Tribunal; some advocated a great Peace City; others even dreamed of a "United States of the World," and all those dreams and visions came to naught. We're in the vortex of the greatest, most uncalled-for, bloody and savage war in the history of man. Seemingly nearly all the nations of the earth have reverted to barbarism, the human race gone mad. So far virtually we are the only great nation not right in it or on the brink of that war. How much longer we may keep out of it is largely a question of luck as well as of management.

And on the other hand we may (and probably will) be the most potent instrumentality in the at least temporary adjustment of differences and peace for a while, until the nations have gotten their "second wind," regained something in wealth and men and are ready to go at it with renewed vigor in perchance twenty or even ten years' time, when, undoubtedly—such seems the trend of things—this country too will be a participant. Already one-half of us are howling ourselves hoarse for an armament equal to any other country's, and that means eventually just one thing, that those in charge of that armament will not be able to resist the itch to try it out—upon suitable provocation, of course, or in the sequence of events that would make it desirable or profitable for us to use it in imposing our will upon the other fellow whom we may suppose is not quite as well prepared as we.

Don't think me so immodest as to claim authorship or proprietorship of some sure panacea for all international troubles, a peace project that is sure to work and stay put, but I do claim, together with very many others who have given the subject much thought and study, that unless our system of education and training of the young, especially in regard to history, is radically changed there will always continue to be war and, most likely, each succeeding war worse and bloodier than the last.

We can't change conditions by enactment, or, at least, not such a condition as that. We all know the real value of treaties and of the other "scraps of paper" and safeguards in which we had placed reliance. And we know how far along our Universal Peace projects have carried us. Those are all palliatives, helps, perhaps, but you're not getting very far with them.

To really eradicate war ultimately, and perhaps in but the remote ultimately you must keep the notion out of the heads of future generations, you must make it unfashionable, and nothing, absolutely nothing is being done in that direction now.

We perhaps are the most peaceable nation today. We pray for peace on Sundays and we subscribe liberally to peace funds, food and clothing to the war sufferers and all that, the while we are making guns and bullets for the warring tribes and even for those who may turn those weapons against our very selves a week or two from now. A rather poor example to set our children, but we not only sin by example but by precept.

In school are those children taught much about the heroism of discoverers, of travelers, of teachers, of the great ones in our commercial and social progress? Or are they filled to the "gunnells" with stories of war and the deeds of valor on the battlefields of ancient and of recent times? Our school histories are filled ad nauseam with tales of Antietam, of Valley Forge and the other bloody scenes of carnage where perhaps brother fought against brother, and the heroes of those histories are our Grants and Lees and the other leaders of troops; our capitol is filled with statues of soldiers and of sailors; war and the men who go down to war are apotheosized, deified; our girls go crazy over brass-buttoned youths; toddling babies have cocked hats and swords given them to play with and we tenderly foster and deem laudable the juvenile ambition to rig itself out in the trappings of war; our little army and navy really believe themselves and are accepted as the nation's aristocracy; default of a common, a foreign enemy, our boys fight among themselves and we think it all very amusing, praiseworthy, the proper and manly spirit, patriotism! War is in the air, we breathe it and are infected with it through and through and seem to glory in passing the vile disease on to posterity.

If it happens that someone in your family has committed a crime, you may not be able to hush it up, you may have to admit the facts, but you'll not swell out your chest and proudly proclaim that shameful story from the housetop. Keep that fact in mind and re-write your histories in the same spirit. Humbly acknowledge that war is a crime, a loathsome crime, admit that you had wars, that in other and less civilized times you unfortunately had to resort to arms. It was too bad, it was a shame. You are sorry it was so. But treat the subject as you would treat a record you had to write of that other crime; get through with the recital as quickly as possible and dwell at greater length upon pleasanter subjects. Don't glow and gloat over it and roll your victories around as you would sweet morsels in your mouth, don't pivot the whole blessed texture of your history on war and magnify it a thousandfold as we do now. Put a shovel or a hoe or a paint brush in your child's hand; relegate the gun, the sword, the whip to the scrap heap, burn them up. And soon the army will be looked upon as is the police, essential perhaps but not the height of all mundane ambition. Do this and the next generation will not be quite so warlike. Other nations will in time come to their senses and likewise realize the futility of war and will profit by our experience and endeavor to get the ideas out of the younger generation's mind. And in a generation or two afterwards the people will have forgotten war. Refrain from this timely action, this revamping of your histories and, spite of peace societies and propagandas and sermons ad lib, you'll have war and more war, for verily I say unto you, it is bred in the bone, our system is saturated with it.

Philpotts Again.

BRUNEL'S TOWER. By Eden Phillpotts. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50 net.

A pottery plant would be about the last place on earth in which the layman would look for material for a story, but Eden Phillpotts not only looked there, but found what he sought. And the story is given in this book with all the power that Phillpotts can put into his work—and that is a very great deal.

Humanity is the theme here, as in some of his earlier works. In "Faith Tresilion" he got away from the general run of his stories, and let his readers get glimpses of the sea. Now he is back in the moor country, and it is easy to imagine that one can detect a note of gladness and home-coming in his writings.

The story takes its name from an old, ruined tower which has been turned into a pottery works by a man who not only is an expert in that line, but who loves his trade. In the course of a few years he has built up a valuable trade, and has gathered about him men who are real specialists in the various processes of pottery making. What is more, they are real men, and you feel their humanity as you meet them, first gossiping and philosophizing over their lunch pails during the noon hour, and later in their work from day to day.

Into this community comes Harvey Porter, a runaway from a public institution that was supposed to make up to him in a measure the lack of a father and mother. Odds and ends of character have gone into Harvey's make-up, but the boy is in earnest, and he feels an attraction to Brunel's Tower and the work being done there. It takes some unusual methods to get him installed as a worker, for there is no real need of another hand at the pottery. But finally he becomes an employe, on probation, and he keeps staying and staying.

If you are familiar with Phillpotts' writings there is no need to enlarge on the character studies that mark the several incidents of the story. For most of them it is enough to say they are in no respect below the Phillpotts' standard. But there is another one, the one that forms the central theme of the novel, that must be credited as unusually excellent. It is that study which shows the development of the character of young Porter, from a more or less irresponsible lad to a youth of established qualities, and with a sense of personal appreciation that, while it is not really exceptional in itself, is seldom presented in a word portrayal of the force achieved in this instance.

"Brunel's Tower" will serve to multiply the faith in its author's power and skill that has accumulated in the mind of every reader of his successive books.

By the Author of "Queed."

ANGELA'S BUSINESS. By Henry Sydnor Harrison. New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.35 net.

It is always interesting to find in the first chapter of a book a man who knows all about women—or thinks he does. It gives you a sort of confidence in your ability to forecast a little bit, at least, of what is to come. At the same time it whets your mental appetite into a keen desire to see just how the particular man in question "gets his," and you read the story with an anticipation that is always on the watch for realization.

In "Angela's Business" we are introduced at once to Charles Garrott, a rising young author who has not yet risen to a point where the publishers can see him. He is much given to philosophizing about women and drawing general conclusions from particular cases. In order to supplement his studies of the sex—studies conducted for cultural and literary purposes exclusively—he accepts membership in the Redmantle club, an organization founded by a disappointed female genius. At the club meetings he finds plenty of material from which to construct convincing theories.

There is one woman (of course, you will say,) whom he regards as exceptional; but your "of course" will be wrong in its inference. Mary Wing is quite different from what you expect, and though she earns her own living and is independent and advanced in her ideas, she doesn't measure up to the qualities of a heroine of standard type.

It is through Angela Flower, Mary's cousin, that Garrott gets a very emphatic impression of the difference there can be between one woman and another, and of the difference between the qualities of womanliness and femininity. He is accustomed to the interpretations of their life work given by other women of his acquaintance, and though he sympathizes with their ambitions for independence of thought and action, Angela's announcement that her business is to make a home for her family puts all his earlier conceptions of woman's sphere in an entirely new light. After maturer acquaintance with this girl, he forms his own opinion as to her life work.

Mr. Harrison rather disappointed those who admired "Queed" when he published "V. V.'s Eyes." But in "Angela's Business" it seems as if he has again caught his stride and is certain not only to win back what little loss of favor he may have suffered through his second book, but to gain new friends among those who have not read either of his earlier productions.

An Excellent Time Killer.

THE DIARY OF A BEAUTY. By Molly Elliot Seawell; illustrated by Frederic Dorr Steele. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott company. $1.35 net.

Fully as light in character and purpose as the title could indicate, and lacking nothing of what might be expected of Miss Seawell as a story writer, "The Diary of a Beauty" is one of the best of books with which to spend time that you are willing to kill. Of course the beauty has trials and tribulations, such being the almost invariable fate of beauties in fiction. But she at least avoids the too frequent fault of being over-impressed with herself or her looks. She knows the power of her appearance, but something—maybe it is the habit of introspection developed through indulging in the diary habit—keeps her from overdoing in taking advantage of that power.

The beauty is a village postmistress, who becomes acquainted with a wealthy spinster, who conceives the idea that by constant association with such vivacious youth and good looks she can in some mysterious way be imbued with some of the same qualities herself. She accordingly engages the beauty as a companion, decks her out in the most lavish fashion, takes her abroad and proclaims that the girl is to inherit all she herself possesses.

Naturally the qualities of personal attractiveness and prospective wealth attract the (book land) foreign nobles, and they flock about the American girl. But the admirers disappear with a rush when it develops that the beauty and the spinster have had a misunderstanding and severed relations, and the beauty is left to what threatens to be a hard fate. Then begins the real preparation for the finale of the story which is made logical and pleasing by the ability of the writer.

"The Diary of a Beauty" is thoroughly enjoyable. It is pleasantly written and skillfully handled.

Elinor Glyn's Views.

THREE THINGS. By Elinor Glyn. New York: Hearst's International Library. 35 cents net.

Readers of this well known authoress' latest who anticipate it is along the lines of a book that brought her into the limelight will be sadly disappointed. This work is an essay, or brochure, built about the three things the writer considers most essential to strive after in life—truth, common sense and happiness. Marriage, divorce and other states in which women are especially interested are commented upon, the writer airing her well known views, of which this is a sample:

It would seem to me that divorce as a means of ridding oneself of one partner merely to be happier with another must surely always be wrong, because it must entail the degradation of conscious personal motive, in the knowledge that one had taken advantage of a law to gain an end, and to help one to break a vow solely for one's own gratification. The enormous responsibility of so taking fate into their own hands would frighten most people, if they gave themselves time to think—but they do not. Nine-tenths of them have no compunction in breaking vows, because they do not realize that by making them they have connected themselves with currents and assumed responsibilities the consequences of which to themselves they cannot possibly eventually avoid no matter how they may temporarily try to evade them.

It would seem to me that divorce for the rich and educated should be made as difficult as possible, and the pleas investigated mercilessly, to discover if any advantage has been taken of legal quibbles for ulterior ends; but that the judge should grant decrees instantly when habitual drunkenness, madness or anything which degrades and lowers a household or community is proved against the defendant.

It would seem to me that divorce for the poor should be facilitated in every way, if this difference to those of the rich could possibly be accomplished, so that the hideous cruelty and encouragement of vice (cases of which are so admirably set forth in the pamphlet issued by the Divorce Law Reform union) could be summarily dealth with, and relief and peace conferred upon the innocent party.

Shonts, Canal Builder.

WHO BUILT THE PANAMA CANAL? By W. Leon Pepperman, chief of the administration of the second Isthmian commission. New York: The E. P. Dutton company. $2.00 net.

That Theodore P. Shonts, now president of the Interborough Metropolitan company of New York, made the Panama canal a certainty, is the claim made by L. Leon Pepperman, a chief of the second Isthmian canal commission, in his book, "Who Built the Panama Canal?" a story of this great engineering feat.

Told in a vivid, forceful, concentrated manner, this publication makes some disclosures regarding the construction of the canal, all told by a man who cites documents to back up what he has to say. The book in reality puts the making of the canal in an unusual light and is an interesting contribution to literature on the subject.

In addition, Joseph Pennell's wonderful drawings of the canal, which illustrate the volume, help make this book well worth the reading. "Who Built the Panama Canal?" is presented as telling the real story of the isthmus; how the route was decided on, who made the plans and devised the special machinery, how a perfectly sanitated modern state was created over night in the tropics and where the steady labor supply came from during all the years. Apparently there is nothing that Mr. Pepperman has forgotten.

Here is how Mr. Pepperman recounts one of the achievements of Mr. Shonts, whom President Roosevelt appointed in 1905:

It was during the administration of Mr. Shonts that the most important problem in connection with the whole canal work was definitely settled, that is, the adoption of the lock-level type of canal, as opposed to the so-called sea-level type, recommended by a majority of the board of consulting engineers. The activity and resources displayed by Mr. Shonts in marshaling and organizing the campaign for the lock-level canal have been fully recognized by all those who were associated with him during this period of his service.

RISKS AT SAN FRANCISCO

Work Scarce and Moral Conditions Lax.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Danger signals are being flashed to young people bound for the Panama-Pacific exposition without money, friends or definite positions. To show that warning is needed, the American Social Hygiene association points to a report indicating that there is much unemployment in San Francisco and calls attention also to the city's moral conditions which give cause for anxiety.

A survey of unemployment of women in San Francisco has just been completed by the California branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. According to a report based upon this survey, there has been a large increase in the number of applications for positions while in no established business has there been discovered an increase in the number of positions available.

Many Applicants—Few Jobs.

At the exposition alone the manager of the employment bureau reported to the investigators that there were on file in his office Dec. 7, between 90,000 and 100,000 applications for positions. Of these between 9,000 and 10,000 are applications of women. But the number of positions for women to be filled directly by the exposition authorities is not more than 1,000. The exhibitors, both national and state, supply their own employes, most of whom will be brought from the home locality of the exhibit, so that this source of employment proves to be limited.

Employment bureaus are crowded with applicants. One, for example, which has kept statistics for 1913, stated that 1,978 applications were received for three months, September to November, 1914, as compared with 824 in 1913, while the number of places filled in 1914 was only 217.

Factories, department stores and offices also have an oversupply of labor according to the study made by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. One store reported a daily excess of twenty applicants over this time last year. A second has received 177 requests for work made from Oct. 24 to Dec. 4, of which 110 were made by Easterners who applied in person, showing that these women were on the ground and jobless. Another very large department store had so many inquiries that they employment that they mailed a letter to applicants advising them to keep away from San Francisco.

Similarly a firm which hires clerical workers is sending out word to its branch offices all over the country that "we have received information from our branches in California to the effect that there are between 15,000 and 20,000 unemployed stenographers and office assistants who are destitute. All charitable institutions and organizations are overwhelmed with the relief work necessary to take care of these people; therefore, we would request that you inform those who expect to go to California, of the exact state of affairs."

Moral Dangers.

With reference to moral conditions, the American Social Hygiene association points out, as indicative of a general laxity, that there has been an increase in the number of questionable dance halls and a failure to utilize a law designed to curb commercialized prostitution.

On Sept. 29, 1914, an ordinance was passed transferring the power to grant dance hall permits from the police commission to the board of supervisors. In the following three months 173 such permits were issued, 123 of which were renewed during the first two weeks in January. On Jan. 21, 1915 there were 137 such permits existing—38 in the notorious Barbary Coast district, 16 in the general region of the New Tenderloin, 10 in the so-called Beach district and 7 in the district near the entrance to the exposition grounds.

At many of these dance halls the character of the dancing and the actions of the women habitues constitute a special menace to young men away from home restraints. Such resorts have been proved to be recruiting grounds where pimps and procurers are at work to swell the army of prostitutes. Young girls in search of innocent amusement are in special danger in such places, especially when away from home and captivated by the holiday or festival spirit.

Unused Weapon Against Prostitution.

San Francisco has long had and has today a segregated district for prostitution. It was hoped that by the passage of the redlight abatement law, this district and other houses of prostitution throughout the city would be closed, so that visitors to the exposition would not be confronted with open and flagrant vice. Largely to meet this situation the law was passed by the legislature of 1913 and approved by the people at the general election last November.

Experience elsewhere with this law, which allows any citizen to file suit against houses of prostitution as public nuisances, has shown it to be the most powerful weapon yet devised for fighting commercialized prostitution. Immediately upon its final approval it was attacked by a series of test suits. An appeal to a higher court is still pending. Meanwhile the law has not been used and seems likely to remain unused during part or all of the exposition period.

Protective Efforts.

The exposition authorities, who wield the greatest influence in the situation, have made themselves responsible for moral conditions inside the exposition grounds by pledging themselves repeatedly and publicly to maintain satisfactory conditions for visitors and to co-operate with protective organizations. The San Francisco authorities are not so clearly on record, but the mayor has given many general assurances of his intention to maintain order and a high standard of public morals.

Social and civic organizations, nationally as well as locally, are fully alive to the city's moral dangers. Their work is difficult at best, but every addition to the number of young people coming to the city without money or very definite assurance of employment makes the problem increasingly serious.

AMERICA FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

Effect That the Great European War Is Likely to Have on Automobile Touring in This Country—Attractions That Make America the Finest Touring Ground in the World.

From the time that the motor car took its place in the commercial, social and pleasure life of our citizens, there has annually been expended in touring, by motor, in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe, a sum annually increasing, until, we are informed it has reached the proportions of $200,000,000.

What has brought about this abnormal condition of affairs? Many conditions have conspired. Some are possible of correction, while others have been gradually changed until they no longer exist. Americans have made a fad of antiquities. They have been told by writers of travel tales and have read in the guide books, that to see great ruins, of greater age, they must go into the castle districts of England and Scotland, take the Rhine trip or journey to Italy and Greece. The lake region of Scotland has been advertised as having no equal for beauty anywhere else in the world.

Where, but in this country, does there exist a lake region like unto those of Central New York, Michigan or Wisconsin? The Trossochs of Scotland, beautiful as they are, are dull, and limited as to area, in comparison. Where days are required to see the natural beauties of the Scotch lochs, weeks—enjoyable weeks—weeks filled with surprises, may be spent in any one of the three lake regions named.

The roads? While we have been envying England, France, Germany and Italy their wonderful arteries of highway travel, the improvement at home has gone on apace. Many agencies have been at work. States and counties throughout the length and breadth of the land have awakened from the sleep of apathy, and are doing in true American spirit, each its part—wonderful work of improvement and, in many instances, permanent as to character. By permanent is meant roads of concrete with brick surface. It is gratifying to observe the miles upon miles of roads of this character which have been built during the past four or five years, and to note that during 1914 hundreds of miles of such are being built. The mileage during 1915 will be equal to the total of four preceding years. Nowhere else in the world will the tourist find a road, continuous and connected, of a length equaling our own Lincoln highway.

The seeker for health and rejuvenation at the world-famous springs and baths at Baden, Nauheim and Carlsbad, must reconcile himself to the equally efficient and beneficial treatment of Mount Clemens, Mich., Hot Springs, Va., or French Lick Springs, Ind., all of which are calculated to restore health and vigor, and all of which he may reach in comfort by train or by motor. Where but on the Southern Atlantic or California-Pacific seaboards can be found year-round surf bathing with luxuries and comforts equal to Ostend, or along the Riviera?

Volumes might be written of that inter-connected series of roads and trails, beginning at Cumberland, Md., and wending its tortuous but historic way to the southwest section of the country where there abound wonders and glories, unrivaled, unequaled, throughout the world. Antiquarian research now going on in New Mexico and Arizona proves that the Christian era had not yet dawned when there existed a civilization comparable with that of Egypt, Syria and the Monc-al.

These and countless other wonders of man and nature await the eye of the tourist who has not, but should, "See America first."

There is no time more opportune than that following the disaster of the present European war. The disappointment that may follow an enforced "tarry at home awhile" will soon be forgotten in the greater enjoyment of a series of long or short distance tours over American roads, and to points of interest within our own boundaries. Why not a trip to your "home town?" It may be in Iowa, Kentucky or California. Have you watched its growth? Would you recognize those scenes to which your memory reverts when cares of business bear down hard or you feel like getting back to nature? Taking you out of the country has not taken the country out of you.

Go where you will, be it north, south, east or west, there await you improved health, much pleasure, and a broadened view.

RACING AN ASSET IN CAR DEVELOPMENT

Superiority of High Speed Motor Plainly Shown, Says Haynes.

"Probably one of the greatest benefits of automobile racing is to be seen in the rapid development of the light, high speed, high-powered type of motor," says Elwood Haynes, inventer and builder of America's first car and president of the Haynes Automobile company, Kokomo, Ind. "The last races at the Indianapolis speedway saw the heavy, large bore, slow-speed motor pitted against the small bore, high-speed motor and the high-speed type won out in such a convincing manner that no doubt was left as to its superiority. The high-speed type of motor responds quickly and is full of life and snap. By using about a 4-to-1 gear ratio, there is an abundance of power for hill climbing. It is far more economical than the large bore motor that was always more or less sluggish in its action. The acceleration or get-away is quicker.

"It requires more scientific designing to produce a high-speed type of motor with good performance, than it does for one of the older types. Pistons must be heat treated between the roughing and finishing cuts to prevent any warping of the piston under the effect of the explosion in actual running. The high-speed type employs high compression, and consequently develops more power for the same size bore and stroke in comparison to the slow-speed type.

"The high-speed motor demands more attention in regard to working to actual dimensions. A thousandth of an inch is a coarse dimension. A silent, perfectly balanced, high-speed motor is proof of the employment of the greatest possible skill in the design, the machine shop and the assembly room that is to be had. There is as much difference between the performance of the high-speed type motor and the low-speed type as there is between the slow-speed type and an ordinary steam traction engine. There is a greater flexibility in the high-speed motor. While the Haynes light six motor will attain the speed of 3,200 revolutions per minute, it will also throttle down to forty revolutions per minutes and drive the car on high gear at the rate of one mile per hour. With the increased flexibility, there is less need of gear shifting and anything that eliminates gear shifting to any extent is of a decided value."

TWO VITAL FEATURES.

Radius Rods and Torque Arm Important, Says McNamara.

"There are two vital features of construction of an automobile," said Leonard McNamara, local dealer in Studebaker automobiles, yesterday, "which are more important than pneumatic tires in making a machine ride easily. These are the radius rods and the torque arm. Their functions are easily understood, yet few persons are acquainted with them.

"Consider the radius rods first. If the car transmits its driving force directly to the springs, then the springs must be heavy and stiff to withstand the downward strain of the body of the car and the driving strain sending the machine forward. And these springs so heavy and stiff make hard riding. The advantage of radius rods can be instantly seen if one looks at a stripped Studebaker chassis. The rods extend from the rear axle housing to a point about midway of the frame, directly transmitting the driving power. With this strain taken off the springs, they can be made lighter. An easier riding car is the result.

"Another tremendous strain in an automobile is that developed by the transmission of power from the motor to the rear axle. With the propeller shaft and transmission turning, the tendency is for the entire car to follow this turning strain. Good engineering practice requires that this strain be counteracted, as in the Studebaker car, by the use of a torque arm. This is merely a steel bar from the rear axle housing, parallel to the propeller, to the center cross-piece of the frame of the chassis. It takes up the strain that otherwise is so severe that cars without a torque arm have sometimes had the propeller shaft mechanism, universal joints and all come right up through the floor, tearing out floor boards, back seat and cushions.

"Yet the torque arm must not have absolute rigidity because it would result in a stiff drive and considerable jolting where the going is rough. Studebaker obviates this by the neatest piece of construction imaginable. It is simply by fastening the torque arm at the front end with a spring and bolt. The spring allows just enough play to prevent stiff, jolty riding and the bolt takes care of the twisting and strain on the torque arm."

NEW MOTOR MAGAZINE.

"The Chalmers Clubman" Makes First Appearance This Week.

The Chalmers Clubman, a new monthly magazine of motoring, made its appearance this week. It is publish by the Chalmers Motor company, and is another link in the chain of service to owners of Chalmers cars which Hugh Chalmers is forging.

It is not a mere house organ. It is essentially a magazine of motoring. It is established with the idea of interpreting Chalmers service to Chalmers owners.

Mr. Chalmers declares that Chalmers owners comprise a veritable fraternity of the open road, and has undertaken the publication of this magazine because he believes that this great club, which already numbers nearly 50,000 members, needs an official organ.

The following foreword in the May issue of the new magazine states the creed which prompted Mr. Chalmers to found the publication:

"The 50,000 owners of Chalmers motor cars are the charter members of the Chalmers club.

"Their clubrooms are all out-of-doors.

"Their dormitories include every inn on the open road.

"Every wayside spring is this club's taproom.

"The kitchen of its myriad-handed chef extend from sea to sea. Its grill-room is every eating-house on the twisted trails.

"The Chalmers club is the biggest and most democratic club on earth. The far-flung road is its spoor and sign. The Chalmers monogram on the radiator is its badge of membership."

FORD SIMPLICITY AIDS CRIPPLE TO BECOME SKILLFUL DRIVER

The simplicity of the Ford pedal control and the pleasing ease of operation of Ford cars, have drawn forth the plaudits of more than 700,000 owners, but it is doubtful if anyone, anywhere, is entitled to feel a more enthusiastic satisfaction in the performance of his Ford than the author of the following letter.

The ease of Ford operation has enabled this man, handicapped early in life by a serious accident, to enjoy life and be as other men are. Ford simplicity has made it possible for Albert L. Stevens of Cohenectady,N.Y., minus both his arms, to become a skillful driver, an insatiable tourist and a most enthusiastic Ford "fan."

How the Ford helped him overcome his handicap and opened the way to numberless good times is best told in his own words:

"I am just another Ford owner who is well satisfied with his car. I think I have more reason to be satisfied than most people and thereby hangs a tale.

"Twenty-six years ago, when I was a boy of 14, I met with a railroad accident by which I lost both of my arms. My right one was taken off close to the shoulder and the left one just below the elbow. I will not go into detail as to how I made my way since then. I will just say that I have built up a little business which makes me a good living.

"I do not claim to be a wonder, but I have learned to do many things which, at first, might seem impossible for an armless man to do. I drive horses, feed myself, put on and take off my hat and do many other lesser things to help myself. But what I consider my greatest feat is driving my own car.

"For a long time I thought I could have a car fixed so I could handle it. But all my friends, and especially my wife, were very much opposed to my trying to drive. They predicted all kinds of accidents if I ever attempted such a thing, but I had confidence in my ability and was determined to try. So last spring I bought a Ford touring car, and after having some alterations, found I could handle it very well.

"I had the emergency brake lever changed so I could operate it with my foot. I have a foot accelerator to feed the gas; electric lights which I turn on and off with my foot; an electric horn which I blow by pushing a button with the side of my knee; and I crank the engin with my foot. I have a steel 'U'-shaped attachment which clamps on the side of the steering wheel. I place my arem in or that and steer very easily. I drive just as steadily and well as most people with two hands and arms, and I think a great deal better than some. I can turn around anywhere and go anywhere anyone else can go with a Ford."

RACE DRIVERS SUPERSTITIOUS; MANY CARRY MASCOTS FOR LUCK

Race drivers are a superstitious lot. Their regard for the unlucky number "13" closely resembles awe. They pin faith in the supposed powers of little idols set up on their cars and even off the race course they are superstitious.

Eddit Pullen's baby's little shoe perhaps is the best known of all the good-luck bringers. The Mercer pilot won much fame and has escaped injury while carrying this tiny talisman. The little shoe always is riveted to the cowl of Pullen's car during the practice and the race.

Cultivated a Mustache.

Eddie Pullen's baby's little shoe cot, driving the Maxwell car on his own nerve and judgment; but his mechanician let the story get out. When a young salesman in Los Angeles Carlson never wore a mustache, but as soon as he stepped out as a contender for honors in the speed game he cultivated a serious-looking little growth on his upper lip which is a mascot in every race.

Louis Disbrow, driver of the Simplex, carried a most unique good-luck bringer. He thinks it has won many races for him and saved his life in many others, while it rested in his inside bocket. It is a prayer written by Mrs. Barney Oldfield many years ago and given to Disbrow by Barney. It brings good luck to those who read, repeat or memorize the mystic phrases.

Barney, of course, carries the original copy of the prayer written by his wife. It is oil-stained and the once crisp paper is almost decayed, but it still carries its good omen. Barney supplements the prayer with his cigar and red bandana, but the worn sheet of paper is his real mascot.

The number 8, a little iron "kewpie" an inch long with a broken leg, and, last but not least, his wife, are the three corners of Earl Cooper's good luck combination. During Earl's races Mrs. Cooper sits in a box opposite his pit holding the iron kewpie in her hand. Mrs. Cooper always selects a box opposite the start and finish line and requests the starter to place the checkered flag in front of the box rail. She always is confident as long as the flag rests in front of the Stutz box.

Johnny Marquis, the driver who turned over at the Santa Monica in the Sunbeam in the 1914 grand prize, carries in one of his pockets a tiny shoe that his baby girl Eleanor once wore. He always carries and has used it as a mascot in all his races.

Silver Quarter.

Arthur Klein, who built the King racer, has imbedded on the top nut of his steering wheel a silver quarter. The shining 25-cent piece, according to Klein's belief, encourages him during the long hours of each speed ordeal, reminding him that the purse always is just ahead.

Harry Grant, the twice Vanderbilt winner, carries a small rabbit's foot. This was given to him the night before his first Vanderbilt by an aged negro.

Hughey Hughes used to carry a toy monkey on his Mercer and the car became known as the Mercer "monk." He now carries an opal in the rough. He says that some people believe opals to be the most unlucky of all precious stones, but if the stone is unpolished he claims that it is lucky.

Dario Resta, the great foreigner who won the Vanderbilt and grand prize at San Francisco on the Peugeot, carried a small celluloid "kewpie" on the fast French car in both races.

Gaston Morris carries the strangest talisman of all the drivers. It is a clipping from a newspaper in which the driver is referred to as "the speedy Gaston."

Ralph de Palma commercializes his mascot privileges. He carries a motormeter which has been transferred from one car to another, and the 1914 American road race champion says that his motormeter is his best insurance policy.

DE PALMA'S BROTHER WILL DRIVE CAR

Will Operate Delage at Next Indianapolis 500-Mile Contest.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—John De Palma, brother of the famous Ralph, has been entered in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race at the wheel of the Delage that won last year's contest.

W. E. Wilson of Rochester, N. Y., owner of the car, is having it equipped with smaller cylinders at present, believing the change will not sufficiently reduce its speed to affect its chances. In view of the fact that it weighs only little over 2,000 pounds, it is not thought the alteration will make much difference.

During the last season the Delage has participated in many contests, but without much luck. It is hoped that De Palma's training, as acquired under his brother, Ralph, whose mechanician he has been since the last Elgin races, will once more make it a winner.

ALL KINDS OF ROAD WORK INFORMATION

Federal Officials Show They Are Alive By Reports on Progress.

Washington, April 17.—Throughout the United States road officials are everywhere showing themselves keenly alive to the enormous increase in automobile touring manifested this year from all sections, as evidenced by the information they are forwarding to the good roads and touring boards of the American Automobile association. This information covers the work in progress and the work to be commenced during this month.

The northern routes will be open a month earlier than usual because of the light snows in the Rockies and Cascades. Aggressive action all along the route has come from the recent organization of the National park highway, the road from the Great Lakes, via the Twin Cities, to Puget sound. After an inspection of every mile this route is to be dedicated on June 15.

The value of competition and construction rivalry is demonstrated by the Central routes. The various direct lines and options all through that section have been a stimulant to the greatest activity in placing the various roads of the different highway associations in the pink of condition, that long distance tourists from the East shall return home with enthusiastic appreciation of the country traveled by them. Of course the Lincoln highway will command a large share of the patronage.

In the Southwest, early spring and late fall touring is being looked after by the same active methods of road work, both by road associations and by state officials. The eastern end of this section at present is provided for by several north and south trunk lines to and from prominent points.

In the East, Massachusetts is not letting up in the prestige gained by giving its visitors good touring roads. During the session of the legislature it is expected that $2,000,000 will be appropriated to be spent on the roads in the western part of the state for this year's travel.

POWER PLANT NEAR COMPLETION

Many New Features for Ford Highland Park Establishment.

Work on the new power plant of the Ford Motor company's highland park plant is going rapidly forward to completion. At the present rate of progress, it is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy at an early date.

There are many unique features in and about the power plant, and the construction and placing of them furnishes many a lively hour for the men who have designed the building as well as for the men who are building the apparatus to be installed.

In fact, so huge in size and extraordinary in design are some of the pieces that it has been found necessary to create special rigging for the construction and efficient handling of them. New methods have been necessary in some cases, causing a departure from old established ideas.

One particular problem which has called forth all the ingenuity of the designing engineers was the construction of the mighty flywheel which is to be part of the new engine. When it is known that the wheel measures twenty feet in diameter and has a gross weight of 220,000 pounds, some idea may be gained as to the magnitude of the undertaking.

Comparatively, the diameter of the new wheel is equal to the height of the average house, from ground to eaves; it is more than twice as high as an ordinary room; and it is two-thirds the width of the average city lot. Its weight equals the combined mass of more than 180 Ford cars, enough to make a line more than a quarter of a mile long. The weight is almost equal to that of the ordinary railroad locomotive.

FULLY EQUIPPED
$60 REWARD
IN THE FORM OF A PROFIT-SHARING REBATE NOW ASSURED
The Ford Motor Co. now have orders for more than the 300,000 cars to guarantee this rebate reward. The low priced car of steady service and reliability. Government statistics for 1914 show that the average cost to operate a Ford 5-passenger car for 7,500 miles, a whole year's travel, is only $79.46. Take this into careful consideration in the purchase of a car. Also we are the only company in Duluth who carries a $5,000 stock of parts on hand for the convenience of our customers, and in addition to this stock of parts there are also 34 other stocks of parts carried in St. Louis, Lake, Cook, Itasca, Aitkin, Cass, Pine and Carlton counties, which is the territory represented by us, all at your command, and throughout the entire state of Minnesota and other states stocks of parts are distributed for the benefit of Ford purchasers.
Remember also that the light weight of the Ford Touring Car or Roadster enables you to obtain 10,000 to 15,000 miles on the original set of tires or no new tires to buy practically for two years, and again as high as 37½ miles to the gallon of gasoline. We have the sworn affidavits to prove these statements, which all goes to prove why the FORD CAR is the sensible car to buy and, again, the Ford car sells for one price to all. No matter who the company or purchaser is, no danger or disappointments of having some friend or neighbor tell you that he bought his car for less than you paid for yours.

CUP DEFENDER NOW BEING BUILT

Car Expected to Capture First Honors at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis,Ind.,April 17.—An American cup defender, which it is fondly hoped, will once more restore Indianapolis 500-mile race honors to the Stars and Stripes, is at present nearing completion in the shops of the Mercer Automobile company, Trenton, N. J.

This craft, it is said, mounts a motor that is capable of 3,900 revolutions per minute without a drop in the power curve, a performance hitherto undreamed of in the automobile world. Details of the new machine are being carefully kept secret, it not being planned to give a public demonstration until the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

As driver of the new car it is thought Eddie Pullen, holder of the world's road racing record of 87.8 miles an hour, will be selected. Handling this latest space destroyer, whose speed is yet a mystery, he will have new worlds to conquer.

ROADS SECOND ONLY TO PRINTER'S INK

Have Been Wonderful Aid in Automobile Progress, Says Pres. Kissel.

"To the wonderful success of the automobile industry, road improvement has been a contributing factor second only to printer's ink," says President George A. Kissel of the KisselKar company.

"Why place advertising first? Because it made people want cars. And the ownership of cars made them want better roads to drive on.

"The sentiment in favor of good roads would never have reached its present almost unanimous proportions but for the persistent agitation of those who used them for pleasure. But it must also be admitted that this element is now only one of many and among the least weighty of the influences that demand more and more good roads.

"Tradesmen in the towns and cities have found that good roads increase their zone of trade. Farmers find their markets easier to reach. Doctors get to their patients quicker. Rural free mail delivery never would have been accomplished under the highway conditions of former days.

"We might go on ad infinitum with instances proving what good roads have accomplished in strictly material benefits. The increased value they have given once remote real estate alone justifies them.

'And what a boon to mankind, aside from those reasons bounded by dollars and cents! What an aid to health and the joy of living these better roads have wrought. No more is it necessary to ride in stuffy railroad coaches or trolley cars to visit not too distant friends. No more is a trip to the country a dreaded drudge. No more must faithful but incompetent Dobbin be depended upon or, when he is, how much better good roads have made it for him—and those behind him. Good roads have proved a splendid investment from every viewpoint."

OVERLANDS WILL BE USED AT THE EXPO

Officials of the San Francisco exposition have purchased three Overland light delivery cars for use in the electrical department, which has in charge the thousands of lights and signs on the exposition grounds.

The Overland dealer in San Francisco had to prove by exhaustive demonstrations that the car could stand the work of being in continuous service, as the cars are used for what the electricians call "shooting trouble." This means that when anything goes wrong, night or day, with electrical apparatus within the grounds, one of the Overlands is dispatched in a hurry with emergency equipment and a squad of men to the seat of trouble.

Other Overlands also are in daily use at the exposition, three touring cars having been purchased by the New York state commission for use in entertaining distinguished guests.

News and Gossip of the Automobile World

There are now in use something like 2,000,000 automobiles in this country alone.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—During 1914 there were 896 automobiles stolen in Detroit, which closely approximates the New York city figures, though Detroit has only one-quarter as many cars as New York. All but eleven of the stolen cars were recovered. Most of them had been taken for joy rides. The large number of thefts is attributed to the fact that almost everybody in Detroit knows how to drive.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—The Ford Motor company has adopted an eight-hour-day working schedule in all of its twenty-one assembling plants. Until recently the men worked nine hours a day. The new regulation affects from 6,700 to 7,000 men. The wages remain the same as when the nine-hour schedule was in effect. At the main plant, in Highland park, there are three shifts working day and night.

The Kissel Motor Car company reports that the increased sale of trucks this far fairly proves a condition of optimism in the business world. It is stated that by far more Kissel trucks have been sold during the first quarter of 1915 than in any corresponding period of previous years. This refers to trucks for domestic use, without regard to those shipped abroad. It is maintained by the Kissels that when steps are so freely and generally taken to improve delivery and haulage facilities that it necessarily means that the buyers expect increased trade.

It is said that H. H. Franklin makes more practical and extensive personal use of the automobile than anyone in this country. With him the automobile not only displaces the horse and street car, but railroad trains as well. On all business trips in the East and on far west as Chicago, Mr. Franklin drives his car. His most frequent trips are to New York and Boston. The distance from Syracuse to New York is 300 miles, to Boston 350 miles. These trips are made in one day in the winter as well as in the more favorable touring seasons.

Washington, April 17.—The Federal bureau of statistics has released figures showing exports of motor cars in February and corresponding periods. They show that in February last 1,502 trucks, valued at $3,220,482, were shipped abroad, as against fifty-seven trucks, valued at $83,461, exported in February last year.

Among roadster models there is a marked tendency toward a complete concealment of the spare tire. In carrying out this plan, the automobile designer has almost without exception adopted the rear-deck construction. This offers the opportunity of making use of the compartment provided beneath the rear deck for baggage or tires.

Spring business in automobiles has opened up early this year. There is every indication also that sales of all cars will this spring exceed any previous record. The Franklin factory, for example, reports an increase of sales since Feb. 15 of 48 per cent over same period last year, while for the past two weeks the increase is 96 per cent.

Plans are being prepared for a three-story addition to the plant of the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company, 100 feet in Gifford street and fifty-three feet deep. The construction work will cost $25,000 and the equipment of the building will bring the total expenditure up to $40,000. The structure will be used for the manufacture of die castings, this branch of the Franklin industry having outgrown its present quarters.

INTRODUCING "MR. BEE" SILBERSTEIN AND "BERT" FARRELL

BERNARD SILBERSTEIN.

"BERT" FARRELL.

Bernard Silberstein opened a dry goods store in Duluth in 1870 in partnership with "Bert" Farrell's uncle, William. That was eight years before "Bert" was born.

The business went well, and a Silberstein and a Farrell got along famously back in those days. Why not now?

Away back in 1870 Duluth was just a tiny village, and young Silberstein—he was only 22 years old then—and the older Farrell sold about everything from a door mat to a lightning rod. A Mr. Whitcher also joined the partnership, and the trio conducted the first big "store" in Duluth's history.

After a few years the partnership broke up, because of young Silberstein's desire to "spread out" and get into a larger business. As a result, he formed the B. Silberstein company, and in 1881 the partnership of Silberstein & Bondy, which is still the firm name.

"Bert" was born eight years after the old Silberstein-Whitcher-Farrell partnership started. And "Bert" has lived here ever since. Talking of native sons, few can beat that record.

Bought City Hall Site.

And it may not be generally known, but "Bee" Silberstein bought the site of the present city hall. It was about thirty years ago, when all the city business was done in a little one-horse shack somewhere along East Superior street—or was it Main street in those days? At any rate, the new commissioner heard that the city fathers were having a hard time buying a site for the city hall, and he—always working for the interests of Duluth—stepped in and said that he would try to purchase a suitable corner. As a result, he negotiated with the owner of the corner at Second avenue east and Superior street and finally bought it for about $1,800. Maybe he will help build the new city hall during the next four years.

Anyway, it was through Mr. Silberstein's efforts that active work was started on the city hall, and just twenty-six years ago on April 1 the present city hall was opened. Fred Voss, by the way, was working for the city in those days, and he is the only city employe today who was a member of the original staff that entered the city hall on that memorable day, April 1, 1889.

Born in Hungary.

To go back a few years. "Bee" Silberstein was born at Budapest, Hungary, on March 4, 1848. He had a common school and high school education at Vienna, and when but 18 years old came to this country. That's pioneering early. And when 21 years old he came to Duluth, after having "given Detroit the once over." At first he sold goods from house to house, and after a few months met "Bill" Farrell, and the two later got Mr. Whitcher in with them for the partnership.

Mr. Silberstein often held "Baby Bert" on his lap, and many a time he played with the youngster. "Bert" was one of the real barefoot boys, the kind Longfellow wrote about, who liked fishin' better than he did school. Many a summer's day he would play hookey and spend the afternoon out along Chester creek. It wasn't Chester creek in those days; just a plain, ordinary creek.

And Mr. Silberstein saw "Bert" finish grade school here and later graduate from the old Washington high school. While going to high school "Bert" worked during his summer vacations in the office of the city engineer, carrying rods and helping around the office. He was a good lad and when he finished high school "Bert" was taken in and given a regular job. At first he was a chainman and he kept at it so long that after working in the department for nineteen years he became assistant engineer. In 1912 he ran for commissioner on the short term, but lost out after a recount and a contest that went to the supreme court.

"Bert" just settled down and waited two years. This time he ran and won. So did "Bee" Silberstein. He lost by eight votes two years ago in his run for mayor and this time he ran and won, too. And they both won by such large pluralities that there is no doubt about it this time.

Mr. Silberstein was on the park board for twenty years. He is largely responsible for the present beautiful park and boulevard system. He is the man who very often during those twenty years advanced his own money to pay for property wanted for park purposes. It was the cash that brought the best deals and in the early days the city had very little to juggle with. But "Bee" took his chance and advanced many a neat sum so that Duluth might have a park system that it could be proud of—And it has, too.

Mr. Silberstein is a thirty-third degree Mason, which is about as far as you can get in Masonry.

His First Credit.

There is an interesting story told of how he got his first credit to start that store back in 1870. He went down to St. Paul and, calling on a large wholesale house, asked for a line of $2,500 credit. He offered no references whatever. He didn't have any. All he could say to the credit man was that he knew he would make good and that he was honest. His "line of talk" was good if his security wasn't and he got the credit and that's how he remained in Duluth and established himself here as the pioneer merchant. Maybe, if that credit had been denied him, he would not have remained in Duluth.

It was kept a secret during the campaign, but Mr. Silberstein was once a great bass singer. He was one of the original members of the old Turnverein quartet and boomed out the bass parts. And "Bert" was a great athlete while a boy and still is "some" bowler.

Both new commissioners are married and live here with their families. Mr. Silberstein has four children, Mrs. J. M. Gidding of New York, and Mrs. G. Traubman, Miss Elsie Silberstein and E. A. Silberstein, all of Duluth. Mr. Silberstein lives in his recently built home at 21 North Twenty-first avenue west, while Mr. Farrell lives with his wife and little daughter at 813½ East Fifth street.

That's about all there is to tell about the new commissioners. The only blot on Mr. Silberstein's record during his forty-five years' residence in Duluth is that he sang bass. Mr. Farrell's record, during his thirty-seven years' residence in Duluth, is marred by those times he played "hookey" to go fishing.—A. B. K.

ROTARY CLUB EXPLAINS ITS ATTITUDE ON ROAD FUNDS

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please correct the report that has gone broadcast relative to the action of the Rotary club in its efforts to obtain a reapportionment of the funds available for the seven commissioners' districts in St. Louis county? The statement was made that the Rotary Club of Duluth attended the meeting for the purpose of assisting the Sixth district in procuring an additional $30,000 for the requirements of this district. The main objects and purposes of the Rotary club as covered by the resolution presented to the county commissioners, having thereon the names of sixty-two of its members, who are prominent business men and taxpayers, was that the county commissioners at their meeting of April 3 rescind their former action covering the division of the county funds and reapportion the amounts for the seven commissioners' districts on a ratio and in accordance with the apportionment made in 1914.

This resolution furthermore stated that it was the desire and wishes of the Rotary club that the $30,000 in the undivided road fund should remain intact for emergency purposes during the year. Therefore, had this method been followed the seven districts, including the Sixth and Second districts, would have received practically the same amount of money as they had received in 1914 and a fair and equitable apportionment would have been received by each district.

In 1914 the levy amounted to $545,000; in 1915 the amount was $500,000. The appropriations made on March 6, 1915, caused the Sixth district to be cut down from $80,000 to $50,000; the Second district from $65,000 to $30,000 and the other five districts absorbed the $65,000 thus lost to the Sixth and Second districts.

Unjust Division.

The Rotary club believes that an unjust apportionment was made; that the $30,000 in the undivided road fund should have remained intact for emergency purposes and that a reapportionment on the ratio of the 1914 apportionment should be have been made.

As the situation now stands the $30,000 in the undivided road fund was granted by resolution of the county commissioners at their meeting of April 3 to the Sixth district, thereby restoring to this district the same amount as the apportionment made last year, while the Second district, which takes in that portion of St. Louis county, embracing the Rice Lake road almost to the White Face river and thence in an easterly direction to the lake shore and Lake county, has been cut down $35,000.

To anyone who is familiar with the Second district, the settlement therein is very extensive and the pioneers or farmers back from the main highways are in great need of farm roads, connecting with the highways. Several farmers' clubs are organized for the purpose of taking advantage of instructions given free of charge at the state experimental farm, which is located in the Second district. At the present time the farmers living in the vicinity of Pike lake are compelled to journey to Duluth and thence seven or eight miles in an easterly direction to get to the state experimental farm. A road is greatly needed connecting the Pike lake settlement with the experimental farm and a big percentage of this route lives in the Second district. In addition to the experimental farm there is also the Jean Duluth farm, the Palmer Stock farm and other model farms, which are always willing to co-operate with the farmers in rendering the necessary information for better farming, and outside of the main highways, which are only in fair condition, the great need in the Second division is farm roads connecting the isolated settlers with these fully developed and high-grade farms and the main highways. This is only one of the reasons why the Rotary club and their efforts were directed towards a fair apportionment for all districts.

It seems to the Rotary club from its investigation that undue advantage, for some reason, has been taken of the Second district and that by rendering the proper publicity to the aims and purposes of the Rotary club in its efforts, it will at least set the matter right with the taxpayers and farmers, who are interested in the development of this district.

At the regular meeting of the Rotary club held on April 8, as president, I was requested by suitable resolution, which was unanimously adopted, to ask you to correct the impression relative to the attitude of the Rotary club in its efforts to obtain a proper apportionment, but owing to my absence from the city since then I was unable to get this communication to you sooner. Very respectfully,

DULUTH ROTARY CLUB.
By E. N. Whyte, President.
Wm. M. Gravatt, Secretary.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUERS CALL ON GARRISON.

Washington, April 17.—A delegation from the anti-saloon league called upon Secretary Garrison at the war department yesterday, causing comment which increased when the secretary declined to make public the reason for the call. The secretary afterward explained, however, that the delegation had not, even in its own judgment, sufficiently established the facts it wished to present.

Rumor had it that there was an effort afoot to introduce in the army regulations similar to those which Secretary Daniels has applied to the navy. The prohibition of the use of any intoxicants at military posts, even in the shape of wines at the tables of officers' families, was said to have been urged.

Fattening Up the Lean

ONE frequent cause of leanness in men and women is ptosis, or sagging of the abdominal organs. Women suffer from this condition much more frequently than men, because of the paralyzing effect of corsets upon the abdominal muscles. But both sexes pay the penalty of an upright position. If there is visual or X-ray evidence of ptosis of the stomach or other digestive organs, a properly fitted support, plus exercises and post-prandial rest with the hips elevated higher than the shoulders, will aid remarkably in building up the weight. And an increase of weight, accompanied by deposition of fat in the abdomen, helps to cure the ptosis. In some cases of ptosis the abdominal wall itself seems fairly strong and muscular, yet X-ray pictures demonstrate the sagging of the viscera. Perhaps faulty posture and bad habits of carriage have much to do with it.

Oil Up Between Meals.

Thin people desiring to grow fat should cultivate the sugar bowl, the butter tub and the lard pail. They should find out which of the fats they prefer, and within reasonable limits gorge themselves upon it. Olive oil, butter, cream, eggs, cocoa, chocolate, or cod liver oil—all are fattening. If clear oil is taken regularly to increase weight it should not be taken directly before or after the meals, but preferably an hour or two after meals. Oil tends to delay digestion in the stomach.

Questions and Answers.

Typhoid Pneumonia: What is typhoid pneumonia?

REPLY.

There are two conditions called "typhoid pneumonia." First, a case of typhoid fever complicated by pneumonia; second, a case of pneumonia in which the mental state of the patient resembles the mental state of a typhoid fever patient—the "typhoid state," low delirium, twitching, picking at the bedclothes, etc. There is no such thing as a cross between the two diseases. A patient can have one or the other or both, but he can't change his mind about it like his doctor sometimes does.

* * *

Smallpox and Vaccination: Can you give any official figures showing what proportion of persons suffering with smallpox have been vaccinated?

REPLY.

A group of 20,835 cases of smallpox tabulated by the United States public health service during 1912, 1913 and 1914 showed that 540 had been successfully vaccinated within seven years, 1,104 had been successfully vaccinated more than seven years preceding the attack, 11,236 had never been vaccinated at all, and in 7,955 cases the vaccination history was uncertain or unobtainable. Antis will kindly refrain from comments on the adjective successful in the foregoing. Also, reader will please not ask us to explain why seven years figures so prominently, because we haven't the slightest idea why. There is no reason to believe immunity from vaccination lasts seven years.

Turning Stamps Upside Down: What is the reason for the postoffice custom of passing out postage stamps with the gummed side up?

REPLY.

Someone theorized that the gummed surface might pick up germs from the counter surface, so the department orders 'em delivered upside down. Practically, we wouldn't care which way the clerk might hand out ours, but, if anything, we should prefer to lick what comes off the counter instead of licking what comes off fingers and out of mouths.

DRAMA VAUDEVILLE MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

IT IS to be regretted that Manager Baldwin of the Baldwin Players has chosen "The Lure" for presentation at the Lyceum next week. For nearly a year, now, Duluth has enjoyed the Baldwin Players. Mr. Baldwin has an excellent organization. He has a hard working company of intelligent players. He takes great care with his productions. The company is well patronized, and deservedly so. He has presented some high class plays—standard comedies and dramas with few exceptions. Many of them have been played at heavy royalty cost. The presence of the Baldwin Players has permitted thousands of Duluthians to see modern dramatic successes, who would not have been financially able to attend if they had been presented by traveling organizations at the usual scale of prices. The difference in the quality of the road productions and those of the stock company has been slight—certainly not in proportion to the difference in price. But "The Lure" was not necessary. It is not worthy of Mr. Baldwin or his company.

WHEN the Orpheum theater reopened in Duluth, the management promised shows of equal strength to those given in the Twin Cities. It is only fair, therefore, to compare the bills offered in Duluth and in Minneapolis. Last week's Minneapolis bill included the following acts: Marie Nordstrom, Eis and French, Brandon Hurst and company, Brent Hayes, Davies Family, Elinore and Williams and W. C. Fields.

Of those acts, Duluth gets next week: Marie Nordstrom, Elinore and Williams and W. C. Fields. The following week at least one of the other four acts, Eis and French, will come to Duluth. In place of the four other acts, Duluth will get next week Clayton White and company in "Cherie," Leona Thurber and Harry Madison, Mason Wilbur and Jordan, and Trevitt's Military Canines. "Cherie" is one of the classics of vaudeville, and Thurber and Madison a standard team act. On this comparison Duluth certainly does not suffer. If the choice were offered, seven managers out of ten would undoubtedly choose the Duluth bill.

"Twelfth Night," "Garden of Paradise," "Midsummer Night's Dream."
"Polygamy."
"Androcles and the Lion."
"Marie-Odile."
"Inside the Lines."
"Alice in Wonderland."

And the Drama league urged its members to bless with their patronage this assorted dozen of entertainments:

"The Elder Son."
"The Hawk."
"The Phantom Rival."
"My Lady's Dress."
"Pygmalion."
"The Battle Cry."
"Mary Goes First."
"Outcast."
"Children of Earth."
"Androcles and the Lion."
"Marie-Odile."
"The Adventure of Lady Ursula."

Arnold Daly in or on Shaw is always interesting, especially since his recent quarrel with the playwright. After a recent performance of "You Never Can Tell" he delivered a characteristic witty speech about his erstwhile playfellow. His observations proved so amusing that a New York newspaper writer made another trip to the Garrick to get the actor to expand on them.

"I am glad you came," said Mr. Daly, "because I want to correct a mistaken impression I gave in my necessarily hurried talk. When I quoted Wilde that night and said when someone mentioned Shaw to him he replied, 'Oh, Shaw!' I meant to go on with the quotation, which ended, 'He hasn't an enemy in the world, but none of his friends like him.'

"But a hearty burst of laughter came after the first two words and when I finished the quotation I suppose it did give the impression I was speaking for myself.

"We first parted company when I produced his 'John Bull's Other Island.' The play was full of Catholicism and Protestantism and other things of no interest to America, and it failed. It was one failure out of seven I had had in his plays, not a bad average, but that one should fail was the unforgivable sin. So he gave his next play to another manager, and when it failed he wrote me a witty letter suggesting he would like to have me act another of his plays. But my quarrel with Mr. Shaw can be of little interest to the public.

"The tragedy of Shaw is that he was not courageous enough not to be brilliant, or at least to avoid the appearance of being brilliant. That is the curse of the Celt—that he must be brilliant. And Shaw has not been big enough not to be. Unquestionably he is the most brilliant Irishman of the twentieth century, just as Wilde was of the nineteenth. It was when Wilde quit striving to be brilliant that he became great, and if Shaw would give up trying always to scintillate he would be a great man. And we must judge him not by what he is, but what he might be.

"He might write a great play if he chose to write for the theater and not to air his humanitarian views, for few men know play construction as he does. It isn't that he does not know how to build a play that some of his later ones are little more than conversations, as he himself admits; it is because he does not love the theater.

"To my mind Shaw's earlier plays are far superior to his later ones, because they were written to entertain and not to preach. The minute a dramatist mixes his message with his plot he has ruined his play, and no one knows this better than Shaw. He has characterized Brieux as the greatest French dramatist since Moliere, when, as a matter of fact, there are French play-wrights who write better plays than Brieux and authors who write better French. But Brieux, too, has humanitarian ideas, and so they stand together."

The innovations Granville Barker brought with him from London did not end with the visible apron stage and the futuristic settings with which some of his productions are decorated, says the New York Times. In the production of Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" the wagon stage, or wagonbuhne, as it is called in Germany, where it was first introduced, is used for the first time in New York and perhaps in this country.

American producers have been singularly backward about adopting this simple device for the expeditious changing of scenes. Briefly, the wagon stage consists of a platform about six by four feet in dimensions mounted on rubber rollers. On a series of these platforms, detached or lashed together, any scene may be set off stage and rolled quickly into place. While one act is in progress the scene for the succeeding act may be set in the free space in the wings or at the back of the stage. The rolling off of the one and on of the next scene is but the matter of a few minutes, even in a complicated setting.

The device by which the scenes in "On Trial" are changed with great speed has been kept secret. It was worked out by Arthur Hopkins, who discovered the melodrama, and who has applied for patents. From rumors that have leaked from behind the proscenium it seems that the scenes are set more or less solidly and swing on pivots at the proscenium bases. Thus, when the court scene is swung back on its pivot at one front corner, the succeeding scene is swung on from the opposite corner. The expedition thus secured has been a factor in the success of the play, for its efficacy depends on carrying the audience from courtroom to enacted testimony and back again in the shortest space of time.

SCENE FROM "THE LURE," — Which the Baldwin Players Will Present at the Lyceum for Five Days Beginning Sunday Afternoon.

MARIE NORDSTROM (MRS. HENRY E. DIXEY) At the Orpheum All Next Week.

"WHITE SLAVE" PLAY AT LYCEUM

Baldwin Company Will Open in "The Lure" Sunday Afternoon.

Investigations of the so-called "white slave traffic" by a United States secret service officer, resulted in the writing of "The Lure" which will be presented by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum next week. The engagement will open with the Sunday matinee, and continue until Thursday night. There will be the usual Wednesday matinee, and a special matinee for women only on Thursday. Friday and Saturday the Baldwin Players will give way to the Ziegfeld Follies.

George Scarborough, formerly a newspaper man, became a United States secret service agent, and by chance was assigned to work on the "white slave" investigations for the Federal government. The conditions he found moved him deeply, and he has been responsible for more than one wealthy man becoming interested in the suppression of the white slave traffic.

After he had been at work as a secret service man Scarborough began to tell his old newspaper friends that he had found things that he had never been able to get at in his former newspaper capacity, and he constantly said that he wished he was a great enough writer to be able to write a book that would be read as a warning. Finally he began to work on a play, having decided the stage would be the best medium for sending the message of warning he thought ought to go to every home. "If I could feel" he said to a friend just before the production, "that my play, 'The Lure' would be to white slavery what 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was to black slavery, I would know that I have accomplished something worth while in life.

"When 'Uncle Tom' was put on the stage there were a great many people who took exception to it because it struck home, and yet it was absolutely the truth, and did much to free millions of human beings. It directed attention forcibly to conditions, and that is what I want 'The Lure' to do. If I could go about lecturing in every town in the United States and tell in plain English of conditions I have found the public would be wiser, but would not act. It is only through a book or a play that the public can be aroused, and that is what I want to do. I have written a play that may be good, bad or indifferent as a dramatic production, but it is the truth and it does carry a warning.

"Every young woman who witnesses the scene I have portrayed of a cadet telling a girl she is to be his slave will keep that picture in her mind for years, and she will be careful of the nicely dressed young strangers that she is likely to meet anywhere in modern life."

If Mr. Scarborough desired to create discussion and comment, he had his wish, for "The Lure" was fiercely attacked and as strongly defended.

Those who upheld it, claimed that it gave a valuable warning and taught a much needed lesson. Those who attacked it, claimed that the stage was no place for such an expose.

TWO HEADLINERS AT THE ORPHEUM

Unusually Strong Show Will Be Seen in Duluth Next Week.

There will be two headline features and two added attractions on the new bill at the Orpheum, starting with the Sunday matinee.

"Bits of Acting" by Marie Nordstrom, who in private life is Mrs. Henry E. Dixey, and Clayton White and his company in "Cherie" are to be the headline numbers, while Kate Elinore and Sam Williams, musical comedy stars, and W. C. Fields, "The Silent Humorist," are to be the added attractions.

Marie Nordstrom, besides being the wife of Henry E. Dixey, presents a delightful vaudeville turn entitled "Bits of Acting," which was written by her sister, Frances Nordstrom, who has been appearing at the Orpheum the last week. Marie Nordstrom is an actress of charm and distinction, and she created the role of "Fanny" in "Bought and Paid For," in which she shared the artistic honors of that interesting premiere.

There have been few sketches written like "Cherie," which is again being presented by Clayton White and company. He has appeared in several others, but always by popular demand he has returned to the vehicle in which he scored such a pronounced hit. "Cherie" is one of those delicious morsels that invariably leaves the appetite whetted for more. There is more to it than is frequently found in many three-act plays.

need to contain as many hearty laughs as the average mortal can crowd into that period is the offering of Kate Elinore and Sam Williams, which they style "The Hunter and the Huntress." The pair are late features of Hammerstein's "Naughty Marietta" company and are from Lew Field's "All Aboard" popular show.

Leona Thurber and Harry Madison on their last appearance here left a decidedly favorable impression. So much so that their return with a modernized version of their "On a Shopping Tour" should attract considerable attention.

W. C. Fields, "The Silent Humorist," is a juggler, but his juggling is a secondary matter; first he is a comedian and if he should eliminate every semblance of juggling, and he is a mighty good juggler at that, he would still be entitled to the position in the van of comedians. Mason, Wilbur and Jordan are a trio of excellent comedy acrobats. They present a pantomime novelty entitled "A Soldier's Dream," the three in grotesque uniforms, with the scene of a military camp, do everything that is not done in a military camp.

Trevitt's Military Canines offer a novelty in the way of trained dogs that is unusually different from the general run of dog acts and incidentally introduce an abundance of comedy.

The Orpheum Travel Weekly, showing interesting scenes of different parts of the world, completes the program.

EGYPTIAN NOVELTY AT NEW GRAND

Attractive Posing Act With Living Models for Next Week.

A top notch array of vaudeville and photoplays forms the present bill at the popular New Grand.

A fantastic Egyptian novelty comedy is "The Smoke Queen," the offering of Jimmy Cassidy and Vivian Longton. "The Smoke Queen" is a unique playlet with a consistent story told in Shakespearian English and up-to-date American slang, in three scenes. Mr. Cassidy is a clever comedian. His style is original and his jokes and mannerism pleasing. Miss ongton has a good voice and a winning personality.

Instrumentalists of exceptional ability are the McNeil trio. The trio, three attractive and accomplished young women, perform on all kinds of musical instruments in a manner that stamps them artists in their line, classical as well as the late popular numbers make up their repetoire.

Billy Brown offers comedy imitations in a new and original manner. His twist of the English language is good and his characterizations interesting. He is humorous without obvious effort besides being extremely funny and puts much logic and common sense into his remarks.

The Ambler brothers offer one of the most versatile as well as sensational acts on the bill. They run the gamut from piano playing and singing to some of the most daring and thrilling equilibristic demonstrations seen on a local stage in many moons. Throughout the act there runs a rich vein of humor, which has registered the offering one of the big hits of the bill.

MAUDE ADAMS,
Who Will Appear at the Lyceum April 26.

The Hearst-Selig News projects many interesting views including the flight of Lincoln Beachey at San Francisco where he met with his fatal accident. The burning of the famous Moulin Rouge at Paris, France, and many interesting war pictures are included in the program.

"The Gentleman Burglar," a two-reel subject; one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "A Life in the Balance," and a comedy, "Getting Into Shape," are among the film plays.

On Monday the new bill is truly one of metropolitan vaudeville, and the management has "exceeded the speed limit" so to speak in the fine array of talent offered.

Headlining the bill are the four Milos in an exposition of living statuary. Two men of remarkable physical development and two handsome young women form the quartet. The productions have all been selected with special care and although in some of the numbers the artists are covered with but little more than the silvering, the manner in which it is done removes all taint of immodesty and coarseness.

Charming and attractive Hazel Morris, effervescent singing comedienne; Stone and King in a novelty singing and dancing turn, and Fred and Mae Waddell, versatile entertainers, are other vaudeville offerings.

A pretty domestic drama in three reels is, "Between the Two of Them," the photoplay feature. The cast is headed by Sidney Drew.

"The Face on the Curtain," featuring "Broncho Billy" Anderson; Sentimental Sophie" and "Joey and His Trombone" comedies complete the bill.

On Thursday Charles Chaplin will again hold forth in his latest success, "The Jitney Elopement."

MAUDE ADAMS TO PLAY IN DULUTH

Will Appear in Charming Barre Romance Monday, April 26.

Maude Adams will come to the Lyceum Monday night, April 26, where she will be seen in a revival of J. M. Barrie's comedy, "Quality Street." This work was the second from Barrie's pen that Miss Adams made known in this country, having immediately followed "The Little Minister." Upon its original production its success was very pronounced, and it was with regret that Miss Adams laid it aside. She always felt, however, that she would some day take it up again and her decision to do so this season seems to have been a very wise one.

Admirers of the Scotch dramatist have seen him in many delightful moods. In "Quality Street" he is sentimental, quaint, sympathetic and humorous. His heroines have all been charming, and Phoebe Throssell will always remain one of his most adorable characterizations. Phoebe and her sister, Susan, lived in the long ago in a little village that boasted of its gentility. It had its respectable poverty and also its riches. Susan was a confirmed old maid, and it looked as if Phoebe would remain unasked until the manly Valentine Brown, who lived on the same street, came into her life. Then the neighbors wondered if it were going to be a "match." But instead of the expected proposal there came word that the young doctor was going to the Napoleonic wars and so it looked as if Phoebe's romance was at an end. Of course the young doctor returns. He finds that Phoebe, having taken his business advice, is in penury and he finds other things including his love for the little woman with the ringlets. Barrie, you may be sure, works it out in his own sentimental way.

Barrie indulges in metaphor in describing his play. He likens the love affair of Phoebe and Valentine Brown to a garden in which a weed appeared. But one can feel that through sorrows overtake the sisters, and a weed attacks the garden of their simple lives, the audience can smile through dim eyes while knowing that the flowers will yet drive the weed from the garden.

The play is in four acts. Miss Adams will essay her old role of Phoebe. In her supporting company are Charles Hammond, Morton Selten, Stafford Windsor, Fred Tyler, Willard Barton, Wallace Jackson, Angela Ogden, Sarah Converse, Elise Clarens, Leonora Chippendale and Byrd Rodgers.

"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES" AT THE LYCEUM

Famous Musical Show Will Bring Noted Stars and 150 Players.

The celebrated "Ziegfeld Follies" is to be exhibited at the Lyceum theater next Friday and Saturday, matinee and night. That the engagement here will be of unusual interest, cannot be doubted, when it is known that the presentation of this massive organization in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, is considered a big theatrical event of the year.

"Ziegfeld Follies" is the only successful musical comedy institution in America. The famous organization was established by F. Ziegfeld, Jr., in Atlantic City in June, 1907. The current year's "Follies," which is in two acts and sixteen scenes, has been staged under the personal supervision of Mr. Zeigfeld. Leon Errol, who for several seasons has been prominently identified with the institution as a comedian and dancer, staked the ensemble numbers. George V. Hobart supplied the book and lyrics, while the score is from the pen of Raymond Hubbell. Gene Buck and David Stamper are credited with the interpolated numbers. Numerous features and novelties are promised in the new offering, but, as is his custom, Mr. Zeigfeld will not describe any of the surprises he has in store for first-nighters. One hundred and fifty entertainers are employed in the presentation of the piece. The big cast will include Bert Williams, Leon Errol, Vera Michelena, Louise Meyers, Arthur Deagon, Ed Wynn, Anna Pennington, Stella Chatelaine, C. Morton Horne, J. Bernard Dyllyn, Johnny Newell, May Carman, Jean Barnett, Ruby Lewis, Mae Paul, Addison Young, Arthur Rose and numerous others.

Many of the scenes are of extraordinary structural magnitude, showing some of the gigantic new features in New York's building progress. Mr. Zelgfeld is said to have fairly outdone himself in the number and variety of designs of the bewildering beautiful costumes. The Zelgfeld Beauty chorus long ago became the top standard for feminine loveliness and shapeliness, and this season the chorus surpasses the record in this particular.

"DAMON AND PHYTHIAS."

Film at Zelda Will Tell Great Story of Friendship.

"Damon and Pythias," the world's greatest story of universal friendship, will be presented at the Zelda theater by the local order of the Knights of Pythias for three days, commencing at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Four hundred years before the dawning of the Christian era the drama of "Damon and Pythias" was enacted, and has lived and grown down through all the ages, until it is the foremost theme in the world today upon which universal peace is founded. It is this sublime story that is unfolded in the absorbing and soulful photo-drama of "Damon and Pythias."

BERT WILLIAMS,
In "Ziegfeld Follies," at the Lyceum Next Friday and Saturday.

Spectacular, stirring, gripping are its scenes, laid in Greece, in the pomp and glory of her greatest day, with its classic dances, games and the thrill of the chariot race, battles upon sea and land, cities built and cities destroyed, and through all this, with a dramatic fire and touch of sentiment, runs the story of human friendship and its lesson of man's humanity to man. William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, indorses this play. To quote Mr. Bryan: "Before I saw the performance, my special interest in it was due to the fact that I am a member of the Knights of Pythias, and felt a member's interest in the presentation of the beautiful story upon which that fraternity is founded; but after I had seen the picture, I forgot my fraternal interest in the performance, and became an enthusiastic admirer of the picture for other and broader reasons. They tell a beautiful story in a most artistic and impressive way, and at the same time the audience is instructed in Greek history. I am a believer in the educational value of the moving picture, and this is the finest example that I have ever seen, both from an artistic standpoint and from the standpoint of the moral impression made."

It has for one of its surprising and pulse-stirring climaxes the greatest, most realistic chariot race ever staged. The chariot race is a real one, run in a real arena by thoroughbred Arabian horses drawing genuine Grecian chariots.

NOTED STARS AT REX.

Theda Bora, Fritzi Scheff and Others Coming Next Week.

The Rex Beautiful will have a host of famous people in the big production, "The Clemenceau Case," to be played Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Alexandre Dumas is the author of "The Clemenceau Case," and Theda Bara, the vampire woman, plays the star part. Herbert Bennon, the second producer-director in this country, produced it.

"The Clemenceau Case" is, as Dumas himself said, a work that thrashes society with a living whip. "I have described in detail some scenes for which I have been unjustly criticized, but my reason for doing so was to disclose the three vices that were to ruin first Pierre and then Iza, namely, immodesty, ingratitude and sensuality. If I have succeeded in pointing out that indulgence is always punished, I shall have gained my end."

Fritzi Scheff is another addition to the large number of world-famed stage favorites to come into motion picture work. Wednesday and Thursday will be "Pretty Mrs. Smith's Day," and the first appearance on the screen of Fritzi Scheff. "Pretty Mrs. Smith" finds herself three times married—some problem.

"The Unafraid," a Jesse L. Lasky production and a picturization of Eleanor M. Ingram's romance wherein an American girl becomes the captive bride of a Montenegro nobleman, is featured at Rex Beautiful for Saturday and Sunday. As a special attraction Friday and Saturday of each week, the latest Paramount travel pictures will be shown, in addition to the regular program.

WAR FILM AT SAVOY.

Theater Will Open at 9:30 a. m. Next Week.

"The Struggle of the European War" will be shown at the Savoy theater in five reels, commencing tomorrow, the horrors of war are brought before the eye of the spectator, and are said to show land, sea and air battle scenes. This production will be presented for three days ending Tuesday night, during its showing, the Savoy theater will open its doors at 9:30 in the morning, and will play continuously until 11 p. m. In this production, the bombardment of Liege is portrayed, and was taken at the risk of the camera man's life. It also shows the devastation of Belgium and the great siege guns in action.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Charles Frohman has arranged with Margaret Anglin to begin an engagement at the Lyceum theater in a new play by Paul Kester, entitled "The Desert Island." It is a comedy in three acts in which Miss Anglin acts the role of a demure choir singer from the South, who finds herself facing the difficulties that confront an unsophisticated young woman in New York. A preliminary engagement of a week was played at Baltimore.

May Irwin has completed the cast of her new play, "No 13 Washington Square." In the company are George Backus, Edward Langford, Charles Clark, Julia Ralph, Charlotte Carter and Florence Harrington. The piece is being staged under the direction of Heinrich Marlow, for a long time associated with the Irving Place theater, the German company in New York. After a brief tryout the piece is to be held for a real run next season.

JIMMIE CASSIDY AND VIVIAN LONGTON,
Now at the New Grand.

Montreal is planning to follow the custom in vogue in France and Germany and impose a tax on theater tickets. One cent is to be placed on every theater ticket of admission sold for an entertainment in that city. The council has made it clear this tax is upon the public and not the theaters. It is for the benefit of the Montreal hospitals. The city expects to realize $300,000 annually from it. Theatrical men say $100,000 is a conservative figure.

Manuel Klein, formerly musical conductor at the Hippodrome in New York, has been engaged to conduct the London production of the musical comedy, "Tonight's the Night." Owing to the stormy antipathy toward anything German now prevalent in the British capital, Klein has deemed it advisable to change his name. Hence, when he assumes the baton for this production he will be known as Manfield Clyne, suggesting a Scotch descent.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Ruth Davis are writing an allegorical play in three acts, called "Victory." John Philip Sousa is to supply the incidental music. The theme is a conflict between selfishness and unselfishness.

The run of "Sinners" at William A. Brady's playhouse seems likely to exceed that of "Bought and Paid For," which holds the record in this establishment. The advance sale of seats now extends through the month of July, and the theater will remain open excepting for a fortnight set aside for redecoration and refreshing, in August. This intermission will also enable members of the company to enjoy a brief rest which otherwise would be denied them. The organization is regarded as remarkably strong, even at the present moment of star casts in New York. It embraces Emma Dunn, Florence Nash, Alice Brady, Gertrude Dallas, Frances McLeod, Charles Richman, Norman Trevor, John Stokes, John Cromwell and Walter Walker.

A new play by John Galsworthy has just been produced by a repertory company at Birmingham. Its title is "The Little Man," a "whimsey in three scenes," as the author calls this work. The play was written in August, 1913, and the scene and the characters have no relation to problems of the war. It is, indeed, a mild satire on the general unwillingness of humanity to practice the austere gospels in which they believe.

Rumors are again extant that Belasco and Mrs. Leslie Carter are going to patch up their differences and that the titian-haired one is again to be under the aegis of the man under whom she scored her greatest promise. It is also stated that another erstwhile Belasco star, Blanche Bates, is also to return.

Joe Coyne has just scored a big success in London in a new play by George Broadhurst and Walter Hackett. It is called "He Didn't Want to Do It," and is reported to be built along the same lines as "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Lou-Tellegen, who is appearing in "Taking Chances" at the Thirty-ninth Street theater, has received a letter from Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, referring to her forthcoming tour in this country next fall and requesting that he do her the honor to play the first matinee with her when she arrives. Mr. Tellegen was Mme. Bernhardt's leading man and stage director in Paris for several seasons and in that capacity accompanied her on her last two tours in this country.

Ah, the morals of dear old London! There will be no London production of the New York success, "Twin Beds." The lord chamberlain has refused to grant a license for the presentation of the play.

The war will not stop the importation of foreign operettas. Klaw & Erlanger have just secured the American rights to Emmerich Kalman's latest work, "Miss Rabbit Foot," which has scored a success in Budapest. C. M. E. McLellan will make the American adaptation and write the lyrics. Kalman is the composer of "Sari." His new piece is to be one of the early productions for next season.

As a result of the production of "Alice in Wonderland" at the Booth theater, in New York, Charles Frohman may call all arrangements made for starring Maude Adams in Edward Sheldon's version of "Alice in Wonderland" off. Mr. Sheldon's play is in eleven scenes and the manuscript has been completed and delivered to Mr. Frohman. It was planned to put it into rehearsal this summer, but as the attraction at the Booth has taken the novelty of the play off, Mr. Frohman is undecided whether to go ahead with his plans or not. Incidentally, the present version is not proving to be a very successful venture financially.

Fred Niblo and his wife, Josephine Cohan, who, for the last three years have been presenting a series of American comedies in Australia, will sail shortly for the United States. He has produced and with Miss Cohan appeared in seven successive hits during his three years' sojourn, though his original engagement was for six months. His last production, "The Traveling Salesman," was made recently at Sydney. Upon his return to this country he will begin rehearsals of a new play by George M. Cohan.

"The Man in Request" is the title of the dramatization of the Craig Kennedy detective stories by Brandon Tynan, which James K. Hackett will produce this spring at a Broadway theater. Mr. Tynan will have one of the leading roles in his play.

"Diane of the Green Van," the novel by Leonora Dalrymple which won the $10,000 prize in Reilly and Britton's story contest, is to be dramatized. Howard McKent Barnes, author of "The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row," which has served Sarah Padden as a play, and which is now being used by her in vaudeville, has been commissioned by the publishing firm to put the story into play form.

Wilson Mizner has been engaged by the Shuberts to adapt a comedy entitled "The Call of the Child," from the French, which will have an early production next fall. Mr. Mizner is also writing a new vaudeville playlet called "The Raid."

George Nash, well known through his appearances in "Officer 666," is entering vaudeville. Nash will use a playlet by Edwin Milton Royle, entitled "The Stray Kid."

FILM OF "PAINTED WORLD."

Play of Late Jacques Futrelle Will Be Seen at Sunbeam.

"The Painted World," a semi-theatrical drama of thrilling intensity, with Miss Anita Stewart in the leading role, is the photoplay offering that will be presented at the Sunbeam theater Sunday. In this picture the Vitagraph company has produced a truly great picture judging from the press reports of all the New York papers written after this play was first run at the Vitagraph theater in New York city.

It is the work of Jacques Futrelle, the famous author who met his death in the tragic sinking of the Titanic, and this story was one of the late author's favorites. The New York American in its criticism of "The Painted World" says that it has never been surpassed in daring realism on the screen. The late author, Jacques Futrelle, shortly before his death dipped his pen in vitriol and wrote of life on the stage. Not that life at its best, not as some of us know its worthy phases—a life of high ambition and fine ideals, of study, of self denial for these ideals, but of the woman who happened to have a Venus-like form, and who won $1,000 a week for appearing slightly clad on the stage. Charles Chaplin, who has won for himself the title of the funniest comedian in motion pictures also will appear Sunday in the film entitled, "His Prehistoric Past." Wednesday and Thursday "The Silent Plea," in three parts will be presented by the Vitagraph company.

WINDING UP THE SPORT WEEK WITH SOME FRAGMENTARY CHATTER

Jack Curley's Syndicate Gambled Heavily in Sending Willard Against Johnson—Grade School Baseball League Should Have Great Season—Welcome to James Esmond Collins.

BY BRUCE.

MESSRS. LAWRENCE WEBBER and Harry Frazee gambled to the extended extent of some $70,000 on the chances of Willard against Johnson. In three days Willard has made $8,000—you can figure somewhat remotely what the members of the syndicate that financed the fight are receiving as a return for risking a fortune to secure a white heavyweight champion of the world.

Jack Curley was in Duluth some three years ago with Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman. At that time the now famous promoter told the writer that Johnson was in, and that the first good man meeting the champion would be extremely liable to clutch his tinsel crown.

Flynn wasn't the man to turn the trick. Curley lost some money in the belief that Johnson was all through. Several years later, when the white hope craze was leg weary and heavy-chested, along came the gigantic Willard and toppled over the ebony ring warrior.

Everything Curley had was risked in the venture. Webber and Frazee are plentifully supplied with the world's goods, but they stood to lose a small fortune. Legal lights are engaged at the present time in the endeavor to find some legal flaw in the law preventing the showing of fight pictures in the United States. If the pictures can be shown in this country countless dollars will be added to the pile that the members of the syndicate will make.

Many persons have anxiously asked how much Willard received for his end of the fight. One report places the amount at $15,000. But that is not the question: Willard will make quite enough to put him in immediate communication with Easy street. The large pugilistic product of Kansas could have afforded to have fought for nothing, as events turned out.

It has always been stated that the first white man to beat Jack Johnson would make a fortune. Jess Willard is that man and he has got away to a flying start on the first lap in pursuit of the fortune.

Boosting the Grade League.

THE organization of a Grade School Baseball league in Duluth means more than a superficial consideration of the idea suggests. Good baseball in the grades means better baseball in high school and ultimately better baseball in the amateur teams of the city.

Amateur baseball has grown apace with the development of other amateur sports in America. Two conspicuous examples may be cited. Cleveland and St. Paul have been dead baseball towns, so far as professional baseball is concerned, for the last several years. Since it has been placed on an organized basis, amateur baseball in both of these cities has attracted thousands of people to the various parks.

It is stated that 50,000 persons witnessed a game in Cleveland last summer, while the championship grade school league game in St. Paul was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 18,000 persons.

With the final games of the Duluth Grade School league scheduled for Athletic park, and with practically all of the best school teams of the city enrolled in the league, there should be no doubt as to the success of the undertaking.

Superintendent Denfeld is solidly behind the league and is heartily in favor of organized baseball among the grade school students. All of the principals have assisted in its organization. With the first game of the league season not so very far away, and with the almost positive assurance that there will be fourteen strong teams in the league, interest is beginning to perk up among the kids of the various schools.

Fair Fans for James.

INFORMATION comes forward in a coy and cooing fashion that many of the fair fans of the city are rejoicing in the announcement that James Esmond Collins is to cavort in the outfield of the White Sox park.

There were players on the team of last year who received an ovation from the feminine fans on ladies day, a very popular institution by the way; but every day was ladies day with James.

When Jimmy booted one he was forgiven—and when he strode to the plate and hit one on the nose, soft hands struggled frantically to make a racket. Masterful men, novelists and poets tell us, fascinate the opposite sex. Perhaps it was the assurance, the perpetual "pep" of James on the baseball field that made him a favorite with the ladies—or perhaps, it was his grand looks.

"Oh, Mamie, ain't he cute!"

Referring to Willard.

SOME of the ring critics have referred of late to the remarkable rise of Jess Willard. It is believed that they have reference to his height.

He'll Need all the Kale.

SPEAKING more of Willard, permit us to call attention to the fact that the champion has a wife and four growing children. Jess eats in the neighborhood of eight eggs for breakfast. Tom Jones gets 50 per cent of what the champion earns. To successfully combat the lurking wolf and wrestle two winning falls from the high cost of living, it can be seen that Willard will have to go some, speaking of money.

Speaking Now of Oats.

HUMAN beings are not the only ones afflicted with the H. C. of L. The race meet in Havana, Cuba, had to be called off because of the high price of oats. They'll put some of those nags in front of a plow.

Race Dogs Return Safely.

Nome, Alaska, April 17.—The racing dog teams in the great Alaska sweepstakes, covering a course of 412 miles over the snow trail from Nome to Candle and return, have all arrived at Gold Run, homeward bound, 230 miles from the start. The best time to Gold Run was: Leon Seppala, driving his own team, 37 hours, 40 minutes.

HEAD OF LAKES TRAP CONTEST

Central Gun Club of Duluth Leading 3,000 Bird Event.

The second series of the inter-club trap shooting contest between the Central and Northwestern Gun clubs of Duluth and the Fulton Gun club of Superior, will be competed tomorrow afternoon over the traps of the Superior club.

Last Sunday the initial shoot of the series of three contests was held. The series is a 3,000 bird contest, 1,000 birds to be shot at each meet. The score to date is, Central shooters, 680; Fulton, team, 644, and the Northwestern team 630. The final competition will be held on the Central's grounds a week from tomorrow.

This afternoon a shoot is being held among the members of the Central gun club for a box of cigars.

UMPIRE SHOT; JOB OPEN.

Suburban Nines at Los Angeles Have Exciting Game.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 17.—Elmonte and Irwindale, suburban baseball nines, began hunting here yesterday for some one who would be umpire, but found no candidates. After an umpire had been chased out of the game, John Hayes, a rancher, undertook the position and, on announcing his first decision, was shot twice in the breast by a spectator, who had bet on Elmonte. Hayes called time, rushed upon his assailant and took away the weapon, with which he drove the man from the field. He then finished the game, but declined to officiate any more. He was not dangerously hurt.

CLEVER COACH OF THE COLUMBIA CREW

JIM RICE.

Jim Rice is the coach of the Columbia college crews and ranks with Jim Courtney and the elder Ten Eyck as one of the greatest rowing coaches in the country. Rice has met with unusual success with the Columbia crews. This season there is a very promising squad out and Cornell, Penn, Syracuse and the other colleges that annually send crews to the Poughkeepsie will have to look out for Rice and his proteges.

LOOK AT HIS MIGHTY RIGHT

JESS WILLARD.

DULUTH WANTS A PLACE IN BIG COLLEGE RACE

Ten Eyck Wires Request to Panama-Pacific Fair Officials.

Yale, Harvard, Syracuse and Cornell Eights Expected to Compete.

BY BRUCE.

James E. Ten Eyck received word yesterday from the athletic games committee officials of the Panama exposition that crews finishing first and second in the Poughkeepsie, and Harvard and Yale varsity eight races will be given transportation and expenses to compete at the big fair.

Hardly had the communication been given the once over, and contents noted, as new stenophers say, than Jimmy hastened to the telegraph office and sent about $4 worth of chatter coastwise.

The purport of his message, in brief, was that if the big rowing event is going to be a national one and if it is going to stand for the championship of the country, the winning crews of the Springfield, Mass., national should be included in the eligible list of entries.

Duluth followers of rowing will anxiously await the decision of the members of the athletic committee. Crews of the Duluth Boat club have won the highest rowing honors in the land. If the opportunity is given to compete against the crack college crews of the country, a verdant field for new honors would be thrown open for settlement.

Some Hard Luck Comes.

Hargraves, a member of last year's junior eight, was operated on for appendicitis and will not be able to row this season. Forrestal, it was announced yesterday, has decided that rowing interferes too materially with his work, and has decided to give up rowing.

Frank Williams, another member of last year's crew, will not be back. Frank is at Syracuse and at the close of college will go to Pittsburgh to take up some work. If Syracuse goes out to the Pacific coast it will mean that Art Osman, one of the best oarsmen in the local club, will be lost to Ten Eyck this season. And, listen, Syracuse looks awfully strong this season.

Wallace Quimby chose this, of all seasons, to give up the game. Shame on Wallace! Jimmy sure could use the red head this season.

Whiteside will be back. This will give Ten Eyck Kent, Grant, Hoover, Hall, Hagberg, Whiteside and Troyer for the eight. This may mean that a bantam will have to be used in the senior eight. Ye gods and diminutive fishes!

News From the Apostles.

Yesterday Jimmy received, along with the message from the Pacific coast, some news from St. Paul where the rowing candidates of the Minnesota Boat club are hard at work.

Claire Shaughnessy, the famous Minnesota football player, is back, and so are Dan Connelly, Dillion, O'Brien and Stickney, the boys who won the junior four event last season at Kenora, the only sweep event on the program that was not won by Duluth.

These men are to row as a senior four this season. The members of the Duluth bantam four, defeated by these stalwarts last season, have petitioned Ten Eyck to permit them to go against the Saints again this season. So Duluth may start two fours in the senior four event.

St. Paul oarsmen have been on the river since the latter part of March. The Minnesota Boat club oarsmen have three eights out. Ten Eyck has three junior eights and two bantam eights on the water.

Duluth Amateur Baseball Association Completes Its Organization.

Duluth Amateur Baseball Association.

Teams—F. A. Patrick, Duluth Board of Trade, Canadian Northern railway, Duluth-Edison Electric company, Moose lodge, 505; Duluth Street railway.

Officials—Ray W. Fenton, president; William Skoog, vice president; A. W. Beck, secretary and treasurer.

Board of directors—F. A. Patrick, the F. A. Patrick company; William Byers, the Duluth Street Railway company; C. E. Van Bergen of the Duluth-Edison company; J. Ferguson, Duluth Board of Trade; J. H. McKinnon, Canadian Northern; W. Borgstrum, Moose lodge.

At a meeting of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league, held in the Fenton-Duby store last evening, it was decided to open the league season on May 8. The games of the city league will be played at Athletic park when the White Sox are out of the city. Only enough admission will be charged to defray the expenses of the different teams.

There is a remarkable amount of enthusiasm among the officials and players. It is believed that some of the fastest amateur baseball ever played by city teams will be the result of the fast bunch of players that have been lined up.

ANNUAL RELAY MEET IS ON AT DES MOINES.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 17.—With an entry list of 500 men and some of the most important university and college athletic events in the West on the program, the sixth annual relay meet of Drake university attracted hundreds of athletes and enthusiasts here this afternoon.

The meet added interest because of the fact that some of the teams in the events expected to compete next Saturday in the Penn relays. In the three divisions, 126 teams represented fourteen universities, fifteen colleges and thirty schools.

Interest centered in the one, two and four-mile races, in which Chicago, Michigan and Illinois were expected to be sharp contenders. Many enthusiasts counted on the possibility of the world's record of eight minutes in the two-mile, won last year by Illinois, being broken. Chicago was looked upon as having the best chances, Illinois not being in the event this year.

GOPHER NINE IN FINE FORM

Takes Opening Game With Hamline By Score of 5 to 2.

Track Men in Great Condition for Spring Contests.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota played an excellent brand of ball and decisively defeated Hamline Wednesday by a score of 5 to 2. The weather was ideal for the game, and a good crowd of enthusiastic fans turned out to get their first glimpse of the team in action. They were not disappointed in the showing the team made, for the men played extremely well, considering the short time of preliminary practice. Their work in the field was a joy to behold in comparison with the ragged work of Hamline. The team showed that some of the men have as yet to find their batting eyes. However, the eight hits they did get, were good clean ones and came at needed times. The game was featured by four double plays all executed by Minnesota. Hamline put up an extremely good brand of ball, and compelled the varsity team to go at top speed at all times. Their work in the field was to a great extent responsible for their downfall. In the first of the ninth Hamline threatened to tie the score, which stood 5 to 2. They had three men on bases and one out. Henry, however, pulled out of this hole, and the two next men gracefully fanned the air.

The fates of present and future athletic teams are hanging in the balance this week pending the completion of the condition "exam" period. Among the students so unfortunately placed, athletes comprise a goodly number, and the results may be such as seriously to impair the prospects for this season. The baseball team can not be affected to any extent, for the make-up of the team has been practically ascertained, and there is not much possibility of changes from the results of the exams, but with the track team the situation is different as it is with the football squad, in spite of the fact that there is nothing doing until fall.

First Athletic Carnival.

Many new and unusual attractions have been arranged for the program for the first athletic carnival to be held in the armory on the coming Saturday. The "M" club, sponsor of the carnival, has announced some very novel stunts. The interfraternity clown championship, one of the events of the evening, is attracting an undue amount of attention from the Greeks, according to the committee in charge of the affair. With competition of the fiercest kind for the possession of the handsome trophy, the contest bids fair to surpass all expectations. At two houses on fraternity row, it leaked out that daily rehearsals are being held, and that the results of each tryout had brought to light very funny stuff. The second act of this extraordinary show will be put on by the university gymnasts who performed recently at the Nebraska meet. J. C. West, individual star of the meet, will put on a special act. There will also be wrestling and boxing matches. The university band will play during the entire show, which will last from 8 to 9:45. After this program there will be dancing, the music for this being furnished by the Shibley Squires orchestra.

Football Holds Sway.

Football held full sway Thursday when thirty men turned out for the first outdoor spring gridiron practice. Pigskins went sailing into the air from one end of the gridiron to the other and candidates for the 1915 team were full of "pep." It looked almost like an October performance, except that "Sig" Harris was missing and some of the old reliables were absent from their places on the side lines. The entire afternoon was spent in kicking, passing and catching the ball, running down on punts and falling on the ball. Boles Rosenthal took charge of the line men and showed some tactics in lineplay. Assistant Coach Frank also took charge of one squad of men and led them through a drill in charging. This outdoor work will be maintained for two weeks, after which they will lay aside the moleskins and await the coming of Sept. 20, when the real season begins. Minnesota is the last of the conference teams to take up outdoor work. Illinois has been speeding up for more than a month, while Chicago and Wisconsin have been out during the last week. The late start of the Gophers is due to the handicap of later spring than comes to the more fortunate teams of the Big Nine. Dr. Williams will try to jam in a world of work during the next two weeks. Outside of the beneficial conditioning that will come from the outdoor work, many of the general methods of the Minnesota attack will be taught, and they will be in a position to make a bid for the regular positions when the fall work starts.

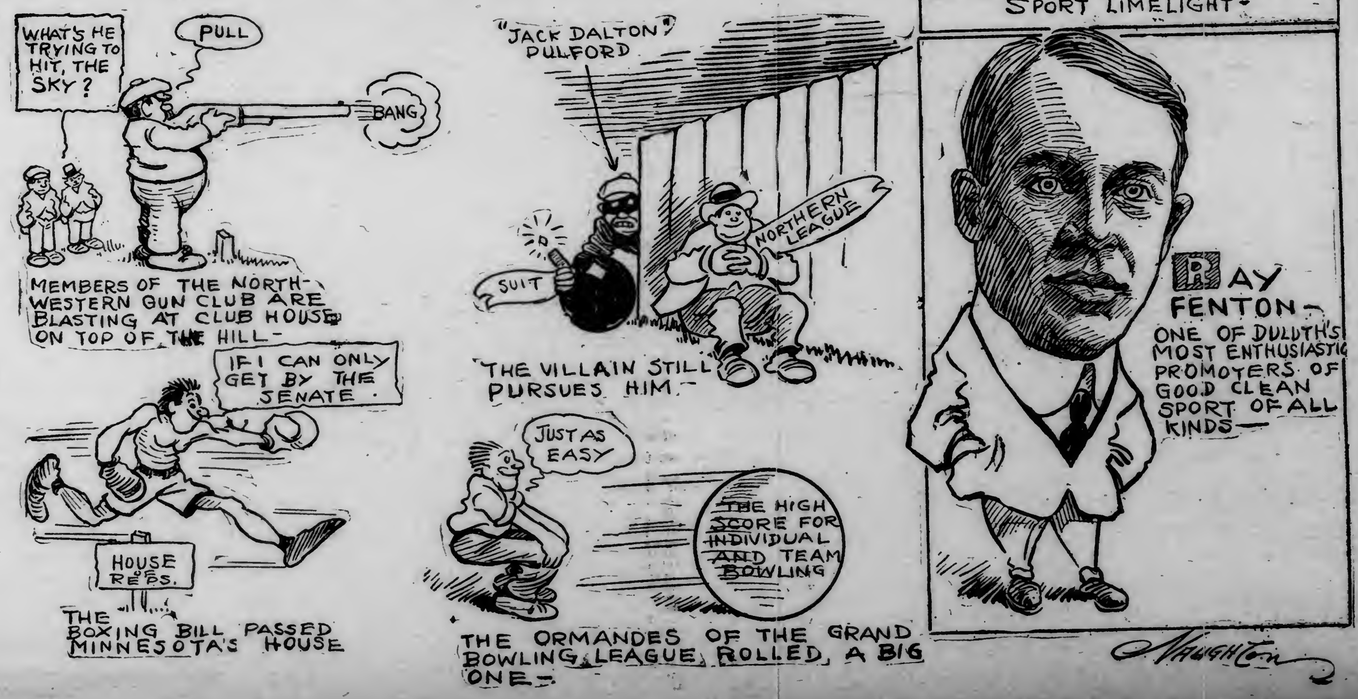
Face Eruptions Have Deep Significance

Often They Indicate Impurities Deep in the Tissues.



The results shown by S. S. S. in clearing the skin reveal how searchingly and how deeply this famous blood purifier attacks blood troubles. Facial eruptions are more often significant of impaired nutrition resulting from faulty elimination of body wastes.

Most people realize this to be true. And yet it is a difficult matter to convince such people they should avoid those harmful drugs such as mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic and so on. S. S. S. gives just as good effect without the destructive results, because it is more searching. It goes deeply into the circulation wherever the blood flows, but it does not remain to clog the system. And its effect is complete and thorough as indicated by blood tests. One of the strange things today is that so many people are wedded to the notion that mercury is the one antidote. It is not so. There is in S. S. S. a product of nature that is rated one of the most potent principles known for the complete elimination of blood troubles.

Wherever you go there are people who know this to be true from their own experience, for it has been clearly shown there is one ingredient in S. S. S. as essential to health if the blood be impure as the nourishing elements of the grains, sugars and salts of our daily food. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist, but insist upon S. S. S., accept no substitute. And if your case is peculiar or of long standing, write to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 101 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

for broader sport activities, looks to make its best showing in its history in conference track athletics this spring. The Gophers are not champions of the cinders. It may be two or three years before they will even be contenders for the stellar honors, but they are plugging along now in good shape, and may expect to be factors in the distance runs and relays at the coming Big Nine meets. Just now Coach Leonard Frank is growing his two relay teams, which are to contest in that Western relay classic, the Drake games, on April 17. The 4-mile team will be composed of Watson, Croos, Rapacz and Wallace, all members of the cross-country teams, which last fall won the conference championship by a wide margin. The one-mile team is not yet complete. Carl Wallace of the four-mile team is on his second year of track work at the university. He made his best mark of 4:40 1-5 for the mile in two different meets last year, those against Iowa and Nebraska. He is a Minnesota West high product, and this year is showing form he never displayed before. It is a foregone conclusion, according to the coach, that Wallace will better his mark this year. Fred Watson, is the greatest distance runner that has worn an "M" in recent years. His mark for the mile is 4:38, made during his high school career at West high. Watson has been a two-year competitor in cross country runs, both finishing ahead of the field conference meets, but it is his first year on the regular track team. His mark in the two-mile is 9:49 2-5. At the recent conference indoor meet at Evanston, Watson finished second to the great Mason of Illinois in the two-mile, giving the Champaign man a much harder race than reports sent out from Chicago indicated. Max Rapacz, another member of the championship cross-country team, won the two-mile event in the dual meet with Iowa last year; is in better form this year and counted as a valuable asset in the long relay. Hollis Cross, the fourth man of the team, has no university mark for the mile, but is said to have done 2:05 while a Minneapolis Central boy. This is his first year as a university performer. Only two selections have been made for the mile relay—Bierman and Ritter. The other two will be picked in tryouts soon to be held with Montgomery, Marin, Edon, Williams and Anderson competing. Bierman is well known in more than one branch of athletics. He is a brother of the Bierman family that has had its name before sport followers for several years. The present representative is the football player and track man who was one of Minnesota's best performers last year. He made the quarter in 52 seconds at the conference meet. Bierman's home is Detroit, Minn. Herbert Ritter, his team mate, is running his first year at the university and is one of the most promising men that Minnesota has ever landed. Ritter's home is at Tacoma, Wash., where he was credited with a quarter in a trifle over 52 seconds. Coach Frank is banking strongly on Ritter. These relay men will also form the backbone of Minnesota's hopes for-pinching well in the general track meet in which the conference schools will compete. The Gophers are weak in the dashes and field events. Giftman is the only man doing consistent work with the weights. He has been tossing the discus better than 110 feet in practice. The first outdoors showing of the Minnesota men will be April 25, the date of the All-university meet. Freshmen are eligible for this meet, which will be run by the colleges. Then comes the dual meet with Iowa at Northrop Field on May 1. Two weeks later, Nebraska will be seen in Minneapolis.

Laws Beat Aggies.

The law college basketball quint defeated their opponents the Aggies, in a hotly contested game Tuesday night, winning the 1914-15 intramural basketball championship. The team from the other campus won, up to the playing of this game, tied for the Laws for first place in the tourney, neither team having lost a game, though the Laws led in the number of games played. The crucial contest was marked by exceptionally close guarding and beautiful team work on the part of both teams. The Laws barely won out by a one point margin, the final score being 12 to 11. The Laws were represented by Berry, Thomas, Pollock, Baston and Sullivan, while Partridge, Scott, Hausser, Erickson and Timberlake represented the Aggies.

The 1915 tennis season opened officially last Monday when "Doc" Cook and Allan McBean played a strenuous set on one of the courts on Northrop Field. The tennis courts within the athletic field have already been rolled and lined up and are in good condition. The other courts about the campus will be put in shape rapidly. Tennis rackets and nets are already making their appearance about the campus, while gym work, basket ball, handball and other indoor sports are being neglected for outdoor games by the lovers of minor athletic sports. The spring tournament will be arranged under the direction of Seldon Smith, captain of the Minnesota tennis team.

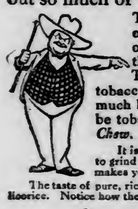
TITLE HOLDERS WINNERS

Crane and Fearing Continue Play for National Tennis Honors.

Philadelphia, April 17.—Jay Gould and W. H. T. Kuhn, the title holders, will meet Joshua Crane and G. R. Fearing of Boston today in the final round of the south section tournament for the national doubles court tennis championship. In the semi-final round yesterday Crane and Fearing won an easy victory over C. S. Cutting and E. M. B. Roche of Tuxedo in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

Gould and Kuhn, however, met strong opposition in their match with Payne Whitney and Charles E. Sands, New York, but finally won, 6-5, 1-6, 6-0, 6-1.

WEATHER UNFAVORABLE FOR PRINCETON-NAVY RACE.



Annapolis, Md., April 17.—With overcast skies and a chill wind blowing diagonally down the course, today started with disappointment for boat race enthusiasts who hoped for better conditions for opening the rowing season on the Severn.

Weather permitting, Princeton's varsity and freshmen crews will meet Navy's varsity and fourth class men at 4 o'clock, the contest to be over a mile and five-sixteenths course.

ALL bets are off when it comes to the Real Tobacco Chew. Might as well fork over at once. It's the only thing of its kind and a kind that's so good you just naturally can't keep it to yourself.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Tinkers 4; Pittfeds 3.

Chicago, April 17.—A timely single in the ninth by Hanford, pinch-hitting for Prendergast, gave Chicago the deciding tally and a 4-to-3 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday, after the visitors, on Konetchy's single and Yerkes' triple, had tied the score in their half of the inning. Both Rogge and Prendergast were in good form and the fielding on both sides was fast, despite the cold weather. In sliding to third after making his triple, Yerkes twisted an ankle, but the injury, it is thought, will not prove serious enough to keep him long out of the game. Score:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Dodgers 5; Giants 3.

New York, April 17.—Brooklyn turned the fables on the New York Nationals, taking the last game of the series, 5 to 3. Appleton, a recruit of the Brooklyns, pitched his first major league game and held New York to six hits. Perritt, the former St. Louis pitcher, was on the mound for McGraw's team and went well, until the ninth inning when, with the score tied, Wheat hit a home run. Two other runs followed on a pass, a double and two singles. Score: R. H. E.

Brooklyn	0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 3	5	8	2
New York	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 1	3	6	2

Batteries—Appleton and McCarty; Perritt and Meyers. Umpires—Rigler and Hart.

Reds 4; Pirates 2.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 17.—Vance's wildness in the third inning cost Pittsburgh the third game of the series, Cincinnati winning 4 to 2. In that inning Vance gave four bases on balls, hit another man, which, with a single, gave Cincinnati three runs. Douglas, who started for Cincinnati, was also wild, but he managed to hold down the hitting of Pittsburgh and Dale who relieved him in the eighth, held the visitors safe for the remainder of the game. Score: R. H. E.

Pittsburgh	0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0	2	3	1
Cincinnati	0 0 3 0 0 1 0 0 x	4	7	0

Batteries—Vance, Conzelman, Kantlehner and Gibson, Schang; Douglas, Dale and Clarke. Umpires—Klem and Emslie.

Cubs 4; Cardinals 2.

Chicago, April 17.—Good's home run following McLarry's single in the fourth inning gave Chicago a 4-to-2 victory over St. Louis yesterday. The other scores made by the locals were the result of daring base running and bunched hits. The fielding of Dolan was a feature. Score: R. H. E.

St. Louis	1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0	2	8	1
Chicago	0 0 2 2 0 0 0 0 x	4	7	1

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Ends in Tie.

Philadelphia, April 17.—The hitting of Oldring and McInnis featured a long drawn out game here yesterday between Philadelphia and Boston. Play was stopped owing to darkness at the end of the ninth inning. In addition to tieing the score with a home run in the seventh, Oldring made a double and a single, while McInnis made three singles and drove in two runs. Umpire Connolly put five of the visiting team off the field for yelling from the bench. Score: R. H. E.

Boston	1 0 0 1 4 0 0 0 0	6	5	0

Batteries—Ruth, Comstock, Mays and Carrigan, Thomas; Bressler, Shawkey and McAvoy, Lapp. Umpires—Connolly and Chill.

Chilly Day When Naps Win.

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—In a temperature little above the freezing point, Cleveland defeated Detroit yesterday in a game that dragged through nearly two and a half hours of almost every known kind of baseball. In the seventh, four singles, a double, a pass, and a sacrifice by retired the visitors six runs and gave them a lead, Detroit could not overcome. Score: R. H. E.

Cleveland	0 0 0 1 1 0 6 2 0	9	13	0

Batteries—Hagerman, Jones and Egan; Cavet, Boland, Ledbetter and McKee. Umpires O'Laughlin and Hildebrand.

Senators 3; Yankees 2.

Washington, April 17.—Washington won the final game of the series from New York yesterday, making the most of Brown's wildness on the slab for the visitors. He allowed nine bases on balls, which forced in one run in the first inning, and produced another in the sixth on a wild pitch with a sacrifice and a hit. A single and a triple in succession in the second made another tally. Gallia held New York down in all but the second inning, when a hit, an error and a fielder's choice and a double steal by Cook and Sweeney brought in the visitors' two runs. Score: R. H. E.

Washington	1 0 0 0 1 0 0 x	3	7	1

Batteries—Brown and Sweeney; Gallia and Ainsmith. Umpires—Evans and Mullaney.

Browns 4; White Sox 2.

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—Loudermilk pitched a masterly game and should have scored a shut-out over Chicago yesterday, but St. Louis won 4 to 2. Errors of omission and one of commission accounted for the visitors' runs. The home team counted on hits and good base running. Scores: R. H. E.

Chicago	1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0	2	3	1
St. Louis	0 0 0 1 0 0 3 0 x	4	11	4

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Millers 9; Brewers 4.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—Minneapolis bunched hits off Cy Young and Shackelford with excellent effect yesterday, winning a one-sided victory, 9 to 4. Ingersoll pitched fine ball, excepting the fourth inning, when the champions scored three of their four runs. Massey's hitting featured. Score: R. H. E.

Minneapolis	1 0 0 0 3 4 0 1 0	9	11	2
Milwaukee	0 0 0 3 0 0 0 1 0	4	5	4

Batteries—Ingersoll and Gharrity, Sullivan; Young, Shackelford and Hughes, Brannan. Umpires—O'Brien and Irwin.

Kaws 8; Saints 4.

Kansas City, Mo., April 17.—Mixing hits with the visitors' errors, Kansas City defeated St. Paul yesterday, 8 to 4. Allison was unsteady in the second and sixth innings, the visitors scoring two runs in each inning. Lellvelt hit a home run the first time at bat. Score: R. H. E.

St. Paul	0 2 0 0 0 2 0 0 0	4	12	4
Kansas City	0 1 3 2 1 1 0 0 x	8	12	2

Batteries—Karger, North, Boardman and Johnson; Allison and Moore. Umpires—Murray and Boyle.

Cleveland 5; Hoosiers 4.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 17.—Carter had a shade on Burke in an interesting pitching contest here yesterday, and the Cleveland club won its first victory of the season from Indianapolis, 5 to 4. Center Fielder Nixon's three hits, including a double and a triple, sent in four runs. Score: R. H. E.

Cleveland	0 0 3 0 1 0 1 0 x	5	8	1
Indianapolis	0 0 0 2 0 1 0 1 0	4	6	0

Batteries—Carter and Bassler; Burke and Gossett. Umpires—Owens and Knapp.

Colonels 2; Senators 0.

Columbus, Ohio, April 17.—Louisville, with Middleton in excellent form, won yesterday's game from Columbus, 2 to 0. Errors by Robertson and Daley on plays that should have retired the side, allowed the visitors their runs. A stop by Shovelin was a feature. Score: R. H. E.

Columbus	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	0	4	3

ROWING IS CONSIDERED BENEFICIAL EXERCISE

Shell Game Develops All of the Muscles of the Body and Imposes Few Strains on the Vital Organs—A Benefit to Young Athletes.

By Henry King.

I asked James Pilkington, one of America's oldest oarsmen, why he thought rowing was the greatest and best sport. Of course we all know he believes his favorite sport is the best; every expert favors his favorite pastime. This is especially true of Mr. Pilkington, for it is natural to conclude that he preferred rowing to any other sport when he cast aside all other sports for it.

While Mr. Pilkington has always been active in rowing circles, he has also participated in other sports. When a youth he was an expert oar, a champion boxer, a good weight thrower, baseball player and track man. He won titles at several of these, and, with the late Harry Buermeyer, "father of American athletics," and the late William Curtis, did much to build up amateur sports in this country. But, despite his love for all sports, he turned all of them aside for aquatics.

Mr. Pilkington is 64 years old and is strong and robust. He has a physique that might well be envied by many of our present-day weight throwers. He stands 6 feet 1 inch and weighs almost 200 pounds.

How Rowing Helped Him.

Unlike most veteran sportsmen, Mr. Pilkington does not participate in his favorite pastime now. Business prevents it. He is a contractor and this keeps him too busy to give him time for sports. He now gets all his exercise while on his job, but he says that it was the work he did in the boat while a youth that enables him to work so hard and long now.

"Rowing develops every muscle in the body and gives them an elasticity that they can get in no other sport," said Mr. Pilkington. "It is the healthiest sport. The air on the water is better and purer than that on land, for it is free from dust, and with every stroke come lungs full of pure fresh air that make for longer life.

"It brings about plenty of perspiration and rapid circulation and thereby benefits the flesh and blood as well as the bones and muscles of the body. "As a pastime it is unbeatable. In this phase of the game the play element brings about the development of the vital organs and muscles without any great expenditure of effort. Therefore, it is a sport for the weak as well as the strong. Of course men physically unfit cannot go out and pull four miles at top speed and expect to derive any benefits. Like any other excessive exercise it will tend to injure him. Bput a strong, healthy fellow cannot get too much exercise in a boat.

Oarsmen Can Row Far.

"As in any other sport, a man might become over-trained and row himself into a state of exhaustion, but as a pastime this never happens. A man can keep on rowing all day and still not collapse, providing he does not attempt to accomplish a certain distance in a certain time. If he travels along as nature dictates he will be strong at the finish. He might be fatigued after a twenty or thirty mile row, but he will not be distressed as much as if he had run half that distance or had spent half the time at any other physical exercise.

"Another advantage rowing has over other sports is that immediately after a 'pull' one may indulge in a swim, thus combining two sports in one."

Mr. Pilkington said that boxing is a great sport. In his opinion it is nearly as beneficial to the American youth as rowing. He said it, too, develops practically every muscle in the body and makes the brain and eye alert as does no other sport.

Then Mr. Pilkington told how he had watched the progress sports had made in the development of the American youth and added that any and every kind of sport is beneficial to one's health.

"Every man to his own liking," he said. "Any kind of sport a youngster fancies will do him a world of good, but as I said before, rowing will do a young man more good than any other sport."

Began to Row When Young.

Mr. Pilkington began rowing in 1872 as a member of the Sewanaka Boat club, which was located on Newtown creek. It was on the creek that he learned how to row. Later he organized the Metropolitan Rowing club on the Harlem river and was its president for several years. In the early 90's he organized the Harlem Rowing club, of which he is still a member. For many years he was president of the National Rowing association, of the National Rowing association, the controlling body of rowing in America.

The veteran oarsmen then told of the popularity of the sport in this country and compared it with the days when he was champion.

"When we rowed on Newtown creek and on the Harlem there were only a few men participating in the sport. Now practically every college in the country has a crew, and belonging to the National association there are more than one hundred clubs. Among the clubs are the New York Athletic club with a membership of 5,000, the Boston Athletic association with a membership of more than 3,000 and the Detroit Boat club, which is the oldest club in the United States, with a membership of more than 2,000.

"The Minnesota Rowing club of St. Paul, the St. Louis Athletic club and the Duluth Rowing club of Duluth, Minn., are members of the association, as are fourteen clubs in Philadelphia, and each of these has a membership of more than 1,000."

OUTDOOR ATHLETIC SEASON

Marathon-Race at Boston Monday Will Have Many Starters—Pennsy's Relay Games Will Introduce Medley Relay Racing—Bowling Tournaments.

New York, April 17.—Distance runners and track athletes will usher in the outdoor athletic season at Boston and Philadelphia next week. On Monday the Boston Athletic association's annual Patriot's Day Marathon race will bring together a great field of competitors, this year's event having attracted an unusually large and representative entry. A few weeks ago the federation rule, prohibiting marathon runners from the benefit of receiving coaching assistance or refreshments during the contest, threatened to become a hard and fast law governing this branch of road competition in this country. However, by a two-thirds vote of the Amateur Athletic union's governing board, these new conditions were not accepted, being considered too severe. Therefore the big race will be run under the old system, which has been in vogue for many years, and the runners will have the assistance of attendants on bicycles all through their long journey over the Ashland-Boston course for the nineteenth running of the event.

Relay Games at Philadelphia.

Franklin field, Philadelphia, where some of the greatest track events in the history of American sport have been decided will present a busy scene next Friday and Saturday, while the annual relay games of the University of Pennsylvania are being contested. Last year there was a decidedly international flavor given to this meet, when England sent her great Oxford university runners to take part in the four-mile relay team race. These were Sproule, Gausson, Tabor and Jackson, and running as named they won in 18:05, with the Pennsylvania team second and Cornell third. Despite the fact that foreign competitors, for obvious reasons, are unable to take part in this year's games the annual event promises to be wonderfully attractive. A total of 341 teams have entered for the several events exclusive of the special contests in which the best intercollegiate performers are to meet. Western, Southern and Eastern colleges, including Colorado, Missouri, Oregon, South Carolina, Harvard, Yale, Maine and others equally prominent in intercollegiate sport, are on the record-breaking entry list. Under the new Olympic federation rules which have been adopted by the I. C. A. A. A. the track will be measured twelve inches instead of eighteen inches from the pole and this change will compel the runners to travel about 3 7-10 feet further in each mile than in former years under the old system of measuring.

An Innovation.

Medley relay racing for college teams will be introduced at this annual carnival. Last month at the initial indoor meet of the I. C. A. A. A. at the Madison Square Garden, the Medley event, which was won by Pennsylvania's quartet, Lippincott, Lockwood, Dorsey and Meredith, proved to be one of the most interesting contests on the varied program. The winners as named ran respective distances 200, 300, 500 and 1,000 yards and were followed home by the Dartmouth, Michigan and Cornell teams. Next Friday two of these contests will be decided. The first will be for sprinters, the first two men to run 200 yards each, the next man 440 and the anchor man 660 yards. The entries for this event represent the cream of the track talent from Chicago, Michigan, Lehigh, Princeton, Harvard, Penn, State and the local university. In the other medley the distances will be 440, 880, 1,320 and 1,760 yards for which Chicago, Lehigh, Harvard and Pennsylvania are entered.

Bowlers Are Busy.

Bowlers from all over the United States and Canada have created international interest in their work on the alleys during the Chicago and New York tournaments during the last six weeks and they will continue their struggles for supremacy on the alleys at Boston in the Atlantic Coast tourney up to the middle of May. Next Saturday, however, the members of the leading athletic clubs from Maine to California will be particularly interested in the annual "ocean-to-ocean" telegraphic bowling contests which will be rolled simultaneously east and west for the Col. Robert E. Thompson trophy. This prize is to become the property of the club winning the annual competition twice, not necessarily in succession. Two years ago, the initial contest was won by the Illinois A. C. of Chicago and last year the Cleveland A. C. of Cleveland, Ohio, took the honors. The contest consists of three games of ten frames, for teams of five men each. The Pacific coast time of 7 o'clock p. m. will find the Western clubs in action, the Rocky mountain and central teams being on their alleys at 8 and 9 o'clock, respectively, and the Eastern teams at 10 o'clock. The scores at the end of each five frames will be telegraphed from all over the wide circuit to the committee at the New York Athletic club, where the result will be announced at an early hour Sunday, April 25.

English Football.

For the first time in twenty-one years the final game for the English cup, the championship prize of the English Football association, will not be played at Crystal palace, London, Eng. Next Saturday, in the banner event at championship "soccer," will be decided on the ground of the Manchester United club at Old Trafford, Manchester. The change of venue to the north of England was decided upon by the English Football association on account of the hostility displayed by the London and south of England newspapers against the continuation of these football games while the peace of the greater part of Europe is so much disturbed. In past years tremendous crowds have gathered to witness these contests for "soccer" supremacy. At Birmingham three weeks ago 50,000 persons assembled for the game between Chelsea and Everton, and at Blackburn, another northern point, 40,000 people saw the Sheffield United defeat the Bolton Wanderers in the semi-final matches the same day. Chelsea is the first London club to win its way to the final stage in the last fifteen years and the outcome of its struggle with the Sheffield team for the championship has become a medium for some heavy wagering in all football centers in Great Britain.

WITH THE AMATEURS

The Fitwell Clothing company's baseball team will play a practice game tomorrow afternoon on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds.

• • •

The Fairmont baseball team of West Duluth has been organized for the season. The following players will be in the line-up:

KILBANE AND MANDOT MATCHED FOR BOUT.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 17.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, has been matched to box Joe Mandot, lightweight, ten rounds at New Orleans May 3, in a no-decision bout, it is announced. The two met in Akron last winter when the newspaper decision gave the result as a draw.

HOCKEY PLAYERS HOLD GET-TOGETHER MEET.

Members of the Two Harbors Hockey team were given a banquet last evening at the Waupseke club cabin by the members of the Universal Hockey team. During the dinner plans were talked over for next season. It was stated that the railroad team has already made plans for a team for next season and expects to be stronger than ever. A covered rink is a possibility for the railroad town.

COHASSET FACES PROSPEROUS YEAR

Woodenware Plant Getting Ready for Extensive Operations.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prospects are bright in Cohasset. Work on the remodeling of the hardwood factory, which is to be operated by the company which bought the plant recently, is now under way under Mr. Stewart, the manager and one of the new owners of the factory.

The boiler house is being rebuilt to comply with the requirements of the underwriters so that the factory can be insured at a lower rate of insurance. The structure is being raised several feet and an addition about fourteen feet square is being put in. This will greatly facilitate the work in the engine and boiler room. The same boilers and power plant will be used. The mill will be overhauled throughout and much of the inconvenience experienced in the factory as it was formerly operated will be eliminated. The remodeling will require probably a month or six weeks, after which time it is expected that the factory will start for the present season's run. The opening of this factory will mean employment of a large force of men, and will afford the farmers of that vicinity a market for what would otherwise be burdensome timber.

The reopening of the factory has created a feeling of optimism in Cohasset, and business is taking on an encouraging aspect. Several new business enterprises have just opened.

CALUMET IS BOOMING.

Itasca County Village Is Getting New Industries.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Hedald.)—The village of Calumet, located adjacent to sections 15, 16, 22 and 9, of township 56-23, all of which are underlaid with ore, is experiencing a considerable boom incidental to the prospective opening up of properties in that vicinity which are either owned or under lease by the Hill interests.

Operations on section 22, consisting of diamond drilling, test pitting and other exploratory wark has commenced, and it is expected that the contract will be let early day for stripping section 15, which has been proven to be underlaid with a valuable bed of iron ore.

With the prospects for mining activity, business is looking up, and several new business enterprises have been launched. On Monday the Calumet Lumber company opened up for business.

Hay King Lumber company of Grand Rapids and other range towns are opening up a yard at Calumet.

It is reported that the Coleraine Lumber company will put in a yard at Calumet shortly.

M. Cain, recently of Hibbing, has opened a clothing store.

A franchise for furnishing electric lights and power has been granted to the parties who are furnishing the light and power for Nashwauk, and it is expected that lines will soon be strung to transfer the "juice."

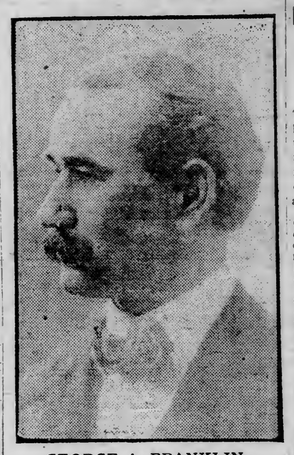
FRANK TILLMAN TO MANAGE AURORA TEAM.

Aurora, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Aurora fire department Frank Tillmans was elected manager of the baseball team. There is much material here to select from and the spring training will commence at once. An effort will be made to have a great many games played on the local diamond this season.

The high school team is making rapid progress under the direction of Coach Z. Aschenbrenner and will open the season soon.

RANGE

HIBBING SUMMER SCHOOL PLANNED.



Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Summer school this year will include practical as well as "book" training. Among the innovations this year will be organized playground work, which will be in charge of an expert.

Manual training, forging, sewing, cooking, swimming, gymnasium work and review of high school and grade studies will be contained in the curriculum, which, it is expected, will equal that of any village or city in the state, regardless of size.

Cohasset Party.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the choir of St. Augustine's Catholic church will hold a May party at the village hall at Cohasset on the evening of April 30. The proceeds will be used to apply on a new organ for St. Augustine's church.

IS NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF DEER RIVER SCHOOLS

GEORGE A. FRANKLIN.

Deer River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—George A. Franklin, who has been elected superintendent of the local schools for the coming school year, has had a wide experience in teaching school in Minnesota. He was educated in the public schools of Illinois, graduating from the Normal university at Normal, Ill., and has been superintendent of schools at Faribault, Austin and Fergus Falls, Minn., during the last twenty-one years being at the head of the Fergus Falls schools at present. Supt. Franklin was president of the Minnesota Educational association in 1904 and has been instructor at the Mankato state normal during eight summer sessions. He will come here in August to familiarize himself with the work. Mr. Franklin is a brother-in-law of Neill B. Morrison of Duluth.

CHISHOLM MISSION.

Will Be Conducted at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Chisholm, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mission, to be conducted by Rev. R. L. Larpenter and Rev. Francis O'Neil of the Holy Rosary convent of Minneapolis, will open Sunday morning at St. Joseph's church, and will continue throughout the week. The mission masses will be said during the week at 5 o'clock and 9 o'clock and evening services will be held at 8 o'clock.

Between April 25 and May 2, Rev. Father Kazimir of the Franciscan order of New York city will conduct a mission for the Slovenian-speaking people of St. Joseph's parish.

ORE SHIPPING IS PROMISING

Indications of Fairly Large Amount Being Sent From Mesaba Range.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—From three to four train loads, each carrying from 5,000 to 7,000 tons of ore, are being shipped daily from the Great Northern properties near here and indications are that the coming season will be one of great activity on the range.

The Mahoning, Leetonia, Laura, Grace and Utica mines are all being operated by steam shovels while officials of the Missabe railroad have announced that from ten to twelve train loads will be shipped from other properties over this road before long.

The Arthur Mining company, the Oliver Mining company and other operators on the range have all prepared for a big season and several new steam shovels and engines have been added to the general equipment in a large number of the mines.

The Morton and the Morris properties, which for two and three years respectively, have not produced ore for shipments, this year will begin loading ore, officials declare.

Among the properties to be mined this year by the Arthur Mining company are the Dale, Leonard and Chisholm and other mines. From one to four shovels will operate in each of these properties.

Although the D. M. & N. properties have not begun full activities as yet, one extra train, carrying sixty-four car loads of ore, was dispatched to Duluth yesterday. All the local trains are carrying ore. When the mines open up in full blast it will mean the employment of a large number of men and will greatly relieve the labor situation on the range.

Shenango Ships Daily.

From the Shenango mine, which recently began operations, approximately twenty-five car loads of ore are being shipped daily. The Hull Rust mine, operated by Oliver Mining company, will also commence activities soon.

Oliver Mining company officials declare that it will be two weeks before their properties will be working at full capacity. Among the mines which will be mined by this company this summer are, Sellers, Hull Rust, Burt, Morris, Chisholm, Clark, Myers, Duncan and Winnifred properties.

No announcement has yet been made as to when stripping operations will begin on the Scranton mine, said to be one of the most valuable state properties on the range. This work, officials say, depends much upon conditions in the East, which are declared to be bright.

DEER RIVER FIRE.

Dwelling Is Burned, Little of Value Being Saved.

Deer River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire last Monday destroyed the home of Mike Denunzio in the north part of the village. A fire started from the coal stove and all contents but the sewing machine and a few pieces of furniture were destroyed. The loss was $1,500, with no insurance. Mr. Denunzio is rebuilding.

Cleaning up is the fashion and all citizens are taking hand with a will. Theodore Hulbert, who recently sold his house near the creamery has bought a house and an acre of ground on what is known as "Bunker Hill" in the north part of town.

G. A. Lonnecker of Afton, Iowa, is a new settler, having bought and settled on a farm home at Spring Lake; and A. D. White of Elk River, Minn., has purchased eighty acres from the Minnesota Farms company on Little Turtle lake.

Daughters were born April 12 to Mr. and Mrs. George Morisset, and on April 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Morton Taylor.

W. A. Everton was a passenger to Duluth Wednesday on business.

The Ladies' Aid society will be entertained next Wednesday afternoon at the parlors of the Methodist church by Mrs. Swanhope.

The Women's Civic Improvement league will meet at the school house April 20.

The local law firm of Taylor & Anderson will next week open a law office at Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Krueger of Marble were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kremer, Sunday last.

CHISHOLM WORK STARTS

Construction of Proposed Power Plant Has Commenced.

Chisholm, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The excavating for the new power plant was commenced Thursday morning by Henry Happle, the successful bidder for the work. As soon as the preliminary earth work is completed, the brick work will be undertaken in an endeavor to rush the building to completion. The Chisholm Electric company contemplates putting up a substantial addition to their present plant and will spare neither money nor pains to make the structure a credit to the town.

To Children's Home.

International Falls, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Private hearings yesterday afternoon with Thomas Dowd and wife in the county jail by Probate Judge John Berg resulted in obtaining the information that they would not oppose any attempt to turn their five children over to an institution for their care. The children were sent today to the children's home in Minneapolis.

Brush Fire Near Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called out last evening to suppress a forest fire on the eastern boundary of the village. The fire was burning merrily, but as no property was endangered, water was not turned on.

INSTITUTE IS SUCCESS.

Farmers' Gathering Just Held at Deer River Well Attended.

Deer River, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fourth farmers' institute for Deer River, held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, was a great success in every way, including the weather, which was delightful. All speakers on the program were present and every lecture was well attended. The attendance was a little larger than averages for former institutes here. It was remarked by speakers noting from questions asked that the farmers of this section are improving in knowledge to a great degree and the fact was also apparent that the raising of chickens are making a great increase.

LIKE BIWABIK PLAY.

Large Audience Enjoys "The Private Tutor" By Literary Society.

Biwabik, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Private Tutor" was presented last evening by the Minerva Literary society of the high school, assisted by the high school orchestra and High School Girls' Glee club. OPERETTA PLEASES.

Entertainment Given By Two Harbors Students Is Popular.

Two Harbors, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The operetta given by the students of the high school last evening proved to be one of the best school entertainments given for several years. The auditorium of the Minnehaha building, where the entertainment was given, was filled to capacity.

It was repeated this afternoon for the school children and will be given again this evening for adults. The work of Miss Berry, musical instructor of the city schools, in drilling the students who took part is especially commendable.

Following is the cast: Jack Lawson, senior working his way through college and captain of the football team, Herman Falk; Lord Woodby Rich, heiress-hunting Englishman, Bryant Richards; Levi Lender, a Jewish peddler, Stewart McCaul; Verdant Green, a freahman from the country, Roy Lusch; Jeremiah Bond, a stockbroker, Edwin Hagen; Bennie Owen, the coach, Edwin Johnson; Mason, friend of Jack, Ronald Falk; Harding, friend of Jack, Lyle Scott; Doris Bond, adopted daughter of Jeremiah Bond, Madeline McGee; Mrs. Jeremiah Bond, a society climber, Florence Watts; Mrs. Reno Grass, a widow, Ruth Wurster; Miss Gay, a friend of Doris, Esther Sullivan; Miss Sweet, a friend of Doris, Elida Anderson; Miss Young, a friend of Doris, Helen Chandler.

The following students took part in the girls chorus: Mildred Hilliday, Gertrude Carey, Myrtle Tubman, Martha Anderson, Agnes Carlson, Viene Pasanen, Olive Spargo, Helen Benson, Esther Wade, Layra Mills, Lillian Torstenson, Hannah Anderson, Florence V. Anderson, Doris Borreson, Bernice Benson and Esther Sullivan.

WIFE DISAPPEARS; $800 ALSO GONE

Virginia Miner Alleges Woman Took Money and Eloped.

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Frasunek, a miner working at the Minorca mine here, today secured a warrant for the arrest of his wife and Waldamar Yantos on the ground of larceny, alleging that the two took $800 and eloped.

He claims that he had about $400 in a local bank, $320 in cash at their home, which is a boardinghouse, and that both these sums are missing, along with $70 belonging to a boarder. He claims that the woman dropped out of sight a few days ago and that the man for whom she is alleged to have displayed a fondness has also disappeared. The latter once worked at the Minorca, but had not been working lately. According to Frasunek's story, his wife, before leaving, visited her mother at Sparta, gave her $10 and said something about going away. If it develops the two eloped, as the complainant alleges, they will be charged with another offense besides larceny if caught. Officers all over the Northwest have been notified to look out for them.

DULUTH CONCERN SECURES CONTRACT.

Chisholm, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water, light, power and building commission met to open bids yesterday afternoon. OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. SUNDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Generally fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight; moderate easterly to southerly winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature. ○ clear, ◐ partly cloudy, ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

FAIR

Rain during the night did a lot of good, and the grass looks greener today because of it, but a steady, soaking, downpour for half a day at least, is what is needed and it would do a world of good to vegetation besides cleaning up to a large extent. Following the rain, the day broke bright and sunny and is quite enjoyable.

A year ago today was warm. The sun rose this morning at 5:16 and will set this evening at 6:59, giving thirteen hours and forty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has fallen over the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys and the Great Lakes Region, and has risen throughout the Northwest and most of the southern states. Freezing weather prevailed at the Soo last night. During the last twenty-four hours rain fell over New England states, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Northwestern Texas, New Mexico, and Northwestern Wyoming. Heavy rains again fell at Roswell, N. M."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, April 17.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy and possibly unsettled tonight and Sunday; warmer in northeast portion tonight; cooler in west portion Sunday.

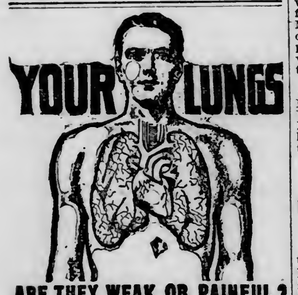
Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Sunday, probably becoming unsettled by Sunday night; rising temperature.

Iowa—Increasing cloudiness with possibly showers Sunday and in extreme west portion tonight; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler in northwest portion Sunday.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; cooler Sunday and in west and central portions tonight.

South Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; cooler Sunday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler tonight.



Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Sunday; rising temperature.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight and in east portion Sunday.

VIRGINIA CHARTER FREELY DISCUSSED

Judge Fesler Points Weaknesses in the Duluth Charter.

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Bert Fesler of the district court who helped to frame the Duluth charter after which the proposed Virginia charter is copied, told a mass meeting of citizens here last night that discussed the proposed Virginia charter some of the weak features he saw in the Duluth charter and urged the local charter commission to guard against them. He thought it was a mistake to place the absolute power over each department in the hands of the head of the department as was the case in Duluth.

He thought it was a mistake to give the mayor authority to purchase all books going into the public library as was done in Duluth—not that he considered Mayor Prince acted arbitrarily, but he considered the idea was not altogether popular. He also considered it was a mistake to give one commissioner power to fix water rates.

Proposes Changes.

He said the charter should be so framed that it would not designate before hand the department that each candidate shall head in the event of his election. The document should be made flexible so that men elected to commissionerships can be shifted to the departments they are most capable of filling. This he said would prevent a "square plug from being placed in a round hole." He was opposed to the primary election and in favor of preferential voting.

Judge R. J. Montague, city attorney, stated that the charter commission had substantially followed the Duluth charter in framing the instrument. It provides for a mayor and four commissioners, blut the salaries are fixed at approximately $2,000 each instead of double that figure as in the case of Duluth. Each commissioner shall devote his entire time to the duties of the office.

State Senator R. L. Griggs, M. H. McMahon, A. E. Bickford, city Clerk; R. J. Kitchen, alderman, and Otto A. Foirler also spoke in favor of the adoption of the charter.

It is expected that the charter will be submitted to a vote of the people in June or July. It provides for an election in November and that the officers elected shall take their seats Jan. 1 following.

Winton Mill to Resume.

Winton, Minn., April 17.—The local sawmill of the St. Croix Lumber company will resume sawing Monday with a force of 300 men.

Virginia Curlers Elect.

Virginia, Minn., April 17.—The local curling club has elected these officers: E. D. McNeill, president; C. H. Michaelson, first vice president; Mayor Michael Boylan, second vice president; Ford Rolfe, secretary; D. W. Stebbins, treasurer.

Ex-Senator Boyle Home.

Eveleth, Minn., April 17.—Ex-Senator James P. Boyle has returned home here after a six weeks' trip to the San Francisco exposition and the Pacific coast. Mrs. Boyle accompanied him.

Hibbing Gym Equipment.

Hibbing, Minn., April 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing schools will have a complete gymnasium equipment. The school board has decided to equip the modern "gym" with approved apparatus. The gymnasium now includes a modern swimming pool, lockers, but as yet has not boxing gloves, wrestling mats, horizontal bars, dumb bells, Indian clubs and other apparatus.

CANNOT USE CHINESE; TO CANCEL SAILINGS

New Seamen's Law Will Affect Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

San Francisco, April 17.—The Pacific mail steamship company, operating one of the largest fleets flying the foreign trade under the American flag, announced yesterday that all sailings after Nov. 2, 1915, had been cancelled because of the new seamen's law, which will go into effect Nov. 4. The company operates with Chinese crews in its trans-Pacific service.

The fleet plies between San Francisco, Honolulu, Japan and China ports and Manila and along the West coast.

The company's representatives stated that no freight contracts would be made beyond July 31, 1915.

The future of the Pacific Mail fleet, it was said recently by R. P. Schwerin, vice president and general manager of the company, would depend upon the action of the stockholders at the annual meeting on May 19. He said the added cost of operation under the new law would make continuance unprofitable.

"The Mongolia will sail on Nov. 2," a representative of the company said today.

"She will not touch at Honolulu because she could not get clearance there. No other vessels of the fleet will sail from this port thereafter. They will be tied up here."

The Pacific Mail operates nineteen vessels, five of them in the trans-Pacific trade.

HOLD CONSISTORY IN SHORT TIME

Vatican Preparing for Meeting Which May Be Held in May.

Rome, via Paris, April 17.—Arrangements are being made at the Vatican for the holding of a consistory which may occur in the month of May or later. The announced reason for the holding of the consistory is to secure the appointment of a new chancellor of the Catholic church which post has been vacant since the death of Cardinal Anthony Agliardi on March 19. This post can only be filled by appointment in a consistory.

In reality the pope wishes to take the opportunity, it is said, to again address the world with a solemn allocution further to explain the attitude of neutrality of the holy see in its efforts to re-establish peace without any preference for the faithful among the belligerents on one side or the other.

It is considered probable that no cardinals will be created, owing to the difficulty of avoiding misrepresentations even if they were chosen from the clergy of neutral European countries. If cardinals are created, they might be South American, Australians, or even a fourth American. In the latter case the opinion is expressed in some quarters here, Archbishop Ireland would be chosen.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, April 17.—The following Minnesota postmasters have been appointed: Lindford, Koochiching county, A. L. Linford, Vice E. F. Anderson, resigned; Sturgeon River, St. Louis county, Mrs. J. E. Newman, Vice Mrs. J. Rothschild, resigned; Vernon Center, Blue Earth county, A. W. Petrich, Vice J. H. Francis, resigned.

THE spring dancing party of the Assembly was held last evening in the ballroom of the Spalding which was decorated with ferns and baskets of pink roses of various shades. La Brosse's sixteen-piece orchestra played for the dancing. The members of the executive committee were Wilbur F. McLean, A. Laird Goodman, Ray W. Higgins and Philip L. Ray.

Some charming gowns were worn at this, the largest formal function that has been given this spring.

Mrs. A. B. Wolvin wore seal brown velvet with silver drapery. Mrs. W. P. Harrison's gown was of white accordion pleated crepe de chine trimmed with pink. Her flowers were pink sweet peas. Mrs. L. W. Leithhead was gowned in black taffeta embroidered in American beauty roses, with black net overdress.

Mrs. F. A. Patrick wore a yellow satin gown, the bodice finished with ruchings of the material. Mrs. H. F. Williamson wore a white taffeta gown with silver lace bodice. Mrs. Henry Turrish's gown was of lemon colored chiffon over the same shade of satin with blue satin girdle and streamers.

Mrs. E. P. Towne wore black tulle over blue silk. The trimmings were jet and a pink rose was caught at the top of the bodice in the back. Mrs. O. K. Brown was gowned in peach colored flowered chiffon. Mrs. George C. Stone's gown of gray taffeta was embroidered in silver. Mrs. N. H. Gillespie wore pink taffeta with a white lace bodice, a deep girdle of taffeta finishing the waist.

Miss Dorothy Dowse wore blue satin; her flowers were pink sweet peas. Miss Nannie Turrish was gowned in old gold satin with a white net overdress. Miss Lois Fee's costume of pink taffeta was made with long pink chiffon sleeves. Ruchings of self-material and clusters of pink roses formed the trimmings. Miss Dorothy Baker wore pink chiffon with a touch of black velvet on the bodice. Miss Marion Fitger wore white tulle with trimmings of red velvet ribbon.

PERFECT BEAUTY
The fashion of the present day requires that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. The regular use of GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM
will bestow the charms that are so admired. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder, far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Difficult to Ventilate Cars.

There is no disputing the need of pure air in our railroad trains and street cars, for such a necessity is apparent to everyone. I must confess, however, that my sympathies are, in a measure, with the officials of the roads and their employes in this much discussed question. I do not see how fresh air is to be supplied for those who excitedly demand that the transoms be opened wide and the other half who cry out against cold air and possible drafts. The latter class demand that the transoms and every spot that would admit a bit of air shall be closed tight and kept so while they are passengers.

What is meat to one person is poison to another. This might be said of fresh air with equal truth. About half of the passengers are "kicking" and making the life of the conductor of a street car miserable because the air within is foul, while the other half constantly complain that the car is like an icebox, with a draft here and another there.

If we could get people of the same minds together in the cars on their daily journeys to and fro, the matter would be simplified, but this is utterly out of the question, for people who ride on the cars are not usually of the same mind themselves twice in the course of the day. If men and women who want fresh air were all able to ride on the platforms, and those who fear low temperature and drafts could all be huddled within, all would be serene.

I do not believe that in all my experience in riding on the surface and elevated trains in different cities I have ever heard a request made for more air that was not almost immediately supplemented by one for less air and more heat from some other passenger who glared daggers at the one making the first request. Both have equal rights in the matter, having paid their fares to certain destinations, and both are entitled to the same degree of consideration from the agents of the company in control of the cars.

If you have noticed, those who desire fresh air and those who are opposed to it, expect to have their requests, or demands, as the case may be, quickly attended to, and though the vagaries of passengers may make it uncomfortable for everyone in the car, the brunt of the burden falls upon the conductor, who is literally, so to speak, "between the devil and the deep sea."

Even the most perfect system of ventilation would hardly suffice to keep a car properly aired, packed as most of them are at certain hours in the day, with all kinds and conditions of humanity.

The senior dramatics at the normal school this year took the form of two one-act plays, the first, serious, with an absorbing plot, the second, amusing, and interesting chiefly on account of the author's delightful style in her portrayal of the incidents of every day life.

The plays were given last evening under the direction of Miss M. A. Jack, who has already established a reputation in Duluth for work of an unusually high order.

"The Violin Maker of Cremona," is a translation from the French of Francois Coppee, by Jerome K. Jerome, with the scene laid in Cremona in 1750.

Filippo and Sandro, both pupils of Taddeo Ferrari, are competing for a golden chain offered for the best violin made by apprentices in Cremona; to this prize Ferrari has added the hand of his daughter, Giannina, whom both young men love. Filippo, the hunchback, learning from Giannina that she loves Sandro, and feeling sure that his own violin is the best of all, places his instrument in Sandro's case. Sandro carries both to the judges, but overcome by temptation on the way, exchanges the two violins. Filippo is awarded the golden chain, which he gives to Giannina, pleading with her father to allow her to marry his rival, while he will go, not alone, but with his loved violin, to carry his master's fame to all parts of Italy.

All the young actors were pleasing and Miss Buckley, who was little "Eager Heart" in the Christmas play, proved her versatility in the part of the irascible Ferrari.

"The Neighbors" could have been written only by Zona Gale. They are found at the present time in the Middle West, and—elsewhere.

The girls all deserve a great deal of commendation for the spirit with which they threw themselves into the life of the little neighborhood.

The audience laughed most of the time because "most folks ain't like other folks," and all of the audience knew that they "knew," too, because grandma and the others were wiping their eyes.

Miss Clara Fider, as "Mis' Abel," was admirable, whether she was ironing, or greeting her morning callers, or investigating the garments which had been contributed for the little orphan who did not come after all.

Miss Mabel Melin sustained the part of "Mis' Trot" to perfection.

Miss Elizabeth Hall, assistant supervisor of public schools in Minneapolis, visited the school on Monday and spoke to the girls during chapel exercises on the fundamental qualifications for a teacher, emphasizing especially the need for self-command.

Mrs. Ressler of Grand Rapids is visiting her daughter, Edith, at Torrance hall this week.

The eighth grade boys' team of the training department challenged the freshman team of the normal department to a basket ball game on Thursday afternoon. The score was 9 to 6 in favor of the freshman team.

T. S. Settle, secretary of the Playground Association of America, spoke to the students on Tuesday morning concerning the need for playgrounds and the need for the supervision of leisure hours among all classes of people in America.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER WILL CHOOSE STATE "U"

AGNES MACDONALD.

Miss Agnes Macdonald, who was awarded the $300 loan scholarship of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, will specialize in English, very likely, at the University of Minnesota.

Miss Macdonald is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Macdonald of 909 East Fifth street. She will be graduated in June from Central high school, where her average for her junior and senior years has been above 90.

DIVINELY GIFTED TENOR WILL APPEAR WITH SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

ALBERT LINDQUIST,
Tenor Soloist With Symphony Orchestra.

ALBERT LINDQUIST, the famous Swedish tenor, who was one of the soloists at the great festival last summer, when the American Union of Swedish Singers met in Minneapolis, and who appeared here this season under the auspices of the Svea Glee club, will be one of the soloists to appear with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra at the June festival, under the auspices of the Duluth Curling club.

Has God-Given Gift.

Writing of Lindquist's appearance at the quadrennial festival of Swedish singers, Caryll Storrs of Minneapolis said: "The success won by Mr. Lindquist was little short of phenomenal. He carried the audience off its feet, and after four or five encores and ten or twelve curtain calls, it required the efforts of the floor committee to check the continued applause and secure the continuation of the concert. A fresh young voice, with God-given qualities of sincerity and simplicity, is this young singer's gift."

Other soloists who will appear on the Minneapolis Symphony programs will be Miss Alma Beck, contralto; Marion Green, baritone; Richard Czerwonky, violin; Cornelius Van Vliet, cello, and Henry Williams, harp.

Already large parties of music-lovers are being made up for the symphony programs. Charles Helmer is arranging for the attendance of the members of the Svea Glee club, and Jens Flaaten is making similar plans for the Normanna chorus. Gustav Flaaten and Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten of the Flaaten Conservatory of Music are also arranging for the large parties of students at the conservatory, who will take advantage of the opportunities that the June festival will afford them.

Arranging For Reservations.

The group of women working on reservations and general seat placing is still incomplete, and all curlers' wives who are subscribers to the symphony programs and who wish to assist in the work, are invited to send their names to Mrs. Elmer Whyte.

A meeting of the committee on decorations and general stage effects, under the leadership of Mrs. S. R. Holden, will be held early this week. Among the other plans for the coming week will be a tea for the curlers' wives, when the women who are working on different features incidental to arranging for the big festival, will meet and talk over their plans. The date has not yet been set.

A list of compositions has been submitted for the three concerts. Programs will be made out by the conductor, Emil Oberhoffer, from among the works receiving the greatest number of votes. Mrs. E. T. Schmied is chairman of the committee in charge of this part of the festival. The list follows:

Symphonies.

Beethoven, Symphony No. 5, in C minor.
Dvorak, Symphony No. 5, from "The New World."
Franck, Symphony in D minor.

Active Women.

Los Angeles Times: Mrs. Mary Gaunt, explorer and author, recently returned to London after long and arduous travels in China. Her most remarkable feat was the journey up the River Amur, a distance of nearly 2,000 miles, during which she visited the former convict colony of Sakhalien, being the first Englishwoman to make the visit. Her first trip from England took her to Africa, where she found material for her book, "Alone in West Africa."

Miss Annie Cannon, a member of the staff of Harvard University observatory, has been admitted to membership to the Royal Astronomical Society of England.

Miss Mabel McCalmont has found a new profession for women. She advises architects on the construction and outfitting of hospitals. She is working for the New York State efficiency and economy department. She gets $50 a day.

Miss Nell Kenney of Australia has accomplished a feat never before performed by a woman—that of swimming from the Battery in New York to Sandy Hook. The distance, twenty-two miles, was covered in nine hours and thirty-five minutes.

Mrs. John Peyton Clark of New York is called the "Angel of the Deaf," because she has taught many to "hear with their eyes." Mrs. Clark is the director of the New York league for the hard of hearing, and is an authority on the statistics of the subject.

Miss Oki Yama, who has come to this country to complete her education in theology, is said to be the first woman Japanese Christian missionary to take this step. She was converted seven years ago by the Catholic nuns, under whom she studied prior to taking up her work, and for the last five years she has been teaching Christianity to the natives in the interior of Japan. She will complete her studies in New Jersey.

Miss Florence de Forest is recognized throughout the United States as one of the foremost authorities in the identification of criminals by the Bertillon system. She has been connected with the New York state bureau of prison identification since 1896.

Daughters of Liberty.

The annual meeting, with election of officers, of the Daughters of Liberty chapter, D. A. R., will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. T. Watson, Fortieth avenue east and Gillin street. It may be reached by taking the Lakeside car.

Mrs. Watson, who will speak on "The Woman's Peace Party," will tell of the platform and the policy for peace.

Germany His Theme.

The German nation made every human attempt possible to avoid the present European war, but was forced into it by the other nations, according to Dr. Maurice Lefkovits in his lecture on "Germany" at the regular Temple Emanuel services last evening. The lecture last night closed the series of eleven discourses on "The Nations at War," which have been given by Dr. Lefkovits during the past winter. Temple Emanuel was crowded to its capacity last night by those anxious to hear the discourse on the German nation.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Senior Class Play Occupies Attention of Students—"Spring Fever" Interferes With Recitations—Debating Season Ends—Cadet Corps Activities.

Aside from the senior class play, very little of importance occupied the attention of the students of Central high school during the week just closed. The appearance of the fourth year actors in the annual senior class play was the all-important subject of discussion, and other matters were left temporarily in the background.

The play is one of the most important social events of the year at Central. It ushers in the spring social activities which will prevail in the next eight weeks before the close of school.

With the arrival of spring, the school gradually took on a much different aspect from that which has characterized it during the winter months. Outdoor activities will come into greater prominence as a result. Indications point to the fact that baseball and track work, the more important of the spring athletics, will receive more attention this year than has characterized their stay at Central high school in former years. With a plenteous supply of sun and warm weather, the spring fever arrived in full force during the past week. As a result, brilliant class recitations were exceptionally scarce. Windows received considerably more scrutiny than did books. With the dangerous approach of the final examinations, together with the regular class work, the majority of the students, especially the seniors, are worrying no small amount over their studies. Several pupils in the fourth year class are striving to gain one of the few and much coveted places on the four-year honor roll. Their work in the next eight weeks will determine the answer. The monthly reports will be issued but once more between now and the close of school.

With a decidedly successful conclusion to the debating season on last Saturday evening, when the Central team defeated the strong Grand Rapids trio, literary work during the next month will be concerned for the most part with the preparatory work in connection with the Wallace cup contests. These contests, in oratory and declamation, are held each year between the four high schools at the Head of the Lakes, and are the cause of much interest among the students of the schools participating.

The contest this year will be held at either Central or Denfeld high on May 14. At all of the schools there are held preliminary contests to select the representatives of the respective school. A preliminary tryout to select four at Central in declamation, will be held on the afternoon of Monday, April 26. On the following afternoon the preliminaries to select four in oratory will be held. In chapel Wednesday morning, April 28, the final contest to select one representative in declamation will be held, and during chapel Friday morning following, the final to select one representative in oratory will take place. These two representatives will then be drilled for the final contest with all four schools on Friday, May 14. The schools entering will be Superior Central, Nelson Dewey high, Denfeld high, and Duluth Central.

The work of drilling a winning combination to represent Central will fall upon the shoulders of Prof. Null, head of this department. This is his first year at the local school, and he has already demonstrated marked ability as a coach, by turning out an unusually successful debating team, one of the very strongest that has ever been developed at Central. This year he has some unusually good material to select from. The only veteran is Irving Grover, who is expected to hold up Central's laurels in one of the two divisions. Several others, almost equally as good, are trying for the honors, and is expected that Coach Null will find it rather difficult to select one from such a good list. Among some of the best are the following Irving Grover, Max Goldberg, Emanuel Cook, Albert Armstrong, Galen Pearson, Earl Hanson, Lillian Brown, Roberta Ritchie, Ruth Strickland, Evangeline Trolander, Frances Pond.

The boys of the Industrial club enjoyed a very interesting lecture by Mr. Crane, superintendent of the Northern Power company, Monday afternoon. Some time ago Mr. Crane spoke to the boys of the entire school on the subject of "Electricity as a Vacation." His lecture at that time proved so interesting that President Hoopes of the Industrial club and T. F. Phillips of the faculty and chairman of the vocational guidance committee, persuaded him to talk again. His talk was very instructive and enjoyed by the whole club. It was illustrated by excellent slides, which greatly aided in explaining the subject. The plant of the Northern Power company was explained by the speaker. It is expected that the members of the club will take another tour of inspection some time in the near future. The Clyde Iron works was the last place visited.

The members of the school cadet corps are launching a campaign to strengthen their "ranks." It is the idea of those in charge to get all of the boys who have put their names on the roll to come out for drill every week, as well as to obtain several new live members. At the Company A drill Thursday each man was given one delinquent member to look up. These men will be asked to report regularly so that the drilling will be more uniform. The active members are also looking up some new men and it is expected that the two companies will soon be up to standard size. All the men are asked to report whether they have uniforms or not. It is required, however, that all be in uniform within a month, as the final drilling for the Memorial day parade will then begin. When forty men are in uniform the government will supply rifles. There are easily that many now and the rifles will soon be obtained. Those that so desire may have target practice, either on the outdoor rifle range or down in the Armory pits. Considering the fact that the two companies each have but one drill a week, they have done remarkably well. Credit for this is due to the untiring efforts of C. C. Jones, second lieutenant of the Ad patrol, who is drilling the boys. At the beginning of the work the boys were absolutely "green," while now they are well versed in the common military tactics. From each company a first and second lieutenant was selected. Kenneth Jones and Willard Thorp command Company A, while Irving Grover and Galen Pearson are the leaders of Company B. In all probabilities as soon as the lists are strengthened, the sergeants and corporals will be chosen. These officers will help the first and second lieutenants and thus considerable of the work will be taken off of the shoulders of Lieut. Jones. All members of both companies are especially requested to report for drill, uniformed or not. Company A drills on Thursday and Company B on Wednesday.

The Lambs Dramatic club did not hold its regular weekly meeting yesterday, owing to the danger of its interfering with the senior class play. Next week, however, President Haines will attempt to arrange the most interesting program that has yet been given. The program committee will "get busy" and provide some interesting meetings for the members in the future. Some short plays were handed out to a few of the members some time ago, and these will be acted at the meetings by a small cast selected by the boy having the play in charge. The club now interests several more students of the school as a result of the membership being raised. At the last meeting it was decided to have the next benefit on the evening of May 10 at the Lyceum. The Lambs club will present the trial scene from Dickens' "Pickwick papers." This will be given, of course, in addition to the regular offering of the Baldwin Players. The last benefit held by the club was a decided success. The proceeds gained thereby were divided with the Zenith board, and the remainder kept to buy scenery for the school stage when the board of education makes the necessary changes and remodelings with the stage. If this is done it will fill a long felt want, as the stage managers of the various class plays have always experienced considerable trouble in obtaining scenery and then using it on the old stage. L. C. Rasey, adviser of the club, will help the boys with the production at the Lyceum as soon as he has finished with the senior play. Every member of the club will probably be used.

On Wednesday afternoon of next week the long looked for senior-faculty indoor baseball game will be played. It was postponed twice, but it will be played without doubt on Wednesday. The members of the pedagogue aggregation have been practicing hard for some time, entertaining the fond expectation of still further mistreating their juniors. The fourth year players say, however, that the teachers will be sadly surprised when the game is over. The cause of more real fun and amusement rather than of worry, the game is attracting considerable attention with the students, and the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, where the contest will be held, will undoubtedly be filled with noisy spectators when the time arrives. Under the leadership of Captain Haines, the seniors held a practice last week and showed up well. As soon as this game is over the outdoor game will be started.

DOCK CREW PUT TO WORK

Missabe Company Employs Fifty Men to Load Ore Vessels.

Between forty and fifty men were put to work this morning at the ore docks of the Duluth, Missage & Northern railroad. This number is the first installment of a crew, which before the middle of the summer will probably total nearly 500 employes.

The men were put to work to load the steamer Quincy A. Shaw, which is being loaded today with 9,500 tons of ore. This steamer is the first to be loaded from Duluth docks this season and will probably clear the harbor this afternoon or evening.

As the season advances, it is planned to add to the crews at work on the docks. The movement of the ore is not expected to be in full swing until about May 1. The ore is gradually being moved in greater quantity now from the ranges over the D. M. & N. railroad and is beginning to accumulate in the yards at Proctor.

In former years the ore docks at the West end gave employment to about 400 men. With the new steel ore dock in operation this year, it is believed that additional men will be required.

STREET CAR MEN IN FIRST GAME

Will Clash at Baseball With Lincolns—Strong Organization.

The baseball team of the Duluth street railway employes will play its first game of the season this afternoon with the Lincolns of the West end at the Thirty-second avenue grounds. The car men have a line-up which, they believe, will give any of the amateur teams of the city a rub. Capt. John F. Hatch, under whose direction the team is working, has had a large number of recruits practicing during the past two weeks and has developed several good players.

The following will be the line-up

JOHN F. HATCH.

this afternoon: Ernest Anderson, catcher; Chester, pitcher; Hatch, first base; Johnson, second; Barker, short; Eubank, third; Holland, Haakensen and Pedersen, outfielders.

The team will have a good list of substitute players in case of necessity. Gatzke and Enright have developed speed as pitchers and will be used when necessary. Among the others who will be seen in the line-up from time to time are Barboni, Morrison, Murphy, Harry Larcoski and Bridgeman.

It is expected that within a short time the city commercial league will be fully organized and this team is expected to become one of the contenders for the league's championship.

BAND CONCERT IS PLANNED FOR MAY

Business Men Arranging for Outdoor Entertainment; Co-operation Urged.

A band concert to be held the latter part of May will be the next feature of entertainment to be held for the people of the West end by the business men of this end of the city. At the monthly noon luncheon, held at the Rex hotel yesterday, by the business men a committee was appointed to make the final arrangements. Those on the committee are: C. E. Lonegren, chairman; Sanford W. Hill, C. J. Lindquist, O. F. Wetterlund, and E. S. Gustafson.

As an added feature to the entertainment, the committee will secure the co-operation of the "West End Beautifying League," the organization of school children in charge of the clean-up campaign in this end of the city. The school children, headed by the captains and lieutenants of the various districts, will be asked to parade through the street, carrying the implements used in the clean-up campaign.

Closer co-operation between the business men's organization and the West End Commercial club was advocated. It was pointed out that the work advocated by one organization is in many ways identical with that of the other and that both are working in the interest of a bigger and better West end.

JAY ATWOOD HOME AGAIN

Errant Youth Found at Two Harbors; Missed Mother's Cooking.

Jay Atwood, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Atwood, 1914 Waverly avenue, Hunter's Park, returned this morning after being a "man of the world" since Thursday noon. He was found at Two Harbors.

When his mother scolded him Thursday for falling into a small pond near their home and wetting his new clothes, Jay decided that he was abused and that the only thing he could do was to go away.

Accordingly, when his mother sent him back to school, he didn't go to school or return home later in the day. After a frantic search by the parents, which lasted thirty-six hours, an unidentified woman at Two Harbors telephoned that Jay was in her charge.

Mr. Atwood went to Two Harbors by auto this morning early, returning later with his errant son.

Jay enjoyed his trip, he said, although he missed the family at meal time. He earned a dollar beating rugs and didn't get hungry, although the food wasn't quite as good as that at home.

He walked some of the way to Two Harbors, riding with farmers for short distances whenever he had the chance, and arrived there yesterday morning.
